Of the Talismanicall Sculptu of the Persians: or the manner of making Figures or Images under certain Constellations

MVSEVM BRITANNICVM

Section 1st

That the Persians are unjustly blamed concerning their choice & curious knowledge in Magick Sculpture, & Astrology.

The Persians, or if you please the Babylonian that bordered upon the River Euphrates — were the first as Rabbins report that foun out the secret power of Figures. The wonder that have been effected by them have been acknowledg acknowledged by all the Ancients & approved of throughout all Egypt: in so much that those who were the first that have written of them have maintained, that there was not any thing of more Excellency & admiration within the Compass of the whole Universe These first Writers have been seconded by all those that have come after them, even down to our own days wherein we have at length seen this Secret condemned and the Persians accused of Sorcery. for four Reasons. First, because Persians they are said to be derived from the most wicked person next to Cain that ever was, that is from Cham otherwise called called Zoroaster. Second is, because the learned men of this Nation acknowledged no other Deity save that of the Heavens & the Stars; and by consequence their Doctrine must be very dangerous The third is. That they teach the worshiping of Spirits or Divels, that convey themselves into Statues. The fourth is that they made certain Figures and Images from whence they received Benefits of all sorts by the use of witchcrafts and Inchantments. I will shew their Innocence, and free them from Suspition, and shall ground my Defence of them, upon what I have found written in the preface of Hamahalzel a Persian Astrologer translated into into Hebrew by Rabbi Chomer a Moderne-Author.

In Anſwer to the first he sayes, that the con= ſtant and unanimous Tradition in Perſia is That Zoroaſter was so good a man that the most Religious sort of people of that Country & are dayly converſant in the reading of a pious Tract of his Compoſing, the Title is Memlechiti Halaat. i.e. The Kingdom of God. R. Chomer-avers that none but the Counterfeit — Beroſus will have him to be Cham the Son-of Noah. I confeſſe that wiſe Perſian addic= ted himſelfe to the Contemplation of the — Starrs but worſhip them he did not.
To the-

To the second Reaſon Hamahalzel Anſwers that the Perſians were so far from worſhipping — the Heavens and the Starrs, that on the — contrary, they taught all men to acknowledge One God, by obſerving the juſt Motion of the — Heavens & the Starrs, & that if he were at all acknowledged by any of the ancient Philoſo= phers it was for the very same reaſon, as you — may learn of Manilius, Diogenes Laertius, Roſellus and Picus Mirandula. Hournius adds that their obſervation of the Stars was so Holy, that the firſt that addicted themſelves unto it were therefore called Magi, that is to ſay Wiſe men: from — whence the word Magick alſo deſcended; wch ſignifies signifies only a perfect Knowledge of the workes of God, and their effects; which appear more visibly in the Cælestial Bodies; by which the Magi understood (saith Scaliger) that One, that was God, was to become man. Hâc Magiâ (saith he Dominum Jesum fuisse promissum Regem cognoverunt Magi; qui ad eum adorandum longissimis è Regionibus profecti sunt. If this Magick, by which men came to a full knowledge of the Heavens & the Stars were so black and damnable a peece of knowledge, as it is given out to be; why then did none of ye antient Philosophers ever condemn it? or rather why did they take such long Journeys upon them, for the attaining to this knowledge? for this Magick is the fountain of all good Doctrine. All Antiquity cōmends the Affection of those Magi, which followed the strange Star, why then should their Doctrine be condemned? Why did they not out of their zeale fall down and worship this Star, which appeared more bright and wonderfull then any of the rest? But rather, on the contrary only followed it, as knowing well that it was the Messenger of him whom they afterwards worshipped in a Stable. See this truth proved at large by St Jerome, Socrates, Eustathius, Agathias, Pliny, Amianus Marcellinus, Casaubon, Brissonius, Duret & Bullinger

The third Reason is refuted, saith Hamahazet in saying no more then this, that our Adversaries cannot name one Persian Astrologer, that ever worshipped a Statue. They had indeed some wonderfull Images or Statues: but since they were such, as were allowed by the Egyptian Law maker, (he means Moses) why might not they make use of them? Now that they were allowed of, appears by that of Micah, and his Mother who allotted two hundred peices of Silver to make one of. Neither do we find that they were reproved by God for this, no more then Laban was, for doing the like; but rather on the contrary, Nunc scio, quod benefaciet benefaciet mihi Deus (saith Micah) after that he had gotten him a Levite to be his Priest, and to have the charge of those Teraphim, or Statues: which are often called by the name of God; either because they were consecrated unto him: or else, because there appeared in them the Wonderfull effects of some Particular Residence of some Power, which served in stead of Oracles. Quia dies multos (saith Hosea) sedebunt filij Israel, sine Rege & sine Principe & sine sacrificio, & sine Altari, & sine Ephod, & sine Teraphim. that is, as if he had said: neither Ephod nor Teraphim, shall give any Answer.

Ose 3.4.

And here we are to take notice of the Errors of divers divers Authors concerning these Teraphim; and first in Thisbi. of Elias Levita; who reports that they were made after this manner. They killed a Man, that was the first born, and wrung off his head; and having embalmed it, they placed it upon a plate of Gold, on which was first written the name of the unclean Spirit that they would call upon: and so hanging it up against a wall and placing Lamps and Torches about it they worshipped it. A very subtile Invention, but something diſmal! but who can imagine the people In Geneſ. 31. of God ever guilty of it? The conceit of Aben-Ezra is altogether as falſe, though not so scandalous; for he says, that the Teraphim were certain Inſtruments of braſse like Sundials; by which they know the of the Church. R. David Kimchi is alſo deceived when he says that these Teraphim were certain Images, (whoſe figure is yet unknown) by which the Ancients were inſtructed concerning future events: being as it were; like those Oracles which oftentimes spake by the mouth of the Devil. This falſe opinion of his is taken up by Cardinal Cajetan, Sanctes, Vatablus, Clarius, Selden, and Marinus in his arca Noe. — Mercerus alſo goes along with the Stream of Interpreters & says that these Images were as

But I am of opinion with St. Jerome, an Author

then

then any Interpreter whatever either Greek or Latin That these Teraphim were Sacred Images belonging to the Priest. Teraphim (saith he with Aquila) proprie appellantur μορφώματα, idest, figuræ et simulacra quæ nos possumus, in præsenti duntaxat loco, Che= rubim et Seraphim, sive alia, quæ in Templi ornamenta fieri jussa sunt dicere: This opinion of his is so sound, and so true a one; that he must be no Rational man that preferres it not before any other. You have it also again expres-Ep:130. sed in other termes, in his Epistle ad Marcellam.
In Teraphim (saith this learned father) vel figuris sacerdotali pertinent ornamenta per Teraphim expresso monstratur.

Now seeing that the Images of Seraphims or Cherubims are by a generall name called Teraphim who can accuse the Eastern people of Sorcery, for using them, any more then Laban who did the like? Certainly the holy Scriptures which reprove so sharply all manner of vice never reproves him for doing it: neither is it at all credible, that Jacob would have served an Idolater so long a time; and at length marry his Daughters too. It may be also probably conjectured that David made use of these Images, seeing that it is storied that his wife wife Michal Tulit Teraphim, et posuit eum — super Lectum; using this subtile Devise to save & secure her husbands Life. If it be objected that Jacob comanded all his houshold to put away all the strange Gods, and he hid them in a pit covering them with earth under a Turpentine tree I answer that there is nothing more clear then that he there speaks of the houshold gods of gold & silver which his Sons took from the Sichemites Gen: 34. as a rich booty when they spoiled their City. although this blessed Patriarch had been so long a time sojourning in this Country yet he never made any mention of false gods till the time of the pillaging of these Cananites, who were a people given to all manner of Idolatry

Idolatry: which was the Reason (say the most Learned of ye Rabbins) that Abraham made his Servant sweare unto him not to take a wife for his Son Isaack out of this people because he knew that they were Idolaters.
The same charge did Isaack give his Son Jacob.
Hamahalzel therefore concludes with this Truth;— That certainly in the time of these Patriarchs, there were some certain wonderfull Images or Statues, by which God made known his will to his people.
Those that shall have the happyness to see the — Tract, which Monceaus saies, he hath written of this Subject will be ready to confesse, that they are not Dreams which are here delivered by this Persian — Astrologer. If it be demanded why then did not Moses—

Moses make a particular Description of their Images I answer, that this wise Lawgiver, knowing how extreamly inclined to Idolatry the people which he conducted, was; makes no other mention of them save only in passage: being unwilling to forget them wholly lest any thing of the History should have been left out.

I do the more boldly propose this Doctrine, after this Persian Writer; because I see that in all ages God hath made known his Wonders, and what ever Accident of Importance was to happen throughout the Universe by some sensible ~~sign~~ thing; and will yet do the same hereafter, when he shall come to judge the Quick and the Dead; giving a signe of his Coming by the Falling of the Stars, & the darkning of the Sun and Moon, and by a deep astonishment cast upon all Mortals. If you please but to looke back upon all Ages past you shall not finde any one (where according to this truth) some new Prodigy did not foreshew the Good, or the evil Accidents, that were to come. Thus we see that a little before the time that Xerxes covered the Earth, with his Million of men, there appeared horrible and dreadfull Meteors, as Presages of the Evils that afterwards hapned: as there did likewise in the time of Attila who was called Flagellum Dei And, to go higher, was not poor Jerusalem forewarned of her Approaching Miserie, which made her the most wretched of all Cities by many the like prodigies. For there was often seen in the air, Armies of men in Battail array, seeming to be ready to charge each other: and one day at the Feast of Pentecost, the High Priest entring into the temple to offer the Usual Sacrifices, which God regarded now no more; there was heard a sudden noise, & a voice imediately following it, which said: נַעֲבוֹר מִזֶּה Naavour Mizeh. Let us depart hence. I shall not speake of the Brazen Gate which opened of it self without being touched by any body: and all the other Prodigies which are spoken of by Josephus

Appian

Appian hath reckoned up, what miraculous things were seen and heard before the breaking out of the Civil wars; as namely fearfull voices; & strange running up and down of Horses, which no body could see. Pliny hath likewise set down those that were heard in the same manner, before the Cymbrian war; and among the rest divers voices that were heard from heaven, and dreadfull Alarmes, sounded by certain terrible Trumpets. Before the Lacedemonians were overthrown at the Battle of Leuctra, the Armes, in the Temple were heard to make a noise of their own accord: and about the same time at Thebes, the Gates of the Temple of Hercules opened of themſelves without any man touching them, and the armes that hung againſt the wall, were found caſt on the ground (as Cicero reports the Story) not without the great aſtoniſhment of the beholders.

At the time that Milthiades went againſt the Perſians, divers strange sights foreshewed what the event would be: In the Reign of Theodoſius there appeared a Star shooting forth beams in the shape of a sword: and in the time of Sultan Selim, an infinite number of Croſses appeared shining in the air which foreshewed the loſſe he afterward received by the Christians. The Emperour Pertinax was forewarned of his death three dayes before by a certain viſion that he saw in a pond that seemed to threaten him with a drawn sword in his hand. Certain Spirits foretold the death of Conſtans son to Conſtantine the Great.

Alexander the 3. King of Scots ~~was~~ was advertiſed of his death by a Spectre that danced publickly with him in a maſk. Another sad yastly lean diſfigured Ghost foretold Julian the Apostate & the Emperour Tacitus theirs.

Cardan aſſures us that in the City Parma, there is a certain Noble Family, out of which when any one is to dye, there is alwayes an old strange unknown unknown Woman seen sitting in the Hall in the Chymney corner; and this so certainly, that it never fails. A Avila there is to be seen a wonderfull Bell, that is, when any disaster is to befall Christendome; sometime before it happend is heard to sound without any body touching it. The Authors which affirme that they have known this of their own experience, are of such Integrity as that we cannot but beleive them? and this Miracle was seen by ten Thousand, a little before the Overthrow given to the Granatins. But what we shall to this prodigious thing which the Executioners of Justice upon Malefactors (whom we cannot name without horror) find to be true too often:

namely that when any Malefactor is to be delivered is to be delivered into their hands, the Sword or Fauchion, that they are wont to use in this business, remove it self, no man coming so much as near it; as it is at large discoursed of by Lavaterus in his Book de Spectris, and Natalis Taillepied in his Treatise de l'Apparition des Esprits.

We may here add that direfull Massacre of the Huguenots on St Bartholomews day; which was foretold by the White Thorn, that blossomed the night before. Besides, it is observed, that if on Michaelmas Day, which is the 29th of September there be found a certain little worm in ye Oak apple the yeare will then certainly be very pleasant and reasonable: if there be found a Spider, it will be a barren year, and there will be great scarcity of all things; If a Fly, it is a sign of a moderate season: If there be nothing at all found in it, it is a signe that very sore diseases shall reign all that year. Sometimes also God lets us know what shall come to passe; by some inward signe; either in sleeping, or waking.

Loco citato. So Camerarius affirmes, that some people have an Apprehension, and knowledge of the death of their friends and Kindred either before or after they are dead, by a certain strange & unusual Restlesness within themselves though they be a thousand Leagues off. My Mother Lucretia Rudd when she was living, had some such Sign alwayes given her: for there never dyed any of our Kindred, but a little before, she dreamt either of haire or of Eggs or of Teeth all mingled together ~~of~~ with earth and this Sign was an infallible one: and I my selfe when I had heard say she had any such dream, observed the Event alwayes to follow.

I shall draw this Conclusion from all that which I before delivered; that seing that God hath formerly Miraculously foreshowed, and doth still at this very day foreshow by divers signes, and in very many things what Events shall follow he may then as well have showed it heretofore, by one only particular means: such peradventure as as was that of Labans Images, which we may probably guess to have been the Teraphim spoken of by Hosea. And then if the ancient Persians as Zoroaster, having kept themselves to the use of one kind only of these Figures; following the Example of the First Fathers, who inhabited their Country, are they presently to be condemned, as Magicians? This is all one, as if we should accuse of Sorcery all those, that by the tolling of the Bell at Avila, or any other the like Prodigy conclude that some Calamity is to follow.

The last Reason, for which the Persian Magicians are condemned is thus Answered by Hamahalzol. I deny not, saith he, but that our ancient

ancient Astrologers did make certain Images under such and such Constellations both of Gold silver, wood, wax, earth and stone; from the use of which they did also reap much benefit But that it was either by way of Enchantments or Witchcraft there is no man will ever be able to prove. These are his very words Translated: So that it now Remains that we set down how, or in what manner, the Vertue of these Images could be Natural: which I shall endeavour to do, after I have first showed how our Modern Philosophy have erred in this particular.

Section 2^{d}.

That for want of understanding Ariſtotle aright; Men have condemned the Power of Figures; and concluded very many things both against this Philosopher & against all sound Philosophy.

The Ignorance of the Languages hath been the occaſion of so many Errors, not only in Learning, but even in Religion too; that it is not without cauſe that Learned men complain thereof. For what can be imagined more ridiculous, then for a man, not knowing the force of the word: רָקִיעַ Rachajah, which signifies no more but the Air, or the extent of any thing, to fancy a Chriſtalline Heaven. From this paſſage; Diviſit aquas quæ subter Firmamentum, ab ijs quæ super Firmament^{m} sunt, et aquæ omnes quæ super Cælos sunt. It hath been concluded, either that there were waters above the Heavens, or elſe that there were certain Chriſtalline Heaven^{s}. What groſſer conceit can there be; then for want of understanding the Equivocall meaning of the word: קֶרֶן Keren which signifies both a Horne and Light or Brightneſs, to paint Moſes with Hornes which hath been the cauſe of great aſtoniſhment astoniſhment among many Christians, and of Laughter to the Jewes and Arabians. Many Abuſes are crept into our Religion meerly for want of the Hebrew or Holy tongue. I shall now show some Errors with which our Bookes are full only for want of understanding the Text of Aristotle aright.

I shall mention some few Errors, and that only to make it appeare that Figures are condemned without cauſe, and that many Concluſions are deduced which sound Argumentation could not beare.

In. Isag. Porphyr.

All Interpreters have rendred the Greek word εἶδος, species whereas it ought to be rendred Specimen specimen. For it cannot be denied but that εἰδέα signifies the Species or Sampler, and εἶδος the Copy or extract: unleſs we should give Plato the Lye who alwayes takes εἶδος in this sense; as if we should interpret it in our Language, The Copy of the Great Pattern or Sampler.

2. Next, it is a manner of speaking very frequent with Plato, that when he speakes of the Idea of a Man or of a Horſe he sayes ἀυτῷ ἄνθρωπος, ἀυτῷ ἵππος: which almost all Interpreters have corrected, though very falsly, and read ἀυτος ἄνθρωπος: as in Latin every particular man may be called Ipſe homo; but when we would expreſs the Idea we cannot do it, but in those termes, Ipſi Homo, Ipſi Equus, ipſi Cælum &c.

3. Another Error that is comitted in the interpreting of Aristotle, is in the word ὑφέστηκε the senſe which is uſually expreſſed thus: Utrum Univerſalia cadant in rerum naturam? Namely, Whether there be any Universals in the world, or not? — whereas they should rather say, Utrum realiter subſiſtant? or elſe, Utrum sint realia. i.e: Whether they have an Existence real and of themselves or not. There being no small difference betwixt these two Propositions, Utrum Universalia exiſtant? and, Utrum exiſtant per ſe? which was the opinion of Plato. And upon the same Subject there is likewise another Error comitted in thoſe εἴτε ἐν μόναις ψιλαῖς ἐπινοίαις, Utrum Universalia in nudis tantum conceptionibus posita sint? Utrum sint secundum Intentionaliter, sive per solam cogitationem mentis? Whether Universals have their being only in little thoughts, Whereas in sound Philosophy, and according to the Text it should have been proposed in these words Whether Universals exiſt only by the Reflection of the Understanding? Which is said to be a fine, small Thought, and so the queſtion is, An sint realiter aut per Intellectum. And we are to note, that ψιλαῖς ἐπινοίαις is very properly rendered Small thoughts or Conceptions becauſe the second thoughts are Leſſer & finer then the firſt.

The Power of Artificial Images or Figures is proved by that of those that are found Naturally Imprinted on Stones and Plants cōmonly called Gamahe or Camaieu, and Signatures.

When I consider the wonderfull Effects that are found not only in Plants, and in the most stupid of Living Creatures; but alſo even in Stones, and the most rude and unpolished Flints that are found: I confeſſe I find myselfe very much inclined to the beleife of that which our Half brained Smatterers in Learning account account Ridiculous and Fabulous. For who would ever have thought, that besides those many wonders which have been discovered to be in the Loadstone; but in the dayes of our Grandfathers, there should yet in our time alſo be found out this in a certain kinde of Load-stone which is of a mixt Colour betwixt white and black, and something resembling that of Iron; that, if a knife or Needle be touched with it, it will cut and enter into a Mans body without the least sense of pain at all? Which hath given occaſion to ~~all~~ a very Learned, who himſelfe had tryed the Experiment to say, that our Mountibanks

Mountebancks which wee see to cut and slash themselves upon their stages in such manner without the least change of countenance do make use of this expriment. But my purpose here is not, to set down indifferently what ever wonderfull effects there are found in Stones and in Plants: Their several Figures, the power whereof we now undertake is the Subject I now shall treat of. I will make a Division of these Figures their generall name being already known.

1. These Figures are either Natural, Accidentall or Artificial. The Artificial Figures shall be the Subject of my Discourse in the next Section

Now both the Natural and Accidental Figures as they are of three sorts; that is Imbossed or rising up, Hollowed or Naturaly Ingraven; and only Painted; so are they found also in three sorts of things; namely in Stones chiefly; in Plants and in Living Creatures: which neither Albertus nor Camillus have observed.

Now there is this difference betwixt the Naturall and the Accidental: that these Later (say Writers) are not made to any End propos'd whereas on the contrary; those other are never produced without some Reason or other. The Accidental are produced after some such mann̄ as was that act of the Painter, who being not able able to expresse to his mind the Foaming of a horse, in a Fury threw his Spunge at his Piece, with a purpose utterly to deface it: but it so hapned, that what his Pencil could not do his Spunge performed so rarely, that it was impossible for any hand to mend it. This Foam then was made without any Intention of the Painter to make it: But if I should say there is no such matter in the works of nature, I should say nothing but what were justifiable. For if: we are taught even by Divinity it selfe, and Reason also confirmes it, that there is a certain Providence which leads on all things to their end; & which which makes nothing, but to some purpose; why should we then ascribe to Fortune, any thing that causeth us to admire the Power of God, and to impute to chance things that are of greatest admiration.

Natural & Accidental Figures are found in three sorts of things in Stones, in Plants and in Living Creatures. Those that are found in Stones are called Gamahes, a word derived, in my opinion, from Camaïeu by which name in France they call all figured Agats: so that from this particular name there is now made a generall Appellation serving to expresse all sorts of Figured Stones. It is a difficult thing to tell whence this word Gamahe is descended originally. It is thought that the Jewes who lived a long time in France have left as many of their words and this amongst the rest, this Conjecture seems more probable for the Jewes traffick much in — precious Stones. Now the word: כמיוה Chai=maieu, may have been corrupted from: כמי״ה Chemaija, which signifies, As the waters of God: becauſe that you shall see some Agats — streaked in such manner as that they perfect=ly represent the Figure of waters: and the — word God is here added according to an — Idiotiſme frequent in the Hebrew Tongue; which when it is to speake of any thing of — Excellence Excellence; uſually adds this Holy Name after it. Thus speaking of a pleaſant Garden, it calls it Paradiſus Domini: of a Great Army, Exercitus Domini. of tall Cedars, Cedri Dei: of high — Mountaines Montes Dei &c. The figures then which are represented on Stones are either Painted, Emboſſed or Ingraven.

2. The Painted ones are of two sorts, Coloured or without colour: the Coloured, are all such — as are found on Agats; such as was that of King Pyrrhus, where the nine Muſes, — richly apparrelled were represented dancing with Apollo in the midst playing upon a harp. Cardan cannot beleive that this figure could could ever be so exactly drawn by meer Accident: but rather is of opinion, that it was made after this manner. Some Painter said he had long before; pictured upon a piece of Marble; Apollo amidst the Muſes, & afterwards either by chance; or upon set purpoſe, this Picture being buried in the ground, in some place where Agats were generated, the Marble was turned into Agat, & yet still retained the very same lineaments, which had been formerly drawn upon it. A pleasant Conceit! But what would he have said if he had ſeen that which M. de Breves had obſerved in his Voyages into the Levant, of a Crucifix repreſented Naturally on Marble stone. I have seen (saith he) another the like wonder at S^t. Georges in Venice where the figure of a Crucifix was represented upon a Marble stone; but with ſo much life, as that you might there plainly distinguish the Nails, the Wounds, the drops of blood, in a word, all the particulars that the most curious painter would have expressed. This Crucifix now (according to Cardan) must needs have been drawn upon some other kind of stone, which was afterwards converted into Marble, which is very ridiculous: or ſuppose, that this was not some other Stone turned into Marble; but Ensies Relations fol. 137.

but that it had by some extraordinary Means-only received and retained the figure of some Crucifix, which had been applyed unto it : We must then be forced necessarily to say, yt all other stones have received those Figures which we see perfectly represented upon them by the like Application : which Opinion is far wider of comon sense, then the former.
M. de Breves either had not observed, or else had forgott to speake of that other Gamahe, or wonderfull figure meerly Natu=rall which is to be seen in the same Church upon an Altar of Jasper coloured marble.

This figure is a Deaths Head so exactly drawn drawn, yt you cannot find any part defective How prodigiously full of wonder the Effects of Nature are which shewes her selfe admirable in all her ways!

And here we are to take notice, that these Figures are more frequently found, toward the Eastern & Southern Countries then in any other; by reason of the Heat, by which they are generated, and the vertue of the Tract. 3. Cap. 4. Stars. In India (saies Albertus Magnus) plures quam hîc Gamahe, quià potentiora astra. In Italy there are more of them seen then in France for the same reason.
At Limans a Village in Provence, about a League

League distant from Forcalquier a City of good note there hath been some time found in a certain Mine of a ~~certain~~ kind of reddish soft stone a great Number of these Gamahes, or painted figures, of birds, Mice, Trees Serpents and Letters, so exactly shaped that little Children could tell what they were. Three Leagues from Lyons which is a Country hotter yet then this there are found, on the coast of Jseron great store of Stones, which divided in two yeild many of these Gamahes exactly figured. Albertus Magnus saw at Collen, on the Tomb of the three Kings, the Heads of two young men very white drawn by Nature upon a Cornaline, but ſo ordered as that the one was placed upon the other like the Medals of the French King & Queen in one figure. There was likewiſe seen upon this Cornaline, a Black serpent, that encircled the two Heads in manner of a Garland and that with so much perfection that Albertus could not believe that it was the workmanship of nature: Probavi autem (saies he) quod non est vitrum, sed lapis: propter quod præſumpſi Picturam illam eſſe a Natura & non ab arte. The same Author alſo saw at Venice one of these Gamahes, upon a Marble stone that had been sawed asunder, and this was the figure of a Kings head with a Crown upon it; & there was so much perfection in this Natural piece of picture, as that the skilfullest painter in the world, would have found it a very hard task to have copied it: such was the Majesty of his Countenance Eyes & Mouth; that it filled with astonishment all that beheld it; In a word it was in nothing defective, save that the fore head was somewhat greater then the Life and the reason of it was (saith he) because that the hot vapour whereof this stone had been formed, being too vehe=

vehement, it mounted higher then it should have done in the forming of this figure.

Cardan tels also of another of these Gamahes on an Agate where was represented the Hemisphere of the Heavens, with the Earth placed in the Midst and as it were upon ye waters and many other wonderfull rarities he mentions

3. Those Figures which are not painted at all cannot be knowne otherwise then by the ending of the Lines: and yet they notwithstanding perfectly exprest that which they represent.

En ses Relations fol. 476 -

Of this sort. is that M. de Breves saw at Bethlehem upon one of the Tables of Marble; that adorns the place where the Cratch is: upon which you have represented

represented an old man with a beard and a long gown with a Cowl fitted to it: and all meerly by the meeting together, and casual corresponding

In Formic. l. 6. 5. c. 6. of the lines of the Stone. Nider reports, y in Mauritania, neer to the City of Septa, there is a Fountain, where there is found a certain kind of Stones, that naturally represent all the words of the Ave Maria. As for Example; in one you shall have Ave Maria, written at length; in another Gratia plena; and in another, Dominus tecum. Neither will this story seem so incredible to any man, that shall but consider, that the late King of France was sometime presented with a Company of little Flint Stones, that by the

Letters-

Letters naturally figured on them did make up his name at large. Now if Nature doth produce among these little Flints, some that bear one Letter, and many also that have two or three; why may she not as well produce one greater Stone where the word Maria may be found at length? And if any man have a mind to impute this, to some extraordinary Working of God, I shall not hinder him: as it is in like manner said of the forementioned Old man at Bethlehem; which is conceived to be the Portraiture of St Jerome; which was thus wonderfully represented upon the Marble, by reason of the great Devotion he bare to the Cratch

And

And in this sense I shall be able much more easily to make good the Power of Figures, wch I have undertaken to maintain: although I shall endeavour to produce such natural Reasons as shall confirme the truth hereof. The same Nider reports also, that the Marquesse de Bade had a pretious Stone, that on which side soever you looked on it, it alwaies represented a Crucifix, naturally figured on it. As for that other strange effect which was observed in it, it was rather Externall then particularly Appropriate, either to the Stone or to the figure. For they say that if a Woman that had her Monthly Courses upon her chanced to looke to looke on it; it instantly covered it selfe with a little dark Cloud; which afterwards vanished by little and little. Peradventure it was pollished and was made as smooth as Looking-glasses are wch are often observed to be sullied and loose their lustre; when women in that condition have looked upon them. Goropius Becanus also affirmes that he saw in England, a Pearch Fish so perfectly figured on a stone; that you might ~~have~~ distinguish both every part of the body, and every little Scale: This Stone was taken up, upon one of the highest mountains of the Kingdome: So yt Cardan may learn from hence; that this Stone could not possibly have been thus figured by the touch of any fish of the Sea; neither was it a Pearch, which had been turned into a Stone: for who should carry it (saith he) to the top of an unhabitable Mountain? Pliny reports that there was the Image of a Satyre found in a Marble stone sawed in two: And Gesner a very learned Switzer, mentions another Gamahe which represented two Roses; and of another that was full of starres. You may further see his Tract Lib. de rerum foſſil: Lap. et gemmar: figur: where he tells you of many Gamahes, which represent, some Comets, others, Plants fruits, fishes, Living Creatures of the Land; and some Artificial things too. He forgetts to mention

Plin. l. 36. c. 5

mention those emboſſ'd Gamahes which the Earth produceth: such as was that of the Virgin Mary holding her Son in her arms; which was naturally represented in a piece of a Rock and with very great Relief, and was found in one of the Isles of the Archipelago. As Thevet testifies in his Cosmography. And in the Caves that are found in a certain Desart in Provence in France, called l'Hermitage Saint Maurin; a Deſart that is indeed a very horrid one, by reaſon that it is encompaſſ'd with Rocks, but which is much more to be admired, then that of the grand Chartreuſe: whether you conſider the Air of it, which is for the most part serene & pleaſant; or its its Christall Fountains, whose Original is wonderfull Or the beauty of its Caves, which seem to be a Palace; fit for Nature to inhabit; or the Flowings of its Verdon; which being pent up by too small Channel makes a noise which causeth a horror suitable to those holy Solitudes: In these Caves are found good store of these Gamahes, Embossed which represent almost all the several sorts of Figures, that can fall within a mans Imagination. You shall see some of them as hanging on high; others appeare, as placed sidewise as you see Images placed in Walls: as if Nature had not forgotten any thing that might serve to render a place comendable. About 7 leagues from Auxerre, in those Caves which they call, Autounoirs, there are found almost the very same Gamahes or Figures: and both the one, and the other, have all of them a little hole in them running along through them from the top to the bottom: and my Judgm^{t}. of these figures is, that they are nothing else but water petrified or congealed to Stone (at least the greatest part of them) as if they were fastned to a Roofe above.

Goropius Becanus speaking of this kind of Gamahe; assures us that he hath seen Bones that hath been produced naturally within the bowells of the Earth which were of a Prodigious magnitude magnitude though they were generated of other - - Matter. And of this kind peradventure are thoſe Bones whoſe vaſt bigneſſe hath cauſed people vainly to conclude; that there have been heretofore Giants in the world. So true it is that for want of the true knowledge of the secrets of nature; Men uſually fall into most groſſe errors. Now these Emboſſed figures y^t are found in Stones, are of two sorts: the firſt are whole emboſſed round; as was the peice of Rock in forme of the Virgin Mary; and thoſe Bones that the Earth naturally produceth: the other are only in Releif; or only half emboſſed such as were thoſe Rocks, which Ortelius makes mention of, scituate in the entrance of the most western parts of Tartary; on which are to be seen the Figures of Camels, Horſes, sheep and many other things. the marvellouſneſſe whereof this Geographer being not able to comprehend he saies: Hæc saxa, Hominum, Camelorum, pecorumq; cæterarumq; rerum formas referentia, Horda populi gregis paſcentia, armentaq; fuit: quæ stupenda quadam Metamorphoſi repentè in saxa riguit, priori parte nullâ in parte diminutâ. And then to make the story paſſe for a Truth, he adds: Evenit hoc prodigium annis circiter 300, retro elapſis. These Tartarian Rocks are only Gamahes

generated by Nature. Otherwiſe, we shall be forced to forge new Miracles, for all the places where ever any of the like effects are produced; which would be moſt ridiculous seeing that we shall by and by make it appeare out of the writings of one of the moſt pious & learned men, the Ages past have brought forth, that these Effects are the Workmanship of Nature only, who produceth them no otherwiſe then she doth flowers. Of this sort of Gamahes were those three serpents figured within the hollow of an Oyster shell which were found by the King of Caſtiles Cooks, in the belly of a Fish. These Serpents were figured with their Head

Head Releived or swelling up; and that so naturally as that they seemed to be alive. The upper part of the Shell alſo afforded pretty variety of the said like figures: and which was moſt of all to be admired, there was not one of them but had a hole running along through it; from the very mouth to the Taile, though it were indeed but a very small one: Therefore saith Albertus Magnus, Conſtat per illud experimentum, etiam Figuras elevatas super lapides aliquando fieri à naturâ.

4. Those Figures that are Naturally Ingraved upon Stones, are either graved superficially only, or tranſparently, so as the Graving paſſes passes through the body. Of this later kind you shall oftentimes meet with some, among the heap of hollow stones that are found in the feilds, wherein you may observe the forme of a head by the little holes, which represent the Eyes the Nostrills and the Mouth and sometimes you shall have of them, yᵗ have the form of a Deaths head, either of a man or a horse. As for those other, which are only superficially graved, you may have store of them, among the little stones on the banks of River and upon the Sea shore: where you shall light upon some so exactly representing the figure of shells that you would thinke they were yᵉ Natural shells of fishes: and this sort ought rather to be reckoned in the Number of Embossed Gamahes then those that are simply Graved. I met with one of these stones which perfectly resembled a Goats Horne, which the Ancients called Cornu Ammonis, as you may see in Georg. Agricola lib. 5. de Natura Fossilium. I thought at first, when I saw some of those stones figured like shells that they had been at first Reall shells of Fishes, which had afterwards been petrified and turned into Stone, by the vertue of some kind of water they were so perfectly and exactly formed. But I have since considerd that, seeing there are found of them upon the tops of the highest hills, they must necessarily be Gamahes and the workmanship of nature; which without doubt hath not produced them, but to some end; as we shall see hereafter.

From hence you may judge, whether or no Goropius hath not good reason to reprove those that confidently affirme, that Ægypt and a part of Æthiopia hath heretofore been covered all over with the Sea, because that there are some of those shells frequently found in those parts. For we may as well conclude by the same Argument, that the

Appenine, the Alpes and the Pyrenean Hills have been sometime also overwhelmed with ye Sea; which is most absurd: unlesse they mean at the General Deluge: But this is not their Intention. Let us now come to the figures of the Plants.

5. The most learned among the Naturalists divide them thus. A Plant, say they, is either Arbor, or Cremium, or Frutex, or Herba. A Tree is a Plant, that hath a great Trunk or body: the Cremium hath but a little one: the Frutex hath many: and the Herba, is that, which at its first appearing out of the ground puts forth only two little leaves

leaves. I find then, that in all the severall kinds there is an infinite number of admirable Figures, which are called by the Philosophers Signatures rerum: now, One part only of a Figured Plant and not the whole Plant is called Signatura: or, the Signature is some certain thing in that Part, I speake not here of Internal Signatures; the Doctrine of these belong to Chymists: I purpose to Discourse of those Signatures that we meet withall in Plants, which the Ages past have taken very little notice of. I shall begin to shew, in order to the parts of ~~the~~ Plants, what Signatures or Marvellous

Figures Nature hath produced in them.

And first, the Root of divers sorts of Plants representeth divers parts of our Bodies: as that of the Hermodactil, resembles a mans Hand.

The Body or Stock is yet more Admirable: for whether it be in great Trees, or in small Plants, you shall find Figures, that represent the parts of Living Creatures. Among these later, the Serpentaria major perfectly resembles the Skinn of a Serpent; as doth also the Dracunculus, and the Ophioscorodon: among the Former, we must consider either the wood or the Bark of them.

In the Bark you shall many times see

especially in that of Old Trees, many Figures representing divers kinds of things by the various Cranies and Clifts that are in it. In young Trees where the Bark is closer it is figured with many little streakes, and Lines in the nature of Painting: And I have some time observed, upon the bark of a young Cherry tree, the figure of Little Trees laden with fruit, so naturally exprest as if it had been done with a Pencil.

The Wood is yet more admirable than the rest, seeing that in many Trees, there is the very same variety found, that is in Agats. There was a Tree found in Holland, which being being cut in peeces by a wood cleaver, they saw in one part of it the Figure of a Chalice; in another, that of a Priests Albe; in another ye of a Stole; and in a word there were represented very near all the Ornaments belonging to a priest. In boards of *Maple, you shall often find the figure of a Serpent, of a Bird, of a Fly &c. perfectly expressed by the streaks of this variegated Wood. There are also some other sorts of wood that represent some of these figures but not painted but embossed. At a City in provence called Apt I saw the Trunk of a ~~[illegible]~~ Vine which represented a Mans face as far far as the hair of the Head, ſo lively that you might perceive the Forehead, the Eyes Noſe, Ears, Mouth, Chin all exactly formed and in very good proportion.

The Branches of Plants are leſſe Conſiderable in matter of Figures then all the rest; (though it were in wood:) never the leſſe you may oftentimes obſerve in them some Kind of Resemblance, of the Fingers of a Mans hand; and of the Buſhineſs of his hair. And this is the reaſon, in my opinion why the Poets, when they diſcourſe in their Metamorphoſes, of the Tranſforming of men into Trees, they say that their Fingers, and the hair the Hair of their Heads were changed into Branches. In the Branches of Corall, you shall often meet with many Curioſities; & the thing is not so rare or scarce, but that any man may see eaſily the Experiment.

The Leaves seem to surpaſſe all the other parts; being divided into so many figures, that there seems not to be any thing in Nature, the Image whereof is not to be found among them. If the queſtion be made of the parts of Mans body, they are here repreſented: if you would have a Repreſentation of the waters, you shall find among these some that are waved: If you would have the Living Creatures of the Land land, you shall have some that have their Feet, and walke as they do; such as are those; which are found in the great Isle of Burnee, which are ~~found~~ described by Antonio Pigafetta: of the Birds of the Air and the Fishes of the waters, you shall finde some that are scaled and which have Finnes; & some that have both a Bill and Wings, and which do in a manner fly. I referr you, for the truth of these Relations, to Baptista Porta, Barthol: Chassaneus, Jo: de Torquemada, Thevet, Cardan. Scaliger, & Gul. Rovillius.

Neither are the Flowers less Admirable than these: For they likewise represent the figures of Living Creatures, both Beasts, Fishes, and Birds, the

Stars—

Stars also, the Rainbow, and almost all the other kinds of Meteors.

Fruits also are equally to be admired, for their severall forms and figures: and although they do not represent the figures of so many various things, as Leaves and Flowers do; yet they do represent very many and very considerable ones as you may observe in some Gourds, Peares Apples, and other fruits. That sort of Peares, which the Latines call Arietini, resembles the head of a Ram: as another sort of them (which are for the same reason called Columbini) doth a Pigeons: having each of them this quality agreable to their figure; that they are both equally

hot. So Beans likewiſe, bear on one side, the Form and figure, of a Mans Privy parts, and on the other of a Womans. And perhaps it might be for this only cauſe, that Pythagoras gave that precept to his Schoolars (which hath yet been rightly understood by no man) A Fabis abstineto.

Neither is the Seed which is the part of Plants that is brought laſt to perfection, as being of the Greateſt Importance, altogether deprived of the Beauty of these Figures. For that of the Herb Echion, or wild Bugloſſe reſembleth the Head of a Serpent, with its Mouth and Eyes and for this cauſe alſo it is observed to be very Soveraign againſt the biting of Serpents according

according to Dioſcorides. That of Rue is made in the faſhion of a Croſſe; and this peradventure is the reaſon that it is of so great vertue, in the cure of those that are poſſeſſed, and that the Roman Church useth it in their Exorciſmes. You may alſo obſerve some kind of Reſemblance of the Privy parts both of men and women in a Grain of wheat, and in the stones of Grapes: and my opinion is that out of this Obſervation may be raiſed a Philoſophical Interpretation, far above that which is uſually given of this Proverbial Saying Sine Cerere et ~~Libero~~ Baccho friget Venus.

If after you have conſidered all the parts severally severally, you but take the whole entire plant altogether; you will yet meet with some such rare figures as would seem Incredible: did not such ~~a~~ excellent Historians conforme us in the certitude of the Relation. Of this sort is the Boramet which growes in Scythia, having a perfect Resemblance of a Lamb, having a head, eyes, Ears, teeth, & the rest of the parts of the body proportionable. This Plant crops and feeds upon all the grasse that growes round about it; and when there is no more left it dyes with famine. Perhaps this is that Zoophyte or Plant Animal which is called in Hebrew Jeduah. You

Now in all the parts of Plants the Figures are either Internall, or Externall only; or both Internall ~~a~~ & Externall also. The Internall are, such as the Fruit of Palestine; which bears the figure~~s~~ of Ashes within; and likewise all the sorts of figures, that are found in sawing of Marble. The Externall are all such as are painted, & coloured on the outside of the fruit, but only not at all

not at all Within; in like manner as the Apple called in France the Fambure; is, which is all sperkled with red spots like drops of blood but only on the Outside or Rind. Those that are both Internally and Externally Figured are such as the Maple wood, & many sorts of Stones. The Internal Figures are likewiſe diſcovered, either by any manner of cutting Indifferently; or elſe by one certain particular way, only. That which appears after any manner of Cutting indifferently is as in that kind of Apple, which as Rider reports hath been ſeen at Granada, which being cut any manner of way did ſtill neverthleſſe repreſent

repreſent the Figure of a Crucifix. That which requires One only particular way of cutting, is, as in the Root of Fearne; which being cut One way only repreſents an Eagle perfectly. I have often obſerved, that an Orange likewiſe so cut, not a croſſe but long ways repreſents with its Kernells & little ſkins an Orange tree laden with Oranges. It is alſo obſerved that the Kernels of an Apple repreſent the Tree.

Those Figures do yet conſist either in the colour; or in the Diviſion of ye parts; in ye Colour; as in the flowre of the Herb Eye-bright which repreſenteth thoſe of an Eye

In this division of ye parts already spoken of:

6. The Natural Figures which are found in Stones, have Naturally a power to Operate; if they be Applied: and this I shall prove by two Reasons. The first is because they are called Effectrices: and the second is because we see it by Experience: For we dayly see, that some of these Figured Stones do operate upon the same things that they represent, as for Example; that Stone which we call Heliotropium, which is all speckled as it were with Drops of Blood, if applied to the part that bleeds, it stops the Blood Blood. Others there are that worke upon the wound that is made by the Image they bear So Pliny affirmes that there is a kind of Marble called Ophites, by reason of its resembling the figure of Serpents, whose name it bears: which if applied to the wound caused by the biting of those venemous Creatures it healeth it. Genus Marmoris (saith Pliny) ab Ophite dictum quod Imaginem horum Serpentium repraesentet molle candidum, nigransq; durum; dicuntur ambo serpentum ictus sedare. And here we may make this division of the figures that are found in stones, and say that they are of

of two sorts. The one are found in some certain Stones and are alwayes the same: & these are naturally endued with very admirable vertues. The other are such as are not tyed to any certain sort of stones but are indifferently found in all; and are not indeed of so great vertue as the former. And this is the Division that Cardan makes of them — De subtil. l.7.

Verum (saies he) mire quispiam dubitet, unde figuræ hæ in Gemmis, et lapidibus proveniant? neq; enim credendum est omnem figuram casu contingere; cum lapides multi ex eodem genere easdem retineant figuras. Itaq; meo judicio, dicendum est duo esse Figurarum lib. 1. loco citat. Figurarum et Imaginum genera: alterum, quod semper in iisdem lapidibus apparet, et hoc a natura provenit; quæ non secus ac in plantis foliorum et fructum numerum servat et rationem. Hoc Figurarum genus vim habet et aliquid significat. And so going on, he makes mention of a stone, which Albertus Magnus had, that being naturally marked with the figure of a Serpent had this admirable vertue, that if it were put in a place that were haunted with Serpents it drew them all unto it. You may see divers of these admirable Gamahes in Georgius Agricola, who reckons up, what stones there are that represent all the parts of mans — body; as well as those rare fruits & plants do, which we shall hereafter speake of. — And here it is comonly objected that it is not at all the Figure that produceth any such effect, but some occult quality wherewith the stone is endued. For otherwise if ye

would stop others; and a Living Scorpion — should cure the stinging of another Scorpion forasmuch as there is much more conformity and nearnesse of Resemblance betwixt two Reall drops of blood, or two Living Scorpions, then betwixt one pictured & one one Living one. And this is the strongest — Objection yt our modern Philosophers do — bring to overthrow the power which the Ancients attributed to Figures.

First therefore in Answer. It is true indeed that the bare figure represented on stones, — hath not of it selfe any power at all to — operate, though applied, Except there be — some Internall or Externall Agent that may cooperate; as for Example, a Painted — Figure will never be able to penetrate though it be applied, if it be either of soft wax or of butter, because that the matter is not at all proper to penetration; but the same same Figure in Wood, Iron, Braſſe, or any other hard matter will very easily penetrate. In like manner, if a Stone have not either from the Stars, or from its own nature, some quality proper to such or such an effect, as for stopping of blood, some Restringent Quality, & so of the rest In vain should we expect to find any perfect power in the figure. To say then, y^t it is (for example) this only restringent Quality that stops the blood; and that ye Figure of the drops of blood wherewith the Stone is spotted & painted, is of no concernment at all in the businesse—

is to fall back into the former Error: For to what purpose then hath Nature bestowed this Figure on the Stone? there must necessarily be given some kind of reason for it. If it be Answered that Nature had no purposed End in giving this figure: this were to deny that principle which is generally received by all Id non frustra fit quod Natura semper facit vel plurimum.

There were indeed very good reason to doubt of this power, if the Marble called Ophites, (which represents the Figures of Serpents, by whose name it is called,) would cure the biting of a dog, or of a horse only

But

But seing it cures the stinging of Serpents only and of no other Beast; why should we not attribute something to the very figure? But to prove more forcibly, that those Figures have some power to operate, against the perverseness of those that dispute against it: If those which represent Scorpions, Serpents, Toads, do find the nature of the place proper and aptly disposed for the supplying of the stone or other Matter on which they are found with a Quality & Nutriment agreable to the Nature of the thing, whose Image they bear; these figures will then

then certainly be turned into Reall Serpents, Scorpions and Living Toads, and into no other kind of Creature. So that our Philosophers need not now vex themselves any more to find out how and by what means a Toad should come to be generated in the midst of a great stone as was that described by Georgius Agricola which was found within a Milstone, when it was crackt or broken in pieces, either by the force of the Venom or else by the violence of the motion: and also how that other was generated which Goropius Becanus saw at Anvers, which was found in the sawing in two of a very thick marble stone

al. subter.

stone; that had neither hole nor rift in it. For the figure of a Toad having been first represented within these Stones, it so came to paſſe, that by some property of the place it was afterwards changed into a naturall living Toad. And the very ſelfe same may happen in any other figures, except that of Man whoſe fabrick is from the hand of God alone. We may conclude therefore that these figures are not represented in vain, both on Stones and on other Things: some that if they be rightly applyed, they aſſuredly have some secret power, according to the principle before laid down. And as Toads and other such Creatures are engendred with stones, and the very heart of the hardest Rocks, after the very same wonderfull manner of Generation, those fish Shells alſo which are found on the tops of Mountains are produced: not in the Sea (as some have ridiculouſly imagined;) but upon the very place where they are found: which gave occaſion to that Curious Inquirer into the Secrets of Nature, to draw from hence this Concluſion: Ubicunque igitur humor, ſive liquor invenitur, ad Teſtaceorum vitam idoneus viva Teſtacea generantur. He speaks this in diſcourſing of divers severall Figures or Gamahes that he had seen in divers places: and then he goes on reason, and sayes further; Opifex enim progreditur eò quoad ejus Materia patitur, ultra progressurus, si Loci et materiæ inopiâ non excluderetur. If a Figure then have so much power, as to change it selfe into that living Creature that it represents (provided that it meet with no Impediment) how can it be denied, but that they also have the power to worke, by some secret Sympathy, (if applied) upon the wound given by ye Creature which they resemble?

7. Now, why the same Figure should not rather hurt, then heale a wound so given, seing that the Living Creature it selfe being venemous, its figure also should, by Sympathy be venemous rather rather then Healing: the Reason I confesse is very dark and hard to be given: Neverthelesse I shall here adventure the first on this Discovery no man, that I know of having as yet undertaken it.

We have therefore said before; that when the Figure of a Scorpion, (for example) being represented on a Stone; finds in the place where it is, any Nutriment, or Humour, agreeable to the Nature of a Living Scorpion, it by little and little acquires perfection, and having at length drawn forth all that which was proper for a Scorpion, it becomes a living Scorpion.

We doe also suppose that when this venemous —

Creature

Creature or a Serpent, Dog or any other Beast chanceth to bite any; they leave an Impreſſion of some particular quality behind, as we ſee in thoſe yt are bitten by a Tarantula, who preſently fall into a continual Agitation; (not that they continually dance as the general Talk is:) this Venemous Creature having this Quality; that it is always in continual motion; And though it be cut into many small peices yet it will not leave stirring a long time after.

De Incant. De Sens. rer.

And ſo likewiſe Pomponatius, and Campanella affirme, that if a mad Dog bite a woman with child if there be not speedy remedy uſed, the fruit of her womb will be formed in the shape of a dog and it will afterwards come into the world with all the lineaments

Lineaments of a Dog. So true it is that if we would but enquire into the effects of Nature and ſhould be able to yeild the reaſons of them, we would scorne all that we now know. Now I say that the Figure of a Scorpion, that is naturally represented on a Stone, is still endeavouring its own perfection, and where ever it meets with any such Qualities as are proper to itself it attracts, and draws them to it. If therefore the Figure of a Scorpion, be applied to a wound made by a Scorpion, it there finds the Impreſſion of some certain Quality made by a Scorpion: which finding to be proper and agreable to its own Nature it attracts attracts and draws them to it. If therefore the Figure of a Scorpion be applyed to a Wound made by a Scorpion: it there finds the Impression of some certain Quality made by a Scorpion, which finding to be proper and agreable to its own Nature, it attracts and retains with it-selfe: So that the wound being thus delivered of those Qualities that envenomed it, presently heals up and growes well again. In a word the stronger here prevails against the weaker: So that in the Figure of a Scorpion, which Nature hath represented on a Stone; there being greater store found of the Qualities proper

proper to this Creature, then there is in the wound which the Scorpion made; those which are here, are drawn forth by those other, which are in the Stone as being the stronger, and of greater Vertue. Upon this Principle also it is, that a Scorpion bruised to pieces, and applied to the wound, cures it; as doth also its Oyl.

The biting of the Serpent is also healed by the applying of its head, beat in pieces; or else by the Serpent it selfe reduced into powder; as Crollius, and M. du Chesne. J. de la Violette affirmes; as likewise yt of a Crocodile is cured by its Fatt: that of a Rat by its flesh made into powder; that of a dog by its hair de Sign. Plant.

En la reformation de Theriques its hair or skin: the Venom of a ~~[illegible]~~ Toad is cured by a certain Stone that is found in his head. And if we should search after the properties of other living Creatures, we should doubtlesse finde the same thing in all of them. Upon this Principle also it is, that if an Egg that is frozen be put into cold water, it will be thawed in a very short space: and Hands that are benummed with cold will presently become unbenummed, if they be put into cold water or into Snow broth. For the greater cold which is in the Water, finding the lesse which is in the Hands; it draws it forth, and Swallows it up; just as a small

small Candle is lost, if it be placed neer a great Fire, or a red hot furnace. But if the Cold, yt is in the Hands were greater then that in the water; and the Venom that is in the wound made by a Scorpions Sting, were more powerfull then that of the Scorpions figure applied to it; we should then see a clean Contrary Effect./

We deny not but that there is a greater Correspondency betwixt two Reall Naturall Drops of Blood; and betwixt two Living Scorpions; then betwixt a Living one and a painted. Yea we rather on ye contrary acknowledge that the great Analogy and Resemblance that there is betwixt them

is the Cause that Blood either broken into little pieces by stirring or freshly drawn, & applyed to a Wound, stops the bleeding of it; as Experience testefies, if we may beleive Crollius: & the Oyle of Haires distilled, keeps the Haire from falling off: So Earthwormes made into Powder destroy those that are bred in our bellies. and the Gravell of the Urine we make, is an excellent Medicine against the Stone: and many other properties there are observed to proceed from this Analogy, or nearenesse of Resemblance.

8. The Power of those Figures that are found in plants, and their parts, seems to have some affinity with that of the Figures in Stones; Seeing that they also operate on the same things that they represent. Example, the Citrull Cowcumber, which in some sort resembles the figure of a mans Head, is a very soveraign remedy as Porta affirms against the diseases of the Head. So the Herbs, Argemon, Iris and Bolloculus all which represent the figure of an Eye, do likewise cure the Diseases of it. Dentaria which hath the form of Tooth cures the Tooth ach: Palma Christi, and Ischamon which grow in the shape of a Hand, are cures for the wounds of that part as the Herb Geranopodium is for those of yͤ

because it beares the Resemblance of them

Crollius proceeds more Methodically in reckoning up the wonderfull effects of this Resemblance betwixt the severall sorts of plants, and ye parts of Mans body: and the Order he observes is this.

Sigt. plant. c.137.

The Head, saith he, is represented by the Root of Squills, which is of the same figure: and therefore also it is properly applied in the diseases of the Head.

The Haire is represented by that Hairy Mosse, which growes upon the Oaks, and is called, Pili Querceni: and by Thistle down, the juyce whereof being distilled makes the hair to grow

The Eares by the Herb Asarum or Asarabacca which is excellent against Deafness.

The Eyes, by the flower of the Herb Potentilla a word, saith Fuchsius, unknown to the ancients, and which is called with us Wild Tansie; the water whereof is of singular vertue for the sight.

The Nose by Water-Mints, the water whereof recovers the Smell when it is lost.

The Tooth by the Hearb Dentaria which causeth the Toothach to cease.

The Hands by the Root of Hermodactil, wch is good against Chops in the Hands.

The Heart

The Heart by the Citron and the Herbe called Alleluja which is very soveraign for it.

The Lungs by the Heart Lungwort.

The Liver by Hepatica or Liver wort; which is of good use in the Diseases of the Liver.

You may see all the other Simples in the same Author, that represent the rest of the parts of Mans body; as the Breast Ventricle Navel &c.

And here it may be Objected that the greatest part of those Plants, though they be reduced into Ashes, yet do they not faile to worke the same effects and to have the same Quality that they had before: and that therefore this power is to be attributed to the Nature of the Plant and not at all to the Figure which it now no longer retains, when it is once reduced into Powder.

I answer, that though they be chopt in pieces brayed in a Morter, and even burnt to ashes, yet do they neverthelesse retain (by a certain secret and wonderfull power of Nature) both in the Juyce and in the Ashes the selfe same forme and figure that they had before and though it be not there visible; yet it may by art be drawn forth and made visible to the Eye, by an Artist. This perhaps will seem a Ridiculous story to those who read only the titles of Books: but those that please may may see this Truth confirmed, if they have recourſe to the workes of M. du Cheſne, S. de la Violette one of the best Chymists y^{t} our Age hath produced, who affirmes, that himſelfe saw an excellent Poliſh Phyſitian of Cracovia, who kept in Glaſſes the Ashes of almoſt all the Hearbs that are knowne. so that, when any one out of curioſity, had a deſire to see any of them, as (for Example) a Roſe; in one of his Glaſſes, he took that where the Ashes of a Roſe were preserved, and holding it over a lighted Candle, so soone as ever it began to feel ye heat, you should preſently see the Ashes

began to Move; which afterwards riſing up and diſperſing themselves about the Glaſſe; you should imediately observe a kind of little dark cloud which dividing it selfe into many parts, it came at length to represent a Roſe; but so fair, so fresh, and so perfect a one, that you would have thought it to have been as substantial, and as Odoriferous a Roſe as any growes on the Roſe tree; This Learned Gentleman sayes, that Himselfe hath often tryed to do the like; but not finding the succeſſe to anſwer all the Industry he could uſe. Fortune at length gave him a sight of this Prodigy; For as he was one day practiſing practiſing with M. de Luynes called otherwiſe De Fomentieres Counſellour to the Parliament to see the Curioſity of divers Experiments, having extracted the Salt of certain Nettles burnt to Ashes, and set the Lye abroad all night in a winter Evening; in the Morning he found it all frozen; but with this wonder attending it; that the Nettles themselves with their Forme and Figure were so lively and so perfectly repreſented on the Ice, that the Living Nettles were not more: This Gentleman being as it were raviſhed at the sight sent for the ſaid Counſeller to be a Witneſſe of this Secret, the Rarity whereof he exprest in these Verses

This—

This Secret proves, that though the Body dies, The Forme doth still within its Ashes lye.

From hence we may draw this Concluſion, yͭ the Ghosts of Dead men which are often seen to appeare in Church yards, are Natural Effects being only the Forms of the Bodies, which are buried in thoſe places; or their outward shapes or figures; and not the Souls of thoſe Men or any such like Apparition, cauſed by Evil Spirits as the Cōmon Opinion is. The Ancients thought that these Ghosts were the Good and Evil Genij which attended alwayes upon Armies: but they are to be excuſed; seing they know not how to give any other reason of those Apparitions, it being most certain that in Armies, where by reason of their great Numbers, many dye, you shall see some such Ghosts very often (especially after a Battle) which are as we have said, only the figures of the Bodies excited and raised up partly by an Internal Heat, either of ye Body or of the Earth: or else by some external one as that of the Sun or of the Multitudes of the living: or by the violent noyse or heat of great Guns which puts the Air into a heat. Hence may arise these Questions. Whether or no we may by these explain all the Visions that are mentioned by Writers? Whether those wonderfu Effects

th Sheet

Effects, which we attribute to Demons or Spirits, may proceed from these Figures or not? And then, whether they have any power at all or not? And if so, whence they have it? And if it be granted they have any; Whether they have greater power then the dead body it selfe whence they proceed? Or whether the dead body is of more power then when it was living? as Paracelsus is of opinion; who saies that Mummie hath in it all the Vertues of plants, stones, &c And that it hath an Occult Magnetique Vertue, which draws Men to the Sepulchres of those whome they account to have been holy men; where, by the vertue of the same Mummie, there are those those Effects wrought, which we call Myracles: which are observed (saith he) to be much more frequent in the Sumer, then in any other season of the yeare, by reason of the heat of the Sun which awakens & excites the Humour that is in the Mumie. These other Questions are disputable Whether or no, these wonderfull formes, which proceed from the blood the bones or the ashes of dead bodies, may serve for an Undeniable Argument of the Reſurrection; a thing unknown to most of the philosophers? Whether after they are raysed up they can in any thing be serviceable unto us? An whether by their means we may be naturally able to attain to the knowledge of divers secrets which are unknown to us. By what hath been said We may safely account the Objection before proposed to be Invalid & of no force seeing that, though the Body be reduced unto ashes, yet neverthelesse the Figure is not thereby destroyed.

And this peradventure is the reason, why it oftentimes raineth frogs: for the Sun drawing up Vapours out of some Moorish place where those Frogs, after six months space (say the Naturalists) are changed into Slime; it may so come to paſſe that these vapours, which afterwards become thick Clouds, may produce by the concurrence of the heat of the Sun the forms of Frogs; which meeting there with Qualities proper for their Generation, receive life and so become Living Frogs.

After the Figures that are found in Stones and Plants we proceed to those figures that are found in Living Creatures both Rationall and Irrational even down to Fishes.

Those then yt are found in Fishes are Characters Cyphers or all kind of Arms. Raphael Eglin Minister of Zurich gives an account of 3 Fishes which were marked with strange Characters they were taken on the Coast of Norway 1587.

The Figures that are found upon Beasts of the Land are better known, then those upon Fishes: For it hath been often observed, that the horns of Deer have been marked with certain Characters, and sometimes too even with the shapes of Living Creatures, which have been perfectly represented by them. So we have sometimes seen Catts & Horses, which have had upon their skins such spots of white red or black, that by the intermixing of ye streaks of the severall coloured Hair there hath been represented the figure of another Cat or horse.

Lastly the Figures which are found upon Rational Creatures are such as the Imagination of the of the Mother, during the time of her going with Child, hath imprinted there: And for brevities sake, I shall only set down two Remarkable Examples which prove very powerfully the vertue which we attribute to all Figures. My Sister Jane Rudd had the figure of a Fish upon her left Legg.

Fish when she was Great: and it was represente Season & nature of other Mulberies, & coming at length up to the just bigness & Redness of other ripe Mulberies.

Section the 4th.

That according to the Opinion of the Eastern Men, Figures & Images may be so prepared under certain Constellations, as that they shall have

have the power Naturally and without the Aid of any Demon or Devil, to drive away noisom beasts allay Winds, Thunder & Tempests and to cure divers kinds of Deseases.

In all Philosophy nothing hath more perplexed our new Philosophers then this Subject concerning Images or Figures made under some certain Constellations. The greatest part have Rejected the practice of these Operations as vain and Superstitious. Yet others not over swaied with passion, have both allowed and defended it though they suffered for it in their repute: insomuch that Galleottus, who is acknowledged by Paulus Jovius to have been one of the most Learned and knowing men of his time, only for having undertaken the Defence of this Truth have been handled by some like any base inconsiderable fellow: and the famous Camillus accounted no better then an Atheistical wretch. And this is the usage they bestow on all the ablest men: whereas they ought rather to Answer their Arguments pertinently, and to shew the insufficiency of them if they can. But leaving these men to enjoy their own ignorance I shall prove (against all those that have condemned them) that the making of those figures figures is lawfull, and the power they have is Naturall, Conſtant and Certain. firſt Conſider their Name.

They are called in Hebrew מגן Maghen i.e. a Scutcheon or Shield: in Chaldee, Ægyptian, & Perſian צלמניא, Tſilmenaia w.ch ſignifies a Figure or Image: In Arabick תלצמם, Talitsman or צלמם Tſalmam, and in Greeke ϛοιχεῖα. Maghen therefore ſignifies properly any piece of paper or other the like Matter marked with certain Characters drawn from the Tetragramaton, or Great Name of Foure Letters or from any other as we ſhall ſhew hereafter. This Word ſignifies alſo though Improperly improperly thoſe very figures alſo & Images we ſpake of becauſe that theſe alſo as well as the Characters of the Tetragramaton do ſerve as it were in ſteed of a Buckler or ſhield of Defence; againſt Diſeaſes, Lightnings & Tempeſts Our Diſcourſe ſhall only be what Naturall Power Images that are made under certain Conſtellations may have; baniſhing from hence all Operations of Demons or Spirits, and all Superſtitious Powers whatſoever.

I ſhall prove therefore this Power of Figures and Images three manner of wayes, by the Influence of the Stars: by the Power of Reſemblance, and by Experience. I ſhall begin begin with the last of these.

Firſt then it is Certain and we cannot deny it, without denying the most Authentick Hyſtoriographers that are, that there have been seen both in our dayes and in the days of our Fathers some of these Talismans or Talismanical Figures, that have cured those that have been bitten by Serpents, Scorpions Mad Dogs, and divers other Mischances y^t are but too frequent with us. The Antient Arabians, as Almanſor, Meſſahala, Zahel Albohazen, Haly Rhodoam, Albategnius, Homar, Zachdir, Hahamed & Serapion gives us many Examples of this kind which gave

gave Haly occaſion to conclude, that, Utilem Serpentis Imaginem effici poſſe; quando Luna Serpentem Cœleſtem ſubit, aut feliciter aſpicit Similiter Scorpionis effigiem efficacem, quando Scorpij Signum Luna ingreditur. Neither did he deliver this Doctrine without having had Experience of the Effects: for he affirmes, that himſelfe being in Ægypt, had in his hand one of those Images of a Scorpion which did cure those that were stung by this Venemous beaſt and it was engraven upon a Bezar stone.

Furthermore I am of opinion that the first Gods of the Latines which they called Averrunci, or Dij Tutelares were no other then those Talismanical Images: and I ground this my Conjectur from hence that there are some Historians that affirm that they made some of those Tutelar Gods under certain Constellations: But the poison of Idolatry having infected the best of Sciences, was the cause that these Images being afterwards taken for Gods, the true and legitimate manner of making them was smothered & quite lost.

They were wont also to set up some of those Talismans upon the Prow of their ships to preserve them from Shipwrack: and all this to be done naturally too; seeing that a Talisman may be made under the sign of Pisces that may for some certain time render the waters Calm and free from Tempests.

called these Figures) set up in Ships, παταικοὺς; a word no doubt borrowed from the Hebrew: פתוחים, Pitochim, which signifies as much as Cælatura: And therefore the Chaldee Paraphraſt renders it צלמניא Tſilmenaija. Now we are to take notice that thoſe figures were not at all of any Humane form, but of some Celeſtial figure, or other, which confirms me in the beliefe that they were reall Taliſmans Neverthleſs the Mariners had alſo their Statues of some Deity or other as of Mars Apollo, Venus, Mercury & the like which they placed at the poop or hinder part of their ships whence Virgil saies —— Aurato fulgebat Apolline

Puppis.

Which gave occaſion to the Poets to feign that Jupiter stole away Europa under the shape of a Bull; becauſe the Ship of the Cretians who stole her away had for its Taliſman the figure of the Celeſtial Sign Taurus, and for its Deity a Statue of Jupiter. The like Original might probably ye other Fable of Ganimede have had; who is said to have been carryed away by an Eagle, the bird proper to the same God. You may see further concerning this Particular in Sextus Pompeius, lib. de Europa, & Lactantius lib. de falſa Religione: This Cuſtome of Mariners setting up of these Taliſmans or Images in their—

their Vessells against Shipwracks, is so ancient yt they say, that among those yt came with Æneas from Troy, there was one that had the figure of two Lyons: That the Gadarens had one with the Image of a Horse: and that the Ship of Alexandria which St Paul sailed in, had the Images of Castor and Pollux, or according to the Arabians the Gemini graved on it: And that which carried Hyppocrates when he tooke his Journy to Abdera for the curing of Democritus bare the figure of the Sun. Now all these Talismans were not made so much for the avoiding of Shipwrack only as for the turning away of some other disastrous accidents or the procuring procuring of some good Fortune or other. And from this practise of the Antients have the Christians taken Example; though in a Christian way, of having Images in their Vessells, and picturing in them the Saints whose Names they bear.

I shall further add to this choice piece of Antiquity;
That these Talismans were not set up in Cities only and Ships, but also in the plain open feilds too: and it may be, that that Stone so much famed among the Turks, which they call Bractan, and is set up at Mecha, being four foot long, & two foot broad as Suidas reports was only a Talisman. For otherwise we must even content our selves with Turkish Fables, and beleive

that it would never have been so highly prized by them, but for that it served instead of a bed to Abraham, when he had knowledge of his maid Hagar: for besides that this is ridiculous, The Turkes will never acknowledg themselves to be Bastards, and descended from a Servant maid, but from Sarah, & this is the reason that they are so much delighted in being called Sarasins. Others say, that the reason why the Turkes have this stone in so much veneration is because that Abraham tyed his Camel to it when he went up to the top of the Mountain to sacrifice his Son, as Euthymius Zigabenus: or as some of the more trifling sort of

of the Arabian Writers will have it, because it was erected in memory of a certain Holy Woman who was taken up into Heaven and afterward honoured upon Earth as a Goddess, for having very charitably entertained the Angels Arot and Marot. That which moved these later to forge these Fables, was the figure of Venus which is ingraved upon this Stone, with a Crescent: and this is that which makes me believe, that it was a Talisman of this planet, which as Mr. Selden says was anciently taken throughout all Asia for the Moon.

And for this cause it is that this people hath Friday in the same Veneration as Sunday is with us with us: and that in memory of this Star, which all the Asians worshipped, the ridges of their Houses and tops of their Temples were adorned with little Cresents as ours are with Crosses. Now it cannot be thought that this Stone was only a bare simple Image erected in honour of Venus, for besides that it was placed in the open feilds, and not within any Temple; it had that vertue; which no other Image of Goddesse ever had. For it drave away saith Zachder all Venemous beasts, and rendred all the neighbouring feilds both happy & fruitfull: which is so far from being observed in them at this day, that on the contrary, they are all — utterly barren. And this agrees excellently well with the Nature of these Talismans, whose operation lasteth but for some certain space of time; as Albertus Magnus assures us. thus; Non lateat nos, quod sicut virtutes Naturales perdurant in quodam tempore; et non ultra; ita etiam est de virtutibus Imaginum. Non enim influit aliqua virtus de Cælo, nisi quodam temporis periodo; postea cassa et inutilis remanet Imago frigida et mortua. Et hæc est causa, quare quædam Imagines non operantur hoc tempore, quod fecerunt tempore antiquo.

Mirab. tract. 3 c 3.

From the diversity of Opinions concerning this Talismanical Stone it may be judged how how how many fabulous Stories have been raised touching those Artificial Images; as namely of those which were called Στοιχειώδεις which were broken to pieces by the Latines, at their coming into Constantinople: of the Palladium of which there are so many wonders reported, and which perhaps was nothing else but a Talisman: of those Images of the Amorhites, which as Philo Judæus reports, were called Nymphæ sacræ which showed to their slaves hourly, whatsoever they were to do which being at last quite decayed, An Angel of the Lord, (being they could neither be broken to pieces, nor burnt burnt in the fire) took and cast into a bottomless pit: The Greeks were the first that turned these Truths into Fables: for having lighted on some of these Images that had been made long before; and seeing them to have such admirable strange Vertues in them being unable to apprehend the reason of these things, they presently betook themselves to forging of old ridiculous stories of these as they have done of all other things, the truth whereof they understood not.

7. And here two Questions may be asked first whether the Holy Scriptures make any any mention of those Talismanical Figures or not? And the second, when they were first Invented; and by whome?

To the first of these I answer, that as in none of the Translations so neither in the Original Hebrew is the name of these Talismans found: although there are of those men that attribute all things to the power of Nature only, as Atheists do, who stick not to affirme that the Brasen Serpent set up by Moses in the Wilderness: was but a meer Talisman which drove away Serpents, and healed the bitings of them. But this their opinion is confuted confuted by this; that the Matter of which a Talisman is made must not be any whit contrary to the Nature of the Greif which it is to cure. Now all the Rabbins who have treated upon this subject affirm; that according to the opinion of all the Naturallists there is nothing more contrary to those that are bitten by Vipers, then to touch or look upon Copper; so that this should have added to the Israelites torment, & more envenomed their wound rather then have cured them. And this was the reason perhaps, why God comanded Moses to make a Serpent of brasse rather then of any any other Mettal; that so this Incredulous people might know, that seing God cured them by a Remedy quite contrary to their disease; he was able as well to bring them safely into the place to which they despaired of ever arriving. And here by the way I cannot excuse Marsilius Ficinus, who without any ground at all hath charged the Rabbins with having a beleife that their Forefathers made the Golden Calfe in the Wildernesse, to no other end, but to serve as a Talisman for the diverting the Influences of Mars and Scorpio wch are adverse to them: Hebrei quoq; (saith he) in Ægypto nutriti, struere vitulum aureum didicerunt, ut eorundem Astrologi putant ad aucupandum Veneris Lunæq; favorem, contra Scorpionis atq; Martis influxum, Judæis infestum. This I approve not.

To the second Question, I answer, that it will require the Spirit of Divination to assigne the first Invention of these Talismanical Images to its right Author: yet it cannot be denied but that ye Persians or if you will the Babilonians or Chaldeans were the first that found them out; as you may see in R. Moses his Ductor Dubiorum where he tells us, yt the Ægyptians

and their Neighbours whome he calls Gens — Zabiorum, Cazedim and Aranim, learnt this Doctrine of them. And though we had no — other Testimony but this, that throughout the whole Eastern part of the World there are yet to be seen some of these Talismans wch — are very ancient ones; it would be an undeni =able argument that the Eastern men were the first Inventors of them.

8. Some of those Talismans have now quite lost their Vertue as namely that Leaden Cro that have been comunicated to me by Mr. Du Val. a man well skilled in these Magical Secrets, and whose Closset affords a vast Number of them — I intend to publish them to the world, and to discover this Secret which all the Learned do — either bewail, as a thing lost to the world, or else as of extreame Difficulty: and shall — also shew how that all those that have made any of those figures, have mixed such — Superstitions with it as are indeed justly — condemned.

Now some of these Talismans are yet of — as much Vertue, as they were at first. Witness that which is spoken of by the Arabick Cosmographer

Cosmographer (who is a very Authentick Epist. ad Vazet / writer) and is cited by Joseph Scaliger This Talisman, he saith is to be seen in the Country of Hamptz in a City bearing that same name; and it is only the Figure of a Scorpion, graved upon one of the stones in a certain Tower; which is of so great vertue, as that it suffers not any either Scorpion or Serpent to come within the City. And if any one for Experiment sake, bring one of these out of the feild into the City, it is no sooner at the gate but that it dyes suddenly. This

any one is stung by a Scorpion or bitten by any other Serpent; they need but take the Image of the stone with a little clay & apply it to the wound, and it is instantly healed. If any one doubt of the Credit pag. 33. of this Cosmographer he may yet adventure to beleive Mr. de Breves, as having been an Eye witnesse of the like Experiment who says in his Travels, that at Tripoli a City of Syria, within a Wall, that reacheth from the Sea Side to the gate of the City there is a certain inchanted Stone; on which is figured in Releif by way of Imbossement, the figure of a Scorpion; which which was there placed by a Magician, for to drive away venomous beasts, which infested this Province; as the Serpent of Braſſe, in the Hippodromus at Constantinople; did. And a little above the City, there is a certain Cave which is full of the Carcaſſes and bones of Serpents which dyed at that time. These are his owne words translated. Now whereas he calls this an Inchanted Stone, and sayes it was placed there by a Magician, you muſt note that he there speakes according to the senſe of the Inhabitants, who know not how to give any other account of the thing, as not understanding any thing at all of the Natural reaſon of it as we have said.

At Bizantium, which is now Constantinople there were many of these Taliſmanicall figures to be seen: but the fury of warr hath demoliſhed them all, to the great prejudice of the Inhabitants. Sultan Mahomet alſo cauſed one of them to be broken to pieces, which was a brazen Horſe with a Horſeman upon him; which is certainly reported to have preserved the City from Pestilence, and all Contagion of the Air: but since that time this Diſeaſe hath raged so fiercely, as that in the the space of four months Leunclavius, who wa present, affirmes, that there died a hundred and fifty thousand persons: and even yeare in the months of July and August, the like effect in a manner is to be seen. In a wou all Asia was full of these figures; the use whereof was at length known to the Europeans also: for the Druides as the learned Forsy reports, used these Talismans with good successe; and even our Grandfathers have assured us, that it was an ancie Tradition; that where the Fairies, the Druid wives inhabited; there neither Hails nor stormes ever spoiled the fruits. And the reason reason in my opinion was, because they used to make of these Talismans. Now of late many Learned men have rescued from Oblivion these Figures; and Paracelsus did take so much pains herein, as that he made divers of them; and those of such vertue; as that they preserved those that wore them from the Pestilence; as many in Germany have had experience of.

Those Talismans which Paracelsus calls Zenexton, by a made Name, (it being the custome of this Author, to devise new Words) are made with exceeding great Art. In one of them there is a Scorpion and a Serpent figured: and he saith it must be made when the Sun and the Moon

Moon enter into the Signe of Scorpio. In anoth you have a great number of little Holes with that he, not content to make only one; made

Cancer; and that with so good successe, and with such certainty, as that he imediately found the benefit of it. Confecit (saith he) plures Imagines, pro se, et amicis suis: quibus effectis, unam pro se accepit, et liberatus est. The same he reports of a certain Florentine a very pious man who made one of those Talismans; for to drive away the Gnats; which he did, with good successe. Nicholaus Florentinus, saith he, vir religiosus, fecit in una Constellatione annulum ad expellendum Culices, quas vulgo Zanzaras dicimus, sub certis et determinatis Imaginibus, et usus fuit constellatione Saturni infortunati et expulit Culices.

What more can be said both for the Innocence and Power of these Figures? which are both Certain and Naturall, and do protest that I see nothing in them that is above the power of nature. —

The second Meanes which I proposed to use, for the proving of the power of these Figures, is the Power and Vertue of the Resemblance that there is betwixt the Scorpion and its Image; and the Constellation that beares the name of this Living Creature. I shall then prove this Vertue, by an Induction of that which Resemblance alone produceth, throughout all Arts and

Sciences, as Divinity, Philosophy, Physick, Astrology, Physiognomy, Divination of Dreams, Painting, Sculpture, Musick &c

9. Those that are well skilld in the Secrets of the Theology of the Ancients assure us that those that first set up Images in their Temples resembling the shapes of Angels that have appeared upon Earth had no other design in so doing, save only the more easily to invite down those blessed Spirits, by the force of the Resemblance. and I know not whether or no by the very same vertue of Resemblance, which is found betwixt God and man; (Faciamus

hominem ad imaginem et similitudinem nostram:) it hath not rightly been affirme by some Divines, that the Son of God woul neverthleſſe have become man (yet withou suffering death,) though Adam had neve fallen. But speaking of things as the are now at present, we know, that Jesus Christ is found in the midst of those, — that speake, with Faith, of his Name: becauſe that when we speake with — Affection of any One, we repreſent him to our selves in our Imagination.
When therefore speaking of Jesus Christ we fancy him as he is; he is instantly present present with us, appearing to our Hearts at that very instant, that we then frame his Image by our Imagination. So true it is, that Resemblance hath the Power to work wonders, even upon him that hath Dependance upon no other, and is not under any power or Law.

10. Philosophy alſo lets us see the vertue — of this Resemblance, in the buſineſs of the Imagination. For if a Woman with Child did but strongly fix her Imagination upon any object during the act of Copu= lation, the Child will aſſuredly bear the — perfect Image of the same. Every Child knowes knowes the story of the Princeſſe yt conceiv and brought forth a Black-moor, though her ſelfe and her huſband were both of them fair, only becauſe there was a Moo pictured on the Teſtern of the Bed. So if the Mother in the act either strongly fancy Robbing, Killing or Love; the Chil will be either a Theife, Murtherer or an Amorous perſon: If the fancy Travel ling, he will be a Traveller, if Dancing or playing on the Lute, he will be very apt for those things, & so of the rest. And we se by dayly experience ~~the effects~~ of the Strong deſires and Longings of Mothers during

during the time of their being with Child upon their Children; on whom the strength of their Imagination hath imprinted ye Reſemblan of the same thing that they have deſired.
And hence they say it is, that the Children that are got upon a Married woman by some other man then her own Huſband shall notwithstanding have the perfect Reſemblance of her Huſband; becauſe that, during the Act of Generation her mind still runs on him fearing lest he should come and catch them at it.
You may further see the wonderfull effects cauſed by the power of the Imagination learnedly learnedly discoursed on by Paracelsus, Marcilius Ficinus, Picus Mirandula, Tostatus, Valesius, & Medina.

11. Physick likewise observes the admirable Effects caused by Resemblance: witness those Herbs, which asswage the greifs of those parts of our body whose Image they bear (as we have already said:) or else which cure those Diseases, whose figure or colour they bear. Thus Lentils and Rapeseed cure the small pox in Children because that the Grains are like to the Spots of this Disease. And Rhubarb which is of a yellow colour, expells choller which is of the same colour. In a word, those Plants which are Barren or Fruitfull as Porta saith doth render those that use them, Barren or Fruitfull: the Fair makes them Fair; the Deformed makes them Deformed; the Imperfect make them imperfect; so that he concludes with Theophrastus; Accedunt stirpium aliquot genera deficientium, vel folio vel radice vel alijs partibus, eademq; ratione membris illis nostri corporis respondentibus, infesta noxiaq; sunt. The same he also affirmes of living Creatures. Eadem ratione ad animalia transeundo, si aliquibus membris deficisse

Phytogn. l.b.1. c. 8, 9.10.

videmus eadem Membris nostris adverſantur. For which reaſon the Eating of those Creatures which have no blood does waſt ours and so of all the other parts. And it is obſerved that in France, there are more Lepers than in any other Kingdome by reaſon of the great Store of Hogs fleſh that is eaten there: So true it is, that our bodies become like unto that which we uſe to feed on. And for this Reaſon alſo is Hercules said to have been very strong becauſe he fed upon the marrow of Lions the ſtrongeſt among Beaſts.

12 Astrology alſo shewes the vertue of Reſemblance

Reſemblance, judging of the Qualities of the Child by those of the Stars. For Mars caſting forth a glittering red light, makes the Child that is born under ~~his~~ its influence of a red colour alſo. Saturn who is of a pale, faint colour makes him pale and wan. Jupiter and Venus which caſt forth bright clear and pleaſant beames, makes the Child Beautifull and pleaſant. The like is obſerved alſo in other Qualities, so that if the Signes be High, and in their Apogaeum the Child (say the Arabians) shall be in like manner of a Tall, and Great Stature; if they are Low he shall be low & of a little stature

As concerning Motion, Saturn, which hath a slow and heavy one makes the Child likewise heavy and lazy: the Moon which hath a swift motion, makes him light and inconsiderate. You may have the fuller prosecution of this Discourse De cont. genit. cor: rit. — in those two Learned Italians, Cardan, & Porta: who confidently affirm that a man may likewise foretell certainly any other the like qualities that a Child shall be subject to by the figures and other qualities of the Meteors. Thus a man may conclude that ~~[illegible]~~ we shall see Armies battels & wars break forth, after ye Launces of fire fire swords, Trumpets & Bucklers have been seen to appear in the air: And cheifly when a Comet hath appeared: of which it is usually said, Nunquam impune visus Cometa. And so likewise we may conclude there will be great Effusion of blood, if all these Meteors are Redder then Ordinary: or when the Sun and Moon, in the time of an Eclypse seem bloody. And if they be Pale & Wan, and wann & of a dead Colour, we may conclude there will follow great Mortality, by the Pestilence; which makes those that are infected with it pale wann & colourless 13. Physiognomy likewise shewes the most prodigious prodigious Effects of Resemblance and of Figures.

For if a man indeavour to counterfeit any other mans Countenance, and that he fancy himselfe to have his hair, eyes, nose, mouth, and all other parts like Him; and in a word if he imagine himselfe like him in his Physiognomy; he may by this meanes come to know, what his Naturall Inclinations, and what his Thoughts are by the same which he finds in himselfe; during the time of this his making of Faces.
This Opinion is grounded upon the Experience of Campanella who expresseth himselfe in those words. Cum quis hominem videt statim imaginari oportet, se nasum habere, ut alter de Sensu rerum & Magia.

ut alter habet, et pilum et vultum, et frontem et locutionem: et tunc qui affectus et cogitationes in hac cogitatione illi obrepunt judicat homini illi esse proprios, quem ita imaginando contuetur.
Hoc non absq; ratione & experientiâ. Spiritus enim format Corpus, et juxta affectus innatos ipsum fingit, exprimitq;. I alwayes thought that the Opinion of Campanella was, that a man should only imagine himselfe to have the same Countenance with the other; as his words seem to mean: but when I was at Rome, understanding that he was brought into the Inquisition. I did out of curiosity to be satisfied in this particular take the pains

pains to visit him there. Being there fower in the Company of some Abbots, we were brought to the Chamber where he was: who as soone as he perceived vs, came to vs, and intreated vs to have a little patience, till he had ended a little Note, which he was writing to Cardinal Magalotti. when we were sate down we observed him oftentimes to make certain wry faces; which we conceived to proceed, either from folly, or else from some pain, yt the violence of the Torments which he had endured put him too: the Calves of his Leggs being all beaten black & blew, and his buttocks having hardly any fleſh on them; it having been been torn from him piece meals, to the end they might force him to confeſſe the Crimes that he was accuſed of: One of our Company amongst other diſcourſe, aſking him if he felt no pain: He smiling, anſwered, No; And suppoſing that we had been something troubled at the wry faces which he made, he told vs; that our Coming in, he fancied himselfe to be Cardinal Magaloti, as he had heard him deſcribed and he asked vs withall, if he were not a very havey man. Now I, who had before read that paſſage in his Booke, which I have before set downe, preſently conceived that these wry faces are altogether neceſſary for to beto be able to judge aright of another Mans Naturall Inclination. I shall not here set down what passed between us in this Interview; because it is besides my present subject. I shall now returne to the Effects which are found in Physiognomy, and are produced by the force of Resemblance. We see then by Experience, and all knowing Physiog-:nomists have observed it; that if a man have a round forehead, he is very subject to folly & lightness, being very easily moved any way; in like manner as a Round figure is the most apt for motion: and the Natural Reason of this is, because that the Spirits ascending up, & meeting with a place of a Round Figure, they are very easily easily moved any way. It is also observed that those that have a Sharp Chin, that stands forward, and a little Forehead, are very Brutish & Shrewd:- In a word they are qualified like a Hog whose Image they in a manner bear. And without troubling my selfe any further with bringing in Instances of this Nature; you may have recourse to the Physiognomists, who will furnish you with good store of them; by which you will be able to judge; how great the Vertue, and power is of Resemblance, and Figures.

14. The Art of Divination of Dreams is also grounded upon Resemblance; as may appear Gen: 40. out of the holy Bible; where Joseph foretold ye Cup bearer

Cupboard that within three dayes he should be restored, to his office again: because he had dreamed that he pressed three Clusters of Grapes into Pharaohs Cup. But he foretold the Baker, yt after three dayes he should be hanged, & his flesh should be eaten by the birds of ye Air; because that he also had dreamed, that he bare three basketts full; and that ye birds eat up all that was in them. He foretold also the seaven years of plenty, and the seaven years of dearth by the seaven fat kine, and the seaven Lean ones; and by the seaven full eares of Corn, & the seaven thin ones as Pharaoh had dreamed.

Prophane

Prophane Histories also afford us many Examples of this kind, proving the power of Similitude. For Hecuba being with Child, dreamed that she was delivered of a Firebrand, which burnt up her Kingdome: and this was Paris who was afterwards the cause of the burning of Troy down to the ground. I shall here ad moreover that this Resemblance of Dreams hath often times been so powerfull as that, what one hath dreamed, he hath afterwards seen really come to passe. Thus Cornelius Rufus, dreaming that he had lost his sight, became shortly after quite blind. Consult these following Authors on this Subject, as Nicephorus, Solomon

15 Painting and Sculpture do alſo wonderfully confirme this Power of Figures; for as much as thoſe that are sad and weeping pieces, do make us so sad, as that they sometimes draw tears from our eyes; and the merry & cheerfull pieces, make us Joyfull and cauſe us to Laugh.
And this is the reaſon why these later are very seldome made uſe of in Holy matters; and the former sort sort are so frequent in our Churches where we ſhall oftner finde Jesus Chriſt pictured on the Croſſe then riſing from the dead, or sitting on the right hand of his father: becauſe that, beſides that the painting him in that poſture puts us in mind both of our Redemption, and of his Love towards us, who being Immortall would yet become man, that so he might be in a Capacity to Die for us; it alſo moves us, by the vertue of Reſemblance to be sad; as it is: So great is the power it hath over us.

Est enim Similitudo (saith Porta) pictus ſermo vel pulchra loquens, quæ quovis sermone quibusve notis Valentior est.

16. Lastly.

16. Lastly, the secret Vertues of Resemblance; & of Figures, appear as well in Musick, as in any other of the Sciences. Thus it is storied of Timotheus the Musitian that by the diversity of voices and Tones which he ordered according to the severall kinds of Humours he was able to raise up in a man any sort of passion yt he pleased. And we find by dayly experience that merry Songs make us merry, and sad ones make us Melancholy. The Musick of ye Lydians, as Plato reports, being very Effeminate, made the Hearers also Effeminate: on the Contrary that of the Phrygians made men couragious, manlike and undaunted. I shall not here set down what some ~~of~~ have delivered, of the power that Musick hath in the Curing of Diseases, only by the Harmony and proportionable Mixture of Tones; as it is reported of Pythagoras who is said to have cured Mad men; as Terpander did those that were deaf; and amon those that were drunke. As for Musical Instruments It is most certain that we may make divers of them sound together, without touching of them; provided, that they be all exactly Tuned to the same Pitch and Tone; that that other is which a man shall play on: And although the sound of the others will be very faint, and hardly perceived by the sense; yet you shall plainly perceive the Motion that the strings do make, if you lay but a Feather, or some other such light thing upon them. How Admirable then is this Resemblance which doth every where produce such wonderfull Effects! Quidnam hic efficit, saith Marsilius Ficinus, ut Cithara subito patiatur a Cithara, nisi situs aliquis, et quaedam Figura conformis?

If then Resemblance hath so great power in all those things which we have now showed, we may very safely conclude, that it can have no lesse in that of a Talismanical Figures; & this we may be the more Confident of, since we are Confirmed, herein by Experience it selfe.

It now

It now remains that we prove this Power to be Natural, by the Third means which we proposed namely by the Vertue of the Stars. And this we shall very easily be able to do, after we have first showed the manner, which the more Learned Sort do observe, in preparing these Images

The manner of making Talismans.

17. First, they usually propose to themselves, what Effect they would have these Images produce; whether to chase away some hurtfull Beasts, or to allay the violence of winds, to prevent Lightnings, and Hail, to cure certain Diseases, and the like. This being first proposed they then search after the means, that may be proper proper for the attaining of the end proposed:

As for Example; for the cure of the Dropsy, it is to be considered, that the disease consists in moisture: they are therefore not to take any matter indifferently, for to Ingrave & form, under such and such Constellations; but it must be of a Substance Naturally hot and Dry. Secondly they must take for the Ascendent some Sign that is likewise hot and dry, as Aries, for instance is said to be:
In the third place they must make choice of some Star to which this Malady is subject; such as Saturn is said to be: but there being need also of some star that is very moist moist, (to the end that Sympathy which is so powerfull in all things may assist also in this particular;) they may take the Moon in her Wain. For, as the Curing of the biting of a Viper, they mix some of its flesh with the Antidote; in like manner for ye expelling of these waterish Humours, we must make use of that Star which hath the greatest affinity with the waters. You must also observe the Sign, which relates to the part of the body that is ill affected; And this is Paracels. in Paragrā. the Counsell of a learned Physician, who says, that; Oportet Medicum absque defectu scire, ubi cauda Draconis sit in homine, ubi Aries

Aries, ubi Axis Polaris, ubi ſit linea Meridionalis, ubi Oriens, ubi Occidens. &c. Now that the Signes have more agrement with and have stronger influence upon one part of the body then another we are certainly taught by daily Experience in the Curing of wounds. We muſt alſo have regard, if it be poſſible to the Stars to which the sick perſon is subject: and then in the laſt place, we muſt above all things take care to begin our work under ſome certain Aspects which are only uſefull in the operation, ſome for to shed their Influences with more heat or cold, and others with leſſe as occaſion shall shall require: So that all things being thus diligently obſerved, the Beams of the Stars, finding a figure aptly diſpoſed for the receiving them, do make such an Impreſſion in it, by the Resemblance and Harmony that they there find, as that being once taken in they do afterward Operate on that which they find to be semblable. In all the other Operations they proceed after the ſame manner: As for Example to chaſe away Scorpions out of any place, they take the Signe with which they have ſome correſpondence, such as is the sign Scorpio: then do they take ſome malignant Star which is is Adverse to them; it being not so necessary to observe so many rules in Beasts & other Irrational Creatures as in men. Now when the Figure of a Scorpion is thus prepared, the living Scorpions feeling naturally the Offensive Influence wherewith the Image is indued; they presently avoid the place for their own preservation; or else, if they be too near it, they presently dye. If it be thought by any a Hard thing to conceive, how these Living Creatures should have any sense of this Influence; Let them but consider, that there are some persons that bear so strange a hatred to Catts or other like Beasts, as that if there be any within the

House where they are, they do presently fall into a sweating and trembling, although they see them not. It is reported also that there is a certain Herb, that Cats will sent at a very great distance: insomuch that if one lay it upon the top of a house or in a Chamber, you shall have them come from very far to tumble and rowle themselves on it. Many things are delivered by the Naturalists, which are in appearance much more incredible than these. It therefore now remains only that I Answer three doubts that are proposed, namely, Whether the Stars have any Influence upon Things here below below, or not? Whether they have any Resemblance with them? And, Whether Artificial Figures can retain their Influences, and afterwards operate by them? as we have said.

18. But firſt of all I muſt lay down this, for a moſt certain Conclusion and Foundation; — That the Stars, and their Influences in these Figures have no Power at all over our Wills. And therefore I dislike as vain & unprofitable those Operations, which Albinus Villanovensis sayes may be — effected by means of these Images. In Magia Aſtr.

In making of these figures all words are indifferent and serve but to amuse the simpler sort of — people. As when Albinus Villanovensis saies — that for to cure the Tertian and Quartan ague the pain of the Nerves ventricle and privy parts, you must grave the Image of a Scor= pion, upon a piece of Gold or Silver, when — the Sun is in his proper House, and the Moon in Capricorne, and while you are Graving it you must say these words: Exurge Domine Gloria mea; Exurge Psalterium, & Cithara Exurgam

Exurgam diluculo: and then rehearse this Psalm, Miserere mei Deus, miserere mei quia in te confidit anima mea.

From hence it is that so many Superstitions have sprung; and that people at length begun to undertake the Cure of diseased persons, meerly by the bare writing of certain words, without any regard had either to the Stars or any thing else.

Let us now come to the first Quere, which we are to prove for the Establishing of the power of figures: namely Whether the Stars have any Influence upon, and do cause any motion in things here below

19 Aristotle endeavouring to prove the Affirmative brings a most excellent Argument and worthy of so great a Philosopher which is this. That, (saith he) from whome Motion took its Beginning, the same hath no doubt given to all other things the power of Selfe motion: Now without all dispute the Motion of the Heavens was the first in Nature; therefore, whatsoever moves, moves by the motion of the Heavens. Insomuch that if the motion of those should cease, both — Growth and Motion would also cease in all things here below. Junctin brings here

Example of a Mans heart which as it is the beginning of life, and motion, ſo doth it comunicate Life and motion to all the rest of the Members: So that if it once be wounded, not only the Motion ceaseth in all the parts of the body, but even Life alſo. You may see this Poſition confirmed by Hippocrates who backs it with so many reaſons, and ſo strongly aſſerts the truth of these Celeſtial Influences, as that he confidently affirmes, that by the riſing and setting of the starrs, a man may foretell Tempests, Rain, Stormes and other Changes of weather, through the neglect of which Obſervations

Observations, Physicians are very often deceived in their cures and Diſeaſes. Cum temporum mutationes, saith he, & Astrorum ortus, & occaſus observaverit Medicus, quemadmodum singula horum eveniant praenoſcit utique & de anno, qualis hic sit futurus &c. And then, afterwards shewing what time and what seasons are dangerous for sick people, by reaſon of the divers motions of the stars, he presently adds Periculoſiſſima sunt ambo Solstitia, maximè verò æstivum periculosum: etiam Æquinoctium utrumq;, magis vero Autumnale. Oportet autem & Astrorum ortus considerare; praecipuè Canis: deinde Arcturi, & Plejadum occaſum. Morbi Morbi enim in his maximè diebus judicantur, aliiq; perimunt, alij vero desinunt; aut in aliam Speciem, aliumq; Statum transmutantur.

It would be but lost time if I should stand longer upon the proof of this so cleare a truth which all men ought to confesse to be so, were there no other Argument for it, but this, that it hath been constantly observed, ever since the first beginning of Astronomy in the world, that the Rising and setting of the fixed starrs have been the cause of very great changes here on earth and he must either be a very ridiculous senselesse man, or else a very ignorant, that should should go about to deny, that the Hyades, & the Pleiades, are not Watry Cloudy Constellations that is to say do cause Rainy, Cloudy Darke weather; as Leo and the Dog star bring heat and Drowth: and Orion a Wet and tempestuous season, and so of the rest.

vid. Gul. Rovill. hist. Plant.

And after all, doe we not observe, that there are some certain flowers, that turn about as the Sun does: and others, that appeare above the water at his Rising, and when he setts, sinke down again, and hide themselves, as it were bewayling his absence. Neither are the Influences of the Starrs shed upon Hearbs alone; but even upon stones stones also: some whereof do so exactly observe the motion of those particular starrs, whose Influence they beare, as that they change their Aspects with them. An Example of this Truth you have in the Stone called Lunaria, which is indued with such wonderfull qualities, as that it changeth its Appearance, in like manner as the Moon doth whose name it beareth. In a word do not the Humours in our bodies, increase with this planet and decrease when it decreaseth? If any desire more Instances backed with convincing reasons he may have recourse to the Astronomical Predictions of Ptolomy, & he shall there find that the truth of these Influences is too clear to be called in question.

20. The other point, concerning the Resemblance of the Heavenly Constellations to sublunary things, is something more difficult to prove; though not less true. Nevertheless this Objection is brought against it. If the Constellations of the Ram the Bull, the Twins &c. do resemble these living Creatures it is either Really, or else by Imagination. If Really; they are then, either in the Eight Sphear or else in some other: But they are not in the Eight. For, in the Constellation of the Ram, the Bull &c. there is no sign at all of these Beasts being figured or represented by the Stars: Neither are they in the Christalline Heaven, nor yet in any of the spheares of the Planets: for we should then see them, as we do the other Stars: nor yet in a Ninth Heaven, as some have thought. If they are only by Imagination, then are their Effects also Imaginary, and have no truth in them, and so by consequence, the power of Talismans, or Figures is vain.

We Answer then that according to the Judgment of the most learned Astrologers these Images are not at all reall: for in the Starrs that make up the Constellations of the a man may as well fancy a Horse there as a Sheep; as I have sometimes made trial. Neither yet are they alltogether Imaginary, in the same sense as a Chimara is Imaginary, which never had being in nature: but they are so ordered in the Heavens by our Imagination, because that the Constellation which we call Aries, or the Ram hath a strong Influence upon sheep, as Taurus hath upon Bulls, and so of the rest. Or else the Celestial Ram is so called, because there is not any beast upon the Earth that is more like in nature to this Constellation then the Ram: For it renders Him that is born

born under it so Pious, so meek, so gentle, so courteous, that he resembles in all things the Innocent Lamb. He will also have a hard head and thick hair curled in rings like a fleece of wool. Vidimus enim (saith Junctin) com= plures hujus Signi homines, capite malleari, spissis crinibus ad modum velleris et supra frontem elevatis, quasi capite certarent. And these are the Natural Reasons why these Celestiall Signes are called by the names of living Creatures. One may add to this with Junctin that when the Moon is in the Sign Aries this Sign hath then the stronger influence upon the Head of man, & renders it strong

as that of this Beast: and this may be another reason why this Constellation is called by the name of this Beast, rather then of any other. So in like manner when the same Planet is in the Sign of Taurus, it hath a stronger Influence upon the Neck; wherein consists the cheifest strength of a Bull: when it is in Gemini, the Influence is strong upon the Arms; and for this cause this Sign is represented by the Image of two Children embracing one another: When it is in the Crab, the Breast is then sharer in its Influences; because that this Creature always goeth upon its breast. And when it is in Leo.

the Sign ſheds its Influence upon the Heart from whence the Lion is said to be a generous and couragious beaſt. You may see the rest of this Diſcourſe in the same Author which I shall not here trouble my ſelfe to set down, becauſe the reaſons do not at all satisfy me. I do therefore believe that these Signes do cast forth their Influences upon the severall Members of the Body though not for the Reaſons here delivered which often prove to be very impertinent; but only, becauſe we dayly see the Experiment of it. They do therefore visibly work by their Influences, upon thoſe Beaſts whoſe names they they are called by: for Dogs run mad in the Dog dayes; and Lions are very furious under the sign Leo: and this was the only reaſon which moved the firſt Philosophers to call these Constellations, by the names of theſe Beaſts: and all the other reaſons that are brought are but of later standing and have been Invented by the later Astrologers. Theſe Constellations then are called by the names of those Living Creatures, becauſe that they, are observed to have great power over them. You may see the Abridgment of all that Junctini hath written hereof in Heurnius Cardan and Galeottus, who hath a particular Chapter

As for the rest of the forty eight Constellations I shall not here speak any thing of them; — because that some who have undertaken to defend the power of figures, have said that the signes of the Zodiack only are of power to work effectually & Generally, for as much as they make their Circuit, or at least the Sun in them over the whole Earth; whereas the other others respect but one part only.

At this present I shall shew how those of the Zodiack may have power to operate upon Figures framed by Art: And this is the third point which I have undertaken to prove. —

21. The Question then is, Whether the Starres do shed their Influences, as well on — Artificiall as Naturall Things or not?

I Answer in two Words that the Affirmative is so certainly True, that neither — Thomas Aquinas (who left nothing unexamined in this Question) nor Albertus Magnus could possibly deny it. And even Experience teacheth teacheth us, that the Sun warmeth as well the Artificial Image of a Man as the Man himselfe: now if this Planet work indifferently upon Both, why should not the rest do so too? In a word why should not the Stars as well operate on Artificial as on Naturall things; seeing that in their Essence they are all Naturall? should we exclude Gold from the Number of things naturall because it is fashioned into a Ring? And are Stones rendred lesse naturall when they are framed into a House If it be objected, that, however, they should not acquire more vertue, then they had before

I answer that the Contrary is manifestly proved by two Reasons. The first is, because that the different Figure renders them more apt to operate to such or such an action then they were before: as for Example. If a piece of wood or Stone, were unapt to hold water, by making of it hollow it presently becomes fit for such a purpose and so in other Figures. The other Reason is; that these things when they come under the Workmans hands are wrought under certain Constellations; which Communicate such Influences and Qualities unto them as they never had before: as we see by Experience by experience in Bisket bread; one sort where of will keepe a very long time; and the other that was baked either before or after it, will be subject to wormes and corruption, although kept in the same place, & made of the same corne, & kneaded up with the same water, & with all other imaginable conditions. But to keepe our selves to the businesse of figures only We shall now Conclude that if they are prepared with all those Circumstances observed, & Ingraven upon some matter that is proper for the Receiving of the Influences of the Stars; they may naturally retain them & worke those wonderfull Effects which we have before set downe.

Section the 5th

That the Objections

Of the Talismanicall Sculpture of the Persians &c.

That the Objections made against Talismanicall Figures, make not any thing at all against their Power.

The Wonderfull Effects wrought by Figures Talismanicall have so perplexed the minds of those men who account every thing Magick which they are not able to comprehend without making any distinction betwixt Power which is Naturall and Lawfull & that which our Faith permits us not to meddle with; They have boldly published. That what Vertue soever proceeds from Figures is utterly Diabolical But when they perceived that Knowing Men would hardly sit down so; and that it concerned them to produce some Reasons to prove that these Figures can have no Naturall Power at all; they have at length brought these following Ones; though they are built on very weake foundations as we shall make it appeare.

1. The first is, that Reason it selfe tells us that these Operations cannot be Totally Naturall, but rather Superstitious and Dangerous, seeing that, to reduce them to a full and entire Effect, there are some certain Words to be used which have no Power at all, especially over things which have no Sense; and that therefore the Making of them ought to be forbidden, and rejected as the Church hath ordained.

To ANSWER fully and in Order both to this Objection, and to the rest that follow I say, that we have condemned all words & all other Superstitions. As for the Church it never yet rejected the true and lawfull Power of Figures, as the Writings of Aquinas and Cardinal Cajetan do testify. And if the Fathers have sometimes condemned it; it was not till they saw that it was so mixed with Superstition (that I say not Abomination) that they that they conceived that they should never otherwayes be able to divert men from the practice of it, but by condemning it utterly: as Moses likewise did in forbidding absolutely the Graffing on a Tree of a different kinds, only to keepe them from that Sin, which was usually comitted at that action as we shall shew hereafter. And that it may appear that the bare figures have not been used alwayes without any Application of words & Ceremonies such as were not only vain, but ridiculous also; we may take notice, that in Ægypt, when they would cause Haile to cease, which might have been effected by the Vertue of a bare Talisman only; it was thought necessary that four Naked Women should lye along upon the ground on their backs; and lifting up their feet on high they were to pronounce some certain words, and so the Haile would cease. Quatuor Mulieres (said they as R. Moses reports,) jaceant in terra super dorsum suum nudæ, et erigant pedes suos, et dicant talia verba, et operentur istud: grando, descendens super locum illum, recedet ab eodem loco. This ridiculous Ceremony was taken from the posture of some Talismanicall figure which served to divert Stormes of Hail; whereon saith Chomer was graven the Image of Venus lying lying along. Besides, some ignorant persons having lighted upon some of the Characters wh the Ancients had invented, that so they might conceale their Philosophical Secrets, from the unworthy Rabble, not knowing the Originall of them, and beleiving that they had some secret Vertue in them, they graved them on Taliſmans. Such perhaps was the Ægyptian Serapis, which had on its breast the so much celebrated Letter Tau. This inscribing of Cifres and Characters, brought alſo along with it this Beleife; that seeing there were Letters writt upon Taliſmans they might certainly then be read alſo: and hence did this Superstition take Riſe of speaking words in the making of those Figures; and afterwards of setting along the figure; and uſing the bare words only: as it is reported of Trallianus, who uſed these words for the cure of the Collick; Φεῦγε, φεῦγε, ἰοῦ χολή. And Homer writes that the bleeding of Ulisses his wound was stopped by uſing certain words: as likewiſe that of Oroondates was in Heliodorus; who with Strabo affirmes that the Indians, and Ethiopians, uſe no other way of curing their Diseaſes.

Froissart assures us, that he hath seen these Ceremonies practiſed in his time: and even in our dayes they are uſed but too often especially especially by superstitious women. But at last there were some that made more esteem of Characters, then of plain words, considering with themselves what the power of figures was. Thus Pliny reports, that M. Servilius made use of these two Letters, M, and A. to keep himselfe from being bleare eyed: and Eudoxia the Empresse, being in Travell with a Child, desired (as Cedren reports,) to have certain Letters applyed to her Belly, for to bring forth the dead Child: but it was all in vain for it cost her her life. To conclude, these things having been invented only for the Concealing of some secrets, as we have said, (after Roger

lib. 28. cap. 2.

secretis oper. Art. & Nat. cap. 1.

Roger Bacon, who saith, Quæ Philosophi adinvenerant in operibus artis, et Naturæ, ut secreta occultarent ab indignis;) they were afterwards turned into Superstition by those who mixed them with the Images and made use of them beyond the power of Nature.

2. Now that the practice of making these Figures was never forbidden, but only to keepe us off from those Abominations, that were usually hereby committed, (the Invention being neverthelesse naturall, and the things themselves innocently used by Good men without the assistance of of any other power save that of Nature;) We may perceive by a like Example

Example, in the Comand that was given, of not grafting on a Tree of a different kind. For it was given for no other Reaſon, but to turne away the Jewes from those filthineſses and Abominations, which they uſually comitted at this kind of Engrafting. The Latine words will in some sort hide the Uncleanneſs of the diſcourſe of these Villanies. You shall have them from the above named R. Moſes a man of very great knowledge in these Traditions. Dixerunt ergò, quod in horâ quâ inſeritur una species in aliam, oportet ut ramus inſerendus sit in manu alicujus Mulieris pulchræ, et quod vir aliquis carnaliter cognoſcat eam

eam præter morem naturalem. Et dixerunt, quod in tempore illius actus debet mulier inſerere ramum in arbore. From hence a man might conclude it was, that God, to set a Mark upon the Foulneſs of this Crime, would have the very Trees themselves alſo to have some senſe of it. For if a Whore planted an Olive Tree, (saith one of the Learnedest prelates of France, according to the opinion of the Naturalists,) it would never beare any fruit. Oliva (saith he) a Meretrice plantata vel infructuoſa perpetuò manet, vel omnino areſcit. — Now to Engraffe any Tree whatever is a thing both natural, and of it ſelfe indifferent: neverthelesse neverthelesse it was forbidden meerly to avoid the Sin which Nature abhors. Propter hoc igitur, is the Conclusion of the fore cited Jew, prohibitae fuerunt Comixtiones, scilicet incisio arboris in aliam speciem, ut elongemur a causis Idololatriae & fornicationum. And the like cause hath also moved those men that have condemned Figures; though they are both Naturall and the making of them Lawfull; as we have already shewed. Now the reason why they have been also rejected by some of the more Learned sort was either to give way to the Rigour of ye Inquisition; as the Italians and Spaniards have done, or else for want

for want of having taken the pains to examine them; as Gul: Parisiensis, Gerson, and divers others, whose Objections also, which they conceive to be invincible ones we shall likewise answer.

3. The second Objection is grounded upon the Foolishnesse and Impertinence of the words yt are used about these Talismans, at ye making whereof ignorant people do still use some certain Words which say they, are very neer bordering upon Idolatry.

We do reject & Condemn the Superstitious words & Observations delivered by Villanovensis, and by Antonius Mizaldus. as namely, where he affirmes according to Ptolomy, that for to drive away Serpents, you must prepare a square plate of Copper, and graving two Serpents on it; - when the second Face of Aries is Ascendent, you must say these words: Ligo Serpentes per hanc Imaginem, ut nemini noceant, nec - quenquam impediant, nec diutius, ubi sepulta fuerit, permaneant. As also where he saies according to the same Ptolomy, that to drive away Rats and Mice; you must grave the - Image of them, upon a plate of Tin, or Copper, - when the third face of Capricorne is Ascendent Aph. 94. saying: Liga et adjuro omnes Pisces qui sunt in flumine (withall naming the River) ad tractum balistæ, ut ad hanc Imaginem veniant, - qualiscunque in ejus aqua posita fuerit.

And so also for the driving away of Wolves either out of a Wood, or from a Sheepcoat, - you must grave upon a Plate of Copper, or - of Tin the Image of a Wolfe with his feet - tied, and two Mastives seeming to bark at - him, when the second face of Sagittarius - is Ascendent, and you must withall say:

Extermino per hanc Imaginem omnes Lupos, qui sunt in hac Villa aut Nemore, (calling the wood or the Sheeps house by its name,) ut non remaneat aliquis eorum in illo. And to render a Huntsman fortunate in his Game; you must grave upon a piece of Tin, Silver, or Copper, the Image of a huntsman, having in his hand a bow bent and ready charged with an Arrow graving it under the sign of Sagittarius, whose Image he representeth, and saying: Per hanc Imaginem ligo omnes feras Silvestres, cervos, apros, lepores, ut nulla meam venationem subterfugiat, quin optatam portionem & praedam mihi semper relinquat. A friend of mine

A friend of mine made above a hundred Talismans according to those vain rules here delivered, but not one of them answered his Expectation — But I desiring him to make one according to the Directions I gave him, he presently saw the Effect follow. And M. Sanclarus the Learned Regius Professor in the Mathematicks protested to me that he cured a most intolerable pain in the Reins by one of those true Talismans. Now I have formerly said that we condemne all figures and words, that are mixed with superstition, in those Talismanicall Figures only; As for those Ceremonies and words which are piously used; as for Example

Example to cause a Storm of Haile to cease; a man may use them without any suspition at all according to the Judgment of some Divines. The manner is thus described by Wierus. Having first made the Signe of the Crosse, against the Lightning, Hail, Thunder, Tempest; you must take three Hailstones of those that first fell, and cast them into the fire, in the name of the Holy Trinity; and having repeated the Lords Prayer two or three times over, you must read the Gospell of St John: which being ended, you must make the signe of the Crosse, over against the Cloud, & the thunder

on every side, and make the same also upon the ground towards the four quarters of the world: And after that the Exorcist shall have said three times, Verbum caro factum est, Adding to it as often these words; Per Evangelica Dicta fugiat tempestas ista. If the Tempest were raised out of Malice it will cease. saith Wierus. I observe that there hath crept in Superstition Here also, as well as into the Businesse we now treat of.

The third Objection is grounded upon the Impotency of the Matter Ingraved. For how can an Image which is dead, & without Motion give Motion to others, &

have such Operations, as are attributed unto it?

Thus it is Argued by Gulielmus Parisiensis against these Figures. Quomodo Imago mortua, et omni modo inapprehensa omnique modo imobilis, movere et viventes aut qualiter praestat Scientiam, quam nec habuit, nec actu nec potentia eam habet certissimum est?

[illegible] vel [illegible]

Gerson sayes the same; and brings in a manner all the very same Arguments in a Booke that he hath written against a certain Physician of Montpelier, who graved upon a peece of Gold, the Image of a Lion for the Cure of ye Stone.

Lib. peculiari duodec. pro: posit.

4. To this I Answer, that the Image of it selfe is dead, and without any Motion: but that by the vertue of the Stars under which it was made it hath acquired new Qualities, which it had not before: or else that the matter being before endued with some Qualities that were proper for such an Effect by a Semblable Figure, and its Qualities are excited. Itaque Ars (saith Marcilius Ficinus) suscitat inchoatam ibi virtutem, ac eum ad Figuram redigit, similem suae cuidam caelesti figurae quam sic expositam Coelum ea perficit virtute quam ceperat, exhibens quasi Sulphuri flammam. Thus many things if they are not excited work not at all: As for instance, to make some Herbs to smell, you must crush them betwixt your fingers. So Amber, which hath received from the Heavens the property of drawing Strawes to it—to it; yet unleſſe it bee a while rubbed and chafed— it is not able to do it. The Bezaar or Bezahar stone, (which Marcilius Ficinus sayes, signifies as much as, A morte liberans: though this bee an Etymologie as unknown, as Untrue:) which is naturally endued with the power of Expelling Poyſon, becomes also a very Soveraigne Remedy againſt it. That of the Scorpion, if there bee first graved on it the figure of a Scorpion, under the Influence of ye Celestial Constellation of the same name. — The Flint-stone gives not its fire; unleſſe you strike it: In a word there is ſcarcely any thing but requires to be Excited, and awakened up to its work; even as low as Artificial things; many whereof appear not at all unleſſe there be Art used to diſcover them as we may see; for Example; In Letters written with the Juice of Citrons, Figs, Onyons, Salt Almonick and many other things; which must be either held before the fire or else dipped in water, that they may be read. In like manner alſo it is neceſſary that the Vertues of Metals and of Stones should be excited by the Celeſtial Rayes for the rendring them apt to effect that which we deſire. Now that those Raies are so powerfull and that they are able to penetrate Stones and into the bowells of the Earth, we have already proved; and ſhall here confirme it by the teſtimony of Bonaventure; Dicunt

When Teſtimonies are grounded upon Experience, they cannot poſſibly then be denied: and we know that the Sun penetrates very far into the Earth, and there gives Life to plants & living Creatures too; which when we see taken up, astoniſh us very much: as appeares out of George Agricola, and the Learned Licetus Profeſſor at Padua.

Gold mine to see if the Covetouſneſs of man had yet left there any thing undiſcovered; they perceived Rivers running along those deep Caverns, and many other prodigious sights: by which we may be certainly aſſured that the Heavens do operate through every part of the Univerſe. Deſcendiſſe illos, sayes this Learned Author, cum multo lumine, et multos duraſſe dies: deinde longa via fatigatos, vidiſſe flumina ingentia, et conceptus aquarum inertium vaſt~~[illegible]~~os, pares nostris, nec compreſſos quidem terra supereminente, sed liberæ laxitatis, non sine horrore visos. is so hollow and so deep, that nothing can more fitly repreſent the Dreadfull Image of ye Hell.- If then the Starrs do operate, within the bowels,- of the Earth, upon Living Creatures Plants & Metals why not upon Stones alſo? I do therefore- account the Concluſion of Hieron. Hangest, an Ancient Learned Sorboniſt, to be moſt true who ſearching after the Reaſon of Gamahes, concluded (after a long diſpute;) that the figures or painting on them, proceeds from two Cauſes;- from the Starrs & from the property of the Earth

Lib. de causis. fol. 88 } See here his own words. Quid igitur dicendum sit? Respondeo, ex duplici radice poſſe contingere.- Uno modo ex radice siderea, secundum Aſtrologorum Authoritatem Authoritatem multis Experimentis comprobatam.- Alio modo ex radice inferiore, &c. Now this Power or vertue of the Stars works indifferently upon all things, which Conſideration hath moved many that stand up for the Power of figures, to - believe; that all sorts of stones, mettals or other Matter indifferently if it be graved and wrought - according to the Rules before delivered would work the same Effect. For as Fire heateth all things- that are set before it; in like manner do the - Stars operate, say they upon all things indifferently But I hold the firſt Opinion to be the truer and more certain: not that this later is falſe; but because the Effect here is slower. for the Fire will indeed heat all things that are placed neer it: But if the Matter be indisposed the Heat will not work so speedily: as we see in Green wood, and in a pebble stone, which requireth a longer time to grow hot in, then a Brick doth: and so in all other things. It is required then, to the end the Stars may operate the more easily and in lesse time that the Matter be before hand indued with some Quality, that is proper to the Effect which we have proposed to our selves; and have also some Sympathy with those Celestial Signes, which we intend to make use of. You may see this Sympathy & ye wonderfull Correspondence correspondence that there is betwixt Stones Minerals, Herbs, plants, Flowers, Tasts, Smels, Colours, Beasts, Fishes, Birds and all things else; and the Stars, as in Georgius Venetus, de Harmonia Mundi, and in the Learned Coment of M. Moreau a Physician, upon Schola Salernitana, the reading whereof, in all sorts of Books whatever is truely very Admirable Tom 4. Cant. 1. c. 31.

Cap. 19. p. 322. & seq.

5. The Fourth Objection brought is. That if this Art of preparing Figures or Images be Certain, and their Vertue so great as is said The Egyptians Arabians and Persians, who were the first Inventers of them, would then have made themselves Lords of the whole Earth Earth, in ſubduing all their Enemies: which thing they have not done; but contrarywiſe have themſelves all been conquered.

To this I Answer, that no Image or Talyſmanicall Figure can poſſibly be capable to Operate so great an Effort: they may indeed poſſibly excite, in ſome small meaſure the Courage of Combatants, and make them leſſe fearefull of the Terrors of warr; but these Qualities alone will never be ſufficient, for the obtaining of a Victory. If any here urge againſt me the Story of Nectanabo, who is said to have drowned all his Enemies Ships by making certain little veſſells of wax, and then drowning them: I anſwer, that the Story looks very doubtfully; neither do I give any more Credit to it then to thoſe flams we hear reported of Sorcery in our own dayes, who are said by pricking a little Image of wax in any part of it, to wound the same part of the body in the person whome it repreſents. But ſuppoſe theſe things were so, yet it would not be from hence concluded, that these Effects were wrought by the vertue of the Stars; but rather by some evill Angels to whome God may have given some such power. Gulielmus Pariſienſis utterly deny theſe stories to be true; as indeed

indeed they are mostly fabulous: Neither do I believe there is any one truth in them. If it be returned upon us, that there is nothing in them, but a man may believe, since possibly they might be true: I Answer, That many things might have been, which never yet have been: As for instance there might have been more Suns, and more worlds then one:

6. The Fifth Objection is, that it is necessary that Natural Agents should some way or other Touch the thing they are to Operate upon: but a Figure, which cureth the Stone, Collick or any other Disease, toucheth 31.th sheet. Sr Rudd.

toucheth not at all the part Affected: the vertue of it therefore cannot be Naturall.

The Answer to this Objection is so easy that without troubling our selves to reckon as with Scotus the severall wayes of Touching, we need no more but give an Instance in a Hott Brick. For as a Brick receives heat from the fire, without touching either Coles or Flame; in like manner doth an Image receive the Influence of the Stars, without touching any part of the Heavens. In a word all the Touching which is now found is only a Virtuall Touching, as we see in the Sun, which though it be so far distant from

from the Earth doth never the lesse warm it by its vertue. And as a Brick heated either by the Sun or by the Fire, doth afterward operate upon any other body, comunicating its vertue to it; if it be applied unto it: In the same manner doth a Figure or Image operate upon another body, comunicating the Influences, which it hath received from the Stars unto it, if it be in like manner applied either by a Corporeal or by a Virtual Touching only.

I shall not here produce the Miraculous Operation of the Weapon Salve which Cures a wound at a Hundred Leagues distance, if it be but applied to the weapon that made it

And

And that you dresse it as you would do the wounded person, as it is proved by Rodolphus Goclenius, and Baptista Helmontius. If I should have made use of this Example, I should never have been quiet from having it thrown in my teeth; that the Operation of this Magneticall Unguent is superstitious, and Diabolicall. This is the whole Burden of the Ignorant Rabble; who Impute, what ever they find to carry wonder with it, to the Operation of Evil Spirits: And yet I have been assured by M. Loysell Physician to the late King of Ffrance; that this very Operation was naturall, and that himselfe had made use of it with good Successe and on a

on a very good man. Now if Gulielmus Parisiensis deny that the Operation of a Talismanicall Image which is buried under ground, can be Naturall; because that it is kept in by the Earth which covers it: he may as well conclude that the Operation of a Needle touched with a Loadstone is also Diabolical; seeing that although it be a hundred fathoms deepe within the Earth, yet will it alwayes turn it selfe towards the Pole. This Comparison is so much the more pressing, because that most of the learned beleive that this Vertue of the Loadstone is comunicated unto it by that part of the Heavens which the Needle points to. so true it is that there is nothing more powerfull, then the Influences of the Stars, when they have once made an Impression upon things here below.

7. The sixth Objection strikes at ye Power which we have attributed to Resemblance: for there is not any where (saith Gulill. Parisiensis,) a nearer Tye, & Correspondence, then in the Love of a Mother and her Child: and yet if a Mother drown her selfe, the Child will not presently do so too; and so he concludes Quanto minus igitur in tam diversis ut sunt Imago et Imaginatum, nulla ligatura inter ea erit; quae cogat, ut quod

quod patitur Imago, patiatur et Imaginatum I know very well that this Author makes uſe of this Argument againſt Nectanaos, but seeing that he brings it alſo againſt Taliſmanicall Images, I Anſwer; that theſe Images (as we have already said.) have no power at all over our Wills. Now to Drown ones Selfe or Not to Drown ones selfe is an action which depends wholly upon the will. But if a Child reſemble the Mother, as well in the lineaments of the face, as in the actions of the Soul, there is no doubt, but that this Reſemblance may have very much power both as well on the paſsions of the mind as on those of the body, which proceed from within: as it is often obſerved. And even in our days I have heard of two young Children which were Brothers, at Riez an Epiſcopal City in Provence in France; who by reaſon of their being so perfectly like one another, If One of them were ſick, the other was so too: as for Example; if One began to have a pain in the head, the other would preſently feele it. If one of them were a sleep or sad, the other could not hold up his head, or be merry: and ſo of the reſt: as I have been aſſured by M. Poitevin a very honeſt man, and a Native of the same City.

8. The Seventh Objection brought by the same Gulid. Pariſienſis, and Gerſon, is, That if at any time these Taliſmanicall Stones have been known to cure the bitings of Serpents, and the Stingings of Scorpions; this Effect proceeded not at all from the Stars, but from some secret properties in the Stone, whereon the figure of a Scorpion or Serpent was graved.

This Objection is Anſwered in two words. I say then that we have already proved that the Stars have power to Comunicate this Vertue to the Stone; and alſo, that it is not at all Naturall to it, and proceeding from from its own proper Vertue; becauſe that before it was figured and prepared under certain Constellations, it had no such vertue at all. And indeed to what end should a man take so much pains in graving and preparing it, under divers Aspects of the Stars, if it had as much vertue before? To what purpose alſo should the Inhabitants of the Country of Hamptz in Turkie, trouble themselves to take the Impreſsion of a Scorpion that is figured upon a Stone in a certain Tower, in a piece of Potters Clay, if the Clay it ſelfe had the same Vertue before? We say therefore that it had not any Vertue before before, proper for such an Operation; and that this Vertue was comunicated unto it, by the Stone in the Tower; and to the Stone by the Starrs.

I shall not here examine the Arguments of Gul. Parisiensis, which are to be seen pag. 56. Quod omnia ista quae fiunt per Imagines, malignissime fiant: because that in this Chapter he treats only of speaking Images or Statues, such as was that speaking Image of a man which is falsly said to have been made by Albertus Magnus. But the Images we speake of, are quite another thing, as is also their Power. So that there is nothing wanting now to the full vindication of them from Falshood, and all other other Calumnies save only to Answer the Eight Objection brought both by Gerson & Gulielmus Parisiensis also, the most powerfull of all the rest.

9. If so be the Stars are the cause of these Operations, why then say they should not their Virtue descend rather upon the living Scorpion then upon its Images? Quomodo (saies the later of these) non potius hujusmodi virtus descendit super ipsum Scorpium vivum?

If we but call to mind, what hath been before delivered we shall find it no hard matter to answer this Objection. For we confess that the living Scorpion is not at all exempted from this Celestial Vertue; seeing that, if it be applied applied to the wound, it cureth it as well as its Taliſmanicall Image: So doth the Crocodile, the Rat, the Toad, the Dog, and the Viper alſo: And if in all the rest of Living Creatures we finde not the same effect, it is rather for want of searching after it, then any Defect in Nature: seeing that thoſe that are moſt skilfull in the Wonderfull works of God do certainly aſſure us that where ever any Diſeaſe is found, there alſo is the Remedy to be had. And who would ever have thought, that the Gravell which is found in Vrine, should serve for a Remedy againſt ye stone and a World of other the like secrets there are which are dayly brought to light. But it may here be demanded. Why then should not the Stars Comunicate the vertue of driving away Scorpions as well to the Living Scorpion as to its Image? I Answer, that if it were so, Nature should then make warr againſt its self, and should utterly destroy it self in a short time; seing yt all living Creatures would soon be destroyed by one another. Moſt wiſely therefore was it Ordered that the Stars only & men should have this vertue comunicated unto them.

Disq. Mag. l. 1. c. 4. quest. 1. de Incant.

10. The Ninth Objection, is the Anſwer of Delrio to the Reaſons brought by Cajetan and Pomponatius. For whereas the Later of thoſe saies; that although Figure be not ye Beginning and

and

and Cauſe of Operation, yet it may operate very much: ſeeing that we may obſerve out of experience; that the figure of a foul deform'd man, strikes us with a kind of ſadneſs, whereas a Beautifull works in us an Effect quite contra Beſides Beautifull Objects do ſo move us, as that we love them; which foul & ill favoured do not at all: Therefore saith Pomponatius Figures have some power to Operate. Delrio anſwers nothing to this, but only to the Conſequence; Denying that Magical Figures are Beautifull or Deformed. But even Children may easily perceive, that his Antecedent is utterly falſe. For thoſe Figures, which he calls Magicall, and we Taliſmanicall are truely and really Beautifull or Deformed, according as the things are; which they repreſent which are, for the most part the Heavens & the Stars; the Beauty whereof ravisheth our Senſes. Beſides, theſe figures do ordinarily repreſent some Constellation or other, as the Virgin, the Twinns, & the rest. Now if a Living Virgin and living Twins are Beautifull or deformed, why then should not their figures or pictures be ſo too?

Let us now proceed to the Arguments of Cajetan, which Delrio refutes with as little Reaſon as he hath done thoſe of Pomponatius.

This Learned

This Learned Cardinal then layes down this most true and powerfull Conclusion in favour of Talismanicall Figures. Figura licet non sit ipsum principium Operationis, est tamen conprincipium. He proves the Antecedent: quia in artificum instrumentis efficit Figura ut illa sic vel sic operentur; tum quia ferrum latum super aquas fertur, quod si in formam aliam contrahas, demergetur. Those Reasons of his are so strong and so certain, as that it is impossible to overthrow them. For seeing that a plate of Iron that is large and very thin, will swim upon the water; but if you reduce it into a Round solid forme, it sinks presently.

is it

Is it not evident that this proceeds meerly from the figure? what manner of Spirit must he be of that dares affirme the contrary; unlesse he be one y^t meanes to say; however as Delrio saies; whose Answere you have in those words. Respondeo Figuram esse Conprincipium in motu locali, et Operationibus quae per hunc motum fiunt; ut sunt variae divisiones continui per dolabram per malleum per asciam, per serram; non vero in operationibus quae fiunt per alterationem. I cannot but wonder that this acute Jesuite who hath showed himselfe in other things a most Learned & sound Philosopher should so grossly offend here against those very Philosophical Maximes which himselfe hath

which himselfe hath laid down. For where he grants that Figure is a Co-principle in a local Motion, and in the Operations which this motion produceth; but not in those which are caused by alteration; he concludes say that which himselfe had before laid down; seing that according to the comon consent of all Philosophers, Heat is caused by motion but Heat is a kind of Alteration: Therefore Figure is of it selfe a Co-principle; in the Operations which are caused by Alteration.

Again when he grants to Cajetan, that a large piece of Iron may perhaps swim upon ye water yet he saies that it is not by reason of the figure figure, but of the Quantity, these are his words — Sed esto, fiat, erit non ratione Figurae sed Quantitatis. Well, out of it self & in sound Philosophy Quantitas non est activa: For then what the consequence must be: Then in the end when Cajetan concludes that it is the figure therefore that makes a large piece of Iron to swim upon the water. Delizo answers, that this figure is only Accidentall: for saith he let this large thin piece of Iron be reduced into some other figure either Circular square or five angled it will do the same, it will still swim upon the water: therefore the figure operates not but by accident. But here Delizo deceives himselfe; for Cajetans purpose is not to oppose oppose one Flat Figure againſt a Solid one. For a flat figure, whether it be square, circular, Octogonal or of what fashion soever it be; will do that, which the ſame figure, if it be solid will not do, which is moſt true; seeing that a piece of Iron that is square and thick withall, sinks presently to the bottom of the water; which the same piece of iron would not do, were it ſquare and very thin. It is therefore a moſt undeniable Maxime, that Figure hath ſome power to Operat

11. The other Objections which are made againſt the power of these Images, are set down and refuted by Galeottus the moſt weighty of which, are these following — In these Images

De Doctrina promiſcua cap. 24.

In these Images which are Engraved on Gold for the cure of the Stone; and the Pain in the Reins, the Gold of its one Nature cannot work this cure much leſſe then can the Image; which being without Life cannot by any means alter the Gold and change it into another Nature. Besides in the Image there is found neither Action nor paſſion: Again the Gold of it self whether it be figured, or not, is still of the same Species; and Consequently the beams of the Starrs muſt allways work upon it; after one & the same manner and if it should work rather upon Gold w.ch is figured, then upon that which is plain; This Action would ſeem to proceed rather from the Election

Election of the Heavens then from any other cause. In a word, the vertue which is attributed to this figure can neither be Natural nor Artificial: Not Naturall, because it proceeds from within: much less is it artificiall ~~But Naturall~~, because it ~~proceeds from within~~ is not comunicated unto it by the Artificer: It must therefore necessarily proceed from some other cause:

The Learned Answer of Galeottus to these Objections is this. Non enim in hac re mutatio speciei requiritur, nec proprietas auri immutatur, nec ulla Cœlorum Electio intervenit, nec ab Artifice vis illa sanandi datur, nec Imago, ut Imago quicquam Efficit, &c. Sed principium actionis actionis ac passionis affert, ut Tho. Aquinas & Albertus Magnus testantur; non ut Figura, et Imago, Mathematicè animadversa; sed ut efficit aliam in re figurata præparationem quæ cœlestem actionem sine difficultate variis modis accipiat. And afterwards explaining how it comes to passe, that among the divers kinds of figures that are under the Heavens, some are more naturally apt to receive the Influences then others are; he brings in the instance of Looking glasses, amongst which those that are hollow receive the beams of the Sun, in so such a measure, as that they burn, and others receive them scarcely at all. So the diversity

diversity of Hills and Valleys is the cauſe of a greater either Heat or Coldneſs: We may alſo here add an Instance in pieces of Ice, which the Sun cannot so eaſily melt and diſsolve, if they be plain and smooth; but very eaſily, if they be Uneven and rough. Which hath given occaſion to some to ſay that Painted figures are nothing so proper to the Subject we treat of as Graven and Carved are: which are moſt true. As for Gold, although the figure change not the Species of it, yet notwithstanding it renders it more apt and proper for such an action: as water cold and hot, though it be still the same Species yet yet the one will boil our meat when the other will not. Which makes Galleottus to conclude in these termes. Requiritur ergo in unius et ejuſdem speciei rebus, certum culturæ temperamentū ut varietur effectus.

12. It hath alſo been Objected againſt Franciſcus Ruëus, who undertooke the defence of this kind of Sculpture, after Galeottus, that if it be indued with such wonderfull Vertues, Mans workmanship should then have more power, then Gods; seeing that the Graved figure of a Lion should be able to cure the pains of the Reins; which a Living Lion could not do. To this he anſwers, and that very pertinently, that that which man does is as well the work of God as that which God himself does; seeing that we are but his Instruments; and y^{t} all our Actions, according to the Apostle are in him and depend on him. Besides we sometimes see; that that which hath been composed by man, proves to be of greater vertue; then that which God hath simply Created: as, for Example; Treacle is of more Sovereign Vertue against Poyson then any Simple that the Naturalists have yet found out.

13. I thought that I had now Answered all the Objections that had been made against those Figures, but I have lately met with another which which is a more confident one then any of all the rest. And it is Naudæus his, in his Apology which we formerly cited: where defending the honour of Virgil, who is branded with the Name of a Necromancer because that he sometimes applied himselfe to the making of those Talismanical Images he boldly affirmes, that all the Stories wch are reported of this Poët are false and ridiculous. He denies then Consequently, those Images which he made; as the Brazen Fly which he set up, upon one of the Gates of the City Naples; which for the space of Eight years, kept all manner of flies from coming coming into the City. He denies also that other Talisman, of a Horse leech, graved on a plate of Gold; which he cast into a well for to drive away the vast number of Horse-leeches that annoyed the said City. In a word he stands not to dispute, whether the Operations of these Images are Naturall or not but he plainly denies in termes, that there was ever any such thing in the world: as if he could not by any means have defended Virgils Innocence without casting himselfe upon this Extreame; and giving the Lye to all the Authors that have reported these stories. That which he saies in the

of his Discourse, by way of confirmation of his Assertion, is after the same rate. For by reason of the great number of places, from whence these beasts are reported by Historians to have been driven away; one may, saith he very well doubt, whether, because they are said to have been driven from so many, they were ever driven from any, or no. As if, because of the great Number of battails that Hannibal is reported by Historians to have fought with the Romans, we might not by the same reason doubt whether he fought any with them or not. He saies moreover that Scaliger had good reason to make him selfe merry with one of those Fly drivers, who having made a Talismanical Plate for this very purpose, he had no sooner set it up upon one of his Windowes, but a Fly comes presently and shites upon it for handsell. But he must not thinke that this Reasons of his are able to derogate anything from the power which we have acknowledged these Figures to have. For (that we may give him his Answer) If such a Physician is not able to cure a sick man, or if such an Arithmetician be not able to bring to an end some Operation which he hath begun, shall we therefore conclude conclude that Physick and Arithmetick are false and ridiculous? An Able man can do that which an Ignorant man cannot: and if he also sometimes fail, it must be imputed to some default, either on his part or on the matter, and not in the Science which is infallible. In which notwithstanding there are so many things to be observed, that I cannot wonder much if many men find not the Effect answer their Expectation. Another Reason which renders the Endeavors of men herein often fruitlesse; is, the little certainty that we have of Celestial affairs as being so farr removed from us. And this is this is that which Roger Bacon saith. Quia difficile est in his Certitudinem Cœlestium percipere; ideò in his multus est error apud multos; et pauci sunt qui sciant aliquid utiliter et veraciter ordinare. And this is the only Reason why so many great Personages have passed by both this Science, & that of Erecting Horoscopes, and also the so much famed Philosophers Stone; being taken up with Imployments of more importance; and which required not either so much time or pains: Not, but that they acknowledged the Truth, both of the one and of the other, and especially of Talismans: as may appeare appeare out of severall Epistles of Joseph Scaliger to the Srs de la Vau, Vazet, and Bagarris. So that I am of opinion, that if his Father, Julius Scaliger did make himselfe merry to see that a Mathematician should not be able, with a Figure made to drive away Flies, to keepe a ffly from coming and abusing it; it was rather to laugh at the ignorance of the Artist, then at the Art he professed; seing he hath acknowledged the power of it in divers places. As concerning the Author called Gervais, who attributes to Virgil those Talismanicall Images, as namely a Brazen ffly a Golden Horsleech and some others: the high Imployments which he was taken into by by the Emperour Otho, (to whome he was Chancelour and the Booke which he preſented him with, the Title whereoſ was Ocia Imperialia, ought in my opinion, to render him a man worthy of credit: for as much as it highly concerned a man of his Rank and Condition to publish nothing, but what was both Grave, Serious and true. And certainly if he should have so much forgotten himselfe as to have preſented the Emperour with a parcell of absurd, Impoſſible fabulous stories, as Naudeus is pleaſed to call them; this would have been the means to have made him been cryed down for a Fool, especially in a Princes Court, where there are always found some High

Spirits, that cannot flatter at all; & some others who envying the fortune of the Great ones, will be ſure to examine their very leaſt actions; & will not pardon the leaſt fault they comit. As for this Chancelour who hath ever refuted him? nay rather what Hiſtorian hath not tranſcribed him, and inſerted his stories into his own writings as most True ones? And whereas some may say, that he hath some things, which seem Ridiculous and Incredible: I anſwer that they ought not to be so eſteemed; since that the ages paſt, and even our own times do produce the like. So, that Admirable Tower, or Steeple, which Necham reports to have been made by Virgil with such wonderfull Art; as that the Tower, which was built all of stone, moved to and fro when the Bell rung out, is not without Parallel: for at Moustiers, a City of Provence, the Steeple, whose stones are all mortaised one within another, hath in a manner the very same motion that the Bell hath in Ringing; and that in so strange a manner as that sometimes those which are on the top of it knowing nothing of it, when they perceive the Bells begin to ring are very much affrighted.

14. I could in like manner make good the greatest part of those other Stories which are reported of this Poet; which the same Naudaeus accounts both false and Impossible; but that I see on the other hand that they come very far short of those Admirable Inventions, Images and figures which our own Age hath brought forth. As for Example those admirable Clocks which are to be seen; one whereof I saw at Legorne brought thither to be sold by a Germain; which had so many Rarities in it, as I should never have believed if my own Eyes had not seen it. For besides an infinite Number of strange motions which appeared not at all to the eye, You had there a company of Shepheards, whereof some played upon the Bag-pipe with such Harmony, & exquisite motion of the fingers; as that one would have thought thought they had been alive. Others Daunced by Couples, keeping exact time and Measure; whilst others capered, and leaped up & down with so much nimbleness that my spirits were wholly ravished with the sight. I shall not here say any thing of that Admirable Instrument which is to be seen in the hands of Mr de Peyrese, one of the Kings Councell, which sheweth the howers of the day and the just time of the ebbing and flowing of the Sea, by the motion of a little blewish water, which is shut up within a little Circular Pipe of Glasse; in which you shall somtimes see this water quite conveyed away. I shall also passe by Architas his wooden the Burning Glasse which Proclus made, in imitation of that wherewith Archimedes burnt the ships of the Romans, at the siege of Syracuse: the Statue of Memnon, which alwayes yeilded a strange sound, at the rising of the Sun And those of Severinus Boëtius, (so much admired by Theodoricus King of Italy;) who as Cassiodorus saith made Serpents of brasse to ~~sing~~ hisse, birds of brasse to sing, and in a word gave

Book, de Lucernis Antiquorum. Lastly I shall also omit to speak of the Invention of divers kinds of Hydraulicks in our own times, which are of so wonderfull strange Contrivance; as that there is nothing in the world which they do not imitate: as also those Statues of Men and Women, that speak, although Inarticulately; that Move of themselves, and play upon divers Instruments: Of Birds that fly and sing: of Lions that roar; Of Dogs that bark; and others that fight with cats, in the same manner as Living Dogs do: and a thousand other Wonderfull Inventions of men, which are enough to astonish our Senses. Now what reason hath the Author of that rash Apology to say as he does, that this Learned Chancellour to the Emperour Otho was not in his right wits when he wrote the fore mentioned Book; where the Effects of those Figures, which he attributes to Virgil have much less of wonder in them then those we have here specified. So that consequently, a man might by this means, defend this excellent Poet, against the Imputation of Magick, without denying (both against the experience of former ages & of our Own,) the power of Talismans; the Truth, and Efficacy whereof you may see acknowledged

acknowledged in the works of those Authors — which we have formerly cited, whose quality renders them both without suspition and above all Reproach.

14. After all these Objections, there are yet some other may be made, which have quite escaped our Criticks. I shall first Propose and then Answer them; to the end I may clear this Subject, wch hath been so unjustly cried down, of all doubts and Difficulties. —

It may be thus Objected, that, seeing that in making of a Talismanicall Image we are to — grave only One Celestiall Figure; the rest, which should concurr in the Operation —

not finding their Image there cannot — Operate at all.

Secondly it is Ridiculous to Grave the figure of a Ram, a Lion, and so of the rest, seeing — that the Constellations whose names these are do not do the business in the Effects which — we see in Nature; but rather the Sun, passing — through the parts of the Heavens.

Thirdly, the vertue of the other Starrs will be comunicated to the Image, as well as of those, which we cheifly desire to make — use of; seeing that both the one & the other do continually send forth their Influences: those therefore that are of contrary qualities

will hinder the Operation of the other.

Lastly, those Figures must needs be super=stitious, and no whit Naturall; seing that the Figure of a Scorpion either ingraven or Imboſsed on a stone; hath not only the power to cure the Stinging of a Scorpion it-selfe; but is able alſo to comunicate this power to another figure, taken from it in a piece of Clay: as in that we have spoken.

To the first I anſwer that a man may if he pleaſe grave Divers Images according to the Diversity of the signes that he would obſerve: Such a one was that Taliſmanical Stone

Stone of the Sr de Bagarris which was seen in Paris by divers learned men. Such a one alſo is one of those Silver Taliſmans, that M. de Marescott Maſter of the Requeſts so much honoured me, as to comunicate unto me; although I conceive it to have been made by some Superstitious perſon. For beſides the Table of Latine Cifers that you find there, and some Chymical Characters there are alſo three Angelical Characters like thoſe in Clavicula Salomonis. which makes me ſuſpect the rest. The figure of a Woman on the one side is certainly meant for the sign of Virgo and the three Hebrew Letters Letters which are on the other side: אֵ ה 'א are the Abbreviatures of those three Entire words: אֵל הַשֵּׁם אֶחָד: El hascem Echad: that is to say, word for word; God; This Name is one.

The Influences of many severall starrs may be comunicated to one sole Figure; as ye vertue of many sundry Hearbs, which proceedeth from the same starrs, may be reduced into one Medicine. This Comparison is uſed by Marſilius Ficinus, who following the Opinion of the Ancients saies: Jlla vero ex quamplurimis conflari pro arbitrio poſſunt. Ut si centum Solis Jovisq; dotes, per centum plantas, et animalia, similiaq; :5 ſparſæ fuerint; componere simul hæc centum tibi comperta poſſis: et in unam conficere formam, in qua Solem fermè Jovemq; totum jam videaris habere. So that there is no great Neceſſity that the Figures of all the Constellations should be ingraved but only of that which you would have to Operate the more Effectually. And though the other Stars meet not with a Figure ſemblable to their Operations; yet will they Operate notwithstanding: for as much as they do continually shed forth their Influences upon all things indifferently; and do comunicate comunicate their Vertue to the Gold, or to th Stone; though some more, and other some leſſe; according to the divers Aspects under which they were wrought.

To the second Objection I anſwer in one word, that it is all one; whether it be the twelve Constellations of the Zodiack or the Sun in them, that sheds forth theſe Influ=ences, so that we be but aſſured by Experienc that they come from such a part of the Heavens, and that the Effect always follows. We are therefore always to grave such a Figure, as is correſpondent to this effect, whether it proceeds from the Sun or from the other starrs. And yet it is Manifeſt that it proceeds not principally from the Sun; seing that the reſt of the forty eight Constellations, which are not in the Zodiack and through which the Sun paſſes not at all do nevertheleſſe; in ſome sort Operate alſo.

The Third Objection is as easily Anſwered as the former: for asmuch as thoſe Constella=tions, which are of a Contrary Nature to the Effect which we deſire; though they do Operate; yet it is but Faintly and with little force: for we uſe to obſerve the time either when they are not in our Hemiſphere, or if they be, we then take them

The last Objection is indeed the most Difficult of all the rest; seeing that the Vertue, which we find Imprinted in a Talisman seems to surpasse the power of Nature. Neverthelesse we are able to make it appeare that there is nothing Extraordinary in it, by instancing in the Loadstone, which having comunicated its vertue to a piece of Iron, This piece of Iron comunicates it afterwards to another, in drawing it to it selfe and retaining it. In like manner may a Talismanicall

Figure comunicate its Vertue to another Figure; which shall have received Impression from it, which shall afterwards have the power to worke the same Effects: only the Difference is, we can give a reason of this later though not of the Former: For the Talisman is as a Brick made very hot, which is able to heat another Brick, though not with so much force as the fire does: and the same is to be said of the print of a Talisman in Clay, which can never be so powerfull in Operation as the Talisman it selfe which is heated or penetrated by the Beams of the Starrs./

We Conclude

We Conclude then that we may Naturally - and without the Aid of Spirits, prove by the Secrets of Nature not only the power of those Images, but of many other Operations also which are more wonderfull. As for Example to send Newes to our friends in less then an houres space above a hundred Leagues off: as Trithemius Abbas, & Bartholomy Cordelier, and after them Robert Flud have undertaken to do. To do such - Miraculous things, by the helpe of Looking - glasses as we would thinke to be utterly Impossible: such as were those strange Operations which Roger Bacon undertooke to do in the

Number

Number Nine; by which he promised the - pope that if he would furnish him with - such a Sum of money, as the charge of - making them would require he should be - able to annoy the Turks more by these Glasses - then by an Army of a Hundred thousand men. Briefly if Aristotle had not informed us - that the Image in the air which inseparably followed a certain man, so that he - could never be rid of it, was Naturall: would it not presently have been concluded that it was some Familiar Spirit or some Dæmon, that took upon it the Figure of this Man? And yet neverthelesse, this was only the Effect of the Man's own weakness of sight which being unable to penetrate the Medium of the air, its beams were reverberated, in like manner as in a Looking glass; so that whenever his eyes were open, he still saw his own Image in the air. Which makes me to be of their Opinion who indeavor to vindicate the ancients, from the Imputation of Magick, & to think that the works which they did, & which are comonly called Diabolical, proceeded meerly from some natural principles and I am seriously of this minde, that there can be nothing more ridiculous, then to have recourse to Spirits. For besides that Campanella, Riolanus, Symphorianus, Campegius and many others assure us, that, whatsoever they may have done; yet they have never observed any thing that was supernaturall, at least in those works which are said to proceed from Spirits: We our selves may do without their aid, whatsoever they can do; seeing that they have no advantage over us, but operate only by Applying active things to passive, like as we do.

We Conclude therefore with the learned Bacon. Non igitur oportet nos uti Magicis Illusionibus, cum Potestas Philosophiæ doceat operari quod sufficit.

In the Margin are breif notes of the late Dr. Rudd which Explains some hard words & sentences in the following Treatise Hermes Nuptials &c.

The First Day.

On an Evening before Easter Day, I sate at a Table, and having (as my custome was) in my humble Prayer sufficiently conversed with Meditatio. my Creator, and considered many great Mysteries, (whereof the Father of Lights his Majesty had shown me not a few) and being now ready to prepare in my Heart, together with my dear Paschal Lamb, a small unleavened, undefiled Cake; all on a sudden ariseth so horrible a Tempest, that I imagined imagined no other but that through its mighty force, the Hill whereon my little house was founded would fly in pieces. But in as much as this, and the like from the Devil (who had done me many a spite) was no new thing to me; I tooke courage and persisted in my Meditation, till some body (after an unuſuall manner touched me on the Back; whereupon I was so hugely terrified, that I durst hardly looke about me yet I showed my-selfe as cheerfull as (in the like Occurrences) — humane frailty would permit; Now the same thing still twitching me severall times by the Coat; I looked back and behold

Precaniſſa — Lady Chamberlain or Controller it was a fair and glorious Lady, whose Garments were all Skye colour, and curiouſly (like Heaven) bespangled with golden stars, In her right hand she bare a Trumpet of beaten Gold, whereon a name was engraven (which I could well read in) but am as yet forbidden to reveale it. In her left hand she had a great bundle of Letters of all Languages, which she (as I afterwards understood) was to carry into all countries. She had also large and beautifull wings, full of Eyes throughout, wherewith she could mount aloft, and flye swifter then any Eagle I might perhaps been able to take further notice

notice of her, but because she staid so small - a time with me, and terror and amazement still possessed me; I was fain to be content. - For as soon as I turned about, she turned - her Letters over and over, and at length - drew out a small one; which with great - Reverence she laid down upon ye Table, - and without giving one word departed - from me: but in her mounting upward - she gave so mighty a blast on her gallant Trumpet that the whole hill ecchoed thereof and for a full quarter of an hour after, - I could hardly heare my own words.

In so unlooked for an adventure I was - at a -

at a loss, how either to advise or assist my poor selfe, and therefore fell upon my knees and - besought my Creator to permit nothing con= trary to my Eternal Happyness to befall me; - whereupon with fear and trembling I went Epistola. to the Letter, which was now so heavy as had - it been meer Gold, it could hardly have been so weighty. Now as I was diligently viewing Sigillum - it, I found a little Seal, whereupon a curious - Cross with this Inscription In hoc Signo ✝ Vinces, was ingraven./

Now as soon as I espied this Sign I was - the more comforted as not being ignorant that such a Seal was little acceptable; & much much less usefull to the Devil. whereupon I tenderly opened the Letter, and within it in an Azure Field in Golden Letters, found the following Verses written.

This Day, this Day, this, this The Royal Nuptials is.
Art thou thereto by Birth inclin'd, And unto joy of God design'd, Then maist thou to the Mountain tend Whereon three stately Temples stand, And there see all from end to end Keep watch, and ward, Thy selfe regard;
Unless with diligence thou bathe
The Nuptials can't thee harmless save:
He'l dammage have that here delays; Let him beware; too light that weigh.

Underneath stood, Sponsus and Sponsa.

De Nuptijs.

As soon as I had read this Letter, I was presently like to have fainted away, all my hair stood an end, and a cold sweat trickled down my whole body. For although I well perceived, that this was the appointed Wedding, whereof seaven years before I was acquainted in a bodily Vision, and which now so long time I had with great earnestness attended, and which lastly by the account and calculation of the Planets I had had most diligently observed I found so to be— yet could I never foresee that it must happen— under so grievous and perilous conditions.

He had scarce done speaking, when an Ancient Matron comanded her Servants to let down the Cord seven times into the Dungeon, and draw up whosoever could hang upon it. Good God! that I could sufficiently describe the hurry and disquiet that then arose amongst us; for every one strove to get to the Cord, and yet only hindred each other. But after seven minutes a sign was given by a little bell, whereupon at the first Pull the Servants drew up four. At that time I could not come near the Cord by much, having (as is before mentioned) to my huge misfortune, betaken my selfe to a Stone at the wall of the Dungeon, and thereby was disabled to get to the cord which descended in the middle. The Cord was let down the second time; but divers because their chains were too heavy, and their hands too tender could not keep their hold on the cord, but with themselves beat down many another, who else perhaps might have held fast enough; nay many a one was forcebly pulled off by another who yet could not himselfe get at it; so mutually envious were we even in this our great misery But whose weight was so heavy, that they tore their very hands from their bodyes, and yet could not get up. Thus it came to passe that at these five times very few were drawn up. For as soon as the sign was given, the Servants were so nimble at the draught that the most part tumbled one upon another, and the Cord at this time especially was drawn up very empty. whereupon the greatest part, and even my selfe, despaired of Redemption, and called upon God that he would have pitty upon us, and (if possible) deliver us out of this obscurity, who also then heard and whilst in the drawing up the Cord swung from one side to the other, it (perhaps by the will of God) came to me; which I suddenly catching got uppermost above all the rest, and so at length beyond hope came out; whereat I exceedingly rejoyced, so that I perceived not the wound, which in drawing

Matron

Magistræ filius.

Matron caused the Cord to be laid away, and willed her aged Son (at which I much wonder) to declare her Resolution to the rest of the Prisoners who after he had a little bethought himselfe spoke, thus unto them —.

All present here;
What is but now compleat and done,

As soon as he had finished these words, the Cover was again put to and locked down, and the Trumpets and Kettle drums began afresh, yet could not the noise thereof be so loud, but that the bitter Lamentation of the Prisoners which arose in the Dungeon was heard above all, which soon also caused my eyes — ob nuptias

I was hardly got out of my Cell into a Forrest, when methought that the whole Heaven and all the Elements had already trimmed themselves against this Wedding. For even the Birds in my opinion chanted more pleasantly then before, and the young Fawns skipped so merrily that they rejoyced my old Heart, and moved me to sing: wherefore with a loud voice I thus began:

With mirth thou pretty Bird rejoice, Thy Maker's praise inhanced.
Lift up thy shrill and pleasant voice, Thy

Thy God is high advanced.
Thy Food before he did provide And gives it in a fitting side Therewith be thou sufficed.
Why should'st thou now unpleasant be,
Thy wrath against God venting?
That he a little Bird made thee Thy silly head tormenting?
Because he made thee not a man O peace, he hath well thought thereon.
Therewith be thou sufficed.
What is't I'd have poor earthly worm, By God (as 'twere) inditing, That I should thus against Heaven storm
To

To force great Acts by fighting?
God will out braved be by none, Who's good for nought, may hence be gone O man b'herewith sufficed.
That he no Cæsar hath thee fram'd, To pine therefore his needless His Name perhaps thou hadst defam'd Whereof he was not heedless.
Most clear and bright Gods eyes do shine, He pierces to thy heart within,
And cannot be deceived.

This sang I now from the bottom of my Heart — (Per Sylvam.) throughout the whole Forrest so that it resounded from all parts, and the Hills repeated my last words untill untill at length I espied a curious green Heath whether I betooke my selfe out of the forrest. Upon this Heath stood 3 lovely tall Cedars, — (3 Cedri 3. Templa. ⊖ 🜍 ☿) which by reason of their breadth afforded an excellent and desired shade; whereat I greatly rejoyced; for although I had not hitherto gone far, yet my earnest longing made me very faint; whereupon I hasted to the Trees to rest a little under them, but as soon as I came somewhat nigher, I espied a Tablet fastned (Tabella Mercurialis) to one of them, on which (as afterwards I read) in curious Letters the following words were written

Now as soon as I had read this Writing all my Joy was nere vanished again, and I who before sang merily, began now inwardly to Lament: For although I saw all the three ways before me; and understood that hence forward it was vouchsafed me to make choice of one of them yet it troubled me that in case I went the stony and rocky way, I might get a miserable and deadly fall, or taking the Long one I might wander out out of it through by ways, or be otherways detayned in the great Journey. Neither durst I hope; that I amongst thousands should be the very He, who should choose the Royall way. I saw likewise the Fourth before me; but it was so invironed with Fire and Exhalations, that I durst not by much draw nere it, and therefore again and again ~~de~~ considered whether I should returne back, or take any of the ways before me. I well weighed my own unworthyness, but the Dream still comforted me that I was delivered out of the Tower, and yet I durst not confidently rely upon a dreame; whereupon I was so variously perplexed, that for very great weariness hunger & thirst

Whilst he was thus speaking, and the Clamour the longer it lasted, the worse it was, all on a sudden there began in the Hall such musica./ excellent and stately Musick as all the days of my life I never heard the like; whereupon every one held his peace, & attended what would become of it: Now there were in this Musick all sorts of stringed Instruments

In th' Invitation writ, you know That no man called was hereto

Had not received long before, Adorned with all requisits, As in such cases it befits, How though they cannot well conceit That any mans so desperate,

Under Conditions so hard, Here to intrude without regard; Unlesse he have been first of all, Prepared for this Nuptial;
And therefore in good hopes do dwell That with all you it will be well: Yet men are grown so bold, and rude;
Not weighing their ineptitude, As still to thrust themselves in place Whereto none of them called was:
No Cocks-Comb here himselfe may sell, No Rascall in with others steal; For they resolve without all let

What he hath left at home behind.
If here be any of that Rout Who have good cause themselves to doubt, Let him pack quickly hence aside;
For that in case he longer bide, Of grace forelorn, & quite undone Betimes he must the Gantlet runn:
If any now his Conscience gall He shall to night be left in th' Hall And be again releas't by morn, Yet so he hither ne'er returne.

If—

If any man have confidence, He with his waiter may go hence, Who shall him to his Chamber light Where he may rest in peace to night;
And there with praise await ye Scale Or else his sleep may chance to faile:
The others here may take it well, For who aim's 'bove whats possible, 'Twere better much he hence had past But of you all wee'l hope the best.

As soon as she had done speaking this, she again made reverence and sprung cheerfully into her Throne; after which the Trumpets began again to sound, which yet was not of

The Third Day

Now as soon as the lovely day was broken, and the bright Sun, having raised himselfe above the Hills, had again betaken himselfe in the high Heaven, to his appointed Office; My good Champions began to to rise out of their beds, and leiſurely to make themselves ready unto the Inquiſition, whereupon one after another, they came again into the Hall and giving us a good morrow, demanded how we had slept to night; and having eſpied our Bonds, there were some that reproved us for being so cowardly, and that we had not (much rather) as they, hazarded upon all adventures. Howbeit some of them whose Hearts still smote them made no loud cry of the buiſineſs. We excuſed our Selves with our ignorance, hoping we should now soon be set at liberty, and learn wit by this diſgrace? that they on the contrary had not yet alltogether escaped

Now how, after him it fared with the rest of the Emperours, Kings and Lords, would be too long to recount; but I cannot leave unmentioned, yᵗ few of thoſe great perſonages held out. Howbeit sundry eminent Vertues (beyond my hopes) were found in many. One could stand out this, the second another, some two, some three, four or five, but few could attain to the just perfection; but every one who failed, was miſerably laughed at by the bands.

After the Inquiſition had alſo paſſed over the Gentry, the learned and the unlearned, & the rest, and in each condition perhaps one, it may be, two, but for the most part none, was found perfect, it came at length to thoſe honest Gentlemen

Soon after the Drums began to beat again, to which we were already accustomed: For we well knew it was the Virgin, wherefore we prepared our selves to receive her, who was now coming in with her vsuall Train upon her high Seat, one of the Pages bearing before her

Upon the Cover of this Goblet stood FORTUNE curiously cast in Gold, who had in her hand a red flying Ensigne, for which cause I drank some what the more sadly, as having been but too well acquainted with Fortunes waywardness.

that perhaps she was the president of the order. Wherefore we demanded of her how the Order might be named? She answered that it was not yet seasonable to discover it, till the affair with the prisoners were dispatched. And therefore their eyes were still held; and what had hitherto hapned to vs, was to them only for an Offence and scandal, although it were to be accounted as nothing, in regard of the honour that attended us. Hereupon she began to distinguish the Patent which the other page held into two different parts, out of which about thus much was read before the first Company.

They knew in like manner — what ungodly deceitfull Figures they had made use of, in so much as they spared not even the Divine Trinity, but accustomed to cheat people all the Country over. It was also now as clear as Day with what practices they had indeavoured to ensnare the true Guests, and introduce the ignorant: in like manner, that it was manifest to all the world that they wallowed in open Whoredome Adultery-

Adultery, Gluttony and other Uncleannesses: All which was against the express Orders of our Kingdoms. In brief they knew they had disparaged Kingly Majesty, even amongst the comon sort, and therefore they should confess themselves to be manifest convicted, Vagabond Cheaters, Knaves and Rascalls whereby they deserved to be cashiered from the company of civil people and severely to be punished.

Confessio invita.

The good Artists were loath to come to this Confession, but in as much as not only the Virgin her selfe threatned and sware their Death, but the other party also vehemently raged at them, and unanimously cryed out out, that they had most wickedly seduced them out of the Light: they at length, to prevent a huge miſſfortune, confeſſed the same with with dolour, and yet withall alledged that what had herein happened was not to be animadverted upon them in the worst ſenſe.

Excuſatio./ For in as much as the Lords were abſolutely resolved to get into the Castle, and had promiſed great Sums of money to that effect, each one had used all Craft to seize upon something, and so things were brought to that paſſe, as was now manifest before their Eyes. But that it succeeded not,
" They in their opinion had deſerved no-

I indeed cauſed my Page to conduct me (together with my Companion) up and down the Castle ~~a finded~~ ~~[illegible]~~ of which walk it will never repent me, as long as I have a day to live. For beſides many other glorious Antiquities, the Royal Sepulcher was alſo showed me, by which I learned more then is extant in all Books. There in the same place stands alſo the glorious

It grieves me also for — my other Consorts, that they neglected such pretious Treasures . And yet I cannot but think it was — the special will of God it should be so .

I indeed reaped the most benefit by my Page; — for according as each ones Genius lay, so he led his intrusted into the quarters and places — which were pleasing to him .

all the Figures, Rooms, Portals, also all the Writings, Riddles, and the like to be seen in the whole Castle are delineated. Now although we have made some promise concerning this also, yet at present I must contain my selfe and first learn to know the World better. In every Book stands its Author painted; whereof (as I understood) many were to be burnt, that so even their memory may be blotted out from amongst the Righteous. Now having taken a full view hereof, and being scarce gotten forth, another Page came running to us, and having whispered something in our Pages ear, he delivered up the Keys to him, who imediately carryed them up the winding Stairs; But our Page was very much

Thus in both places we consumed three hours, which does not at all repent me. Now although it had already stricken seven yet nothing was hitherto given us to

I could easily conjecture wherein our Artists failed, howbeit its none of my duty to inform them. At length I came into a spacious Room (shown indeed to the rest a great while before) in the middle whereof stood a Terrestrial Globe, whose Diameter contained thirty foot; albeit near half of it, except a little which was covered with the steps was let into the Earth.

Glorius Terrenus.

Two men might readily turn this Globe about with all its Furniture, so that more of it was never to be seen, but so much as was above the Horizon. Now although I could easily conceive that this was of some special use, yet could I not understand whereto those Ringlets of Gold

In brief, I found there my Native country noted with Gold alſo; whereupon my Companion sought his and found that so too. Now after we had each to other related our Employment since noon (how beit, not a word was spoken of the Library & Monuments) being already merry with the Wine, the Virgin began thus: My Lords, I have a great contention with one of my Sisters: In our Chamber we have an Eagle; Now we cherish him with such diligence, that each of us is desirous to be the best beloved, and upon that score have many a Squabble. On a Day we concluded to go both together to him, and toward whom ~~he~~ he should show himselfe most friendly, hers should he properly be; this we did, and I (as comonly) bare in my hand a branch of Laurell; but my Sister had none. Now as soon as he espyed us both, he imediately gave my Sister another branch which he had in his Beak, and offered at mine; which I gave him, Now each of us hereupon imagined her selfe to be best beloved of him; which way am I to resolve my selfe?

I had two Companions both which loved me exceedingly; now they being doubtfull which of them was most dear to me, concluded to run to me unawares, and that he whom I should then embrace should be the right; this they did, yet one of them could not keepe pace with the other, so he staid behind and wept, the other I embraced with amazement. Now when they had afterwards discovered the business to me I know not, ~~I knew not~~ how to resolve my self, and have hitherto let it rest in this manner, until I may find some good advice herein. The Virgin wondered at it, and well observed whereabout I was whereupon she replyed, well then let us both be quit, and then desired the solution from the rest. But I had already made them wise. Wherefore the next began thus.

In a certain City there dwelt an honourable Lady who was beloved of all, but especially by a young noble Man, who would needs be too importunate with her; at length she gave him this determination, that in case he would, in a cold Winter, lead her into a fair green Garden of Roses, then he should obtain, but if not, he muſt reſolve never to see her more. The noble Man travelled into all Countries to finde such a man as might performe this, till at length he lite upon a little old man that promiſed to do it for him in caſe he would aſſure him of half his Eſtate; which he having conſented to, the other was as good as his word. Whereupon he invited the foreſaid Lady home to his Garden, where contrary to her expectation she found all things green, pleaſant, and warm, and withall remembring her promiſe, she only requeſted yᵗ she might once more return to her Lord, to whom with ſighs and Tears she bewailed her lamentable condition: but for as much as he

as he sufficiently perceived her faithfulness, he dispatched her back to her Lover, who had so dearly purchased her that she might give him satisfaction. This Husbands integrity did so mightily affect the Nobleman, that he thought it a sin to touch so honest a wife; so he sent her home again with honour to her Lord. Now the little Man perceiving such Faith in both these; would not, how poor soever he were; be the least, but restored the Nobleman all his Goods again, and went his way. Now I thought with my selfe; during her Life thou couldst have no part in this Woman, but yet now dead as she is thou mayst embrace and Kiss her sufficiently; whereupon I took my Servant with me, who dug

My Sister, presently began another, We find hereby that thy high Office makes thee not proud; wherefore if by thy permission we might by Lot part the Lords here present amongst us for Bed-fellowes, thou shouldst with our Good will have such a Prerogative. We let this passe for a Jest, and began again to discourse together. But our Virgin could not leave tormenting us, and therefore began again, My Lords, how if we should permit fortune to decide which of us must lye together to Night? Well said I, if it may be no otherwise, we cannot refuse such a proffer, Now because it was concluded to make this tryal after meat, we resolved to sit no longer at Table ~~meat~~ so we arose, and each

each one walked up, and down with his Virgin.

Nay, said the Virgin, it shall not be so yet, but let us see how Fortune will couple us; Upon which we were seperated asunder: But now first arose a dispute how the business should be carried, but this was only a premeditated device, for the Virgin instantly made the proposall that we should mix our selves together in a Ring, and that she beginning to count from her self, the seventh, was to be content with the following seventh, whether it were a Virgin or a Man; for our parts we were not aware of any craft and therefore permitted it so to be; but when we thought we had very well mingled our selves, the Virgins neverthelesse were so subtil that each one knew

Knew her station before hand: The Virgin began to reckon, the seventh next her was again a Virgin the third seventh a Virgin likewise; and this hap so long till (to our amazement.) all the Virgins came forth, and none of us was hit; Thus we poo pittifull Wretches remained standing alone; and were moreover forced to suffer our selves to be jeered too and confesse we were very handsomly couzened. In short, who ever had seen us in our Order, might sooner have expected the Skye to fall, then that it should never have come to our turn. Here with our Sport was at an end, and we were fain to satisfy our selves with the Virgins waggery. In the interim, the little wanton Cupid came also in unto us; but because he presented himselfe on behalfe of their Royal Majesties, and delivered us a Health (as from them) out of a golden Cup, and was to call our Virgins to the King, withall declaring he could at this time tarry no longer with them we could not sufficiently sport our selves with him: So with a due returne of our most humble we let him flye forth again. Now because (in the Interim) the mirth began to fall into my Consorts feet, and the Virgins were nothing a merry dance./ sorry to see it, they quickly lead up a civil Dance whome I rather behold with pleasure, then assisted. For my Mercurialists were so ready with their postures, as if they had been long of the Trade.

After some few Dances our preſident came in again, and told us how the Artists & Students had offered themselves to their Royall Majeſties, for their Honour and Pleaſure; before their departure to act a merry Comedy; and if we thought good to be preſent at it, and to wait upon their Royal Majeſties to the House of the Sun, it would be acceptable to them, and they would moſt graciously acknowledge it: Hereupon in the firſt place we returned our moſt humble thanks for the Honour vouchsafed us, not only so, but moreover moſt ſubmiſsively tendered our small Service, which the Virgin related again, and presently brought word to attend their Royal Majeſties (in our Order) in the Gallery, whither we were soon lead, and stayed not long there for the Royal Proceſsion was juſt ready yet without any Muſick at all. The unknown Queen, who was yeſterday with us, went foremoſt with a small and coſtly Coronet, apparelled in white Sattin, she carried nothing but a small Crucifix which was made of a Pearl, and this very day wrought between the young King and his Bride. After her went the six forementioned Virgins in two ranks, who carried the Kings Jewels belonging to the little Altar: next to those came the three Kings.

He had on a small round black Hat, with a little black pointed Feather, which he courteously put off to us, thereby to signify his favour towards us. To him we bowed our selves, as also to the first, as we had been before instructed. After the Kings came the three Queens two whereof were richly habited, only she in the middle went likewise all in black, and Cupid held up her Train; After intimation was given to us to follow, and after us the Virgins, till at last old Atlas brought up the rear. the Sun, there next to the King and Queen upon a richly furnished Scaffold to behold the fore-ordained Comedy: We indeed though separated, stood on the right hand of the Kings, but the Virgins on the left, except those to whom the Royal Ensignes were comitted. To them was allotted a peculiar standing at top of all. But the rest of the attendants were fain to stand below between the Columns, and therewith to be content. Now because there are many remarkable Passages in this Comedy, I will not omit in brief to run it over.

Præcipua quæ agebantur Actus. 1.

First of all came forth a very ancient King King

King, with some Servants, before whose Throne was brought a little Chest, with mention that it was found upon the Water, Now it being opened, there appeared in it a lovely Babe, together with certain Jewels, and a small Letter of parchment sealed, and superscribed to the King. Which the King therefore presently opened, and having read it, wept, and then declared to his Servants how injuriously the King of the Moors had deprived his Aunt of her Country, and had extinguished all the Royall Seed even to this Infant with the Daughter of which Country he had now purposed to have ~~m~~ matched his Son.

Hereupon

Hereupon he swore to maintain perpetual enmity with the Moors and his Allies, and to revenge this upon him; and therewith comanded that the Child should be tenderly nursed; and to make preparation against the Moor; Now this provision and the Discipline of the young Lady (who after she was grown up was comitted to an ancient Tutor) continued all the first Act, with many very fine and laudable sports besides.

Interludium/ In the Interlude a Lyon and a Griffon were set at one another to fight, and the Lyon got the Victory; which was also a pretty sight

Actus 2. In the second Act, the Moor a very black treacherous fellow, came forth also, who having with vexation understood that his Murder was discovered, and that too a little Lady was craftily stollen from him began thereupon to consult how by Stratagem he might be able to encounter so powerful an adversary, whereof he was at length advised by certain Fugitives who by reason of famine fled to him: So the young Lady contrary to all mens expectation fell again into his hands: Whom had he not been wonderfully deceived by his own Servants, he had like to have caused to be slain. Thus this Act too was concluded with a marvellous triumph of

of the Moore.

Act. 3. In the third Act a great Army on the Kings party was raised against the Moore, and put under the conduct of an ancient valiant Knight who fell into the Moores Country, till at length he forceably rescued the young Lady out of the Tower, & apparraled her anew: After this in a trice they erected a glorious Scaffold & placed their young Lady upon it: presently came twelve Royal Embassadors amongst whom the fore mentioned Knight made a Speech alledging that the King his most gratious Lord had not only heretofore delivered her from death death, and even hitherto caused her to be royally brought up (though she had not behaved her selfe altogether as became her) But moreover his Royal Majesty had, before ☿ 🜍 others elected her, to be a Spouse for the young Lord his Son: and most graciously desired that the said Espousals might be really ~~[illegible]~~ executed in case they would be sworn to his Majesty upon the following Articles. Hereupon out of a Patent he caused certain glorious conditions to be read, which if it were not too long were well worthy to be here recounted. In briefe the young Lady took an Oath inviolably to observe the same returning thanks with a

in most seemly sort for this so high a Grace. Whereupon they began to sing to the Praise of God, of the King, and the young Lady, and so for this time departed.

Interludium. For sport, in the mean while, the four Beasts of Daniel, as he saw them in the Vision, and hath at large described them, were brought in all which had its certain signification.

Actus 4. In the fourth Act the young Lady was again restored to her lost Kingdom, and crowned, and for a space, in this array conducted about the place with extraordinary Joy: after this many and various Embassadors presented themselves, not only to wish her prosperity prosperity but also to behold her Glory. Yet it was not long that she preserved her Integrity, but soon began again to look wantonly about her, and to wink at the Embassadors and Lords; wherein she truly acted her part to the Life.

These her manners were soon known to the Moore, who would by no means neglect such an opportunity, and because her Steward had not sufficient regard to her, she was easily blinded with great promises, so that she had no good confidence in her King, but privily submitted her selfe to the intire disposall of blacknesse ag.ⁿ } the Moore. Hereupon the Moore made haste, and having (by her consent) gotten her into his Hands

Hands, he gave her good words so long till all her Kingdome had subjected it selfe to him: After which in the third Scene of this Act, he caused her to be lead forth, and first to be stript stark naked, and then upon a Scurvy wooden Scaffold to be bound to a Post, and well scourged, and at last sentenced to Death. This was so wofull a Spectacle, that it made the eyes of many to run over. Hereupon thus naked as she was, she was cast into Prison, there to expect her Death which was to be procured by Poyson, which yet killed her not, but made her leprous all over: Thus this Act was for the most part lamentable Interludium.) Between, they brought forth Nebuchadnezzars Image

Image; which was adorn'd with all manner of Arms, on the Head, Breast, Belly, Legs, and Feet, and the like; of which more hereafter in our future explication

Actus 5. In the fifth Act the young King was acquainted wth all that had passed between the Moor, and his future Spouse; who first interceded with his father for her, intreating that she might not be left in that Condition; which his Father having agreed to, Embassadors were dispatched to Comfort her in her Sickness and Captivity; but yet withall to give her notice of her inconsideratedness. But she would not yet receive them, but consented to be the Moor's Concubine, which was also done and the young King was acquainted with it

After

Interludium. After this comes a band of Fools, each of which brought with him a Cudgel wherewith in a trice, they made a great Globe of the World, and as soon undid it again, it was a fine sportive Phantasie.

Actus 6. In the sixth Act the young King resolved to bid battle to the Moore, which also was done. And albeit the Moore was discomfited, yet all held the young King too, for dead. At length he came to himselfe again, released his spouse, and comitted her to his Steward and Chaplain. The first whereof tormented her mightily, at last the Leaf turned over, and the Priest was so insolently wicked that he would needs be above all, untill the same was reported to the young King King, who hastily dispatched one who broke the no of the Priests mightiness, and adorned the Bride in some measure for the Nuptials.

Interludium. After the Act a vast artificial Elephant was brought forth: he carried a great Tower with Musitians which was also well pleasing to all.

Actus.7. In the last Act the Bridegroom appeared in such pomp as is not well to be believed, and I was amazed how it was brought to passe. The Bride met him in the like Solemnity. Whereupon all the People cryed out Vivat Sponsus, Vivat Sponsa. So that by this Comedy, they did withall congratulate our King and Queene in the most stately manner: which which (as I well observed) pleased them extraordinary well.

At length they made some passes about the stage in such Procession, till at last they altogether began thus ~~to~~ sing.

Epilogus./ After this thanks were returned, and the Comedy was finished with Joy, and the particular good liking of the Royal Persons, wherefore ~~the Royal Persons~~ the

(the Evening also being already hard by) they departed together in their forementioned order:

Hospites invitantur ad cænam Regis et Reginæ.

But we were to attend the Royal Persons up the winding stairs into the forementioned Hall, where the Tables were already richly furnished, and this was the first time that we were invited to the Kings Table. The little Altar was placed in the midst of the Hall, and the six forenamed Royal Ensignes were laid on it.

Rex Adolesc:/ At this time the young King behaved himselfe very gratiously towards us but yet he could not be heartily merry; But howbeit he now and then discoursed a little with us, yet he often sighed, at which the little Cupid only mocked, & play'd playd his waggish tricks. During this, the Royal Persons took up the first Table, at the second we only sate. At the third, some of the principal Virgins placed themselves: The rest of the Virgins and men, — were all fain to wait. This was performed with- such state and solemn stillness, that I am —— afraid to make many words of it:

Ornatus vestium.

Here I cannot leave untouched how that all the Royal Persons, before Meat, attired themselves in snow white glittering Garments, and so sate down to Table. Over the Table hung the forementioned great

However all the — Lights were kindled at the small Taper upon the Altar; what the reason was I did not — certainly know. But this I took very good — notice of that the young King frequently sent meat to the white Serpent upon the little — Altar, which caused me to muse. Almost all the Prattle at this Banquet was made by little

For the Virgin too, seeing that some of us were faint hearted and wept, bid us be content. For said she to us, The Life of those standeth now in your hands, and in caſe you follow me, this Death shall make many alive. Herewith she intimated we should go sleep, and trouble our selves no further on our part, for they should be sure to have their due right; and so she bade us all Good night, saying, That she must watch the dead Corps this night: We did so, and were each of us conducted by our Pages into our Lodgings. Now as soon as the Coffins were laid in the Ships, all the Lights were extinguished and the six flames passed back together over the Lake; So that there was no more but one Light in each Ship for a Watch. There were also some hundreds of watchmen who had encamped themselves on the shore; and put the Virgin back again into the Castle; who carefully bolted all up again, so that I could well judge that there was nothing more to be done this night, but that we must expect the day; so we again betook our selves to rest. And I only of all my Company had a Chamber towards the Lake, and saw this, so that now I was also extream weary, and so fell asleep in my manyfold Speculations.

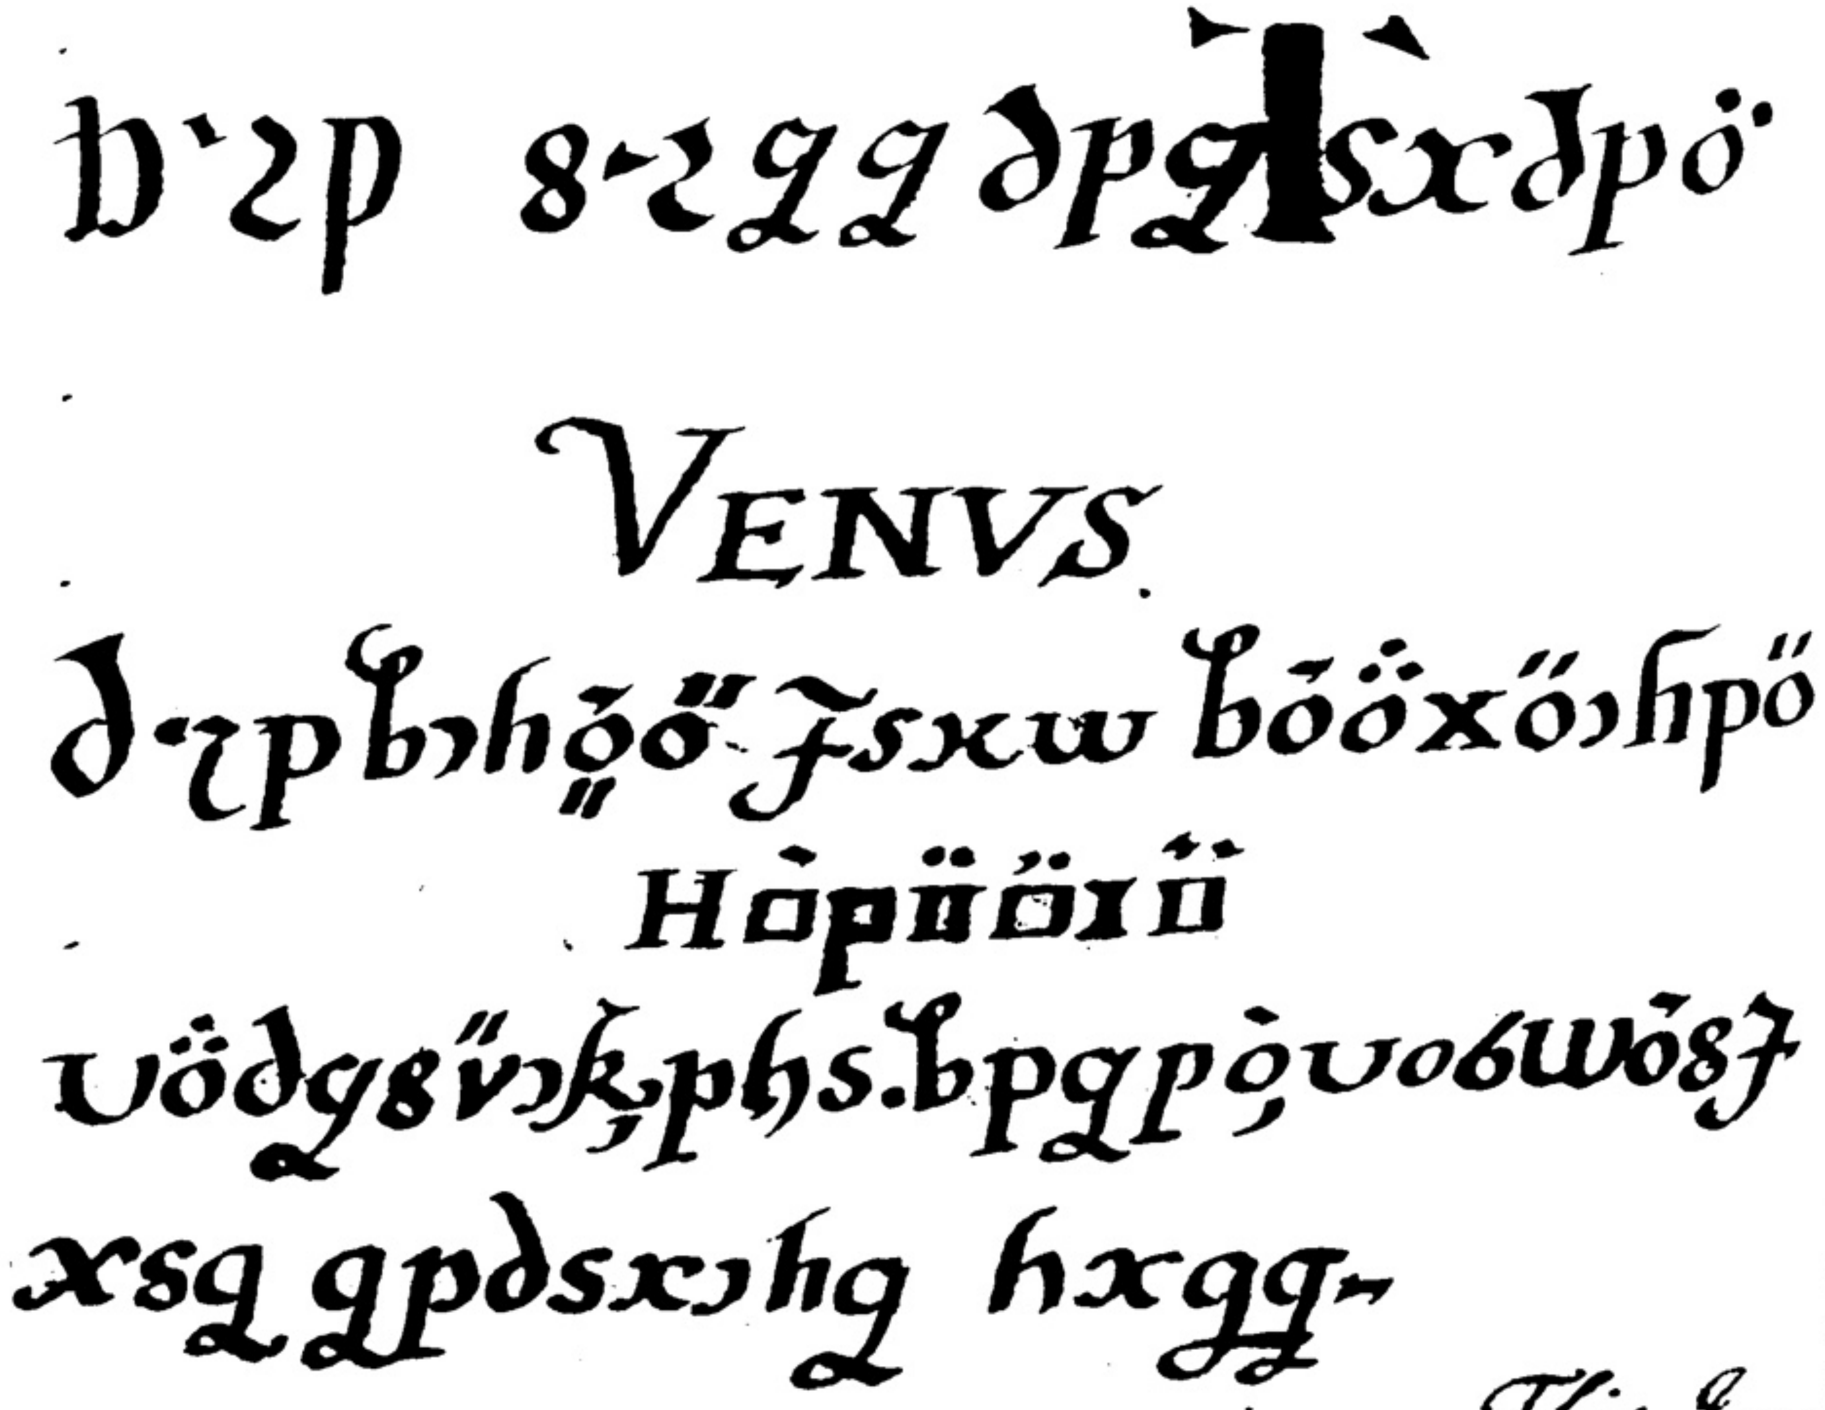
Obambulatio antelucana.

The night was over, and the dear wished for day broken, when hastily I got me out of bed, more desirous to learn what might yet ensue, than that I had sufficiently slept. Now after that I had put on my Cloaths, and according to my custom was gone down the stairs, it was still too early, and [illegible] no body [illegible]om the Hall

Hall, wherefore I intreated my page, to lead me a little about in the Castle; and show me somewhat that was rare; who was now (as always) willing, and presently down certain steps under ground [illegible] a great [illegible] Door on [illegible]ch the following Words in great Copper Letters were fixed.



This I—

This I thus copied, and set down in my Table Book. Now after this Door was opened, the Page led me by the hand through a very dark Passage till we came again to a very little Door, that was now only put too, For (as the Page informed me) it was first opened but yesterday when the Coffins were taken out, and had not been since shut. Now as soon as we stepped in, I espied the most precious thing that Nature ever created: For this Vault had no other light but from certain huge great Carbuncles; And this (as I was informed) was the Kings Treasury.

But the most glorious and principal thing, that I here—here saw, was a Sepulcher (which stood in the middle) so rich that I wondered it was no better guarded whereunto the Page Answered me, That I had good reason to be thankfull to my Planet, by whose influence it was, that I had now seen certain pieces which no humane Eye else (except the King's Family) had ever had a view of.

This Sepulcher was triangular and had in the middle a Kettle of pollished Copper, the rest was of pure Gold and pretious stones; In the Kettle stood an Angel, who [illegible] held in his Arms an unknown Tree; from which it continually dropped into the Kettle and as oft as the Fruit fell into the Kettle it turned into water too, & ran out which stood on an exceeding costly Base. I asked my Page what this might signify: Here, said he, lies buried Lady Venus, that Beauty which hath undone many a great Man, both in Fortune, Honour, Blessing and Prosperity.

Aliud Triclinium.

After which he showed me a Copper Door on the Pavement. Here (said he) if you please, we may go further down; I still follow you (replyed I) so I went down the steps, where it was exceeding dark, but the Page imediately opened a little Chest, wherein stood a small everburning ever burning Taper, at which he kindled one of the many Torches which lay by. I was mightily terrified, and seriously asked how he durst do this? He gave me for an Answer, As long as the Royal Persons are still at rest, I have nothing to fear. Herewith I espied a rich Bed, ready made; hung about with curious Curtains, one of which he drew, where I saw the Lady Venus stark-naked (for he heaved up the Coverlets too) lying there in such Beauty, and a fashion so surprizing that I was almost besides my selfe, neither do I yet know whether it was a piece thus carved, or an humane Corps that lay dead there; for she was altogether imoveable, and yet I durst not touch her. So she was again covered and the Curtain drawn before her, yet she was still (as it were) in my Eye: But I soon espyed behinde the Bed a Tablet, on which it was thus written.

I asked my Page concerning this Writing; but he laughed, with promise that I should again ascended: Then I better viewed all the little Doors, and first found, that on every corner there burned a small Taper of Pyrites, of which before I had taken no notice; for the fire was so clear, that it looked much liker a Stone than a Taper. From this heat the Tree was forced continually to melt, yet it still produced new fruit.

but seeing us both look more like the Dead than the Living, he could not at length refrain from me thither, whome I with trembling answered, that I had lost my way in the Castle, and was by chance come hither, and that the Page likewise had been looking up and down for me, and at last lited upon me here, I hoped he would not take it amiss. Nay then 'tis well enough, yet said Cupid, my old busie Grandsir, but you might lightly have served me a Scurvy me a scurvy trick, had you been aware of this Door. Now I must look better to it, and so he put a strong lock on the Upper Door, where we before descended. I thanked God that he lited upon us no sooner, My Page too was the more jocond, because I had so well helped him at this pinch.

Yet can I not (said Cupid) let it pass unrevenged, that you were so near stumbling upon my Dear Mother; with that he put the point of his Dart into one of the little Tapers, and heating it a little, pricked me with it on the hand, which at that time I little regarded, but was glad that it went so well with us, and that we came off without further danger: Mean time my Companions were gotten out of bed too, & were again returned into the Hall. To whome I also joyned my selfe making as if I were then risen first.

Cupido illudit Autori.

After Cupid had carefully made all fast again, he came likewise to us, and would needs have me shew him my hand, where he still found a little drop of blood, at which he heartily laughed, and bad the rest have a care of me, I would shortly end my days.

mira Cupidinis lætitia.

We all wondered how Cupid could be so merry, and have no sense at all of the yesterdays sad passages.

Præsidissæ vestitus lugubris.

Now our President had in the means time made her self ready for the Journey coming all in black Velvet, yet she still bare her branch of Laurel, her Virgins too had their branches. Now all things being in readiness, the Virgin bid us first drink somewhat; and then presently prepare for the procession; wherefore we made no long tarrying, but followed her out of the Hall into the Court. In the Court stood six Coffins, and my Companions thought no other but that the six Royal Persons lay in them, but I well observed the Device. Yet I knew not what was to be done with these other. by each Coffin were eight muffled men. Now as soon as the Musick Musick went (it was so mournfull & dolesome a Tune, that I was astonished at it) they took up the Coffins, and we (as we were ordered) were fain to go after them into the forementioned Garden, in the midst of which was erected a wooden Edifice; having round about the roof a glorious Crown, and standing upon seven Columns; within it were formed six Sepulchers, and by each of them a stone; but in the middle it had a round hollow rising stone: In these Graves the Coffins were quietly and with many Ceremonies layed: The Stones were shoved over them, and they shut fast. But the little Chest was to lye in the the middle. Herewith were my Companions deceived, for they imagined no other but that the Dead Corps were there: Upon the top of all there was a great Flag, having a Phoenix painted on it, perhaps therewith the more to delude us. Here I had great occasion to thank God that I had seen more then the rest.

Hospites vocantur ad labores pro vita Regum.

Now after the Funerals were done, the Virgin having placed her selfe upon the middle-most Stone, made a short Oration, That we should be constant to our ingagements and not repine at the pains we were hereafter to undergo, but be helpfull in restoring the present buried Royal Persons to Life again, and therefore therefore

therefore without delay to rise up with her, to make a Journey to the Tower of Olympus, to fetch from thence Medicines usefull & necessary for this purpose. This we soon agreed to and followed her through another little door quite to the shore.

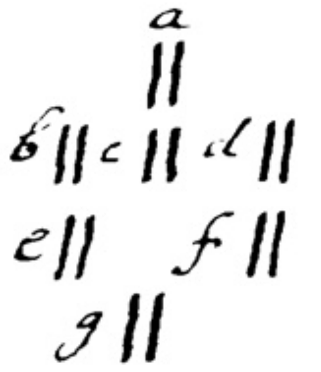
There the seven forementioned Ships stood all empty; on which all the Virgins stuck up their Laurel Branches, and after they had distributed us in the six ships, they caused us in Gods name; thus to begin our Voyage and looked upon us as long as they could have us in sight, after which they with all the watchmen returned into the Castle.

Virgines remanent in arce.

Our ships

ships

Our Ships had each of them a peculiar device. Five of them indeed had the five regular Bodies, each a severall one, but mine in which the Virgin too sate, carried a Globe. Thus we sayled on in a singular order, and each had only two Marriners.



Foremost went the Ship (a) in which as I conceive the Moor lay, in this were twelve Musitians who played excellently well, its device was a Pyramid. Next followed three abreast, b, c, and d, in which we were disposed, I sate in (c.) In the midst behinde these came the two fairest & stateliest Ships, e, and f, stuck about with many many Branches of Laurel, having no Passengers in them; Their Flags were the Sun and Moon. But in the rear only one Ship (g) in this were Forty Virgins 40 Virgines comites.

Now being thus passed over this Lake, we first came through a narrow Arm, into the right Sea, where all the Syrens, Nymphs, and Sea Goddesses had attended us; wherefore they imediately dispatched a Sea Nymph to us to deliver their Present and Offering of Honour to the Wedding. It was a costly, great, set, round, and Orient Pearl; the like to which hath not at any time been seen, either in ours or yet in the New World.

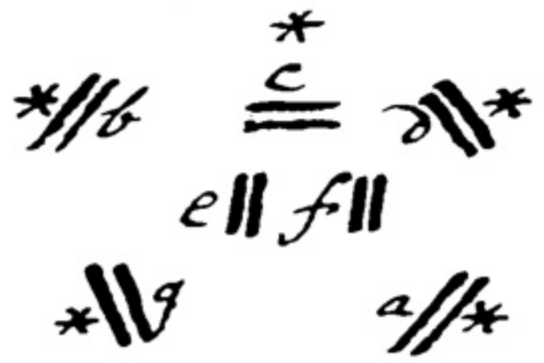
Now

Now the Virgin having friendly received it, the Nymph further intreated that audience might be given to their Divertiſements, and to make a little stand, which the Virgin was content to do, and comãnded the two great Ships to stand into the middle and with the rest to incompaſs them in Pentagon, thus



After which the Nymphs fell into a Ring about them and with a most delicate sweet voice began thus to sing.

Autori perplacent Nymphae: et Cantus.

They having with most admirable concent and melody finished this Song, I no more wondered at Vlisses for stopping the ears of his Companions; for I seemed to my-selfe selfe the most unhappy man alive that Nature had not made me too so trim a Creature. But the Virgin soon dispatched them, and comanded to set Sail from thence; where-fore the Nymphs too after they had been presented with a long red Scarff for a Gratuity; went off, and dispersed themselves in the Sea.

The Nymphs are rewar=ded.

I was at this time sensible, that Cupid began to work with me too, which yet tended but very little to my credit, and for as much as my giddiness will profit none I am resolved to let it rest as it is. This was the very wound I received on the Head in a Dream: and let every one take warning by me of loitering about Venus bed venus Bed, for Cupid can by no means brook it.

After some hours, having in friendly Discourses made a good way, we came within Ken of the Tower of Olympus, wherefore the Virgin comanded by the Discharge of some Pieces to give the Signal of our approach, which was also done; and imediately we espied a great white Flag;

Turris Olympi. thrust out and a small gilded Pinnace sent forth to meet us. Now as soon as this was come to us, we perceived in it a very antient

Custos. man, the Warden of the Tower, with certain Guards cloathed in white of whom we were friendly received, and so conducted to the Tower This Tower was situated upon an Island exactly structura. square, which was invironed with a wall so firm and thick, that I my selfe counted two hundred

Dies. and sixty passes over. On the other side of the Wall was a fine Meadow with certain little Gardens, in which grow strange, and to me unknown, Fruits; and then again an inner wall round about the Tower. The Tower of it selfe was just as if seven round Towers had been built one by another, yet the middle most, was somewhat the higher, and within they all entred one into another, and had seven storys one above another. Being thus come to the Gates of the Tower we were led a little aside on the Wall, that so as I well observed

observed, the Coffins might be brought into the Tower without our taking notice; of this the rest knew nothing. This being done, we were

1. Conclave./ conducted into the Tower at the very bottom, which albeit it were excellently painted, yet we had here little recreation, for this was

Labores hoſpitum } nothing but a Laboratory, where we were fain to beat and wash Plants, and pretious stones, & all sorts of Things, and extract their juice and eſsence, and put up the same in Glaſses, and deliver them to be laid up. And truly our Virgin was so buſie with us, and so full of her Directions, that she knew how to give each of us Employment enough, so that in this

Island we were fain to be meer drudges, till we had atcheived all that was neceſsary for the restoring of the Beheaded Bodies. Mean time (as I afterward understood) three Virgins were in the firſt Apartment washing the Corps with all Diligence. Now having at length almoſt done with this our preparation, nothing

Cibus potus. } more was brought us but some broath with a little draught of wine, whereby I well observed, that we were not here for our pleaſure; for when we had finiſhed our days

Lectus tenuis. } work too, every one had only a Mattreſs laid on the Ground for him, wherewith we were to content our selves./

For my part I was not very much troubled with sleep, and therefore walked out into the Garden and at length came as far as the wall; and because the Heaven was at that time very clear, I could well drive away the time in contemplating the Stars; By chance I came to a great pair of Stone-Stairs, which led up to the top of the Wall. And because the Moon shone very bright, I was so much the more confident, and went up, and looked too a little upon the Sea which was now exceeding calm; and thus having good opportunity, to consider better of Astronomy, I found that this present night there would happen such a Conjunction of the Planets, the like to which was not

was not otherwise suddenly to be observed.

Now having looked a good while into the Sea, and it being just about Midnight as soon as it had struck Twelve, I beheld from far the seven Flames passing over Sea hitherward, and betaking themselves to the top of the Spire of the Tower. This made me somewhat affraid; for as soon as the Flames had setled themselves, the Winds arose; and began to make the Sea very Tempestuous. The Moon also was covered with Clouds, and my Joy ended with such fear, that I had scarce time enough to hit upon the stairs again and betake my selfe again to the Tower.

Now

Now whether the Flames tarried any Longer, or passed away again, I cannot say. For in this obscurity I durst no more venture abroad: So I laid me down upon my Mattress, and there being besides in the Laboratory a pleasant and gently purling Fountain, I fell asleep so much the sooner. And thus this Fifth Day too was concluded with Wonders.

The sixth Day

opiniones.

Next morning, after we had awaked one another, we sate together a while to discourse what Might yet be the Event of things. For some were of opinion that they should all be inlivened again together. Others contradicted it; because the decease of the Antients was not only to restore Life, but increase too to the young ones. Some imagined that they were not put to Death, but that others were beheaded in their stead. We having now talked together a pretty

Custos. a pretty while. in comes the Old man to us, and first Saluting us, looks about him to see if all things were ready, and the Progress enough done. We had herein so behaved our selves that he had

Pyrotechnia hospitum laudatur. no fault to find with our Diligence; whereupon he placed all the Glasses together, and put them in

Pueri armigeri. a case. Presently some certain youths bringing with them some Ladders, Ropes, and large Wings, which they laid down before us and departed. Then the old Man began thus My Dear Sons, one of these three things must each of you this day constantly bear about with him. Now it is free for you either to make a choice of one of them, or to cast Lotts about it. We replyed

we

sors. we would chuse. Nay said he let it rather go by Lot. Hereupon he made three little Schedules, in one he writ Ladder, on the second Rope, on the third Wings; These he laid in an Hat, and each man must draw, and whatever he hapned upon that was to be his. Those who got the Ropes, imagined themselves to be in the best case, but I chanced on a Ladder which hugely afflicted me, for it was twelve foot long, and pretty weighty, and I must be forced to carry it, whereas the others could handsomly coyle their Ropes about them: and as for the Wings, the old man joyned them so neatly on to the third sort, as if they had grown upon them.

Hereupon

Hereupon he turned the Cock, and then the Fountain ran no longer, and we were fain to remove it from the middle out of the way.

After all things were carried off he taking with him the Casket with the Glaſses, took leave, and locked the Door fast after him, so that we imagined no other, but that we had been impriſoned in this Tower.

Aſcenſus in 2. Conclave

But it was hardly a quarter of an hour before a round Hole at the very top was uncovered, where we ſaw our Virgin, who called to us, and bad us Good morrow, deſiring us to come up. They with the Wings were inſtantly above through the Hole. Only they with the Ropes were in evil

evil plight. For as soon as ever one of us was up, he was comanded to draw up the Ladder to him.

Reſtes difficultes

At last each Mans rope was hanged on an Iron Hook, so every one was fain to climb up by his Rope as well as he could which indeed was not compaſsed without Bliſters. Now as soon as we were all well up, the Hole was again covered, and we were friendly received by the Virgin. This Room was the whole breadth of the Tower it selfe, having six very stately Vestries a little raiſed above the Room, and to be entred by the Aſcent of three Steps. In these Vestries we were diſtributed there to pray for the life of the King and Queen, mean while the Virgin went in and out at the little Door (a) till we had done. For as soon as our Proceſs was abſolved there was brought in and placed in the middle through the little Door, by twelve perſons (which were formerly our Muſitians) a wonderfull thing of a longiſh shape, which my Companions took only to be a Fountain. But I well obſerved that the Corps lay in it, for the inner chest was of an ovall Figure, so large that six perſons might well lye in it one by another. After which they again went forth fetched their Instruments, and conducted in our Virgin together with her She Attendants with a most most delicate noiſe of Muſick. The Virgin carried a little Casket, but the rest only Branches and ſmall Lamps, and ſome too lighted Torches. The Torches were imediately given into our Hands, and we were to stand about the Fountain in this Order.

First stood the Virgin (A) with her attendants in a Ring with the Lamps and branches (c) next next stood we with our Torches (b,) then the Muſitians (a) in a long rank, laſt of all the reſt of the Virgins (d.) in another long rank too. Now whence the Virgins came, or whether they dwelt in the Castle, or whether they were brought in by night, I know not virgines unde. for all their Faces were covered with delicate white Linnen, so that I could not know any Quid in arcula. of them. Hereupon the Virgin opened the Caſket in which there was a round thing wrapped up in a peece of green double Taffata. This she layd in the uppermoſt Kettle, and then covered it with the lid, which was full of holes and had beſides a rim, on which she powred powred in some of the Water which we had the day before prepared, whence the Fountain began imēdiately to run, and through four small pipes to drive into the little Kettle; beneath the undermoſt Kettle there were many sharp points, on which the Virgins stuck their Lamps, that so the heat might come to the Kettle, and make the water seeth.

Now the water beginning to simper by many little holes, it fell in upon the Bodies, and was so hot, that it diſsolved them all, and turned them into Liquor. But what the above said round wrapt up thing was, my Companions knew not, but I understood that it was

it was the Moors head, from which the water — conceived so great heat. Round about the great Kettle there were many holes in which they stuck their Branches; now whether this was done of necessity, or only for — Ceremony I know not; However these Branches were continually besprinkled by the Fountain whence it afterwards dropt somewhat of a deeper Yealow into the Kettle. This lasted for near two hours, that the fountain still constantly ran of it selfe; but yet the — longer the fainter it was. Mean time — the Musitians went their way, and we — walked up and down in the Room and — truely

Deliciæ in Conclavi

truely the Room was so made that we had — opportunity enough to passe away ~~the~~ our time: There was for Images, Paintings, Clockworks, Organs, Springing Fountains, and the like — nothing forgotten.

Now it was now the time that the Fountain ceased, and would run no longer: upon which the Virgin comanded a round Golden Globe to be brought. But at the bottom of the Fountain there was a Tap, by which she let out all the matter that was dissolved by those hot drops (whereof certain Quarts were then very red) into the Globe. The rest — of the Water which remained above in the Kettle

Kettle was poured out. And so this Fountain (which was now become much lighter) was again carried forth. Now whether it was opened abroad, or whether any thing of the Bodies that was further useful, yet remained, I dare not certainly say: But this I know that the Water that was emptied into the Globe was much heavier than six, or yet more of us were well able to bear, albeit for its bulk it should have seemed not too heavy for one man.

Now this Globe being with much ado gotten out of Doors, we again sate alone. But I perceived a trampling over head, had an eye to my

to my Ladder. Here one might take notice of the strange opinions my Companions had concerning this Fountain: For they not imagining but that the Bodies lay in the Garden of the Castle, knew not what to make of this kind of working, but I thanked God that I awaked in so opportune a time, & saw that which helped me the better in all the Virgins businesse:

Ascensus in 3. Conclave.

After one quarter of an hour the Cover above was again lifted of and we Comanded to come up, which was done as before with Wings, Ladders, & Ropes. And it did not a little vex me, that whereas the Virgins could could go up another way we were fain to — take so much toil; yet I could well judge — there muſt be some special reaſon in it; and we muſt leave ſomewhat for the old man — to do too. For even thoſe with the Wings — had no advantage by them but when they were to mount through the Hole. Now being — gotten up thither alſo, and the Hole shut — again, I saw the Globe hanging by a ſtrong Chain in the middle of the Room.

Windowes and Looking-Glaſſes were ſo optically the Sun were opened, and the Doors before the Looking-Glaſſes drawn aside) in all quarters of the Room there was nothing but Suns, w^{ch} the desired effect. Here I may well avow that in those Mirrours I have seen the most wonderfull Spectacle that ever Nature brought to light; for there were Suns in all places, & the Globe in the middle shined yet brighter, so that, but for one twinkling of an Eye; we could no more indure it then the Sun it selfe. At length the Virgin comanded to shut up the Looking Glasses again, and to make fast the Windowes, and so let the Globe cool again a little; and this was done about seven of the Clock Wherefore we thought good, since we might now have leasure a little to refresh our selves with a Breakfast; This Treatment again

Prandium Philosophicū

again was right Philosophical, and we had no needs to be afraid of Intemperance, yet we had no want, and the hope of the future Joy (with which the Virgin continually comforted us) made us so jocond that we regarded not any pains or inconveniences. And this I can truely say too concerning my Companions of high quality, that their minds never ran after their Kitchin or Table, but their pleasure was only to attend upon this adventurous Physick, and hence to Contemplate the Creators Wisdom & omnipotency.

After we had taken our Refection, we again setled our selves to work, for the Globe was sufficiently sufficiently cooled; which with toil and labour we-were to lift off the Chain and set upon the Floor.

Now the dispute was how to get the Globe in sunder for we were demanded to divide the same in the Diamond would best do it. Now when we had thus opened the Globe, there was nothing ofredness more to be seen, but a lovely great-Snow white Egg: It most mightily rejoyced us,- that this was so well brought to passe.

For the Virgin was in perpetual care least the round about this Egg as jocond as if we our-too from us again, and (as always) locked the Door too. But what she did abroad with the Egg, or whether it were some way pri= believe it. Yet we were again to pause-together for one quarter of an hour, till the-third hole were opened, and we by means-of our Instruments were come upon the-

In this Room we found a great Copper Kettle-

Now whether the Sand or Egg were hereby-meant, I leave to the Learned to dispute; yet do I my part, and omit nothing undeclared. Our Egg being now ready was taken out; but it needed no cracking, for the Bird that was-

was in it soon freed himselfe and showed himselfe very jocond yet he looked very Bloody and unshapen: We first set him upon the warm sand, so the Virgin cōmanded that before we gave him any thing to eat, we should be sure to make him fast, otherwise he would give us all work enough.

This being done too food was brought him, which surely was nothing else then the Blood of the Beheaded, deluted again with prepared water, by which the Bird grew so fast under our Eyes, that we well saw why the Virgin gave us such warning of him. He bit and scratcht so devillishly about him, that could he have his will upon any of us, he would soon have diſpatched him. Now he was wholly black and wild, whereupon other meat was brought, perhaps the Blood of another of the Royal perſons, whereupon all his black Feathers moulted again, and instead of them there grew out Snow white Feathers. He was somewhat tamer too, and ſuffered himſelfe to be more tractable; neverthelesse we did not yet trust him. At the third feeding his Feathers began to be so curiouſly coloured that in all my Life I never saw the like colours for beauty. He was also exceeding tame, and behaved himself so friendly with us, that (the Virgin conſenting) we releaſed him from his Captivity. 'Tis now reaſon (began our Virgin) since by your dilligence and the old mans conſent, the Bird has attain'd both his life; and the highest Perfection, that he be alſo joyfully conſecrated by us.

Herewith she comanded to bring in Dinner, and that we should again refresh our selves, since the most troublesome part of our Work was now over, and it was fit we should begin to enjoy our paſſed Labours. We began to make our selves merry together. Howbeit we had still all our Mourning Clothes on, which ſeemed somewhat reproachfull to our Mirth.

Now

Now the Virgin was perpetually inquisitive, perhaps to find to which of us her future purpose Primus usus ejus. might prove servicable. But her discourse was for the most part about melting; and it pleased her well when any one seemed expert Μεθοδία. in such compendious Manuals, as do peculiarly comend an Artist. This Dinner lasted not above three quarters of an hour, which we yet for the most part spent with our Bird, whom we were fain constantly to feed with 5 his Meate: But he still continued much at the same growth. After Dinner we were not long suffered to ~~dig~~ digest our meat; but after that the Virgin together with the Bird was

~~[illegible]~~ set open to us, whither we got to after the former manner and tendred our services.

Avis balneum. In this Room a Bath was prepared for our Bird, which was so coloured with a fine white Powder, that it had the appearance of meer milk. Now it was at first cool when the Bird was set into it: He was mighty well pleased with it, drinking of it, and pleasantly sporting in it. But after it began to heat by reason of the Lamps that were placed under it, we had enough to do to keep him in the Bath. We therefore clapt a Cover on the Kettle
and

and suffered him to thrust his head out through a Hole, till he had in this sort lost all his ffeathers in this Bath, and was as smooth as a new born Child, yet the heat did him no further harm, at which I much marvelled; ffor in this Bath the ffeathers were quite consumed, and the Bath was thereby tinged into blew; at length we gave the Bird air, who of himselfe sprung out of the Kettle and was so glitteringly smooth, that it was a pleasure to behold it: But because he was still somewhat wild, we vincitur. were fain to put a Coller with a Chain about his Neck & led him up & down the Room. Mean time a strong ffire was made under the Kettle.

~~Avis~~ Balneum coquitur in lapidem } Kettle, and the ~~Bird~~ Bath sodden away till it all came to a blew Stone, which we took out, and having first pounded it, we were afterwards fain to grind it on a Stone; and finally with this Colour to paint the Birds whole Skin over: Now he lookt much more strangely, for he was all blew except the Head which remained white. Herewith our Work on this Story too was performed; And we (after the Virgin with her blew Bird was departed from us) were called described, was placed. Upon which stood the six forementioned particulars, and he himselfe (the Bird) made the seventh.

6. Conclave / up through the Hole to the sixth Story; which was done too, there we were mightily troubled, for in the midst a little Altar, every way like that in the Kings Hall above described.

First of all the little ffountain was set before him, out of which he drunk a good draught; afterwards he pecked upon the white Serpent untill she bled mightily. This Blood we were to receive into a Golden Cup and pour it down the Birds throat, who was mighty averse from it, then we dipt the Serpents head in the Fountain, upon which she again revived and crept into her Deaths head, so that I saw her no more for a long time after. Mean time the Sphere turned constantly on until until it made the desired Conjunction.

Immediately the Watch struck one; upon which there was a going another Conjunction. Then the Watch struck two. Finaly while we were observing the third Conjunction, and the same was Indicated by the Watch, the poor Bird of himselfe submissively laid down his Neck upon the Book, and willingly suffred his head (by one of us thereto chosen by Lot) to be smitten off. How be it he yielded not one drop of blood, till he was opened on the breast, & then the Blood spun out so fresh and clear as if it had been a Fountain of Rubies.

Avis decollatur.?

His Death went to the heart of us, and yet we might might well judge, that a naked bird would stand us in little stead. So we let it rest, and removed the little Altar away, and assisted the Virgin to burn the Body (together with the little Tablet hanging by) to Ashes, with fire kindled at the little Taper; afterwards to cleanse the same several times, and to lay them in a Box of Cypress wood.

Jocus. 1 Here, I cannot conceale what a trick I and three more were served; after we had thus diligently taken up the Ashes. The Virgin began to speake thus. My Lords, we are here in the sixth Room, and have only one more before us, in which our trouble will be at an end, and then we shall shall returne home again to our Castle, to awaken our most gracious Lords and Ladies. Now albeit I could heartily wish, that all of you, as you are here together, had behaved your selves in such sort, that I might have given you Comendations to our most renowned King and Queen, and you have obtained a suitable Reward; yet because, contrary to my desire, I have found amongst you these four (here with she pointed at me & three more) lazy and sluggish Labourators, and yet according to my good will to all and every one, am not willing to deliver them up to condign punishment; However that such negligence may may not remain wholly unpunished, I am purposed thus concerning them that they shall only be excluded from the future Seventh and most Glorious action of all the rest, and so too they shall incur no further blame from their Royal Majesties.

In what a case we now were at this speech, I leave others to consider: ffor the Virgin so well know how to keep her Countenance; that the Water soon ran over our Baskets, and we esteemed our Selves the most unhappy of all men.

After this the Virgin by one of her Maids (whereof there were many always at hand) caused caused the Musitians to be fetcht, who were with Cornets to blow us out of Doors with such scorn and derision that they themselves could hardly sound for laughing. But ~~a~~ it did particularly mightily afflict us, that ye Virgin so vehemently laughed at our weeping, anger and impatience, and that there might well perhaps be some amongst our Companions who were glad of this our misfortune. But it proved otherwise.

Comodum e joco.

For as soon as we were come out at of the door, the Musitians bid us be of good cheer and follow them up the winding stairs;

They led us up to the seventh Floor under whom we had not hitherto seen standing upon a and heartily congratulated us, that we were understood the affright we had conceived, his belly was ready to burst with Laughter, that we had taken such good Fortune so hainously.

Hence said he, my Dear Sons learn, That man never knoweth how well God intendeth him. During this Discourse, the Virgin also with her little Box came running in, who (after she had sufficiently laughed at us) emptied her Ashes out into another Vessel, and hers again with other matter, saying she must now go to cast a mist before the other Artists Eyes, that we in the mean time should obey the old Lord in whatsoever he comanded us, and not remit our former diligence.

7. Conclave.

Herewith she departed from us into the seventh Room whither she called our Companions.
Now what she first did with them there, I cannot tell, for they were not only most earnestly forbidden to speak of it, but we too by reason of our business, durst not peep on them through the Cieling. But this was our work.

we were to moisten the Ashes with our fore-prepared water till they became altogether like a very thin Dough. After which we set the matter over the Fire, till it was well heated then we cast it thus hot as it was into two little forms or moulds, and so let it cool a little (here we had leasure to look a while upon our Companions through certain Crevises made in the floor) they were now very busie at a Furnace; and each was himselfe fain to blow up the Fire with a Pipe, and they stood thus blowing about it, as if they were ready to loose their breath. Howbeit they imagined they were herein wondrously preferred before us. And this blowing lasted so long till our old Man roused us to our work again; So that I cannot say what was done afterwards

We having opened our little forms, there appeared two beautifull bright and almost Transparent little Images, the like to which mans eye never saw, a Male and a Female, each of them only four inches long; and that which most mightily surprised me, was that they were not hard but limber and fleshy, as other humane bodies, yet had they no Life: So that I do most assuredly believe that the Lady Venus's Image was also made after some such way.

Homunculi duo.

These Angelically fair Babes we first laid laid upon two little Sattin Cuſhonets, and beheld them a good while till we were almoſt — beſotted upon so exquiſite an object.

Pascuntur sanguine avis —

The old Lord warned us to forbear, & continually to inſtill the Blood of the Bird (which had been received into a little Golden Cup) drop after drop into the mouths of the little — Images, from whence they apparently to the eye encreaſed; and whereas they were before very small, they were now (according to proportion) much more beautifull; so that worthily all Limners ought to have been there, and have been ashamed of their Art in — respect of these productions of Nature.

Now they began to grow so big, that we — lifted them from the little Cuſhonets, and were fain to lay them upon a long Table — which was covered with white velvet. The old man also comanded us to cover them — over up to the Breast with a fine white us; but that I may be brief, before we had — in this manner quite spent the blood they were already in their perfect full growth, they had Gold-yellow curled Hair, and the above mentioned figure of Venus was — nothing to them. But there was not yet —

any —

any natural warmth or sensibility in them, they were dead Figures, yet of a lively and natural Colour: and since care was to be taken that they grew not too great, the old man would not permit any thing more to be given them, but quite covered their Faces too with the silk, and caused the Table to be stuck round about with Torches. But here I would not have you imagine that these Lights were of necessity, for the old mans intent hereby was only that we should not animatum/ observe when the Soul entered into them, as indeed we should not have taken notice of it, in case I had not twice before seen the flames.

Flames; However, I ~~bet~~ permitted the other three to remain in their belief, neither did the old man know that I had seen any thing more. Hereupon he bid us sit down on a Bench over against the Table: presently the Virgin came in too with vestiuntur/ the Musick and all furniture & carried two curious white Garments, the like to which I had never seen in the Castle neither can I describe them, for I thought no other but that they were meer Christall, but they were gentle and not transparent so that I cannot speak of them. These she laid down upon a Table and after she had

Legerdemain tricks about the Table, which was of the Lights at top, and uncovered their Faces, he placed one of the Trumpets upon the mouth of one of the Bodies in ſuch manner that the upper and wider part of it was directed juſt againſt the forementioned looked upon the Images; but I had other thoughts; For as soon as the foliage or was kindled I saw the hole at top open, & the Tube, & paſſing into the Body: wherewith this Device my Companions were deluded, so that they imagined that life came into the Image by means of the fire of the foliage, for as soon as he received the Soul he twinckled with his eyes, howbeit he scarce stirred. The second time he placed another Tube upon its Mouth, and kindled it again, and the Soul was let down through the Tube. This was repeated upon each of them three times, after which all the Lights were exſtinguiſhed and carried away. The Velvet Carpets of the Table were caſt together over them, and imediately a travilling Bed was unlocked and made ready, into which thus wrapped up they were born, and so after the Carpets were taken off them, they were neatly laid by each other, where with the Curtains drawn before them they slept a good while. (Now was it alſo time for the Virgin to see how our other Artists behaved themselves, they were well pleased, becauſe (as the Virgin afterwards informed me) they were to work in Gold, which is indeed a piece alſo of this Art but not the most Principal, most neceſsary and beſt: They had indeed too a part of those Aſhes, so that they imagined no-no other, but that the whole Bird was provided for the sake of Gold, and that Life must thereby be restored to the deceased) during which we sate very still, attending when our married Couple would awake, thus about half an hour was spent. For then the wanton Cupid presented himself again, and after he had saluted us all, flew to them behind the Curtain, tormenting them so long till they awaked. This hapned to them with very great amazement for they imagined no other but that they had hitherto slept from the very hour in which they were beheaded. one with another stepped aside a little, & permitted them both somewhat better to recruit themselves, mean time playing his tricks with us; and at length he would needs have the Musick fetcht to be somewhat the merrier. Not long after the Virgin herselfe comes: And after she had most humbly saluted the young King, and Queen (who found themselves somewhat faint) and kissed their hands, she brought them the two forementioned Garments, which they put on and so stepped forth.

by certain stately Ships; Thus in four Hours time they had made many Leagues out at Sea.

After five of the clock the Muſitians were charged to carry all things back again to the Ships, and to make themselves ready for the voyage. But becauſe this was somewhat been planted in the wall, so that we had taken no notice of any of them, whereby I obſerved that this Tower was well provided against opposition

Now these Soldiers made quick work with our stuffe, so that no more remained further to be done but to go to Supper.

Now the Table being compleatly furnished, the Virgin brings us again to our Companions where we were to carry our selves, as if we had truely been in a Lamentable condition, and forbear laughing. But they were always smiling one upon another, howbeit some of them too simpathized with us. At this Supper the old Lord was with us too, who was a most sharp Inspector over us: For none could propound any thing so discreetly, but that he knew, how either to confute it, or amend it, or at least to give some good document upon it.

I learned most by this Lord, and it were very good that each one would apply himselfe to him, and take notice of his procedure, for then things would not so often and so untowardly miscarry.

The old Mans
Closets.

After we had taken our Nocturnal refection, the old Lord led us into his Closets of Rarities, which were here and there dispersed amongst the Bulwarks, where we saw such wonderfull productions of Nature, and other things too which Mans wit in imitation of nature had invented, that we needed a Year more sufficiently to survey them: Thus we spent a good part of the Night by Candle-Light. At last, because we were more inclined to sleep then see many Rarities we we were more inclined to sleep than see many rarities, we were lodged in Rooms in the Wall where we had not only coſtly good Beds, but alſo besides extraordinary handſom Chambers, which made us the more wonder why we were the Day before forced to undergo so many hardſhips. In this Chamber I had good rest, and being for the moſt part without care, and weary with continual Labour, the gentle ruſhing of the Sea helping me to ſound and ſweet sleep, For I continued in one Dream from 11 of yᵉ clock ~~at night~~ till 8 in the Morning.

The seventh Day

After eight of the clock I awaked, and quickly made my ſelfe ready, being desirous to returne again into the Tower, but the dark paſſages in the Wall were so many, & various, that I wandred a good while before I could find the way out. The same happned to the rest too, till at laſt we all met again in the nethermoſt Vault, and Habits entirely yellow were given us, together with golden Fleeces. At that time the Virgin declared to us that we were Knights of the Golden Stone, of which of which we were before ignorant.

After we had now thus made our selves ready, and taken our Breakfast, the old man presented each of us with a Medal of Gold, on the one side stood these words.

On the other side these,

Exhorting us moreover that we should enterprise nothing beyond and against this token of remembrance. Herewith we went forth to Sea, where our Ships lay so richly equipped, that it was not well possible that such brave things must first have been brought thither. The ~~[illegible]~~ Ships were twelve in Number, six of ours, and six of the old Lords, who caused his Ships to be freighted with well appointed Soldiers. But he betook himself, to us, into our Ship, where we all were together; In the first the Musitians seated themselves, of which the old Lord had also a great Number, they sailed before us to shorten the time. Our Flags were the twelve Celestial Signs, and we sate in Libra; besides other things our Ship had also a noble and curious Clock, which shewed us all the Minutes. The Sea too was so calm, that it was a singular pleasure to sail.

But that which surpaſſed all the rest was the old Mans diſcourſe, who so well knew how to paſſe away our time with wonderfull Histories, that I could have been content to sail with him all my Life long.

Obviatio ex arce.

Mean time the Ships paſſed on amain, for before we had sailed two hours the Mariner told us that he already saw the whole Lake almoſt covered with Ships, by which we could conjecture they were come out to meet us, which alſo proved true: For as soon, as we were gotten out of the Sea into the by the River, there preſently stood into us five hundred Ships one of which sparkled with with more Gold and pretious stones, in which sate the King and Queen, together with other Lords, Ladies, and Virgins of high Birth. As soon as they were well in Ken of us the peeces were diſcharged on both sides, and there was such a din of Trumpets, Shalms and Kettle Drums, that all the Ships upon the Sea capered again. Finally, as soon as we came near they brought about our Ships together, and ſo made a stand, imediately the old Atlas stepped forth on the Kings behalfe, making a short, but handſom oration, wherein he welcomed us and demanded whether the Royall Preſents were were in readiness. The rest of my Companions were in an huge amazement, whence this King should arise for they imagined no other but that they must again awaken him. We suffered them to continue in their wonderment, and carried our selves as if it seemed strange to us too.

Atlanti respondet Senex.

After Atlas's oration out steps our old man, making somewhat a larger Reply, wherein he wished the King and Queen all happiness and increase, after which he delivered up a curious small Casket, but what was in it, I know not; only it was committed to Cupid who hovered between them both to Keep.

Keep. After the Oration was finished, they again let off a joyfull volle of shot, and so we sailed on a good time together, till at length we arrived at another Shore. This was near the first Gate at which I first entered: At this place again there attended a great Multitude of the Kings Family together with some hundreds of Horses.

Now as soon as we were come to shore, and disembarqued, the King and Queen presented their hands to all of us one with another with singular Kindness; and so we were to get up on Horse-back.

I would desire that you would not interpret the following Narration to any vain glory or pride of mine but to credit me thus far, that if there had not been a special necessity in it, I could very well have utterly concealed this honour which was shewed me.

Honor delatus Autori cum Seni equitat juxta Regem.

We were all one after another distributed amongst the Lords. But our old Lord and I most unworthy, were to ride even with the King, each of us bearing a snow white Ensign with a Red Cross: I indeed was made use of because of my Age; for we both had long grey Beards, and hair. I had besides fastned my tokens round about about my Hat of which the young King soon took notice; and demanded if I were he, who could at the Gate redeem these tokens? I answered in most humble manner, Yea. but he laughed on me, saying, There henceforth needed no Ceremony; I was HIS Father.

Pater.

Tesseras solvit Sale et aqua.

Then he asked me, Wherewith I had redeemed them? I Replied, with Water and Salt: Whereupon he wondered who had made me so wise; upon which I grew somewhat more confident, and recounted unto him how it had happened to me with my Bread, the Dove, and the Raven, and he was pleased with it, and said expressly, That it must needs be, that

that

that God had herein vouchsafed me a singular happiness. Herewith we came to the first Gate where the Porter with the blew Cloaths waited, who bare in his hand a Supplication. Now as soon as he spied me even with the King he delivered me the Supplication, most humbly beseeching me to mention his Ingenuity towards me before the King: Now in the first place I demanded of the King, what the Condition of this Porter was? who friendly answered me, That he was a very famous and rare Astrologer, and always in high regard with the Lord his Father. But having on a time comitted a fault against Venus, and behold her in her bed of rest of rest; this punishment was therefore imposed upon him, that he should so long wait at the first Gate, till some one should release him from thence. I replied, may he then be Released? Yes, said the King, if any one can be found that hath as highly transgressed as himselfe, he must stand in his stead, and the other shall be free.

Primus Custos quis? Ob visam Venerem factus Portitor.

This word went to my heart, for my Conscience convinced me that I was the offender, yet I held my peace, and herewith delivered the Supplication. As soon as he had read it, he was mightily terrified, so that the Queen who (with our Virgins, and that other Queen besides

Autor ejusdem delicti reus proditur a portitore besides, (of whom I made mention at the hanging of the Weights) rid just behind us observed it, and therefore asked him, what this Letter might signify. But he had no mind that he should take notice of it, but putting up the paper, began to discourse of other matters, till thus in about three hours time we came quite to the Castle; where we alighted, and waited upon the King into his forementioned Hall. Imediately the King called for the old Atlas to come to him in a little Closset, and showed him the Writing, who made no long tarying but rid out again to the Porter to take better cognisance of of the matter. After which the young King with his Spouse, and other Lords, Ladies and Virgins sate down.

Virgo Lucifera ?

Then began our Virgin highly to comend the diligence we had used, and the pains and labour we had undergone, requesting we might be Royaly rewarded, and that she henceforward might be permitted to enjoy the benefit of her Comission. Then the old Lord stood up too and attested that all that the Virgin had spoken was true, and that it was but equity that we should on both parts be contented. Hereupon we were to step out a little; and it was concluded concluded that each man should make some possible wish, and accordingly obtain it; for it was not to be doubted, but that those of understanding would also make the best wish: So we were to consider of it till after Supper. Mean time the King and Queen for recreation sake; began to fall to play together. It looked not unlike Chess, only it had other Laws; for it was the Vertues and vices one against another, where it might ingeniously be observed with with what plots the Vices lay in wait for the Vertues, and how to reencounter them again.

Ludus Regis cum Regina.

This was so properly and artificially performed, that it were to be wished, that we had the like game too.

Artificio.

During

During the game, in comes Atlas again, and makes his report in private, yet I blushed all over, for my Conscience gave me no rest; After which the King presented me the supplication to read, the Contents whereof were much to this purpose.

Supplicatio Janitoris tradita Autori.

First he wished the King prosperity, and increase; that his seed might be spread abroad far and wide: Afterwards he remonstrated that the time was now accomplished wherein according to the Royal promise he ought to be Released. Because Venus was already uncovered by one of his Guests, for his Observations could not lie to him And that if his Majesty would please to make a strict and diligent enquiry, he would find that find that she had been uncovered, and in case this should not prove so to be, he would be content to remain before the Gate all days of his life. Then he sued in the moſt humble manner, that upon peril of Body and Life he might be permitted to be present at this Nights supper, he was in good hopes to spye out the very Offendor, and obtain his wiſhed freedom.

This was expreſsly and handſomly indicted, by which I could well perceive his Ingenuity, but it was too sharp for me, and I could well have endured never to have seen it.

Now I was casting in my mind whether he might perchance be helped through my wish, so I aſked

aſked the King, whether he might not be releaſed some other way? No, replied the King becauſe there is a special consideration in the buſineſs. However, for this Night, we may well gratify him in his desire; so he sent one forth to fetch him in. Mean time the Tables were prepared in a spatious Room, in which we had never been before; which was so compleat, and in such manner contrived, that it is not poſſible for me only to begin to describe it. Into this we were conducted with singular Pomp, and Ceremony. Cupid was not at this time present. For (as I was informed) the Diſgrace which had happened to his Mother, had ſome what angred him. In brief, my offence, and the Supplication which was delivered were an occasion of much sadness, for the King was in perplexity how to make Inquisition amongst his Guests, — and the more because thus even they too, who were yet ignorant of the matter, would come to the knowledge of it. So he caused the Porter — himselfe, who was already come, to make his — strict survey, and showed himself as pleasant as — he was able: Howbeit at length they began — again to be merry, and to bespeak one another — with all sorts of recreative and profitable discourses.

But all exceeded more in Art, then that we were — overcharged with drinking. And this was the — last, and noblest Meal at which I was present. After the Banquet, the Tables were suddenly taken away, and certain curious Chairs placed round about in circle; in which we together with the King and Queen, both their old Men, the Ladies and Virgins were to sit. II. That you will Abominate all Whoredome, — Incontinency and Uncleaneſs, and not defile your Order with such vices.

III. That you through your Talents will be ready to aſsist all that are worthy, and have need of them.

IV. That you desire not to employ this — Honour to worldly Pride, and high Authority.

V. That you shall not be willing to live longer then God will have you.

At this last Article we could not chooſe — but laugh sufficiently, and it may well have been placed after the rest, only for a conceit.

Ritual Invocation and Early Modern Science: the Skrying Experiments of Humphrey Gilbert

Frank Klaassen

Early in 1568 Humphrey Gilbert (1537-1583) returned to his family estate in Devon from military campaigns in Ireland where he had distinguished himself with his brutality. It was probably something of a turning point in his life. In the next few years he would put before Elizabeth I his proposal for a new academy and begin in earnest his preparations for seeking the Northwest Passage. A seventeen-year-old protégé of the Gilberts, John Davis (1550-1605), joined him. Under the guidance of the Gilbert household (including Humphrey's younger step-brother Walter Raleigh), Davis was about to embark on a path that would lead him to become one of the great navigators of his age and namesake for the Davis Strait in the Canadian North. Also present was Adrian Gilbert, Humphrey's younger brother and Davis' lifelong associate. They came together one day in February and, employing a show stone and crystals, conjured demons and sought the assistance of angels and the dead. Humphrey, the 'master,' read the prayers requesting aid from the divine, conjured the demons, and directed the operations. A variety of visions appeared in the stones, which Davis, as skryer, reported and which they recorded in detail. Some of what the spirits told him suggest he was seeking information about his own future, but his principal goal was to seek information about performing magic from creation's greatest magicians. To this end, he conjured and bound Azazel, the demon in charge of spirits of the dead, and forced him to bring them Adam, Job, Solomon, Roger Bacon, and Cornelius Agrippa. The great magi appeared and consented to help, their numbers supplemented by the un-asked-for appearances of St Luke and John the Baptist.

Humphrey Gilbert and John Davis were certainly colorful characters: enterprising, audacious, single-minded, and self-promoting men whose violent and dramatic deaths – Davis at the hands of pirates off the coast of Borneo and Gilbert off the Azores in the wreck of a ship he had been advised to leave – were apt conclusions to lives of inveterate risk taking. But one would have no reason to suspect they had such involved interests in ritual magic in the absence of a record of their activities in the British Library manuscript I discuss here and a few circumstantial clues, such as their association with John Dee and his skryers. If foolhardy and opportunistic, they were of sound mind and built significant careers in the complex world of Elizabethan politics and business. Naturally, such a situation needs no defense or explanation; a belief in the efficacy of ritual magic could hardly be considered unusual in the mid sixteenth century nor its practice sociopathic. On another level, however, their interest in ritual magic appears more puzzling.

If Gilbert and Davis do not deserve places in traditional histories of science, which tend to emphasize great discoveries, they certainly merit inclusion in more recent studies of the broader social and intellectual context in which modern science was born.[1]

[1] This shift in orientation is very widespread so I can cite only small fraction of the literature salient to the present discussion. The social organization of science has been the subject of numerous studies. See James E. McClellan III, Science Reorganized: Scientific Societies in the Eighteenth Century (New York: Columbia University Press, 1985). Michael Hunter, Establishing the New Science: The Experience of the Early Royal Society (Woodbridge: Boydell Press, 1989). The social uses and construction of science or scientific truth have been examined in a variety of ways Steven Shapin has argued that since it was rarely possible to verify experimental results their presentation had to draw upon social constructs of honour and dependability. Steven Shapin, A Social History of Truth: Civility and Science in Seventeenth-Century England (Chicago: University of Chicago Press, 1994). Eric Ash discusses the development of the role of the 'Expert Mediator' in the sixteenth century and how it laid the groundwork for Bacon's conception of himself and of the role of the experimental scientist. Eric H. Ash, Power, Knowledge, and Expertise in Elizabethan England (Baltimore: Johns Hopkins University Press, 2004). Anthony Grafton and others have discussed the context and influence of humanism. Anthony Grafton and Nancy G. Siraisi, Natural Particulars: Nature and the Disciplines in Renaissance Europe, Dibner Institute Studies in the History of Science and Technology (Cambridge, Mass.: MIT Press, 1999). Numerous studies have concerned themselves with the ways in which experience was valorized, understood, and warranted. See for example,

They built careers for themselves by promoting the investigation of the natural world as useful and as an important element in state building. Through his abilities, technical innovations, and publication in the area of navigation, John Davis would come to be what Eric Ash has called an expert mediator, synthesizing practical and experientially derived knowledge with theoretical approaches.[2] Gilbert's proposal for a new academy in London reveals his approach to learning, inquiry, and experimentation as almost Baconian. In addition to being practical, skeptical, anti-scholastic, experimental in orientation, and hostile to esoteric language, he also advocates breaking down traditional boundaries among professions and between theory and practice, seeking a fruitful engagement between those theoretically included and those of a more practical bent. Following most accounts of the period one would expect those with such 'proto-scientific' interests to be attracted to the sort of magical literature concerned with natural causation, the structure of the natural world, and the mathematization of reality. Yet the standard fare of natural magic, astrological image magic, 'astral magic', secrets, magical recipes and experiments, or discourses on natural magic, seem to have been of little personal interest to Gilbert and Davis.[3] Instead they chose medieval ritual magic, particularly necromancy, a tradition regarded by most historians as a disappearing, superstitious, and utterly unscientific remnant of the middle ages.[4] This leads to two possible conclusions. Either their interest in this sort of magic was unusual, atavistic, or simply discontinuous with their scientific dispositions – a perfectly reasonable conclusion – or ritual magic was not as outmoded and irrelevant to the history of science as we have thought.

[3] Adrian Gilbert was certainly an active alchemist, but this was arguably not magic at all and, in any event, there is no evidence that Humphrey or Davis shared this interest. The common interest in alchemy and ritual magic evident in a considerable number of sixteenth- and seventeenth-century scribes and manuscript collectors, as well as well known figures like Adrian Gilbert, John Dee, and Simon Foreman, was not common before 1500. I plan to explore the significance of this change in a future article.

It will come as no surprise to readers of this collection that I wish to explore the latter possibility. Gilbert's proposal for a new academy epitomizes many of the ideas regarded as seminal to the scientific revolution. A closer comparison of his proposal with his magical operations and the traditions from which they drew reveals numerous ways in which medieval ritual magic and the intellectual culture which surrounded it conform to the intellectual predispositions and epistemological assumptions of the early scientific revolution. In fact, such strong commonalities may be found between them that this sort of magic should be regarded as quite a natural choice the sixteenth-century man of science. In turn, this should lead us to re-evaluate our assumptions both about sixteenth-century magic and science, but about the notions of magic and science in general.

Humphrey Gilbert's Operations and Medieval Ritual Magic

[4] Charles Webster epitomizes this view, arguing that "popular operative magic" or "magic as the performance of rituals aimed at controlling forces held responsible for the succession of events, slowly fell into abeyance among the intellectual elite but that the idea that "the magus might unlock the potential of occult qualities through exploiting natural magic" or in this way "gain spiritual ascendancy by transcending the limitations of the human frame." His subsequent discussion focuses almost entirely on the relationship between natural magic and medicine. Charles Webster, From Paracelsus to Newton: Magic and the Making of Modern Science (Cambridge: Cambridge University Press, 1982)., 11. A similar perspective is expressed by John Henry. "Magic is not a monolithic subject and it is important to stress that major aspects of the history of magic seem to play no role in the rise of modern science, for example, demonic magic, chiromancy, and cabala. The crucial aspects of the magical tradition for the historian of science were those encompassed by the term Natural Magic which embraced all those arts which relied upon natural lore; for example, astrology and alchemy...." John Henry, "Magic and Science in the Sixteenth and Seventeenth Century," in Companion to the History of Modern Science, ed. Robert C. Olby (London: Routledge, 1990), 583-96. This perspective is reflected in most general considerations of the subject. See the general bibliographic essay of Steven Shapin in Steven Shapin, The Scientific Revolution (Chicago, IL: University of Chicago Press, 1996), 195-200.

The operations I have described are recorded in two related manuscripts bound together in a volume with a variety of other magical works, London, British Library, MS Additional 36674.[5] The first contains a work of necromantic magic and the second a record of the visions attained through its operations, or ones very similar to them. The latter identifies the skryer as John Davis and the master as 'H. G.' Paleographic and circumstantial evidence make clear that the text was a joint effort of Adrian and Humphrey Gilbert, that the first text was probably written by Adrian, and that the second was probably a draft prepared by a secretary based on notes taken during the operations.[6] They began recording visions on February 24 and continued into April. The magical instructions, begun on March 22, were evidently written contemporaneously with the operations. Great similarity to medieval traditions (discussed in more detail below) suggest they probably had one or more necromantic manuscripts at their disposal which they employed as the basis for their operations. They also incorporated prayers and techniques derived from the visions.[7] How much the original text or texts may have been edited is unclear but it seems quite possible that the absence of obviously Catholic elements was due to their editorial efforts.

The sources, techniques, goals, and language of these operations are in almost every respect medieval and most of the differences resulted from relatively superficial revisions by their Protestant and secular scribes. After carefully noting that the work was begun at 8 a.m, the Sun in Aries, the text lists a short set of rules for operation including wearing clean clothes, keeping promises, being good to the poor 'where he seeth need.'

[5] The two sections themselves occur at ff. 47r-57v and 58r-62v.

[6] For more detail about the manuscript see the Appendix to this article.

and avoidance of swearing and drunken company.[8] Such rules commonly occur in the early folios of ritual magic works. The Practica nigromanciae attributed to Roger Bacon specifies clean clothing among the rules and the Liber juratus gives a strong emphasis to keeping good company.[9] Almsgiving is an instruction found in the Ars notoria's Opus Operum and in John of Morigny's work. Medieval ritual texts uniformly emphasize good behavior and moral purity, something which could be assured by seeking confession prior to operation.[10] They give greater emphasis to sexual purity as inherently powerful, something attributable to Catholic traditions in general, but particularly to emphasis on chastity or sexual self-control in the clerical and university settings where this magic was commonly practiced.[11] It seems likely that a Protestant scribe (possibly the Gilberts themselves) removed these more stringent requirements and that the relaxed rules reflect conceptions of sexuality and marriage in Protestant thought and/or the decidedly secular milieu in which the many sixteenth-century magicians (and certainly Gilbert and Davis) moved. As I discuss in detail below, the acquisition of information, learning, or wisdom was a fundamental goal of medieval ritual magic, even necromancy.[12]

[8] First it is good arte allwayes for the master that must beginn this arte, to leave swearinge, and all drounkenn company, yf he do know themm. He must allway goe very cleane appariled that must worke in this art. He must allway keepe his promyses, yf he make any, and not breake them. He must be good to the poore where he seeth neede. He must allway keepe his Skrier in cleane apparrel. This is the beginninge to bringe them to arte. The master must also haue 1 or 2 good bookes to call by, as after you shall here fyende. f. 47v.

[9] For the Practica nigromanciae see London, London Society of Antiquaries, MS 39, f. 15v-.17v. For the rules governing the Liber juratus, see Liber juratus I.20-29 (p. 61). The rules also seem to echo those listed in another work in the same codex. "Yf you be wyllynge to work, yt ys requyred that you abstayne from all thinges vnlawfull, as from swearynge, from glotonye, and all other naughty deades; which is requyred for the space of nyne daies before thy workynge..." London, British Library, Additional 36674, f. 14v.

[10] Oxford, Bodleian Library, Rawlinson D. 252, f. 49v, for example, gives a prayer for confession.

[12] The most common form of deriving learning or wisdom was the Ars notoria discussed at length in this volume. The conjuring manual edited and analysed by Richard Kieckhefer also contains a necromantic analogue to the Ars notoria in which demons are invoked rather than angels. See Kieckhefer, Forbidden Rites, 193-96; CLM 849, ff. 3r-5v. A sixteenth century necromantic collection also contains prayers from the Solomonic Ars notoria. See London, British Library, Sloane 3853, ff. 159v-74v.

The ritual procedures described in the instructions and recorded as having been performed by them in the vision accounts are similarly drawn directly from medieval ritual magic. As was the usual practice in necromantic works, the operators employ a combination of angelic and demonic magic, and assume that, while they can command demons, they may only request the aid of God, the angels, and the dead.[13] They work for the most part during the day and are attentive to the hours and the general astrological conditions.[14] They employ crystals or other reflecting surfaces for skrying and endeavor both to trap demons in crystals and also to provide crystals for good spirits to enter voluntarily.[15] They require that a skryer be used to see the visions but not that he be a virgin child as was common in medieval texts.[16] The demon Azazel whom they conjure has a long history beginning with a brief mention in Leviticus, extending through Jewish traditions, and reappearing in Christian cabalism in the late fifteenth century. The somewhat more surprising notion that this demon could facilitate access to spirits of the dead might conceivably be Jewish in origin but was certainly immediately derived from Latin necromantic traditions. Similar operations involving Azazel survive in several other fifteenth- and sixteenth-century British manuscripts.[17] Following the instructions for conjuring the dead, the text gives instructions for conjuring the 'Four Kings', the demons governing the four climes of the world, 'Oriens, Amaimon, Paymon, And Ægin.' Humphrey evidently performed this operation since it is recorded in the notes, although they included no descriptions of the resulting visions if there were any. Operations for the Four Kings are very common in medieval necromantic works and commonly employ mirrors or crystals.[18] The instruction section of the manuscript concludes with all-purpose conjurations for any spirit. Similar open-ended operations may also be found in necromantic manuals. Aside from the lack of any obviously Catholic formulae, such as Ave Marias, and a reduced emphasis on ascetic practices and moral purity in the period leading up to the operations, the instructions are indistinguishable from those in medieval works.[19]

[13] For example, although the vast majority of the instructions are given over to conjurations, threats, and commands for demons like Azazel, the spirits of the dead consent to help. They also appear to consent to being 'bound' in some way, although the specifics of this arrangement are not clear. Additional 36674, f. 59v. For a typical combination of demonic and angelic operations see Oxford, Bodleian, Rawlinson D. 252.

[14] It was commonly assumed that one could not conjure under cloudy conditions and, although conjuring at night was possible, it appears that working during the day was generally considered preferable. A roughly contemporary conjuring manual puts it like this. "Habe aerem clarum et non nubilosum quia sol magna habet influentia in spiritibus et appetetunt in radiis solaribus apparere et operari...." London, British Library, Sloane 3318, 2v. See also London, British Library, Sloan 3853, f. 10v. The appearance of clouds demanded that the operations be abandoned. See Oxford, Bodleian Library, Rawlinson D. 252, ff. 30v-31r. Certainly clear atmospheric conditions were necessary for crystalomantic operations. "Tunc in loco secreto et honesto aere sereno....", Ibid., f. 114v.

[15] The notion that one could trap or somehow contain a spirit in a crystal occurs in numerous texts. See for example Oxford, Bodleian Library, Rawlinson D. 252, 42v-44v and Vaticano (Città del), Biblioteca Apostolica, Pal. Lat. 1375 f. 269v-270r. The fourteenth-century catalogue of the books of John Erghome of the Austin Friars at York includes a tract on enclosing a spirit in a mirror. See K. W. Humphreys, ed., The Friars' Libraries, Corpus of British Medieval Library Catalogues (London: British Library, 1990), 87-8.

[16] Medieval necromantic operations using various skrying surfaces commonly required 'virgin boys and sometimes girls. On virginity as a requirement in such texts, see On catoptromantic texts, see Claire Fanger, "Virgin Territory: Purity and Divine Knowledge in Late Medieval Catoptromantic Texts," Aries 5, no. 2 (2005): 200-25. Anecdotal evidence of this practice may be found in the writings of John of Salisbury who recounts being employed for this purpose as a boy. John of Salisbury, Frivolities of Courtiers and Footprints of Philosophers, trans. Joseph B. Pike (London: Oxford University Press, 1938), 146-7. An experiment for seeing spirits with a boy skryer appears in the fifteenth-century commonplace book of Robert Reynes. Cameron Louis, ed., The Commonplace Book of Robert Reynes of Acle; An Edition of Tanner MS 407 (London: Garland, 1980), 169. Quoted in Richard Kieckhefer, Forbidden Rites, 97. Extensive and numerous operations using various skrying devices and young boys or girls occur in Oxford, Bodleian Library, Rawlinson D. 252. See for example, 1r-29v. The notion that certain spiritual capacities were afforded by chastity appears to have motivated this, so it is not surprising that older skryers became common after the Reformation. John Dee's skryers were uniformly adult males with the exception of a brief period when he attempted to employ his son Arthur. Deborah E. Harkness, John Dee's Conversations with Angels : Cabala, Alchemy, and the End of Nature (Cambridge, U.K. ; New York: Cambridge University Press, 1999), 16-26.

[17] Although the name appears to have Babylonian roots, the Story of Azazel derives from Leviticus 16:7-28. Agrippa tells us that Cabalist sources identify Azazel as king of the south, one of the four kings of the cardinal directions. Agrippa, De occulta philosophia, III: 24. Azazel is one of the fallen angels in Jewish traditions. Although 'fastened to the mountain of darkness' and willing to teach witchcraft to those who seek his help, Azael does not appear to have any particular association with spirits of the dead. See Louis Ginzberg, The Legends of the Jews, 7 vols. (Philadelphia: Jewish Publication Society of America, 1909), I.126, I.148-52, V.123, V.152, V.171, V.311, and V.416. Pico, drawing on cabalist sources describes Azazel as one who devours those practicing bad magic, but otherwise the demon appears to have no singular connection with spirits of the dead in general. On Pico's discussion, see Brian P. Copenhaver, "Number, Shape, and Meaning in Pico's Christian Cabala: The Upright Tsade, the Closed Mem, and the Gaping Jaws of Azazel," in Natural Particulars: Nature and Disciplines in Renaissance Europe, ed. Anthony Grafton and Nancy Siraisi (Cambridge, MA: The MIT Press, 1999), 46-7 and 72. Although not connected explicitly with the dead, Azazel appears in more extensive narratives in the Book of Enoch, 9-11, 13, and 54-5, and 69-70.

Whatever the earlier sources for this tradition may have been, the Gilberts' immediate sources for this operation were undoubtedly late-medieval British necromantic manuals. Rituals for the speaking with the dead occur in a variety of necromantic sources and appear as early as the fifteenth century. See Oxford, Bodleian Library, Ballard 66, ff. 33-39 (s. xvii), London, British Library, Sloane 3884, ff. 47-56 (s. xvi), and Oxford, Bodleian Library, Rawlinson D. 252 (s. xv.), 66v-68r. Rawlinson D. 252 conjures "Asacel." Interestingly, it is followed by another operation for "Azoel" which may be the same as "Aosal" the other spirit mentioned in the Gilbert manual (f. 50v). Ginzberg identifies Azzazel and Azzael as one and the same. Ginzberg, Legends, V. 152.

[19] A medieval work of necromantic magic would always include mention of Mary at one point or another. Her complete absence from this manuscript is thus notable. On the other hand, the text reflects the slow and initially superficial nature of the changes in this period. The intervention of John the Baptist and St Luke certainly suggest continuities with Catholic invocation of the Saints and belief in intercession. On the notion that Protestantism brought about a decline of magic, see Keith Vivian Thomas, Religion and the Decline of Magic (New York: Scribner, 1971). Eamon Duffy is largely silent about Thomas' arguments although he explicitly criticizes Thomas for his assumption that the sacraments "were credited with an inexorable and compelling power" only at a popular level. Eamon Duffy, The Stripping of the Altars: Traditional Religion in England, c. 1400-c. 1580 (New Haven, CT: Yale University Press, 1992), 277. Duffy argues instead that much of what Thomas calls superstition or magic was a legitimate form of religious devotion practiced by all levels of English society. For Duffy's discussion of these forms of devotion in Protestant England, see Duffy, 379-593. Robert Scribner's recent work includes useful critiques of Thomas. See Robert W. > illustration follows.] And after the litle streike there apered aboue them 2 greate bundles of golden streiks, which stoode aboue ech of the golden strikes, but the bundle yat stoode vppermost, was not soe bright as he yat stoode below. There was a greate blacke clowd betwene these 2 bundles and about the topp of this maruelous thinge, there was a greate quantitye of greene as before apereth. And betwene of the .6. blacke clowds as before, there was a greate number of fyer betwix eche of them as before you see. Also there apered on the south syde of yt, uppon the nether most bundle of gold, a square golden hyll with .4. corners, with 4 angles standing about yt, at ech corner one, whose names were mathewe, marke, luke, John, being barefoted with bookes in there hands, ther being a greate tre of bloud in the middle of the golden hyll, also there passed by vs, 2 doggs running on the grounde, which were spirits comming from the south towards the northe; the first of them was white, red and blacke, and went lering away apace which had noe tayle. Then followed the other dog which was all blacke, with a long tayle. And when he was right against me and my skryer, he loked first on the miracle before drawen, and then on me, and then on it againe; and soe passed awaye. These dogs had little legs, and greate brode feete, like unto horses. All which things aperith to vs with in one howers space. And when I went from the place, all things vanished awaye.[20]

Although in some of the records the spirits seem to speak directly to the operators from the stone or crystals, this passage and many others give the impression that all of the participants were entirely immersed in the visionary experience. It seems more likely that the skryer saw and reported visions in which he and the others were participants, though it is possible that the others may occasionally have seen things too. Dee’s records of his ‘actions’ contain similar ambiguities in the visionary record, where Dee is always an active imaginative participant in the proceedings, though his notes make it clear that he seldom saw anything.

If they are subject to occasional lapses (such as the failure to record the hour in this instance), and if their record keeping is not as thorough as Dee’s, nevertheless the Gilberts certainly make an effort to be systematic. They commonly record the time and general astrological conditions. The tremendous attention to detail makes clear that they were concerned to preserve accurate and detailed accounts of what the skryer had reported. That they returned to the text and corrected various details reinforces the impression that they wished the vision accounts to be as accurate as possible.[21] Given this concern with detail and accuracy, it may well be that the Gilberts described the visions as if they were visible to all as a literary device to lend the process a level of credibility and to emphasize that they were the result of the efforts of at least two of those present.

This passage illustrates an important way in which Gilbert's operations were not typical of medieval manuals and which cannot be attributed to changes in religious sensibilities. If medieval magical operators made extensive and detailed notes during their operations, to my knowledge, none survive. Accounts of visions attained through magical processes may be found in literary works (usually anti-magical) or in instructions for ritual magic operations which tell the operator what should result. More extensive accounts of visions by magical practitioners are less common. The notable exception, the Liber visionum of John of Morigny, is a highly polished account which is clearly reconstructed from memories of the visions rather than detailed notes taken at the time. Unlike John's work, but more like the records of John Dee's actions, those visionary records in Additional 36674 appear to be relatively undigested. One might speculate that medieval examples have simply been destroyed or lost, but one would still have to account for why these texts did not survive. The most plausible explanation would be that prior to the second half of the sixteenth-century any such notes were not considered worth keeping. In either case, the extensive note-taking of the Gilberts and John Dee, their desire to preserve the notes, and their efforts to assure their accuracy and sense of immediacy seem to represent a new attitude to the raw data of the visions.

A more detailed examination of their goals and methods reveals a similar mix of tradition and innovation. Gilbert's principal goal of deriving knowledge manifests itself immediately at the start of the instructions where the reader is advised to begin with a short general prayer for wisdom.

> This prayer is to be sayde when and before you deale with any spiritt; This was reuealed by kinge Solomon, Anno domini 1567, die 20 Februarij circa 9. 10.
> O god of Aungelles, god of Archaungells; god of Patriarches, god of Prophetts, god of vs sinners; O lord be my help, that this my worke may proceed in good tyme, to thy glorie, O god; and to learninge, and noe Art else, glorifie the in all workes. Amen
> Let not euyll spyritt enter my mynde o god, nor nothinge else but all to thy glorie o god; for learning is all my desier, lord thou knowest; euen as yt was to thy seruaunt Solomon; O lord sende me somme of this good hiddenn worke, that hath not been reuealed to noe mann. Then for that cause I desier the O god to sende yt mee, that in these our laste daies yt may be knowenn. Amen. Amen, lord, Amen with your Pater noster.[22]

Such prayers are fundamental elements in ritual magic works like the Ars notoria where they employ similar kinds of formulae and rhetorical strategies.[23] That this prayer should be said at the start of all spirit operations seems designed to frame the entire set of instructions as a search for knowledge and, at least in these pages, this appears to be sincere: the search for secrets, wisdom, or learning predominates throughout the operations.

Precisely how they thought this knowledge was to be transferred, however, is less clear. The request for knowledge in this passage and the attribution of the prayer to Solomon rightly moved Gabriel Harvey, the seventeenth-century owner and annotator of the manuscript, to note its evident likeness to the Ars notoria.[24] A passage in which Solomon tells Gilbert that he will be taught ‘all the arts’ suggests this work above all others. That Solomon also advises him that he must read when told to do so may be a reference to the exercise of reading required in the performance of the Ars notoria.[25] However, the request for a ‘hidden worke’ in passage above seems to reflect the story of the Liber Rasielis in which secret knowledge is passed to Adam from the angel Rasiel either figuratively or physically in the form of a book.[26] That Gilbert is promised such a book and that Davis retrieves it from the ‘House of Solomon’ in a vision tends seems to reflect this tradition.[27]

[23] For example, a prayer extracted from the Solomonic Ars notoria in London, British Library, Sloane 3853 adopts a similar rhetorical strategy by emphasizing that the magician understood his work to be part of Gods greater purposes. "Et tu, qui es deus meus, qui in principio creasti celum et terram et omnia ex nichilo, qui in spiritu tuo omnia reformas, comple, instaura, sana animam meam, ut glorificem te per omnia opera cogitationum mearum et verborum meorum. Deus, pater, orationem meam confirma, et intellectum meum auge, et memoriam meam ad suscipiendam beatam visionem tuam meo vivente corpusculo et ad cognoscendam super excelsam et super eternam tuam essenciam, qui viuis et regnas per infinita secula seculorum." f. 162 v.

At still other points, Solomon tells Humphrey that he will teach him how to ‘make’ a book, which suggests the divinely aided editing and writing of John of Morigny and Honorius of Thebes.[29] The instructions for conjuring the Four Kings also advise the operator to demand a book of magic from the demon Oriens, so the search for knowledge of magic is by no means limited to angels and spirits of the dead, even though this appears to have been their most successful avenue.[30] One is left with the impression – not surprising given the variety of possibilities suggested by prior texts – that the operators themselves were unsure what to expect, be it a kind of infusion of knowledge, the delivery of a book, or instruction and guidance, but were content to let the spirits decide.

At the same time, certain kinds of information were actually transmitted to them and consistent features may be discerned both in the nature of that knowledge and how they used it. The great care taken to record the visions suggests the assumption that all the small visual details, such as the sigils on the door, might potentially be important sources of information and perhaps that many of the more incomprehensible ones, such as the activities of the strange multi-colored animals, might need to be decoded or understood at a later date. More importantly, the spirits directly instructed them in the proper performance of magic, sometimes even when they had not been asked, and although they certainly referred to conjuring manuals and perhaps the works of Cornelius Agrippa for information, they appear to have regarded these sources as secondary to the visions. On March 22 between two and three in the afternoon, Humphrey (probably with great relish) was cursing and condemning Bleath, a particularly recalcitrant minor demon.

The prologue to the Liber sacer recounts that Honorius wrote the book with the assistance of an angel. Liber iuratus Honorii, I (pp. 60-1).

> There came of hymselfe the Euangelist Luke into a christall stone that lay on the bourd. And willed me to leaue using the names of God, to such wicked and rebellious spirits offering hymself to doe all things for me, and to teach me, howe to haue althings done by the angles, without such cursings, and coniuring by the word and names of god.... And I hauing the spirit of K. Solomon and the spirite of Jobe before. They both fell on their knees to Luke when they sawe him. And the wicked inferior bleath rean continually away, from one place to another rounde about the stone as fast as might be.[31]

What happens here is unusual in two ways. While John of Morigny also records instances of divine apparition in the course of his performance of demonic magic (including apparitions of the four evangelists), and while these apparitions ultimately do lead to the production of a divine text, the emphasis in John's autobiography is always at first on the strenuous and difficult conversion away from demonic practices. This intervention by St Luke in this passage is a more direct and effortless transition from demonic binding to something more like angelic invocation, its very fluidity suggestive, perhaps, of a dissolving conceptual boundary between angelic and demonic practices. More importantly, the advice which Luke offers them runs counter not only the approach they had already recorded in their book of instructions but to traditional necromancy as a whole. Rather than the standard method of conjuring, which mimicked exorcism by invoking holy names and by drawing upon the power promised by God to good Christians, Luke suggests a temporary but novel arrangement in which he, a spirit of the dead, an elect soul, would control demons on the operator's behalf. As in the case of John of Morigny, visionary experience supersedes traditional and textual authority. It should not be surprising that they were willing to take the word of a saint on how to perform magic over what they found in their conjuring manuals; however, other examples reveal that this was not an isolated example but part of a purposeful, if not systematic, approach. They did not regard magic as the performance of various experiments unrelated except for the similarity of their form, but rather as a progressive program of learning, a cumulative process in which information and experience were assembled over time. Such a progression is implicit in their demand that one begin with lower spirits and work up to more difficult ones. “Bleath, should a younge beginner first call; although to call Assasel yt is the most noble Arte; whose charact followethe.”[32] But the best evidence of their approach to knowledge lies in the way they assembled the manuscripts we are considering.

Their careful dating of their visions allow us to reconstruct the complex relationship between their operations and the magical manual they were writing, or at least some of it. We know that their operations were probably based on some late medieval conjuring manual which they, or some prior scribe, had adjusted according to Protestant and secular sensibilities. It is also possible, if not likely, that they had tried this kind of thing before. While it is true that Humphrey was blustery enough to fancy himself an expert relatively quickly, the confident tone of the text suggests he had been at it longer than a few weeks. They began their recorded operations in late February, and soon after, on the 20th of February, Solomon dictated a new prayer for them to employ at the start of their operations. Presumably they used it from that point on since, as we have seen, they accorded it such an important place in their magical manual when they began to write it on the 22nd of March at 8 a.m. How much they managed to write before that afternoon is unclear, but by 2 p.m. Humphrey was engaged in his operation to conjure the Four Kings. Shortly after this St Luke appeared, offering the correction and assistance we just discussed and promising to teach a new method of operation. Luke fulfilled this promise eight days later with instructions for a show stone in which Bleath would not have been able to disobey.

> The beste and moste excellente waye and Arte is, as well for Aungells, as for Inferiours and other Spyritts, to haue these names of god wryttenn in your stone, as followethe. [A round stone is roughly sketched out but it has been left incomplete since no characters inserted.]
> This is written without, because the circle was to lyttle, but yt muste be written wythin the circle nexte adioyninge, your stone muste be flatt of bothe sides, and cleare without crackes or staines, and as large as may be gottenn, and of a good thicknes.
> Nota: Noe spyritt cann disobay that is called into the stone thus graued; and the makinge therof wast discovered by Luke onn Easter time, beinge in Anno Domini 1567.[33]

This passage falls on the last folio of the manual, and operations employing the names of God to control recalcitrant demons appear in the previous folio. Precisely how the new equipment provided by Luke was meant to alter the operations is unclear. He certainly did not mean for them to cease employing demons or ghosts, which would have entailed rejecting all the methods they had recorded to that point, but rather “willed [them] to leaue using the names of God, to such wicked and rebellious spirits.” So it seems likely that they assumed this addition would make certain operations of the manual unnecessary but that in other respects it remained appropriate.

Gilbert and his associates sought to acquire knowledge in a purposeful, even systematic, manner understanding that it would be a cumulative process. They began with ritual magic manuals in hand and, in fact, given that such texts were common, it is quite possible that they had one of the many circulating manuscripts of ritual magic attributed to Solomon or Roger Bacon, or a printed volume by Cornelius Agrippa. If they did not enter into the operations under the assumption that their books might need correction, they certainly assumed that true magical knowledge had to be derived from practice and from direct engagement with the numinous rather than from books. In part they assumed that one had to build up experience in order to practice the art effectively; in part, the practice of the art itself made new information available. They carefully recorded their visions, noting intricate details, evidently assuming their descriptions might ultimately yield further knowledge. The spirits also instructed them. No doubt they understood that Solomon’s promise to assist Gilbert in ‘making’ books would be fulfilled in such a fashion – and they certainly did make a new book. More crucially, the new revealed elements superseded the old and became key elements in the new manual, and at the very least, their experiences facilitated a critical dialogue with whatever base text they originally employed.

So despite being based on the texts and traditions of medieval ritual magic, this manuscript differed from them. Protestant attitudes (or the desire not to appear Catholic) probably motivated the Gilberts or some prior scribe to strip out Catholic elements and to remove requirement of virginity for a skryer and of ascetic practices for the master. The Gilberts added new techniques, prayers, and magical characters to whatever original text or texts they had, and for all we know, they may have made a wide range of other undocumented changes based on instructions from the spirits. That they made careful records of the visions seems to constitute a significant change to the medieval traditions of ritual magic, but they do not appear to have affected its processes or intellectual culture in a dramatic way. In fact, these changes themselves reflect another significant area of continuity with medieval ritual magic. This continuity can be best understood in the broader context of medieval learned magic. So let me introduce this discussion with a brief description of the other major tradition of illicit learned magic prior to 1500.

Astrological image magic is represented by hundreds of manuscript witnesses prior to 1500 and the form of those manuscripts is consistent and distinctive. Magical talismans, rings, or other objects bearing some sort of engraved astrological symbol had received enough approval from scholastic writers as a potentially non-demonic form of magic to grant this kind of magic a kind of associate status within scholastic natural philosophy. Important works of natural philosophy such as the Speculum astronomiae regarded some forms of astrological image magic as natural and non-demonic; and philosophers of the stature of Albert the Great had no quarrel with this idea. In part as a result of this, these texts demonstrate a measure of stability in transmission and interpretation. While Thomas Aquinas and others following him were more stringent in their assessment of the legitimacy of image magic, these early positive evaluations were enough to keep a debate continuously alive in scholastic circles from the twelfth through the sixteenth centuries.[34] As this debate hinged upon obscure details in the scholastic model of physical causation, proponents of astrological image magic, eager to find ways to demonstrate its legitimacy, tended to employ scholastic arguments. Opponents and those who had not made up their minds also depended upon the literature of natural philosophy for clarity and guidance. This situation is reflected in the manuscripts and the codices and libraries that contained them.. Almost uniformly prior to 1500 scribes, collectors, and cataloguers treat astrological image magic as part of the library of natural philosophy and naturalia The principles of scholastic natural philosophy and the opinions of scholastic authorities also played a major role in helping scribes to choose appropriate texts to copy. Texts which were conformable to scholastic prescriptions of legitimacy were copied at a much higher rate than those deemed illegitimate, many of which do not survive at all.[35]

[34] The standard discussion of this debate is Nicolas Weill-Parot, Les Images Astrologiques Au Moyen Age Et a la Renaissance, Speculations Intellectuelles Et Pratiques Magiques (Xiie-Xve Siecle) (Paris: Honore Champion, 2002). For a discussion of the Speculum Astronomiae see, 27-90. For an earlier discussion focused upon how Marsilio Ficino engaged the debate see Brian P. Copenhaver, "Scholastic Philosophy and Renaissance Magic in the De Vita of Marislio Ficino," Renaissance Quarterly 37, no. 4 (1984): 523-54.

Works of astrological image magic, by their very nature, also demand a particular kind of treatment by their interpreters and scribes, and this makes them similar to scholastic scientific works in another sense. According to the arguments of the Arabic commentator al-Kindi, the figure in an astrological talisman or ring (as opposed to the stuff of which it was made) had to have an ontological connection with the astrological influences upon which it drew. This assumption was implicit in many of the magical texts themselves; it also formed the core question in the scholastic debate: does the shape of a physical object have or transmit occult properties? Thus, for Latin readers who believed this was possible, the image depicted or described in the text might reflect a cosmological secret: if the image was accurate, the magic would work, and the text would contain a valuable key to understanding how the universe functioned. If it was not accurate, if it did not correctly depict the ontological stellar configuration, it was useless. Truth thus potentially resided in the actual depicted figures or characters in the text itself and their usefulness depended upon their accuracy. More significantly, if an appropriate figure was not employed, the operator ran the risk of invoking the aid of demons. Perhaps for this reason, or perhaps because they were treated like other works of natural philosophy, their transmission tended to be relatively stable and the contents did not vary a great deal. The intellectual culture surrounding this sort of magic is thus arguably similar to scholastic culture in its emphasis on the authority of transmitted texts.

The intellectual culture surrounding ritual magic and its written traditions could not be more different. Subject to perennial re-writing, editing, and reformulation, ritual magic was perhaps the most mercurial of all medieval magical traditions. The multiplicity of its textual traditions was both the cause and also the result of the fact that its intellectual tradition in significant ways stood outside the mainstream. Although scholastic arguments certainly played a role in the rejection of ritual magic practices, no scholastic authority ever provided a shred of hope that they might be legitimate. They fall entirely in the realm of what Weill-Parot has termed “addressative” practices – by all standard Augustinian and Thomistic definitions, they are non-natural.[36] It is thus understandable that texts of ritual magic travel with works of naturalia far less often. Astrological image magic texts differ from ritual magic texts in a crucial structural way as well: the purpose of ritual magic texts is generally intermediary: they do not tend to record truths about the world, but rather to represent ritual practices by which contact with spirits may be facilitated in order to attain truths about the world. Like all liturgies, ritual magic is highly subject to local need and local change. Finally, the authors of ritual magic texts were keenly aware that the magical library contained false or misleading texts.[37] If works like the Liber Rasielis tended to represent themselves as divinely revealed, they were still less containers of truth than divinely sanctioned means to discover it. Truth had to be discerned in practice and in encounters with the numinous, particularly angels, and the particular knowledge which might be derived would differ from person to person.[38] A fifteenth-century necromancer's manual records necromantic processes in which emphasis is given to questions rather than answers.

[36] So they tend to support themselves on religious and biblical authority, rather than the authority of natural philosophy., for example, the bible recounts how Christians could cast out demons in Christ’s name and non-Christians could not. Similarly, being an orthodox Christian was an essential element in performing successful ritual magic. The Liber sacer tells of how the Jews cannot perform magic. Liber iuratus Honorii, III.20 (p. 66). A late-medieval necromancer’s manual provides the Apostle’s and Athanasian Creeds to help the operator remain orthodox. Oxford, Bodleian, Rawlinson D. 252, ff. 81r-82v. The dependence of ritual magic on Christian rites is self-evident. This is quite different from the use of intention as an element in image magic which is commonly divorced from the moral and religious condition of the practitioner. For the term “addressative” see notes to the opening pages of the Weill-Parot article in this volume.

> When the spiryt is apperyd: What is thy name? Under what state and what dynite [i.e. dignity] hast thow? What is thy powyr and thy offyse? Undyr what planet and sygn art thow. Of what parte arte thow of the world? Of which element art thow? Whych is thy monyth? What is thy day and thyn owyr? What is thyne howre, day or nyght? Whych is thy winde? What be they caretes that thow abyst to? Whych is thy mansion and thy day? Which is thy sterre? Which is thy stone? Which is thy erbe? What is thyne offyse to do. What is thy metale? What is thyne Aungellys name that thow moste obeyst to. And in what lykenes aperyst thow? How many commyst thow wythall?[39]

Similarly, the commonly occurring conjurations for any spirit suggest the users developed magical processes in response to whatever circumstances might arise in their operations or using whatever new knowledge they might have gained through their practices. For example, it appears that Trithemius probably employed angel magic to fill in the gaps as he wrote his Chronicle.[40] Truths were thus derived directly from experience of the but was not an explicit concern of the authors. The Liber sacer recounts that its author had produced it by extracting the flowers of wisdom from seven volumes of magic for the good magicians. It also recounts that 'others' were given empty husks. "Qui consulente angelo Hocrohel nomine 7 volumina artis magice deffloravit nobis florem accipiens et aliis cortices dimittendo." (Liber iuratus Honorii, I.16.) It is not clear whether this means Honorius intentionally wrote false magical works to deceive the ignorant, found false and empty portions of the original volumes which he somehow left behind, or simply that by removing crucial sections he left behind works denuded of their wisdom. But there is no doubt that the author understood the magical library to be polluted with these 'husks.' John of Morigny, the victim of such a false text, discovered that when he used prayers in the Ars notoria he was unknowingly invoking demons rather than angels. (Liber visionum, 19 (p.181).) Curiously, the 'false' nature of this text was not a barrier to the discovery of truth through it.

[38] The Liber Rasielis gives a long list of the Old Testament patriarchs who employed it. Each of them is said to have derived something different from the volume. München, Bayerische Staatsbibliothek, CLM 51, f. 111v. For an interesting parallel to this process, see the discussion of astrological prognostication in Madagasgar by M. Bloch. Bloch argues that the presence of stable astrological texts did not serve to stabilize interpretive systems, but actually increased their diversity. numinous, from instruction by it, or from interrogating it, and this process of discovery both enabled and depended on a dynamic relationship with the texts, which were continuously being adapted to suit new needs.

Even where ritual texts are handed on in recognizable forms and variants (e.g., in the case of the Ars notoria), practitioners appear to have understood ritual magic as a program of progressive, cumulative, and practical knowledge acquisition. It was understood that one had to learn how to perform ritual magic. The prologue to the Liber sacer requires the understanding of the text be passed on in a kind of magical apprenticeship process, a holy brotherhood in which the master selects appropriate followers who ultimately may be given the right to take up his position and pass the knowledge on to others.[41] John of Morigny talks explicitly about how he had to learn how to make the Ars notoria work.[42] Part of this process may have been a kind of conditioning which made the practitioner more disposed or attentive to whatever psychological mechanisms the magic drew upon, such as dreams or trance states. But this learning process was also understood as practical and cumulative. For example, John appears to take it for granted that the natural result of having developed expertise in necromantic magic was to write a book on the subject.[43] In part the process also involved the development of critical skills in dealing with visionary experiences. When John of Morigny began practicing magic, he was unable to tell the difference between holy and unholy presences and he emphasizes the need for requesting assistance through prayer.[44] Eventually, however, he was able to produce a detailed discussion of the ways in which one could do this.[45]

In summary, ritual magic was not regarded by its practitioners as part of the discourse of scholastic natural philosophy. Ritual magicians understood truth to be derived not from knowledge preserved in authoritative works but from experience, practice, or interrogation of spirits. They understood this knowledge to be cumulatively assembled by the practitioner rather than to inhere in a pre-existing set of authoritative pronouncements. They understood their relationship with their texts to be dynamic and susceptible to information by the spiritual encounter. And finally, although their ritual processes were in part designed to overcome the deficiencies of the natural senses, nevertheless they were almost entirely dependent upon the senses for knowledge acquisition.

These habits of mind may be witnessed in Gilbert’s operations. Aside from some imagery which suggests an interest in alchemy, they display no interest in astrological image magic, other kinds of natural magic, or any of the scholastic theories and debates associated with them. They did not regard the received traditions of magic as authoritative but employed them in a dynamic and interactive manner. Their advice that “the master must also haue 1 or 2 good bookes to call by, as after you shall here fyende” makes clear that one had to be discerning about the texts one chose; however they also evidently regarded their base text as something which might need to be corrected or more substantially transformed. They did not hesitate to make modifications where they saw fit. Some of these modifications were more minor and motivated by their own religious sensibilities. Some were more considerable, involving the incorporation of new operations or equipment prepared under the direction of the spirits.

Perhaps more radically than their medieval forebears, the Gilberts understood their visions not only as a proof and tangible effect of the legitimacy of their operations, but as experiences which were potentially an important source of raw data. Their attention to the intimate and seemingly inconsequential details of the visions, and their efforts accurately to record them in an undigested form, witness their focus on experientially derived knowledge. The way they edited their texts, and their advice that the operator must work progressively, starting with lower demons and working upwards, demonstrate that they regarded knowledge of magic to be acquired cumulatively. In the end, they contributed to the on-going transformations of medieval ritual magic by assembling and collecting their information in a new magical text.

Magic and Science: Humphrey Gilbert's Academy

In a 1994 book review, Brian Vickers criticized the tendency to regard Ficino and Pico as the epitome of renaissance magic when the vast majority of contemporary learned magic did not look at all like their 'intellectualist' works.[46] While there may be other problems with Vickers' theoretical frame, he was quite right to emphasize that practitioners of learned magic in the sixteenth century rarely looked like what readers of Frances Yates' works might be led to believe. The overwhelming majority of sixteenth-century manuscripts of high magic contain medieval works of ritual magic or reformulations of them. At the same time, the major medieval tradition of natural magic often assumed to have been central to renaissance magic (that is, astrological image magic), appears to have been in decline.[47] Humphrey Gilbert's practices exemplify this situation and allow us to use his example to take up Vickers' challenge, although perhaps in a way he would not have anticipated.

As a magical practitioner, Gilbert has no place in the traditional accounts of the relationship between magic and science in the renaissance. Almost without exception, from the foundational work of Lynn Thorndike, through the chimeral edifice of Frances Yates, to more recent work by Charles Webster, Deborah Harkness, John Henry, Stephen McKnight, Brian Copenhaver and others, a focus upon natural philosophy and natural magic has precluded direct consideration of ritual magic. Most scholars continue to assume that the magical traditions that Thorndike referred to as 'superstitious' and which Yates derided as the 'old dirty' magic of the middle ages declined and were superseded in the sixteenth century by a purified renaissance magic, a form of magic emphasizing mathematics, focusing on the natural world and occult causation, or exhibiting 'science-friendly' mythic structures.[48] As a result, they have tended to focus almost entirely upon natural philosophy, natural magic, so-called hermetic traditions, astrological image magic, and cabalism, particularly where they emphasize number or geometry. If Humphrey cared about any of these things, they do not appear in his magical practices which are very much in the tradition of the ‘old dirty magic.’ In fact, his magical genealogy (which does not even include Hermes) makes clear that he and his companions understood renaissance magic, at least as represented by Cornelius Agrippa and themselves, to belong to a tradition extending back through medieval ritual magic to the Old Testament patriarchs. Like his magic, Gilbert’s proposal for a new academy was by no means revolutionary, but as an expression of common attitudes and approaches crucial to the development of modern science, it suggests a number of ways in which we may reorient our approach. The striking commonalities between his scientific and magical projects suggest that he conceived of them and approached them in very similar terms.

[48] On the 'old dirty' magic see Frances Yates, Giordano Bruno and the Hermetic Tradition (Chicago: University of Chicago Press, 1964), 80-1. The many studies of Brian Copenhaver are exemplary. On the subject of magic and science see, Brian P. Copenhaver, "Natural Magic, Hermeticism, and Occultism in Early Modern Science," in Reappraisals of the Scientific Revolution, ed. David C. Copenhaver, "A Tale of Two Fishes: Magical Objects in Natural History from Antiquity through the Scientific Revolution," Journal of the History of Ideas 52, no. 3 (1991). Harkness' first rate study of Dee focuses connects Dee's angel magic with his natural philosophy but seeks to distinguish it from the ritual magic tradition in general. Surprisingly, she cites Additional 36674, but does not make any mention of the close affinities with the practices of John Dee. Deborah E. Harkness, John Dee's Conversations with Angels: Cabala, Alchemy, and the End of Nature (Cambridge, U.K.; New York: Cambridge University Press, 1999). Stephen McKnight seeks to demonstrate the influence of mythologies of 'pseudo-science' on science but concentrates entirely upon hermetic and neoplatonic mythologies. He seems to regard Solomonic myths as belonging to that tradition. "Science, the Prisci Theologia, and Modern Epochal Consciousness." Charles Webster seems to repeat the assumption that ritual magic was in decline where he notes "Magic as the performance

Elizabeth’s new academy was to be dedicated to the education of young noblemen under the wardship of the crown, but was also be open to others. In many ways Gilbert’s proposal simply reiterates standard humanist ideas (arguably elements in the development of modern science themselves); he emphasizes worldly skills, advocates training the whole person, and rejects scholasticism and scholastic pedagogy. In other ways it moves beyond them. The academy would fund investigation of the natural world for practical purposes and it would do so by combining theoretical and practical skills. One of its

Charles Webster, From Paracelsus to Newton: Magic and the Making of Modern Science (Cambridge: Cambridge University Press, 1982), 11. John Henry argues that “Magic is not a monolithic subject and it is important to stress that major aspects of the history of magic seem to play no role in the rise of modern science, for example, demonic magic, chiromancy, and cabala. The crucial aspects of the magical tradition for the historian of science were those encompassed by the term Natural Magic which embraced all those arts which relied upon natural lore; for example, astrology and alchemy....” John Henry, "Magic and Science in the Sixteenth and Seventeenth Century" in Companion to the History of Modern Science, edited by Robert C. Olby (London: Routledge, 1990), 586 ‘mathematicians’ was to be essentially a cosmographer with a heavy emphasis on navigation and the other a military engineer with a large gunpowder budget for monthly practical demonstrations of ballistics.[49] Similarly the physician would be required to supplement his traditional theoretical training by acquiring and practicing the skills of the apothecary and surgeon. This destruction of the traditional boundaries of professional practice also would include experimental and collaborative work.

> This phisition shall continuall practize togeather with the naturall philosophor, by the fire and otherwise, to search and try owt the secreats of nature, as many waies as they possiblie may. Far from the esoteric tendencies commonly attributed to enthusiasts of the occult, Gilbert does not appear sympathetic to the so called ‘renaissance episteme’ but rather proposes to strip natural magic and alchemy of their poetic and philosophical language and drop them in the cold light of practical experiment, close observation, and disinterested description.[51] Gilbert’s proposal rejects traditional scholastic pedagogy, scholastic method, the old division of disciplines, and esoteric language; it promotes a critical dialogue with ancient sources; it sets experientially derived knowledge over authority as the standard for judging the received traditions; it sees the search for knowledge less as an engagement with a body of knowledge than the assembling of collection of known truths; it seeks to attain critical distance through careful observation and description of experimental processes; and it gives primacy to practical results. In all of these respects, he belongs firmly in the tradition of British thinkers leading up to Francis Bacon and reflects the shifts in thought which were crucial to the scientific revolution. Since he probably put it before Elizabeth in 1570, if Gilbert was not at work on his proposal when he was engaged in his magical operations, he certainly undertook it very soon afterwards.

[51] The term “episteme” was coined by Michel Foucault, The Order of Things : An Archaeology of the Human Sciences (New York: Vintage Books, 1994), 25-30. Despite the usual evidentiary issues associated with his work, the term has some viability and certainly has been employed a great deal since that time. For a recent critique which discusses the history of the term, see Ian Maclean, "Foucault's Renaissance Episteme Reassessed: An Aristotelian Counterblast," Journal of the History of Ideas 59, no. 1 (1998): 149-66.

The practices and intellectual traditions of medieval ritual magic and Gilbert's reformulations of them are very much in line with what we see in the proposal and with what makes it 'scientific.' Peter Dear has suggested that one of the crucial differences between scholastic natural philosophy and modern science was that the former considered itself a 'body of knowledge' to be learned while the latter considered itself to be more like a 'research enterprise.'[52] Clearly for Gilbert the "research enterprise" aspect of ritual magic links it to the attitude we find in his more "scientific" endeavors. Ritual magic was as constituted of an experientially focused methodology as much as a written tradition, was suspicious of received texts, and required knowledge to be established in a critical dialogue between received knowledge and experience, a dialogue in which the element of experience was primary. If the circumspect attitude towards received traditions by ritual magic operators was still accompanied by belief that men of the past, such as Adam and Solomon, had had privileged access to knowledge of the world, this was little different from Francis Bacon, who expressed similar ideas. Beyond this, ritual magic (again unlike many forms of natural magic) was not found in scholastic books, understood as a part of scholastic discourse, or promoted by writers using warmed over scholastic arguments, so it may well have been attractive to those with anti-scholastic sentiments. In short, medieval ritual magic texts had much to offer to the practical, experientially oriented, anti-scholastic, and independent-minded Humphrey Gilbert.

It almost goes without saying that in many other crucial respects Gilbert’s magic was not like modern science and I don’t wish to elide the differences between his demon conjuring and Boyle’s air pump.[53] At the same time, the mechanistic models and systematic approaches of Bacon, Descartes, Boyle and others had not yet been formulated so it would be anachronistic to hold Gilbert’s magical exercises to their standards. Insofar as Gilbert’s proposal for a new academy may be taken as representative of important new intellectual and social currents which contributed to the rise of science, the medieval ritual magic he practiced may also be understood not only as amenable to them but even ‘scientific’ in its own right. At the very least Humphrey Gilbert’s story illustrates that the almost universally held assumption that the ‘old magic’ was in decline, uniformly represented ‘regressive’ tendencies, or was incompatible with the new trends in science cannot be sustained. In fact, in many respects the forms of magic commonly granted a kind of associate status in accounts of the scientific revolution would have been wrested from their theoretical settings and dismembered in Gilbert’s academy, while ritual magic as a practice and method survived more or less intact in his hands, arguably becoming more scientific through his increased emphasis on description. In this sense, the learned magic of Gilbert, and later of Dee, need not, and in fact, cannot, be squeezed into the narrow confines of natural magic or of a putatively purified ‘renaissance magic’ and it cannot be understood without reference to medieval traditions. In fact, in numerous ways ritual magic can be considered more ‘scientific’ than natural magic traditions such as astrological image magic, whose associations with the increasingly antiquated approaches of scholastic thought remained strong. When the day was over and the conjurations had drawn to a close, Gilbert may well have decided his magical operations were a blind alley. Had he lived to see them, he might well have preferred the approaches of Boyle and his associates. But we will know a good deal more about sixteenth-century magic and science if we can understand why Humphrey Gilbert was inclined to walk among the spirits with his crystals, conjurations, and pen.

[53] Despite the difficulties that often accompanied the construction of such devices, a properly assembled air pump would certainly return more consistent results. The vague and inconsistent nature of magical visions also probably tended to encourage the esoteric interpretive approaches of the so-called ‘renaissance episteme.’ More crucially, practitioners do not display the preoccupations with method or 'rules of engagement’ characteristic of seventeenth-century scientists. Ritual magic also did not focus solely on the natural world nor does it seem to have encouraged a mechanical view of nature. Seventeenth-century science would also ultimately reject ritual magic in the strongest terms.

Appendix: The Manuscript and the Question of Attribution

The manuscript falls into two parts, the first containing instructions for operations and the second the record of visions attained (ff. 47r-57v and 58r-62v respectively). In the second section, the master of the operation is identified as H.G. and the skryer as John Davis. Without question Davis was not one of the scribes and, despite a cataloguer’s identification, neither was Simon Forman.[54] Gabriel Harvey’s suggestion that the second might be the work of Thomas Smith seems very unlikely.[55] The manuscript does, however, provide as solid a link with the Gilbert household as paleography can afford. Adrian Gilbert is a credible candidate for the scribe of the first section.[56] The hand of the second section cannot be positively identified as Humphrey Gilbert's but the possibility cannot be rejected either. That Gilbert's only surviving autograph is in an informal hand and the magical manuscript is in a semi-formal cursive makes identification difficult.[57] It seems more likely, however, that the manuscript was written by a secretary, something that would have been in keeping with Humphrey's habits. The vast majority of his surviving correspondence and works were not written in his own hand. Such a scenario is borne out by the corrections to the second portion, which were likely made by the scribe of the first section. In addition, many of the errors suggest the second section was copied, perhaps from more informal notes, in preparation for a final formal copy. Many of the errors are difficult to account for except as misreadings in copying. We find, for example, "shyll" expunged and "hill" written in (59v) and 'a loud streake of golde' corrected to 'a longe streake of gold' (60v). More tellingly, accidental duplication of words also recurs, such as the duplication of 'apereth' (60v) and 'help' (60r). In short, the paleographic evidence tends to favor attribution to the Gilbert household and certainly cannot be used to reject this thesis.

[54] A note of the first folio of the first section notes that Mr McKray of the Bodleian Library in 1868 identified the hand of the first section that of Simon Forman, the well known late-sixteenth-century doctor, astrologer and magician. However, assuming the date is correct, he would only have been seventeen in 1576, and in any event, this is certainly not Forman's distinctive hand. See f. 47r. The manuscript is also not the work of John Caius as suggested by Benjamin Wooley The note identifying Caius as the owner refer only to the materials in ff. 23-46 not 47-62. These two sets of folios are also clearly distinct.

Circumstantial evidence for this attribution, however, is powerful. Humphrey Gilbert was in England at the time these operations are said to have taken place. His known brutality in arms matches the character of H.G. who takes great relish in cursing and abusing demons in the operations and whose engagements with them are presented entirely in military terms, something which is not typical in necromantic literature. He rides into armies of demons, cutting them down with his sword. As noted in the first paragraph, the operations took place at a time when Humphrey was undertaking important new directions in his life; the concern for the future reflected in the manuscript appears to bear this out.[58] The descriptions of the skryer also correspond well with the John Davis who would become the navigator. Davis, the son of a local family and protégé of the Gilbert household, would certainly have been familiar to the household and was of an age when he could have been expected to be living there for long periods of time. At seventeen John Davis would have been older than the boys traditionally used in medieval skrying, but the old requirement of virginity and sexual purity appears to have become less crucial in sixteenth century operations, perhaps under the influence of Protestantism, but also potentially due to a de-clericalization of ritual magic. The descriptions of the skryer in the visions suggest a youth rather than a pre-pubescent boy.[59] As we discuss below, both Davis and Adrian Gilbert were heavily involved in magical operations and Adrian with alchemy.[60] So each of the known figures corresponds well with what appears in the manuscript.

[58] On October 12, 1566, he was sent back from military service in Ireland with dispatches for Queen Elizabeth. As his biographer, William Gosling notes, "no clear purpose seems to have motivated Sir Henry Sidney to order his return to England. Neither the dispatches nor the news he carried were of such paramount importance as to require a messenger of his calibre; and we are therefore obliged to conclude that he had obtained leave of absence from the army to return to England for some private purposes of his own, and that Sidney merely took advantage of his departure to send dispatches to the Queen." Gosling goes on to suggest that he took leave to petition Elizabeth for assistance in an expedition to find the North-West Passage. This project dominated his energies over the ensuing decades. William Gilbert Gosling, The Life of Sir Humphrey Gilbert: England's First Empire Builder (London: Constable & Co., 1911), 39-40.

[59] For example, Solomon requires that the skryer be dressed like the master in a black coat and cloak. See f.60r. The visions refer to John as Gilbert's 'boy.' He plays an active role in the visions themselves, holding a magical book up to frighten the demons (ff. 59r-60r) and at on point going independently to retrieve and important book from the 'House of Solomon' (f. 62v).

[60] Adrian's 'chemical' interests were well known and he was supported by Mary Sidney as an instructor in the art. Margaret Hannay and Mary Ellen Lamb have speculated that Adrian worked with Mary Sidney Herbert producing medicines. See Mary Ellen Lamb, "The Countess of Pembroke's Patronage," (Ph.D. diss., Columbia University, 1976), 107. See also, Margaret Hannay, Philip's Phoenix; Mary Sidney, Countess of Pembroke (Oxford: Oxford University Press, 1990), 130-31.

Perhaps most convincing of all, Humphrey, Adrian, and John, were evidently part of a circle of practitioners associated with John Dee, whose magical operations and note taking greatly resemble theirs. Their interaction with Dee certainly involved questions of navigation, exploration, cartography, metallurgy, mining, and the associated business interests and nothing in the records of Humphrey's visits suggests the topics of discussion involved magic.[61] John and Adrian's dealings with Dee, however, had as much, if not more to do with magic. In his diary Dee notes that in 1583 he reconciled some difference he had with them occasioned by William Emery. He also notes Davis' dislike for the skryer. Adrian was also evidently familiar enough with Dee's household to have mediated a conflict between Dee's wife and his skryer, Edward Kelly, and was involved in some of Dee's early operations with Kelly.[62] Their evident familiarity with Dee's circle of magical practitioners appears to have been even more long standing than the diary suggests. A note by John Dee dated 1568 indicates that he had determined through magic and with the assistance of William Emery the date of John Davis' birth.[63] It would have been very unlikely that he came to know the Devon teenager unless through the Gilbert household, and the fact that he could not just ask for the information makes clear that Davis was not in the environs of Mortlake. That Dee inquired about Davis shortly after the operations recorded in Additional 36674 suggests that Dee was aware of them and of Davis' role. In fact, one wonders if the conflict between Davis and Emery was a matter of professional competition between two skryers.

[63] In the margin of a table of star positions, he scribbled a note, dated 22 May 1568, that he had learned the exact time and date of John Davies's birth 'by magic' at Mortlake with the help of William Emery. Although unclear what the form of their magic might have been, the fact that Emery later worked as Dee's skryer suggests it was probably a crystal-gazing operation. Wooley, 166-7. Wooley cites Oxford, Bodleian, Ashmole 423, f. 295.

In summary, although no individual piece of evidence incontrovertibly connects Additional 36674 with the Gilbert household, the overwhelming weight of circumstantial evidence leads me to attribute it to John Davis, Adrian Gilbert, and Humphrey Gilbert. That Humphrey does not appear to have been involved in Dee’s magical operations at the time of his first recorded visits to Mortlake may suggest that his interests in it had waned by that time. It is, nonetheless, interesting to note that Gilbert’s posthumous portrait which now hangs in his ancestral home at Compton includes a stylized combination of the astrological sigils for Mercury and Mars (remarkably suited to the martial and mercurial Humphrey) which looks a great deal like the hieroglyphic monad of John Dee. Even to the end of his life, he was evidently fashioning himself as a man with esoteric interests.

There appeared a white flame over the ston & something in it & a star over the glass solid receipt with white flamed rays issuing from them And in the ston is two vailes a whight vaile & a viall vaile, on the white vaile is a lamplike thing with 9 lights or flames & there is 3 spirituums images kneeling before them 9 lights & there is a font like thing or censer out of which comes a white spirall flame or ray & under it is two spirituums in white kneeling before it
And over the viall vaile is 3 glorious Cherubs but the middlemost the most glorious
And in the solid glass receipt is white linnen vailes & 7 lamps or a lamp with 7 lights over them & a spiritum or 2 in them all in white on their knees to them lights
And in the hollow receipt in them is a spiritum in white on its knees looking directly to the ston & over them spirituums head is 7 stars And there is a silver cloud before the ston & 3 spirits in it all in white & kneeling before the ston in great devotion & sometimes bowing forward And there came a great flash & they all rose up & did obedience and stood.
The 3 in the ston is Galwah & And & Mahaqe And the two in the ston is Esemeli & Allemesh And in the solid glass receipt next one is Murifici & Ate & in the other is Mapsama & ~~Sumiel~~ Semmiel & in the hollow receipt is Fuseniah & Semariel And before the ston is Ca = za = vaa
And the whole show is very grand looking one on ye other and very pleasant & smiling there And Za takes an audience from Galwah And Za said Thou blessed and host whom the highest reconcileth into his grace & favour into mercy Blessed are yee therefore who have presented your selves in the service of obedience unto Celestiall Customes & thrice blessed will be the end of this days beginning: Murmur yee not at visits descending from above exposing you to many Terrestiall temptations & trialls through the fastenings & perfidiousness & other pernicious actions & perswasions having great strength unto humaine, but the furious vexations & afflictions through superiour permission disturbing the State & welfaire of God his servants shall drop off even as water from the feathers of the downy swan and returne from whence they were projected & become as utterly voyd as the smoake that issueth from the kindled fire & then shall your felicity shine forth in Glory to the Confusion of your enemies of which this day have record with sufficient Authority of my testimony And Galwah smiled on me & spake to Ezomedi & Flomesse & they then smiled on me & looked on a paper & as they consumed they oft looked on me & smiled every Ternarian day we must be in this habbit and we must meet 15th instant being thursday all dayes of meeting will be appoynted in the time of Prayer there appeared a star over my head & it shot downe a ray into my head & of each side the ray stood a small spectrum in white, over my head untill the end of Prayer and over the stone is 3 solar bodies in a triangle & the upper most sends forth a ray upward like a Cone wreathed of 3 collours, white, purple, & red, and it appeares plainer & plainer And there is a wonderfull Glorious face appeares between the 3 solar bodies over the stone And there came severall great flashes at sometimes one after the other There is in the stone a good way in a Glorious Christall walle with its fiery clouds on it

And before the ~~stone is~~ Christall walle stands a font like thing & a mist comes out of it like a flame & about the font stands 4 spectrums one in each quarter viz in the East quarter is Michael & on ye West is Vriel on ye North is Raphael & on ye South Angle or quarter is Gabriel, in the solid Glass ~~Recept~~ next me is a spectrum looking into a booke of wrighting & there is a spectrum in white over seeing it as if they were examining the writing & there is 3 spectrums on this side them (viz) Galwah Murifri & Alte and they all looke this way pleasantly and there is a glittering star hovers over ye Recept & shootes a ray downe into it and those 3 are crowned & each of them have a star in its brest
And so it is in ye solid glass Recept on the North side and there is in it Anael Kalwage & Maysama
And in the Christall walle is Suchiel & Zedekiel
And in the hollow Recept to ye Northward is Furvaniah & and 4 spectrums in ordinary habbit 2 like males & 2 like females & abundance behind them
And in the hollow Recept westward is Samariel & 4 spectrums in ordinary habbit beyond it & abundance beyond them And Furvaniah & Samariel have crownes on & little wands in their hands And Sammiel stands in a silver cloud before the stone with a crowne on its head & it hath a flaming sword in its Right hand & a flaming dart in its left hand & they seeme to be in communication one with the other but all doe veneration to that face over ye stone And Galwah said to I:R: take notice & discry right or else you shall see noe more Michael spake to Vriel & Vriel called & there came ~~[illegible]~~ Ezomedi & Flomesse & Sl & Vriel said something to them & ~~Flomesse~~ Ezomedi tooke out of its bosome a Cristall Glass about an ʒ in bignesse & it it was like Cleare water & it delivered it to Uriel & also a box with a little graine gold in it And Flemorse doth deliver a little viall of water with a little silver to Gabriel & he did the like to Raphael with a box of quicksilver & they held them in their hands & looked on them & they put the things in to the water & they were all dissolved into water viz the ☉ : ☾ : & ☿ : & they put them into this fount like thing & there issued out flames of all Collours going up strait about a black Collour and they al lifted up there hands as if they gave thankes to God & now they smiled on us so then Esmeli Flemorse & he did great veneration & Returned

And all the 4 turned this way & smiled on us & this said Welcome be the servants of the highest into the sacred Pallace of Celestiall where Justice & Righteousnesse sitteth Judges of truth & Equity Know ye therefore that now the blessed promise of your hopefull happinesse & true comfort is given forth & shortly cometh to the fulfilling thereof I know you must conclude with me that a true & perfectly Naturall Dissolvent without unnaturall Corrosion is the true Arcanum both of Moderne & Antient Sophists the which many Prodigall Proselits have & still doe various prosecute & seeke after but some of very few & of them the use not truely knowne behoveth thee how it is made perfitt & bringeth all Mettals into Ens Primum by a due & true dissolution

& thereby of Course Naturally into Mortification Resurrection & Ascention to the Glory of the highest & the Comfort of his servants the true Morodis & fellowship of Celestiriah the Rest is left to Gabroah & Jaliah looked on me & smiled & said I know you may be now comforted for yt you are well assured of Happinesse & Redemption

I heard you Sr but even now compare some late former sayings with this present Touching your imployment or Manuall occupation I pray you tell me how far they are asunder since you have begun to set the same in operation at the same time the Promise of your felicity is gon forth & decreed & I am comanded to informe you by superior Authority yt as this is the first Ternarian day appoynted in this place wherein we also delight with you worken from hence one triple Ternaries & it reacheth to the last day of the 2d Month now next ensuing during which time you are also comanded to keepe into your Accustomary & wonted exercises that your Joy may be full & your Comforts accomplished your true happinesse Crowned with Celestiall Celestriam & terrestiall Peace & tranquillity & the troubles & feare & Afflictions both bodily & Ghostly may bee vanquished & banished into utter silence & become for ever voyde of any Power to Rise up against you & so you know the finall Determination of your sorrows & dispaires The transparent light of Celestiall grace Comfort your soules with yt Joy yt is the Comfort of all things in the whole Creation & Conduct you into all Temporalle conduct & Attendance unto.

Eternity in the light of ye Countenance that blessed the whole Creation on both of heaven & Earth Amen

There appeared in the stone a Ball vaile a good way in it and there is a silver vaile a good way of the side of the Ball vaile And there is 3 stars over the stone & they perfectly goe from the one of them to the other as to make a perfect triangle and in the Center of that triangle is a very Glorious star yt shootes a Ray out towards us And there came a small Spectrum under the silver vaile & there appeared the font like thing & there stood Michael & Uriel & Gabriel about it in a triangle & they looked on the flame that ascended out of the font or Censer & the flame was of many Collours like the Rainbowe being wreathed about so Michael made veneration & made a Cross & the white vaile drew againe & stood before them as before And before this vaile Immediately stood Anael & turned to the sollid glass towards on the South side of the stone & said something to it & presently came Ezorachi into the stone to Anael & they conversed a little time & then Ezorachi did veneration & departed & Anael turned to the other sollid glass toward & Flemeso came to Anael & they communed together & so Flemeso went away, now Anael lookes wistfully on us & smiles & said Behold Sirs thus saith the Celestiall deputations of Celestiall Let your Eyes be opened & your senses revived & your Ears unstopped & your Apprehensions quickened & your understandings unlocked that you may see heare & know ye Mystery of Nature in the secret storehouse of her treasury and all the Celestiall Arkanums both Originall vegitable & Minerall & all sublunar Ellementall things of the Inferior part of the Creation & then I know you willbe filled with Joy & the promised hopes of your Comfort I will tell you Sr of two things the one whereein you only have Labored & succeeded well with great cost & Charges that is touching a Certaine Concre= =tion of a vegitable Juce which with you is called Opium, & it a very excellent Drugg to be used in Medicen a better way then you have yet used or knowne

You shall take the liquor of Tartar & powre it on the opium & it will make dissolution of the Gum & let it digest in frigido & when it is glutted decant it of & powre on more & so doe untill all is dissolved of the gum & nothing remaines but feces and when you have all the Gumous matter taken up in that liquor then ~~powre~~ powre into it faire water & the Majestery will all fall to the bottom: then decant of the water & you have the Majestery then evaporate the water & you have the salt of tt againe I will illustrate this further unto you at an other meeting The next Arkanum is a true Menstruum or dissolvent which of many are called a Mercurius Philosophorum hardly knowne & many make well then

You shall take salt of tartar made per se without any Compound & put the same into a Retort that hath a little pipe on the top or head thereof as I will here= =after show you a true patterne of & have in readiness the spirit of vittriall the which vittriall must be made only of Mars & noe other compound & by one dram or two at a time to powre it on the salt of tartar into the Retort the quantities of each I also will show you hereafter & all will come over the retorte in a white fume which will dissolve into a faire clear water which Naturally dissolveth all mettalls without the least corrosion it brings all things into putrifaction &c its the greatest arcanum you have yet received

Verily Sr after this triple Arcanum great mercies will descend to your comfort I need not Sr say unto you how the most high God hath Chastised his owne Elect or rather select people more then all other Nations of the Earth for their Disobedience & Rebellious refractory spirits notwithstanding they had a law given them with strict command to observe whereof the word of God doth abundantly testify be not dismaid therefore at the great trialls & vexations that hath befallen you & not as yet quite extinguished

There appeared like a flame over my head & ~~a~~ a flaming Ray went Round about my shoulders And there appeared And before the ston with a pleasant smiling Countenance And said well Sr there is worke enough cut forth & laid out for you we shall now keepe you from Idleness Take this booke & ingross it & bring it againe & then the other is Ready for you you may mend any Error but keepe to the sence of the originall very and we will Illustrate all things to the sence of your understandings that you shall be blessed in the promised felicity of Celosiriah Wednesday next shall be your dies Jornarius at 8 or 9 in the Morning keepe to the Tenure of Offertory for it will produce great events And so much for this time & wee meet againe the 6th day at 8 or 9 in the Morning —

— — — — — — — — —

May 19th: 1686: Jornary [illegible] — There appeared a Transcendent Glorious face over ye ston encircled about with a Ray of fire from which proceeds 4 Rayes one goes upward & another down= =ward into the ston & one Ray goes on ye one side & the other ~~Ray~~ Ray from ye other side And there is a glorious Riall vaile in the ston & 3 fiery Cherubs over it & in ye vaile is two spectrums & before ye vaile is Uriel with a Crowne Mitrall on & arrayed all in Gold

And Uriel looks mighty pleasantly & smiling and the two in the vaile are Raphaell & Gabriel & they be gloriously Crowned & there is 3 spectrums in that sollid glass Receptacle & 3 in a silver Cloud before ye ston in the sollid Receptacle on ye North side is Ave Nalvage & Esemeli & in the other sollid Receptacle is Murifri, Maysama & Flomgse and before ye ston is Fursemiah And Samariel & Sammiel in ye Midle of them And in the hollow Receptacle in that is 4 Gnomes 2 males & two females And Uriel had some converse with the Glorious face over the ston & then Uriel threw light from him to every pt of the Appearance & then looked on me pleasantly And Uriel said Pater noster Qui es in Celo sanctificetur nomen tuum, fiat voluntas tua, sicut in Celo sic etiam in terra Amen Hallelujah Brethren in Celestiall Love (he turned to me) we are now on coming to come unto you, for as ye coming of the sacred spirit of the highest in ye unity of ye sacred Deity moved upon the chosen servants of the highest to testify his Name in the confirmation of ye Gospell And coming of the Messiah for ye Redemption of the world the Remembrance whereof now approacheth unto the Glory of the blessed Trinity, so likewise as well without Error as comparison, Grace & Mercy from above promised unto his servants faithfully trusting in the highest descendeth unto there Comforts and great Joy, Apprehend me then aright in the mysticall sound hereof & then conclude your selves not Rejected from above (although some Afflictions doe visit you)
I tell you Sr to me it hath bin shewed forth unto you one peculiar Method of answering your desires

You have bin toulde of a menstruum made of spirit of vittriol & salt of tarter

Take to one pound of salt of tarter 2 lb of spirit of vittriol & put the 1 lb of salt of tarter into the bottome of a Retort that hath a pipe above right against the bottome then drop in about a dram at a time of the spt vittriol or about 60 drops to 100, & then stopp the pipe close that noe fumes goe forth but what goes into the Reciver & when the fumes are condensed in the Reciver then drop in 100 drops more & stopp the pipe againe & so doe untill all the oyle is spent & you will not have above 2 ℥ of this menstruum in the Reciver   this is don in frigido without fire the Mystery of this is great the medicine that may be made with this menstruum are endlesse doe not begin these 14 dayes

This day Sir is dies ternarius unto you And the blessed Anthemum hath bin showed forth unto you which will doubtless prove a day of Joy or Jubile unto you, you will Sir have litle action on the next weeke but you must commence on the 7th day & doe your duty unto you god for whose sake I Earnestly Admonish you to be full & free in your offertories during this triple ternarius & what more after words the doore is not as yet given forth to Rendale but now I have given you an Earnest of you hopes & a hopefull earnest of your happinesse, I must also returne, to the glory of the hiest & his service in mine Office   Rejoyce with heaven & let the Children of the Earth Rejoyce in ~~ye~~ voluptuous pleasures & for the Rest Goods will be don whose name be glorified for these & all other his mercies unto his servants both now & for ever 32
Amen Hallaluyah

1686: May 26: the first after Ternary

There Came a flash and then appeared a Red ×

:1686: June: 2d: : the 2d: after Ternary: after Ternary

There appeared over the ston three stars in a triangle two uppermost & one below: & there is Rayes that goe from the one into the other, & in the Center of the triangle is a star far brighter then any of them & a bright sparke in the Center of that star of exceeding brightness and out of the this star in the Center of the triangle goes 3 Rayes to the stars that make the triangle about it in the ston is a heavenly beautifull place & it goes a good way into the ston, at the further part of it is a place like an Alter over which is 3 fiery flaming Cherubs, on this Glorious Alter there is like a golden basen on the midle & of each side stands a Cup of gold, out of the basen comes up a Reathed flame that of many Collours & goes into the testimony that is in the top of the ston and there is flamed matter that ascends out of of the two cups but of 3 Collours (viz) white yellow & Red and before in the ston is a Cristalline Rinde & beyound that is a hedg & a gap in it & there is a bridg laid over the Rinde Just against the gap at the bridg foott before the gap stands two spirituums with a fiery [illegible] sword in each of their ~~han~~ hands and within the gap is 3 spirituums in Imperiall forme viz Uriel in the Midle & Raphael on its Right hand & Gabriel on its Left hand & before the ston is 3 spirituums viz Ane in the Midle & one of each side of it and ye hollow Vessels is Hussamiah & Samariel there appeares coming from a pleasant place a Spectrum all in glorious white and an other in white but not so glorious as the other and in humaine forme and them two went to the bridg & so went over it and then made a litle stand & did some veneration to the two fiery Spectrums with the flaming swords in their hands & so passed between them & so went in through the gap and Uriel received them and after veneration done he conducted them to the Alter where where there is a Glorious Imperiall Spectrum & he doth receive them we suppose it to be Michael for it hath a Golden Key before it & a Scepter & on ye Scepter is a bright thing like ye Sun and Uriel stands by Michael & & the two Spectrums in white doe stand before the Basin & doe veneration to Michael & Uriel the humaine Spectrum is me and as my passag is free so I am freed from all vexations troubles &c and received into the state of happiness and Grace and after this came a like appearance & at the foote of the passage those last two bowed to the two flaming Spectrums & they did stop the Passage some time but afterwards they opened the Passage & they passed also along to the two Spectrums within the gap and they all went together to the Alter and Raphael & Gabriel have taken place at the Alter next to Uriel & Michaell & the ~~last two~~ two humaine Spectrums stands between the two Angellicall Spectrums that are in white I went with them And they stand in a poster of Joy & the 4 Archangels smile on them & the 4 in white doe great veneration bowing ever now & then to the very Ground And the two humaine Spectrums came this way smiling & and about the Midle of the place they turned & kneeled down & gave thanks to god, & the 4 Archangels turned to the alter did seeme to give thanks also And then Spectrums in the sollid Glass Vessels stood looking on ye Son & in a kind of Joyfull Admiration and now the Son is covered in a Riall Vaile And smiles very much And said Here is the first part of Promise made good unto you as you are now received into the fellowship of Angellicall and Celestrian Land for the which you must also be thankfull unto the highest & to his Messagers of Celestiall Grace as your friends & now even equally servants of our great Lord & Master & on the first day of the next Month shall be your day of thanksgiving but if I tell it againe I know the Father on the 30th or last day of this Month and then you will see what blessings will ensue & follow I hope Sir this ensuing Ternarius & last of the tripartite ternary will be a Jubely unto you or a time of Joy therefore is the last of this Month or first of the next ordered you for thanksgiving & then through Grace shall you bee enter the Enjoyment of a Joyfull Deliverance & future happiness, & Remember the 7th day to be the first of the next Ternarius & solsticiall Ingress which is of great Importance & therefore lett your offertories be more liberall then ordinarily for it is a Ternarius of Joy or Jubile unto you though the vipprous Mouths of envy will open & gnash its teeth at the sight & sound of your felicity it shall fall before you as leaves from the tree in winter fear nothing but take Courage in the highest who mercifully preserves you to his honour & Glory

1686 June 9th Fornarius ~~[illegible]~~

There appeared 3 stars triangular with over the ston & a sun like appearance in the center of that triangle & fiery rayes issuing out of it and an Imperiall forme in it And in the sollid Glass Receptle in case is a fiery ball in the top of it like the testimony & one Spectrum a weighting and an other in weight with a crownet on ouer seing it

And Sammiel was before the ston and the ston is incompassed with fiery rayes & filled with Glory & Spectrums is it in the ston is a font like thing and the lowermost star of the triangle over the ston darts downe a ray into ye font and there ascend out out of the font a blewish wreath that twists about that solar ray that comes from ye star above the ston: and there is 3 in Imperiall forme that stands before the font And there is two kneeling downe of each side the font And before the font is Michael & in the midle & Raphael & Gabriel of each side & on the south side of the font is Vriell & my selfe kneeling & on the North side is Lonaniel & I R kneeling, and Michael & Raphael & Gabriel turned to the East & did some aderation and smiled when they turned to the East and now Sammiel smiles and it seemes as if they were conferring some blessings on the two humaine Spectrums, And Sammiel saith we see that as the hunted buck when over tired panteth after the water brooke so doth your Soules not only having bin hunted with great Afflictions hath bin tried & over tired with hopes of a blessed Estate of sure dangers & dangerous consequences attending the Malicious enemie therof even so I say doth your soules thirst after a happy deliverance and restoration from imminent fears into the enjoyment of Peace & plenty which comforts are not denied you but with all know that as it is a comon saying amongst you, that Gods time is the best time which you may also understand from holy Writ as may be traced all along unto you, untill we come unto the very Messiah it selfe who when much importuned to come to the visitt of dying Lasarus yea though dead yet he made not the more hast to save his life but still continued 4 dayes longer in the place where he was, by which time the dead was buried yet notwithstanding he said if they would yet beleive in the great mercies of the highest they should see the Glory of their God but I have said enough And though I make noe Comparisons, yet you may reasonably beleive yt ye faith & obedience hath not made you less capable of mercy, nor more hopefull then obtaining a deliverance & restoration unto Joy & Comfort And I tell you Srs yt your troubles shall drop away & become noe more but shall be changed into a new life as it were drest in Glory and a springing Comfort of an happy plenitude of Peace & Joy unto you and it turned to me & smiled & said I would have you Sr to take notice of the last arcana that was showed forth unto you & wright it out in a sheet of Paper & bring it with you to be illustrated you are now Sr through Celestiall Grace blessed with hope of your desires, which now you will soone enjoy by the permission of Divine grace & mercy more superiour in the highest & pleasure in the sacred Deity of which may further show forth on the 8th day at which time I shall meet you heare againe with what divine pleasure shall emit unto its servants & so unto you to I R I charge you Sr not to extinguish the lights untill the sun be set, the greatness of this day hath brought deliverance with it

June 17th: 1686: the first

There appeared a Dillicate spectrum in white in the forepart of the ston, it is shee, and it hath a golden rod in its hand & it looks pleasantly on us & shee stands on a ~~gl~~ globe or ball of glass or cristoll of many collours & it poynts to the collours with its golden rod & the collours seemi to change or alter but the collours were not in the glass ball untill it poynted to it with its golden rod And now the ball ye shee standes on is of a flammed collour sparkling or shining And shee lookes on us & smiles And said it is generally concluded amongst the children of the earth that the fate & destiny of all man kind is brittle and very uncertaine even as the humors conditions constitutions & quallityes thereof are different & various & subject to chance which maxim holdeth experimentally creadible as the diversities of a good or ill fate is usually observa=ble amongst such as consider not more than the infer=iour part of sensuallity, And so thinking that nothing is in any wise perpetually certaine; but uncertainty, those such judg according to ignorant sensuallity not measuring the power & effects of superiour causes first appearing in purity & perfection & altered by the various dispositions & indispositions of such contrarieties as either in species or kind finding in the bed of conseption or mistake in rightly apprehending the cause & effects of naturall improvements, [illegible] as such ignorance knowes not the begining of mercy so they can not reach to the end of grace nor knowing thereof in its benifits, it is affliction that makes mankind apprehensive of mercy but pride & plenty makes them ignorant of truth how then is it with the servants of the highest that hath bin truly educated in the academy & trialls of afflictions & spent spent the pilgrimage of care sorrow trouble & tribulation ~~36~~

And Sir behould then after many sevall changes separations feares & jelosies the transparent light of eternall grace brings the servants of the highest to the united end of all temporall & eternall happiness the comparison whereof Sir I shall manifest unto you 35

But god be thanked good sir & fear not your swooning fits are not mortall god will yet bless thee, & keepe thee with life to be a comfort to thy selfe & progeny but leave the nearest relation you have in your occupation & employment because you may have the more time to mind other business — —

I will by divine grace & permission meet you againe on ye 6th day as it shall please god

1686 June 23th. the 2d:

There appeared a fiery Rainbow or Arch of grace from one sollid glass Crystall Cloud ouer the Ston to the other & under the midle of the Arch is a transcendent Star that poynts a Ray into the midle of the ston, And in ye ston is a Riall waile that glitters much & Round ye ston is sharpflaming Rayes & there is white vailes in the ~~ff~~ sollid glass ~~Crystall~~ And there is a sylverish Cloud before the ston and in it is a [illegible] it is Sammiel & it looks on us both & pleasantly smiles And saith

So Sr I salute this the your Conversation in ye Name of Celestiall Loue with good welcome; And I am comanded to bid you stand fast & keepe your ground, relaps not neither fall back, but looke forwards, for the most pleasant prospect of true felicity standeth before you And the Gates of Peace are opened for Entrance And the Angellicall Armes of Celestiall grace is ready opened, to Receiue & Embrace you, And yet notwithstanding there is a great Conflict arising which toucheth you not (speaking to mee) but ye shaft is poynted at ER but the venome thereof shall not touch ER: for the host of heauen fighteth for you & shall certeinely defend & preserve you from all Infernall & diabollicall envies & euills, you are safe enough & well fortified against all malignities, therefore let not the sound of any malitious Rumors or Reports enter your Ears to the desturbance of your spirits, but I say stand fast & smile thereat for they shalbe confounded & brought unto Nothing, And I hope you shall liue to behould the utter distruction & finall dissolution thereof for euer, I know you were Informed to attend some Comands ye shallbe severally Injoyned you on ye 9 or 16th day of July it is matter of Consernment to you both if possibillities might or would be Imposed the full splendour of the day should rather be dubled or tribled then in any wise lessened or Impared therefore I said unto you stand fast & fall not back but looke forward for by how much you glorify your entrance into promised happiness by so much are you glorified & united into Celestiall grace were you but sensible of what standeth before you or could behould as in a Mirrour the beauty & splendour of those promised Injoyments standing ready to be conferred upon you, you would now strive against the most turbulent streames & stormes to acquire the desired Peace thereof,. well Sr though weake in the flesh yet let the action of this day comfort your spirits & be thankfull to the highest for his gratious & great mercies unto you in your Conservations by passed, & present hopes of future deliuerance on ye 7th day you must consider at this Mystery but I know little of action wilbe fit for your Inspect=ion for it cometh on ye next or 8th day therefore I think it befitteth you to make the 7th day your day of thanksgiuing or day of Jubile giuing thanks unto god for his mercy & Injoying your selues as becometh you with all sobriety & in such Mannor with good Refreshments & good company as your discretion befitteth & guideth you liberty & the presence of diuine grace in the unity of the blessed Trenity with the Celestiall loue of all his servants in the Angellicall Comunity of Celestiall fellowship associated with you in like Enjoyment to the glory & prayse of the highest & your happy deliverance from all Infernall Terrestiall & domestick Malignities & Calamities

Amen Hallalujah

1686 June 30 Ternary ~~[illegible]~~ — —

There appeared over the ston an Imperiall Spectrum with a sword in one hand & a Scepter in the other and it is all over in wonderfull Glory & Encircled in with Stars & it looks pleasantly on us And before the ston is And & before the North sollid glass Receipt is Murifri & before the Southern sollid glass Receipt is Nalvag And in the ston is a fountaine in Glory like fire & before it Stands Michall in Mighty Regall & Imperi--iall forme And before Michall stands Uriel Raphael & Gabriel And between Uriel & Raphael stand R O & between Raphael & Gabriel stands E R: And Murifri & Nalvage have communication with the Spectrums in the two sollid glass Receipts that they stand before them And looked on us & smiled Then R O & E R kneeled downe & Michall spake to them And Michael doth take of the cleare white water of the fountaine & doth wash R O & E R heads & Eyes then Michael tooke them by the hands & lifted them up & they stood up
And one said here is the entrance into the great mystery of your vocation & it is considerable to you you are now entred the Admission of Colosiria & proceeding onwards into Peace & happiness the end of hopes, & Glory of deliverance

July 1: ~~1686~~ 1686:
There appeared a fire over the ston or rather a glory & out of it darted a Ray directly to me And over the sollid Glass Receipt next to me is Zachiel in Regall forme & over the other is Zedekiel, in Regall forme & they looke on me pleasantly & doth all the shew In the Center of the ston Michael & Raphael to ye Northward of it & next to Michael to the Southward is R O & then Uriel & next to Raphael is E R & then Gabriel and round about mC y is a Circle of Imperiall Spectrums and they are in a Joyfull posture & smile — And there darted downe a Ray from a bright star above in ye top of the ston & that pointed downe betweene Michael & Raphael And before the ston is And & Suaniah before the sollid glass Receipt next me & Samariel before the other And they all looke on us & smiled & rejoyced And out of the Glory over the ston came a star & it fell on And, And And tooke out of its bosome a very diaphinous ston set in Gold & held it out towards me & put it into its bosome againe And And said, The Transparent fire of Celestiall Love descending by divine grace & Admission into the blessed Mozodiz of Colosiriah enlightning the Children of Israel elect into more dignifies the Corporall sense with spirituall light to the highest Ascendant of hopefull Joy to the Heires of that promise as conformeth the fulfilling the true Enjoyment of unspeakable felicity It is not the Children of the Earth nor the Mallice of the Infernall Colledgies with all the batteries of their malitious Rancour can or shall withstand the Power of Celestiall & Celosirian strength & safety protecting, garding, & conducting the Children of grace heires of divine Promises unto the full enjoyment of those promised mercies to come Now Sr let me Also you I behold your Artefitiall Receptacle & it seemed to me to shew or be somewhat difficient & defective & not fit for your privat diversions then it were very excellent & surpassing fair at its first begining yet it is subject to perrishe & for time to prey upon it and for the weakness of its radicall vigor to yeald to the extreemity of seasons when inordinate & exceeding the Naturall Temperature of qualities ~~therefore~~ I would have you bring the same as it is prefixed for your use without alteration or taking from its frame or otherwise altering ough thereof to this Mystery & we shall dignify you with a more transplendent & transcendent fuel but with all sir under submission how doe you find the same to be, Ay Sr and those words will seem quite through, well then Sr are you content herewith, why then we shall befriend you in the highest the 21th day of this Month willbe dies Tomarius I would have you also present your first preparatiō of 1th of salt of tarter & 2th of oyle of vittriole

Now Sr you may be confident you are entred into the fay of your hopes & into the hopes of your felicity for the neise give thanks unto the highest els you may feare for I feale noe more given me to say

July 7th: 1686 · ~~the first~~

There appeared a Viall vaile in the ston & a fiery Cherub over it and before the vaile is Raphael & Michael and in the heather part of the ston is Ave & Ellemeste And over the ston is a star that darts a Ray downe into the ston that gives a light into it; And they all come close together. And One smiled on me & said well Sr we hear you complained but we hope through Grace in the highest the Mouth of Complaint & the causes thereof willbe stopped & Removed er it be long therefore we still say dispaire not I have bin lately amongst some of your Adversaries; & beheld their thoughts, & Inclinations; & find by some motives some perswations & some Advertisements arising from some Envious Inventions that indeed are under a fear of hopes in future prosperities finding undertakings not fully to Answere Ambitions expec=tations are consulting or would consult how or by what meanes to dissolve your house & Imployment or to Reduce & mingle it with some other Interest & association the Reasons whereof I cannot Informe you but will suffer it to pass by us at this time And I withall Advise you if any Motion hereof should be offer to your superior power Intrusting you and you should be consulted about it let the person intrusting you utterly deny any offere made for it will turne all wholly to great losse & damage & they willbe Cheated & wrapped up in great troubles in seeking Redresse therefore Advise to beware Believe me Sr there are good provisions preparing for you which will shortly be presented shewed forth

And made knowne unto you & therefore I Advise you to keepe your accostomary offertories untill further order Two things there are which hath bin promised the one hath not yet bin showed forth nor Attempted to any expediente viz the Amendment of your Glass the other is a pritty thing or medicin, which you have Attempted, but failed in it Take 3 gallons of urine of those that drink the wine and set it in a wooden vessell 14 or 15 dayes to putrefy in a moderate place for heat and then put into it a pint & $\frac{1}{4}$ of brandy and let it stand till it gits over it a skin or head over it & mind well when that heads brakes then distill it & you will find salt enough it is good Medisen for scurvidies & scurvey beyound all other medicens

1686 July: 15: the 2d Thursday There appeared a Glorious ~~[illegible]~~ Royall vail about the ston & there is a whight sylverish Ray poynting poynting downe into ye ston & just before the Midle of the ston is a bright sparke & it gave a great flash and there stood like a sunshiny Cloud before ye ston & a hartrum in it & it looked wishfully on me & smiled And said Gods peace be with his servants, its Name is Sabalani — I of the midle part of the Order of Dominations, & said I am sent of my superiours in Order to your Motion, to let you know that now you are entred into Celestian frindshipp you need not contract any fear upon your spirits or dread any corporall Evills more then what heaven itselfe wi seeketh not to Restraine; ffor the wickednes of some Envious persons may seeme to appear & presume though it be to their utter distruction, & desperation, as being forsaken

And given to Reprobate sensualities, & voluptuous delights, theas they may vex you but they cannot touch you I say — againe fear not what the Mallice of mankind can doe unto you since it cannot prevaile against you, wish, banish away your troubled & jelous thoughts, & give your soules the freedom of those Corporall Enjoyments that are sealed upon your hopes, And confirmed in your faith, And keepe your Accustomary Orders & be Ready for action the 6th & 7th dayes ~~Meet~~ also on Monday Morning about 10 of the Clock — —

1686 July 19th Monday:
~~There~~ appeared Sabalani & Esmeli And Esmeli said to me I pray you Sr what vallue doe you set upon your late Reward about 4li I am sent to tell you ye weddensday is dies tornarius wherein you must observe your usuall tornarium offertory and also one offertory of the full vallue hereof which is better then to withdraw this from you viz 4li & 15s and then you shall have your Reward delivered into your hand & so as it shall please God sight may be given you according to the will & pleasure of the highest And Sabalani said, mine Ally here present hath conferred a mercy unto you I must also show forth what I am commanded on ye like condition You must also besides the Tornarian offertory & what is commanded by the message of mine Ally there must be 3 Angels crowned in order to the 3 visions that must also be conferred on you at the will & pleasure of the highest
And the time shall come that you shall behold all the treasures of the Earth & by Mediums in order proper bring them to them which through divine grace permitting will supply your wants &c

and give you comfort in your Terrestiall beings the 3 visions are first the hidden treasures of the Earth Secondly is the Mines of the Earth laid open & discovered the 3d is the great worke of the Sophiarths in a better manner and to greater purpose then any mortall yet had it

July 21th::1686:: Fornary present ~~the~~ [illegible]

There appeared a Spectrum over the ston in Imperiall forme in wonderfull Glory all over like fire And the ston is all full of Glory like a flame of fire there is also a Spectrum over each solid glass Recept in white and in solid glass Recepts they set some books & papers by, as if they were to be delivered And in the hollow Recepts are Suxaniel & Damariel & many Kromes with them the Spectrum over the solid glass Recept next me is Nabrage & that Spectrum over the other is Anie And in the ston is 4 Glorious Spectrums in Imperiall forme And two Remaind Spectrums in white with Laurell Crowns their heads like a King and the Leaves small but of a bright greene collour the 4 Glorious Spectrums are the 4 Archangels and they stand a little distance from the font like a King & they stand one East an other West one North & the other South from ye font and the two Remaind Spectru are on their knees before the font R O on ye South side of it & the other on the North side of it, And ~~Anesaid~~ all the ~~Sp~~ Spectrums doe smile with pleasant Countenance And said Nothing is more pleasing or Acceptable then obedience nor Attracts greater benefits of mercy of which it is truly hoped in the highest you will graciously partake to his glory & your Comforts you may take your gift & esteem it as a Godwill the effects whereof will crowne you with Joy   meet on Monday next about 9 aclock 40

July:26: 1686: Monday:

There is a transparent Viall waile in the ston & a Raye goes upwards out of the ston ~~unt~~ poynting upwards & a little bright Star at the top of it And Anael appeared before the ston all in white & it looked wishfully towards me & smiled to me, well dear brother in the highest & neibour in Celestiall by Comunity & fraternety: You have information of making a Liquor shewed forth & Revealed unto you which was said should be further Ilustrated And Explained with the Improve= =ment which will surely be, You shall Intitle or call it Menstruum Magnum et Mistitum
It cannot Sr be unknowne unto you that a true dissolvent by a naturall humid fire must be the meanes of which both Antient & Moderne Sophiarks have so carefully concealed from the Arrogancy of Profuse & presumtious posterety And other profane Ignorants It is true somwhat of the worke hath bin of them mery treated off but hardly ever a due Confection either of Spirit or matter as a begining thereof, which shall all be made knowne & Revealed there will be no Action untill monday next I am also Recalled & must withdraw to others but prayse you the highest & be thankfull Returne thanks & cease

August: 2d: 1686: Monday: the 2d In the time of Prayer there appeared a Red Circle about my head & a Red Star poynting downe a Ray into my heade all of a transparent Red like a Ruby And the ston is incompassed with Glory all Red & a Ray goes upwards from the top of the ston as Red as a Ruby there is a little Star over ye solid Glass Receipt of a Ruby Redness also: ~~and~~ vailes in each of them mixt with transparent whiteness & Redness a good way in the Ston is like a wall of Cristall adorned with Rubies or Red Ston and a passage through it like a gateway but we see no gate to it, & there is a Glorious Spectrum all in Red, before in the Ston and Imperially Crowned, it hath a sword in its hand transparent Greene There is a Royall Spectrum before the Ston Clothed in Scarlet & it looked to us ward & smiled & said None not nor spake a word untill the show be over — — there is the testimony in the top of the Ston the Red Spectrum in the Ston after it had viewed us it went to the entrance or gateway & said or called You have two Morodi, whom I call for And Goetia } immediatly appeared a Spectrum in the place of entrance in white but covered over with a Red vaile & it came forth & after it came two humane Spectrums & as they came forward we discerned them to be R:O & I:R and then the Red Spectrum turned to R:O & spake to him, And the Red Spirit did call to the solid Glass Receipt on my side to Immediatly a Spectrum brought in a Mortar Glass with salt of tartar in it & there was a Glass bottle with Spt vittriol in it set downe by it and there was set downe a pint Retort with a Glass stopple to a pipe in the top of it then I tooke ye salt of tartar & put it into ye pint Retort at ye neck of it & set it in a bed of sand R. to stand fast & put a Receiver to it & luted it with bladders soaked in ye whites of Egs & so to stand untill it was dry, then I put ~~of~~ some of ye Spirit of vitt into ye Pipe & so did more & more & then stopped it close & fumes came over into the Receiver & condensed into cleare white water & the Red Spectrum ordered that the manifesting of that way of ~~[illegible]~~ practise should be delivered speedily

And: I:R with the Spectrum in white yt was vailed over with Red was indisposed & called & a Spectrum brought a booke & they looked in it and tooke it away with them and now the Ston is full of Rubid Glory And the Spectrum before the Ston is Laamiel & it said the appearance in action at this day Sirs sheweth the neere approach of mercy unto you, it hath bin already sent unto you & your prayers hath ascended into ye presence of divine Grace therefore although it suffereth you to be incombred with many vexations of spirit, It now presenteth ~~a~~ Answere of your humble supplications & petitions wonder not therefore when you behold the Action of this day diversly strange & contrary to former appearances, it is not of humaine Apprehention, for it representeth the Change of your troublesome Estate so much complain ed off into a glorious Redemption or Exaltation of temporall & spirituall felicity so yt we are not Sirs of any Naturall Imagination to be Judged of by appearance in Action by Reason we are as mediums of superior Grace & Power Celestiall Administrators of that soveraigne Power & pleasure as by office is given to be Administred wheresoever & to whomsoever it is sent forth & appointed unto all those of the Lord shall Mossdi as are blessed with Entrance into the pallace So

And Community of Celestiall & therewith Enjoyment also of that Celestiall freindship which the world knoweth not a true forerunner of light & dignity to me, Now then Sr understand me what name will you call this Liquor by when you shall have the stone either by your selfe or me you shall call it Menstruum Magni & Misticum there is such things preparing as will put period to all our Troubles to me I am comanded Sr that you take great care of the Shew ston given you & prise it as a Jewell that Red Spectrum is the Celestiall disposer of all Ellementary Compositions & proportions of Ellementary things who also is comanded by office to shew forth & make knowne those things, the other Spectrum was Gabriel who is to discover accidentall things or things hid or lost I am comanded Sr & that more in perticular then ordinary that you have great & Considerable Regard unto your next Ternarian day of Action which is of very great and Considerable Account also which I know to be on ye 11th Instant, whereon your Ternarian Offertory must also & they be Tribled that you might be graced & Received into this great & Gratious Celestirian Changes Sr fear you not you have noe Cause I know it will be Answered with answerable Recompence I meet you againe on friday next at 8 in ye morne or 9 untill which time we must adjurne the Rest of this action by Reason I am forcedly Recalled

it is great freindship I have and stand this long Temporally with you to comfort your Spirits with Celestiall hopes of your Terrestiall happines wherewith the most high God Endow & blesse you 42

August: 6: 1686: Friday

~~The Red~~ Spectrum I were so the Action before is now a good way in the ston in Imperiall fame & all over in glory like fire and in the fore part of the ston is Ane & Lowmiel And they discourse & now & then doe smile on one the other And Ane said to me, & smiled on Lowmael & then on me if it were a strong matter for you Sr as yet to be disturbed & vexed with Malitious lyes & fine or kindes & other false Rumors & Reports, it might then be a Reall trouble unto you, Therefore hath premonitions bin given to withstand & slite them what you now take of is no more then what hath bin foretold, touching I R who because he wished after or cannot effect, he then enters into such wicked Intendments as to act his evill purposes, you have bin told Sr first as touching your Imployment since the Separation of envious parties seeking to undermine & destroy your Interest every way ostentatiously given out such menaces as not only to render the odious but they would also to a distrusting Revell, I pray you then what hath bin said, I tell you then if see Right that if those prodigall & presentations undertakings are ente wealthered though to your losse & fear of dispaire you will see them fall as leaves in Autumn which would be in about sixteen or 17 Months written you then from ye Month of october last past & then Reach to March next & tell me an Attempt thereof; I know I looked on the right place & beleeve I am not deceaved still I say fear nothing neither set a value on false Rumors And now let me further tell you that After the next Ternary with happiness on the 11th Instant monday shalbe your day of action & thirsday shalbe your day of Reading over & Correcting the Calls being thirsday the 12th my troubles are past & I need not fear any thing; Lewanael said to E R I told you Sir that you should have some vexations by Reason of envious & wicked Divell Gonzaret hath entred into some wicked persons to scandalize & persecute thee with most Notorious lyes & falsehoods after december next neither of you will be troubled any more my thinks I heard you contend about the word Goetia it is the Name of a booke which was then called for and to satisfie you further I will call for the same againe; Eutelesia pray you come hether And a little spirit came & brought a booke in loose papers, not bound. but it hath bin bound & is unbound

I pray you for once goe & pay the booke binder & the letter & safer together & the little spirit said I will if it pleaseth you, but I know you will then pay me wages, & then they smiled & Lewanael said good lack child trust me I will pay the wages therefore let thy workes be plainely write & sent down Answer, yea & if it please you I goe & obay your Com=mands & said to Lewemael will your friends thanke me looking on us & smiled

Lewemael to me you need not Sir be so earnestly eager about your Retort, for I am under examination with mine Allies thereof & the manner of composing a Method or forme of Operation by comparing the manner thereof with others of the like kind & therein only a distinction of Spirits differently in their Naturall Contractures & so to bring you a president of that my selfe or otherwise by Order from mine allies, therefore at present doe what you please but use it not untill you heare further well Sir I hope when you see the likelyhood of a downe fall Attend your Enimies then you may Rejoyce & be comforted with an Assured testimony & signe of a future & happy deliverance well Sir you may make a Reasonable offertory at your owne voluntary dispensation & so Returne thanks to god for wee must Returne to orders & you also to your temporall affaires wherein the most high God blesse prosper & preserve you to his Glory & your owne Comforts Amen Hallalujah

August: 11th: 1686 - Ternary [redacted]

There Appeared ~~an the stone is~~ in ye stone a Solar Appearance And a Ray goes up ~~from~~ from it of a Ruby Reddish and at the end of that Ray is a star of a glittering Solar Collour of wonderfull Glory above ye ~~stone~~ There is 3 spirituums before the stone There is the forme of an Imperiall spiritum in the stone all in Red and there is a spiritum of each side of it in white but have a Reddish cast And in the sollid Glass Receipts of each side the stone is Riall spirituums in white Raiments and they all looke pleasantly
And this Red spiritum hath a wand in its hand of two wands twisted together the one white the other Red & it holds it in its hand as a scepter And on the Right side of this spiritum is a whitish spiritum that hath a boultshead in its hand & in it is a Red Mass & on the other hand is another spiritum yt hath a boultshead in its hand & hath a whitish water in it and Chomeli is ye spiritum yt had the boultshead in its hand with the Red Mass in it, And Flomese had the white water

Nalvage Murifri & Maspama are before the stone And Murifri saide Move not but be humble & obedient ye place is holy & Report not untill licence given And Flomese spake to that spiritum in ye North sollid Receipt And Chomeli spake to that spirit in the South sollid Glass Re but what they said we know not And they 3 before the stone conferred with them in the stone And ~~Chomeli~~ Murifri said ye booke called Coelia is in ye stone I may see it but not take it away without licence [redacted] Action And it shall be all fulfilled unto you & your felicity accomplished which ye most high God give & grant unto you to the fullness of your Comfort Amen Hallelujah 44

I must bring ye booke yt is not ~~not~~ written out to begin it

August 12th: 1686: thursday There Appeared in the stone And it smiled on us & also Nalvage & Maspama, and they are in serious Conference together And And saide Well Sirs God hath saved you & our trust is that he will for ever save you & be a ~~Com~~ Comfort unto you & all his servants verely Sirs our late Ternarium Action of yesterday had like to have bin overwhelmed & both it & our Actories violently surprised & also deminished or taken away by ye damnable & divillish assalt of a wicked Offender of ye great Divill Gonzardt who breaking his Chaine after a limited Expiration, hath broke ~~[illegible]~~ loose, and bin lurking in the harts of some of your ancient Enimies stirring them up to wicked Conspiracies against your Innocency but God be thanked we were in place by divine permi ssion to defend the place & all things in action of the time contended And Glorified be his holy Name we are become victors & conquered that Infernall Assalt which was Attemp =ted by 7 Infernall Agents, And all is cleared before you againe though the Conflict was great & not Measurable of your knowledg for which glorifie God in ye fulness of spirit & zealous Candor

Verily Srs the Action of yesterday was ~~greatly~~ [illegible]able for it shewed forth unto you by that seeming Appearance though seemingly Contrary in show to naturall apprehension or humane Conjecture the true & hopefull effect of what is & hath bin promised to the fulfilling of your desires in the great worke of Nature the vertue & efforts whereof is ignorantly & improperly presumed to transmute or Change baser Mettals into finer, No Srs ~~not~~ the worst of Mettals beare the same seedes of Nature & kinde in its Embrionated Conceptions & radicated fermentations though converted into a baser product by a Contrariety & inequallity of principles & Elementary proportions & the temprature or intemprature of the wombe receiving or rejecting Celestiall influences upon Terrestiall Passives as naturally inherent & consequently Inseparable; No Srs I say this great Medicen exalteth baser things separating purity from impurity Cleansing foule Dreggs from finer parts & so by uniting the true tempered fermentated seede of its first Creation; then exalteth purifieth & so thereby converteth the baser part of any thing into as absolute & fine a being as the finest & best of things Naturall, yea & better, ~~by~~ reason Nature is subject to infirmities, as being meerly & essentiall ~~ellementary~~ Ellementary only, but when a Celestiall or divine quintessence is Administred, maketh Nature then incorruptable & immortall; even as Medicine composed only of ellementary ingrediences Essentiall healeth common ordenary sicknesses & prolongeth life, but when death cometh then Mortallety ceaseth & the quintessentiall robe of immortallity is put on & all ascendeth together into immortall & incorruptable glory & so comparitively is the quallity & condition of mankind is unhappily reduced to great wants penuries & desperate dangers how uncomfortable & how Misserable is the state of that persone when wishing for death it flyeth from him like as hunted 45 Harts from ravinous persutes, when divine grace & mercy shall yet shine forth & give deliverance to this contented discontent & by the light of that grace conduct it into a safe & happy state of Peace & plenty, how great is this comfort is it not a Terrestially ~~[illegible]~~ divine Glory & suteable to a Celestiall injoyment, truly Srs in our Colossian Observa=tion we may truly compare Terrestiall happinesse to Celest=iall blessednesse as to there different kinds

we then conclude thus you are in the present state of Mortification as to wants & discontents arising then of Course will become immortall in your injoyment of Peace Plenty & true happinesse both here & hereafter as I doe Certainly Assure if the most high God is pleased to give you life whilst our Charge is in order to your Conduct, wherein we shall make as dexterous a progresse as divine grace giveth admission

And wee will begin to examin the booke on Monday Morning & thursday; &c ~~not~~ meet on wednesday Morning on action I would have you Sr make a voluntary small offertory of your signall obbedience when you come here by reason of internall Insinuations & intreatyments, you are not injoyned to doe it of necessity nor to any extreem but at pleasure as you please reserving only & excepting the offertory weekly & otherwise injoyned on times of action both Ternarian & Annually quaternian & so we shall leave you at this time unto the care of the highest & his grace goodness in your protection & preservation which we humbly with you beseech of him to his glory & your comfort Amen hallelujah it is not amiss to let blood in the Earne but it may doe very well 1686 August 18th — the first There appeared 3 in the ston that seemed to be very pleasant and they are in some Consult or Conferance There is One ~~in the~~ In the Midle & foremost only North side & Eastmost on my side, And One had a paper booke in its hand a looking over it, & they 3 smile one on the other very Mute as they Confer about it very seriously And One poynted to me & smiled & shut the book And One said Yea Sirs I have given me to show forth but that we must at this time Adjourne untill the Morro upon the volentie, we shall meet againe we must therefore till then withdraw & so may you after you have Returned thanks to the highest 1686 August 19 thirsday There Appeared One in the ston & very pleasant, and said well Sirs I would not have you Contend on trifling supposition for folly & suspition, bringeth great differences & inconveniences, I heard you question some doubtfull Imaginations about the Menstruum you had here let me tell you Sirs though all Naturall things & supernaturall sciences came at first to the knowledge of man by Angeli-=call Inspiration, yet some fragments may decay to Posteri=ty who are altogether Ignorant of the Mystery & true meaning of them, which at all toucheth not the estima=tion & true use of them in any science which tendeth as I could instance plentifully it hath bin shewed forth unto you that you shall Certainly have the true use thereof, And I will also tell you further it shall be delivered you only 15 or 22 or 23 dayes of the next month if not sooner by your labor therein & thereby find Redemption & so consequently one branch of your happy deliverance Come on them

It is true Sirs this is a Certaine Collection that hath bin shewed forth at Divers times & occasions to some Men i but I tell you you have A forme of Prayer which is somewhat more Authentick & leave this prayer quite the name of the King Bataiua is a divine Name drawne from some Attribute commanding the whole Angels of the East

* do humbly Intreat earnestly beseech Powerfully move and call you forth to (in the Call of the first 4 sett over

I am called away & can stay no longer with you only 7th day I meet you againe on weddensday & thirsday next weeke

1686 August 25 : the 2d: There appeared 3 spiritums in Conferance in the ston and beyond them is a place as Red as a Ruby the third are Lowanael, And & Cotrabiel And doth give Command that the spirits of the water of the Earth of the Aire & of the fire be Ready for Comand by the Offices of Juvamiah & Damariel And said I dare not Reveale nor show forth what is given me for the motive part of this action is in order to the fulfilling of your earnest supplications you humbly pray Resolve & in order thereunto we are given in Charge the mean thereof Referred to particulars every & each one distinctly by which appoynted for ye subject

And Lewmaell looked to ye ſolid glaſs kept on the South ſide & Corhabiell to yt on the North ſide and the walls drew in them & there was in them those Ellementall ſpirits belonging to the 4 ellements and there was Semariel in the South Court & he was giving Charge to them in yt Court & Turaniah did ſo alſo in the other — And all the Ellementall ſpirits did reverence to Turaniah & Semariel And every Ellement is devided in to 4 parts & every one of those parts in to 4 parts — — — and now all the Ellementall ſpirits doe rejoyce & doe reverence to those 2 viz Turaniah & Semari and a vaile came over them all And now Turaniah & Semariel are in the ſton in conference with the other 3 viz Lewmaell And and ~~An~~ Corhabiel, And Ave looked on mee ſmiled & said well Sr be comforted for you have through divine grace Mediums of Comfort Redily aſsiſting you as it ſhall pleaſe the higheſt of which my ſelfe is not of the Meaneſt orders Nor of the higheſt but equally ſufficient in place & office to ſerve my God & comfort his ſervants in the Adminiſtra =tion thereof at his pleaſure & Comand therefore be not diſmaid though you ſeeme comfortleſs & troubled in ſpirit but looke up & beholde the ſalvation of the higheſt extended to his ſervants in the Midſt of diſpair to morrow in the Morne I meet you here againe about 9 & give thanks to the higheſt for the action of this day & ſo withdraw for I am alſo called to order

August: 26th: 1686: — Thirſday: — 2d — — —

There appeared Ave in a vaile & anon he drew the vaile The firſt we ſay in ye ſton a Glorious Redneſs a good way in then came 3 ſpectrums with things Feathers about like a Cords of 3 ſtrands in their hands but the things like trumpits habbited like Harrolds but their Coats went downe to their feet then came An Imperiall ſpectrum Richly Robed & Crowned and ſome like pages held up the traine of ye Robe after it then came ye 6 ſeniors then came 16 & 16 more & a great number after them and they went round the ſton a Proceſsion & ſo went into that Red place againe And Ave ſaid I could not Sr well diſcourſe with Informing you of examining your Invocations untill a ſolemne Proceſsion was Made in order to proofe thereof elſe I might have continued longer ye laſt day in order thereunto, but I muſt alſo obſerve & obay which thus far hath fulfilled mine & your obedience meet me therefore at 8 in the Morne & I ſhall Eaſe you of that beſetteth good Purpoſe for I muſt alſo goe Proceſsion with my fellow ſervants of the higheſt; wondering ~~again~~ of friday in this weeke was your begining of promiſe made to you Now then Sr ſee how divine Providence hath favoured & overſhaddowed you with a ſheild of mercy untill this time & doubtleſs through hope & faith in the higheſt will continue your defender & Protector untill the end of time Amen. — — — —

1686 August 27th: ffriday:. 2d:.

There Appeared Aue, & it seemed very pleasant & it smiled on me & said you may Sr Read over your Lesson in ye first servient out of ye East (to our comfort & benefit.* And we also comand Conjure & constraine you in by & through this great & Mighty name of your God Ardeza & by ye force vertue & Power thereof to fulfill & accomplish all our Demands & Requests that we shall propose & Make unto you as by Nature & office is given you of the highest, move therefore And ~~come away~~ Immediatly come away without any further Prolixity or delay open the Mistories of ye for his mercy endureth for ever.* O you spirituall servant or messager of mercy & dignified Excellent Power of light ~~Celestially dignified~~ (N)

4 And by the Mighty Power vertue efficacy & force thereof for the which we have moved & called you from your Orders here before us and make these our Requests unto you to show forth Reveale & make knowne unto us by office given unto you of the highest the true knowledg of Physick in all its part & the Curing of all Diseases, and so by shewing your Attendations herein fully to instruct us & make us full partakers thereof whereunto we doe hereby Powerfully demand of you wherein your obedience shall be a song of honour And the Prayse of your God in your Creation

Tuesday

There Appeared a spectrum before the stone in a Sylverish Cloud it is Sammiel, and in the hollow & deepes at the bottome of them is a darknes & like serpenting things crawling in and out like a heape of Eeles and seeme to be affrighted and at the top of the deepe there is like a flaming sword poynting downwards and Sammiel observes the stone & solid glass deepe

And in the Center of the stone is an Imperiall spectrum in a red Cloud and from it at ye 4 Angles or quarters stands Michael Uriel Raphael & Gabriel & between each archangle grows a tree that hath aboundance of delicate fruite like Gold Silver &c and of all Collours as Green blew & transparent like pretious stone and the Leaves as delicate beyond all compare

Michael is in the East & Uriel in the west & Raphael in ye North & Gabriell in ye the South & Michael & Uriel doe looke pleasantly on me, And in the solid glass deepe next me is Samaridl & it turned to ye East & south & seemed to ~~[illegible]~~ move somewhat that way And there came in to that deepe from ye East the king of the East viz Bataiua: with their trumpeters before him & Banners & 5 princes following ye king & the seniors and an Innumerable company after them in their degrees & they marched & made procession round the glass deepe doing adoration to the stone & so went away & so they did after the from the South And in ye North solid glass deepe was Furzoniah & it moved to ye west & North And the like appearance was there from ye west & after ye from ye North And then came a flash & And came in to ye solid glass deepe next me & communed with Samaridl & Lossmael came into the other sand & communed with Furzoniah and they all have correspondency with the stone & the Imperiall spectrum in the Center of ye stone doth cast red flashes from it: And Sammiel said

Trust me Sr this is great & of good to you best befitting ye hopes & fulling your ~~[illegible]~~ requests but stay awhile

And Samuiel ~~bowed~~ to the stone & turned & threw like a spa of fire to that hollow receipt & then the flaming sword fell downe on those ugly things & set them all of a flame & burnt them to Ashes And said So god be thanked I have obediently quit my Charge as Commanded, I must returne to my Celestiall Order where mine Allies Samariel & Zuzaniah & And & Lewanael are making ready for your Entertainment meet on Monday next then the rest of this action followeth

Sept 6th: 1686: Monday

There appeared in the stone And & Lewanael & they smiled one on ye other & Lowrers together about me; about Peter Fish it is nothing but some Malitious Knave hath set the ~~fole~~ foole a Madding and then they smiled on me And on Thursday I shall have Answere about John & his wife And said to Lewanael Trust me dear we must now see to ye Amendment of his Glass mettle; so much desired & wherein it may be so meliorated as to exceed common Improvements let not the knaves triumph & glory, in their malitious inventi to me Well Sr believe it as it shall please the highest & my superiors to emit grace & power unto me I will as freely & kindly show forth & Communicate the same unto you, be not dismaid therefore for I trust in the highest you will yet stand fast & free from Dispaires & fears & keep your place with honour you shall heare more of it the next day of action stay a while and they came againe And And said All Glory honour & prayse with great thankefullness be returned unto the most high God for his Paternall mercies unto all such his servants as truly & stedfastly serve him & put their faith & trust in him, ; That red spectrum is the Messager of the Promises and will discover to the great secret opening all the books of the Sophisters & stays here to do it as it shall please god well Sr I do assure you this forme is a good forme but yet lay that paper here untill the next day of action being thursday next well Sr you have bin made partakers of grace & mercy in the action of this & the last day for the which give thanks unto you

---

god & be comforted herein, & that his mercy endureth forever And the which we also humbly pray may never be withdrawn nor depart from you Amen Hallalujah

Sept 9th: 1686: the first after the present

There Appeared two spectrums before in the stone (viz) And & Lewanael and a third spectrum beyond them And And said, Come on then Sr to our Purpose the were inquiring of the state & being of your Kinsman he was grown fat & gross & Corpulent in body I cannot be well Informed of thin with makeing & ~~also~~ doubt his being in the land of the living not that was slaine or died a violent death but I hear you will be more fully satisfied thereof within the limit of about 50 days or little more or less but I say as I am not Informed so I may see the further & give you answere on ye 6th day, but stay it must be the 7th day that we meet here on the weekly action Attend on Monday morning next & thursday next is the day of action And for your kinswoman she languisheth under an evill tongue not witchcraft or sorcery, but a most diabolicall and malitious tongue & apparitions & wicked woman of kin to them, it is not Medicine will help her but it will see for something in stead of sand a Clay our enemies have great loss & are dubious of their Venturing they use Nitre & Cornish they find their glass will not do I would advise you Sr somewhat inlarg your selfe & untill you have Levelled your Enimies

NOTE

This volume has a very tight binding and while every effort has been made to reproduce the centres, force would result in damage

1686: Sept: 13th : Monday:

There appeared Lexomael in the stone and Lexomael gave the Prayer to one fellow Servant & the call to the other & said

Thus far we have don well, so now proceed are to Confirmation you do well to present the whole forme of the Intended Peticall and gentle Corrections as befitteth your Genius, you will have such things as hath not bin knowne since the beginni of time :: be content thine Enimies shall fall before thee well Sr your desires shalbe accomplished & fulfilled therefore give god thanke & praise — for I am sent for hastely 1686 thursday Sept 16 — — — the 2d

There appeared before the stone a delicate spectrum in flaxe haire having a Crowne on its head and its garments are red & gold & Purple mixt together and it looked pleasantly on us My Name is Agriana I am of the order of dominations and of the first of the 2d part of it & equall in Power & office to the superiour part And am from thence Emitted at your Addresses therunto ~~said~~ made by reason other Celestiall & Celestirian Allian that should have Moved this day heather in order to promise of the last, are so disposed by Charge in office I hath ~~bin~~ Intermitted but not denied friendship & love visibly present here Considering in sooth that though absent yet not absent as they are in Charge by office still on your account & onset & behalfe of your promised happiness which assuredly & shortly cometh to your assistance and Comfort: Good Lord, what could I say & shew forth if it were needfull to make Repetitions, or to lay down strengthening Arguments in Confirmation of your hopes whi I could do were it my Taske, but this I may say to your Comfort that unto whom the same is emitted & given in Charge will not only shew forth your Comforts & benifits but Conforme & fulfil them too, to the full accomplishment of your promised felicity to me I am Informed that you have somewhat to make Instance of to be advised with; by a good friend I overheard you well friend I understand you to be in some distress & greatly streightned now from your owne distress let us reason of what hath bin ~~It~~ is not friend that ye need covet what malitious fancies oth ~~kin~~ would foment & stirrup some Mischievous & scandalous = conspiracies to depresse you & secretly vex you, which from your owne distresse plainly makes way to augment that designe it hath bin also could you you must steare very hard even against the stresse & streame of those evils untill you have & can weather their roughness of this dangerous & stormy poynt dangerous I call it by reason of those monarchs & threatts proceeding from a fayling & paradventure a falling ambiti= =on; It is true they have cheerfully shot the Gulfe & now Attended seemingly Cheerefull to the Piramie of their presumpti= =ous & Ambitious mallice, but Alas their woefull Returnes I mean the expected benifits therof by weeping Crosse And it may be full in more dangerous & stormy surges then you have & by divine providence may have escaped so that from hence you may safely Construct, that although you are beset on every side with desperation either of doing or undoing And then be your owne Judg then it followeth that I must rationally answere you thus Let not your Laboration so much as seemingly in the sight or apprehention of any especially those that ith to neare the same for I great scandall & grosse mistake may insue thereupon which may seeme credulous in the thoughts of some & so prove Injurious both to your selfe & it take notice if you have goods or wares you cannot sell nor tricke Noe Sr my advice unto you is to goe forwards persist on therein for if you become stationary then you will be supposedly Retrograde, which will be a meanes of very great Injury, in Incouraging the Envious enimies thereof to triumph & Glory in the hopes of your downefall & will seeke to infuse the credulity thereof in dispersing that wicked rumor & false report that it will be of many beleived therewith I say still, still, beare great injuries therefrom to succeed now then I say againe be your owne fault & then you will Comply with me & be resolute to do & not to undoe. So goe on with Courage you are neare deliverance then you are aware on

And so the love & friendship of the most high god & his Celestiall mediums of grace bless you in the promised hopes of your happiness & deliverance from evill on the 7th day being the 23d Instant shall be your dies Ternarius if you have liberty you may Consider at 9 or 10 a clock on Monday morning

Sept 23: 1686: : Ternary:

There appeared a great fiery redness in the ston And from the testimony this is in the top of the ston goes up a Copile way a good way above the top of a fiery redness And there is appearance before the ston it is Zedekiel with a Crowne on its head & a ~~reddish~~ purple robe on And it hath a scepter in one hand & a sword in the other there is writ on the sword in red letters Justicia writ on the Scepter Honour it said the Scepter is to preserve us it said the sword is to Defend us And it smiled And in the hollow Receipts are Juxaniah & Samariel in Purple Robes & Crownes on & like Hazell wands in their hands And they smile also and they stand upon a darke place & out of that Darke place doth now And then Arise an ugly thing that would Affect them but cannot & doe fall backwards — as they advance their wands in the sollid Glass Receipt ~~is M~~ that is on the North side of the ston is Maxsoma with 3 or 4 books and beyond them is a spiritt in wright and an other with a desk before it & paper & things as if it had bin a wrighting in the other sollid Glass Receipt is And & hath my Papers in its hand & beyond And is an other in wright And a desk & books and one standing by the other in white

And And doth Commend them & say they are good Presidents there is a spiritt in the ston that is most richly robed & Crowned as if its robe was all a flame and there is a spiritt on each side of it & it looked on me & smiled And that spiritt on that side next me is Uriel & Uriel hath in its hand a Glass that is Gallypot fashion & covered like a box very close And there is in it a Mass that is blood Red & it hath a small sparkling or glittering in it And on the other side of this glorious spiritt is Lexemael & it hath a Glass in its hand like a viall with a long neck & well closed ~~o~~ in the mouth & it hath a white Cristalline water in it And a good way further in the ston is a very pleasant place in white is two humane spiritts & a great many more of Angellicall spiritts white we cannot well discerne — And Maxsoma delivers up the books to the white spiritt & the clare like spiritt,
And Uriell looked much on me & so doth Lexanael also & Lexemael holds up the viall in its hand & saith, here is the begining of wisdom true knowledg & all temporall felicity, And Uriell saith And Sr here is the end of that begining for here is the true solar seminall Quintessence And here Sr I give you promise & Assurance that you shall make this great secret now shewed forth for I my selfe will stand by your Operations, that you shall yet become great Master of that wisdom, that the unworthyness of man discerneth not, we dare not say more least we also offend, and you must also Cease action at this time & withdraw for the presence of Power in Appearance is great but you shall converse here againe on the 5th day and give your Attendance on divine pleasure by mediums of Paternall goodness Cease withdraw give thanks —

Sept: 28:: 1686; tuesday: the first weeke after Ternary

There appeared before the ston Madimi & a red Ray came downe to a poynt & poynted into the ston and in the ston there is appearance a good way of and also nere but obscured And there is veiles in the sollid glass [illegible]

Madimi said have patience Move not from place this last part of the preceeding Action ~~welly~~ wholly is to us & Madimi said she goe away a little while & returne againe for my Mother Calleth mee

And through the Crimson Ray the poynt downe into the ston cometh downe ever now & then a spark like a star and when it comes into the ston it gives a flash & so it did severall times and by that meanes the mistiness ~~[illegible]~~ that was in the ston is cleared up & vanished And now the ston is adorned & made like an Arbour like place or place of pleasure beyond all compare
And in the midle of this delicate place is a table like ours but covered over with gold & on the midle of it stands a cup & out of it issueth a transparent thine flamid fume and at each ~~side~~ side or square place of the table is like bookes some only at the east square layes also 3 or 4 bookes and before the East & West side of the table is a great Angell & they both kneele & at the North & South side is a kneeling spectrum at each kneeling And the kneeling spectrums have a Crowne of Laurell on their heads
And now those sparks or stars that come downe into ye ston give a flash on the table & ascend againe And Madimi came againe & looked on us & smiled & said here you may behold Srs Mediums of divine grace effi your oblations & therefrom humbly imploring with your Emission of Power to Accomplish what you have so earnes=tly & humbly prayed for And awaiteth also with you divine pleasure as now with you still implored for fulfilling the promise made And ~~[illegible]~~ thereby ~~[illegible]~~ of your felicity

And Enjoyment of temporall & Eternall Peace by thereby you may know that this Ternarian Action now finished wholly concerneth your selves, & indeed by a due congruity by vertue of your obedience with your humble supplications and Petitions which concludeth with an happy determination And resulteth your deliverance the 14th day of the next month with you is your dies Ternarius fixed last except otherwise ordered, doe not dispaire nor let your hopes fayle; .: action is ended of this last day;.

October: 4th: 1686:.:. the 2d weeke after Ternary:

There appeared a small spectrum with a fine Coronet on its head and in a Curious Purple Robe, & in a youthfull forme And said (smiling) well friend what was showed forth unto you on friday last, is of verity, It saith ye have a burnt collor ye floweth from ye ~~[illegible]~~ Gaull, this obstruction begets a disturban=ce on the spleene & begets wind there ye violently flow up into the head
I will tell you Sr that due preparations of these which you call: Rosmary Bettony Marjoram, Piony. Sage. amber Castor hartshorne or Ivory after due Purgations used now & then about once in 20 or 30 dayes & at other sometimes a dose of your Medicine when you feele any distresse

one thing more I shall acquaint you with all you have bin often informed of Infernall assalts fomented & stirred up & so acted by these Mediums of [illegible] inclination which leads them to Nothing but Malitious Rancor & bitternesse of spirit from which God his great mercy hath hetherto preserved you & I instance thus much further that an evill demon Lurking to harme you but cannot yet Attempted ~~[illegible]~~ to touch you but could not but touched the drinke as it passed into thy Mouth had not thy good angell stood by & prevented the intended mischiefe of that evill Demon, then it would have bin a great deale worse God be thanked that hath blessed you hither againe I would advise you to repaire & Make good your duty of the last weeke And to come here againe on ye 3d day or thirsday in order to this present weekly day of action This my friends I can assure you yt great things are ready set forth unto your Comfort & as meanes of making you happy in the Comforts & benefits of this life which through divine grace Endowing you may also be the path way to Eternall Happinesse unto which the most high God in his good time Blesse all his servants with & bring them unto October 7th :: 1686 :: Thursd

There appeared two creatures before ye ston And like a fiery vaile or Appearance in the ston And there is a fiery red star over ye ston yt darts a Ray downe into the ston, then two before the ston are Demniel & Zedekiel and they are mighty pleasant & beautifull & they have fine Crownes on their heads And there came a flash & Zedekiel is gone & now Demniel hath a bright star on its brest & it looks smilingly & pleasantly on me & seemeth to rejoyce much: and it pointed to ye star Behould the light of Celestiall Grace descended the gifts shortly followeth & the benefits thereof surely & certainly come determineth; The Power & effects dignifieth you with a Comand, yea a full Constraining Power over all Ellementall and Infernall things of what nature order of fire, Matter, Manner, both Superior Inferior in the Earth above the Earth or whereever else about ye the Earth or parts Profitable for ye good & benefits of mankind & for the particular friend of that great Arcanum as is promised you in the true knowledg thereof also with the ~~best~~ before you come here againe on ye 5th day being Tuesday next by reason of the 7th day which [illegible] dies Ternarius & I know not what benefits may be given before but I am sure very benevolent afterwards neither doe I know how much or little of action will appeare untill those gifts & benefits come to your hands I feele not more given me to shew forth let this be sufficient for which give god Thanks as I also doe with you

October 12 :: 1686 :: Tuesday :: — There appeared a red star over ye ston and a solar star over one of the solid glass receipts, and a creature in purplish vestments & the faire shines like ~~[illegible]~~ the Moone ~~[illegible]~~ adorning about the stone & receipts, and now it stands before the ston & looks at us & smiles and said pray you Sir think me not an idle toy for this my wanton diversion, Children you know are accustomed to ye behaviour and I seeme to be noe lesse, nay Sir my Mother hath more pritty baby Children which I know will one day make you smile & delight in their good Company, trust me Sir you should love my mother because her Children loveth you & much willing to visit you, my Mother also attendeth the high pleasure of the great Lord & father of us all Trust me Sir ~~[illegible]~~ you will bid us welcome for where we visit the place is blessed and the persons happy, where our feet beareth our presence for our entrance is a Testimony of Grace and of an ~~[illegible]~~ Never fading felicity our plants are never rooted up nor never perish in their beauty & our gifts are Monuments of Eternall Remembrance which I would not have your doubt nor dispaire of mercy Blemiſh or Eclips I will goe tell my Mother that I have given you a viſit but then you muſt not tell her that ſhe ſent neither, I went a Meſſenger, when ſhe comes her ſelfe. for ſhe may hap to Enquire of her Childrens behavior; but its noe Matter we are but Children & to be rendered Excuſable Eſpecially having ſuch & ſo good a Mother ſo well it ſeemes you are expected here on thurſday Morning in which affaire the Moſt high God bleſs you with his favor & grace in the preſence of his Celeſtiall & Coloſtriam Meſſeng your fellow ſervants in the higheſt   giue thanks & Peace

October 14th: 1686:: Fornary ~~[illegible]~~

There appeared before the ſton Ga, Za, Paa, and they looked one on the Other & ſmiled one on the other. there is over the ſtone a body like the ſun & on it ſtands a Red fiery ſpectrum ~~Red~~ in Regall forme Imperially Crowned with a ſcepter in its Right hand and out of the end of it iſſueth out Rayes upwards and in the other hand is a thin like a Round Trencher full of Caracters letters or figures and there darts downe a Ray from the ſun like body into the ſton & Ga, Za, Paa, turned to the ſton And in the ſton is a table like our Table here & in the midle is a curious Cup that Ray that comes from the ſun over the ſton poynts downe into that cup And Uriel ſits on the Eaſt ſide of the table and is Inſtructin R:O: in a booke the Uriel hath that is open & pickes out letters out of the booke that makes a word & ſheweth it to & R:O: takes it and R:O: is on the South ſide of the table and Gabriel ſits on the weſt ſide and Gabriel Inſtructs : E R: and the ſton is bordered & ſtrewed round about to Admiration like a delicate fine Arbor, And beyond this Arbor like place is an other Curious place where is Sachiel & Zadkiel, looking towards us & they have ſilver wands in their hands with which they poynt to many many places or things ſometime one way ſome time an other over each glaſs ſolid Receipt is a blaſing ſtar poynting into it & in it on the North ſide is Aud & Flemoſe and in the other is Lexanael & Ephemeli And before Aud & Flemoſe is a deske & a booke open that they are a conferring about & beyond them is one in white & one in Purple Reddiſh, looking towards them & ſmiling one on the other and ſo it is alſo in the other ſolid glaſs Receipt And in the hollow Receipts are Suxamael & Samariel with other more terreſtiall ſpectrums with them And Gaza, Paa turned to us & ſmiled And Za ſaid Grace mercy & peace from above be multiplied upon you Amen Hallelujah These bleſsings my friends hath bin promiſed & will be ſurely accompliſhed unto you we muſt confeſs we heare you make Complaint of many Terreſtiall Inventions infernally ſtirred up & fomented, but acted by ſuch Malitious Incendaries as are indeed permitted to live on Earth as Agents of great evills on the paſſive objects of humillity & Innocency but what then, their will ſhute markleſs Injuries determine I will tell you Sir it will prove the only meanes of heaping up their owne deſtruction; you have bin informed, that if this ſtormey poynt be once weathered you have the ſweete Calme uſhered with a gaile of Gentle hopes that undoubtedly paſſeth you ſafely to the port of your ſtedfaſt & unſhaken faith where you will ſurely ſtand as fixt as the moſt ſtable Rock againſt the moſt ſtormey & ſurging billows the aſſurance whereof is Moved & ſhewed forth this day & will very ſhortly be fit for action & operation the leſſons of which will be ſone delivered on Monday Morning you ſhall have the Remainder of this action

---

: 1686: :October: 18th: monday:

There Appeared before the Ston Sammiel there is over the Ston a red fiery Apparance over the sallid glass where on ye North side is Levanael and that on the South side is Anael

And Sammiel said

It is conjectured altogether needless to make rehersall of those Great mercies & benefits wherewith the most high God by the mouth of his sacred spirit in the unity of the blessed trinity Endowed his servants in the begining of tyme, and since, by the Inspiration also of his most holy spirit, And so as hath bin said in all ages since both mediat & Immediat unto all his Chosen Vessels of Grace and other his servants elect unto mercy, even as the first promised benefite whereof was delivered Immediat, & so by mediums of Grace through divine — appoyntment both mediat & Immediat as by action given from superiour Power left Inherent to Posterity by Inspiration Revelation & vissible Apparances as now at this day with you, wherein the wonderfull wor of the Creator is showed forth in the Creature & so as it hath bin said of all Creatures wch were made in the Creation both Animall, vegetable & Minerall now then Srs to tell you how neere you are in receivin the benefits of temporall felicity the full Injoyment of your hopes through faith in the highest & the Pleas of Colosiriah, I may not Appoynt nor show for but I will relate thus far unto you, that as we are n of time by reason time dwelleth not with us any oth wise then as being moved into sublunar parts by divine Emission & in our Apparances unto the Chil of Grace as before I have said; I trust on thirsday next at your next Convocation here or in his presen Renarius at some of our usuall metings &c — — something will be delivered of Great Importance the reasons Srs why I show forth this my Message was literally in ~~being I~~ saying I conjectured thus much know yee Srs that Celestiall Inspiration Revelation or otherwise by vissible Apparance showed forth unto the Colosirian Vessels proceedeth from that light that none Mortall Eye can see, tongue express, or thought conceive, but from the only ground of that God which is great Lord of all things his servants not daring otherwise then to Attend that pleasure which undoubtedly makes them truly happy through faith humillity & Obedience,

I now you must Convene here on thirsday next at your accustomary time & I trust in the highest you may paradve=nture not lose your labour for as it hath bin said when superiour Powers Attend Inferiour Addresses & humble supplication know ye Celestiall mercy also moveth & descendeth therewith as divine pleasure shall be Graciously mercifull in that appoyntment so Emitted & sent forth whose holy name be for ever blessed, and whose Paternall comfortations be given to his servants for their temporall & Eternall Comforts Amen Hallalujah & so we end this action

October: 21th: 1686:

There appeared a fiery red apparance over the ston in which is Imperiall Apparance as we suppose it to be Castor — — and within the ston is the Testimony giving great light in & it like the Sun

And in the ston is Vriel Sachiel & Galuak, and they are all 3 Crowned only Vriells is Mitrall

And before ye ston is a great many about 9 small spectrums in a sylverish Cloud

And Vriel & Galuak, looked on me And then looked one on ye other and smiled and Vriel said well Sr we now observe the saying of our fellow servant in the highest Sammiel on ye Closure of the last dayes action declaring of your Address at this time in saying that paradventure you might not lose your

Labor neither shall you, for we will fulfill ye saying to your Comfort in the action of this day

Remember it hath bin showed forth unto you that all Mysticall sayings should in some time hereafter cease & determine, and what should be declared or showed forth for ye future should be easy & in such plaine Language as accustomarily passeth And is Comonly used amongst even the most Inferiour sorts of Comune Persons

And now we will Discover unto you the greatest of Knowledg though from ye meanest of things, and the most vile subject matter thereof searching the whole Earth & all the most Learned Sophi thereof with great difficulty & perturbation of thought & Apprehention thereby we may justly call The Mistical Equivocation, And the hieroglyphicall Enigmata, of the greatest both Antient & Modern Sophia=ks, and so kept as a wondrous Arcanum to Amuse the senses And Imaginations of Ambitious & Aspiring Ignoramus (and then they all 3 smiled, one on the other Note well here

I pray you Sr what is man & what is his originall and how is he composed and how dignified, hath he not in him three principles & 4 Elements and is it not so of the whole Creation Animall vegetable & Minerall, come we then to the first worke of the Creation 2dly to Man, and 3dly to the understanding benifit & use of those gifts wherewith man was Adorned & Accomplished first as to ye Earth (to me

I trow Sr you have bin heretofore at the begining or first of your Addresses tould or it hath bin showed forth unto you in these words (hast thou walked in the pleasant grounds of the Rosary & knowest not Salt to be the first matter of all things then Consider from whence all things proceedeth I trow you will say from the salt of Nature wherewith the Earth is Impregnated and from whence by a fiery Nature issuing from ye Influence

* wite [illegible]

of the fiery & Airy Elements & Mutually contracting a naturall ~~heat~~ heat & Moysture upon the passive embrionated conceptions of water & Earth or Coldness & driness attended by an Aqueous humidity of Aire & water the one giving spirit & the other life by the Assistance also of the siderall Influences produceth the Conception growth & production of all things & Creatures in their severall & different respective kinds as ye Genus & species are formed by like different seeds passing through Astrall Constellations in their signall Powers but of this subject more hereafter let us Returne to man

I pray you Sr of what was he made (of Earth) well then he hath all in him yt is contained in the Earth yea the heavens & other Elements of which discourse also more hereafter

Let us Returne againe to man how was he adorned how was he dignified, was it not with Celestiall, Angellicall & divine beauty and accompanied with equall parts & participations of the greatest Glory, but when lost was then changed & Reduced to the most base & meanest of things the which subject hath bin already showen forth unto you &

It hath bin also showed forth in these words that the most high God dealeth to the Patient he may make himselfe the strongest and also that he can raise Moses out of the Earth to testify his Name marke these sayings — Conclude we then man to be made of the meanest subject of the Creation though Cloathed with Celestiall beauty & through disobedience become the vilest & the meanest of all Creatures except he struggle & wrestle much with the highest for grace & mercy for his present and future felicity from all which we will contract the Allegation & Equivocall determination of those Misticall sayings of the great Sophiarchs in their severall Results That the first matter of their great Arkanum is to be produced or taken from the meanest despicable things common to be had every where & in every thing we carry it with us we live not without it yet we despise it & sweep it out of ~~[illegible]~~ Dores & make no other regard then to set it at nought

I pray you Sr to be breefe with you what can you Imagine this to be; it is nought else but your owne Excrements the soyle you make from your bodies from your workes & what soever else may be thought wholly uselesse other wise then to feede & harten up the Mother of Nature to live & bring forth fruite of her body for ye Norishment & Comfort of all things conteined & borne of her still Impregnating uphold =ing supporting & Maintaining Mother Earth in its primitive Ens producing thereby a Nitrall salt which by the Attractive Power of the Celestiall Influences sublimeth & giveth life to all Creatures both Animall vegetable & Mineralls as they subsist one upon the other.

Thus Sir I have commented & preached unto you on this text & subiect of salt to be the first matter of all things to strengthen your understanding
So all the Parrabollicall sayings are explained which grant 3 alive understand well then Sr to proceed, we say that nothing yealds a more homo genian and Concipitive salt to that of Nature then the Excrement or Urine of Man which though you pretend a sayling in the Ascertaining thereof we will yet further help your Judgment therein except unto which is that of Plants or that of the Viall Plant, the vine, now then since we have explained these Parrabollicall Enigmaes as to the Maine secret & menstruum it selfe you shall make or cause to be Made a very well Rectified spirit of wine that must be truly & exactly dephlegmated which Reforce by its selfe then you shall Make a spirit of man urine it matter it not whether it be of those that drinke wi peradventure Sr the urine might not be well Putrified peradventure it might not be dephlegmated & then your flemb washeth away your salt but I will tell you how to know when the urine is well putrified or prepared for this worke

Take about halfe a spoonefull or ½ that & when the urine hath stood as before hath bin said 7, 9, 12 or 15 dayes more or lesse if you put some of this urine on the surrup of violets which is of azure or blew Collour & if the urine turneth it into a greene then is it fit Imediatly to be distilled & so prepared for worke

Then if you poure of this well prepared spirit of Urine on your well Rectified spirit of wine 1 ʒ to 3 it will be all converted into a body of salt from which you must draw a spirit or menstruum of most wonderfull efficacy which I must also tell you how to doe or else I feare you cannot doe it it will Take of Clay such as with you is called tobaccopipe Clay gently Calcined or dried rather the Moysture thereof Exhaled away by a gentle heating the which being mixed with your salt will then come over in a spirit or Menstruum of I say Most Admirable wonderfull & great efficacy preparing all bodies by dissolution for effecting the greatest effects and thus far have I fulfilled ~~that wee~~ the Adventured Promise of the last action at the end whereof your difficiency & disobedience of your wonted & accustomary offertories hath caused a great exception & gave entrance for wicked Insinuation intreatsment was made & still Lurketh for opportunity but Sr let me tell you it layeth on your part as well as on our part to expiat this offence which Crime had otherwise deprived of action this ternary & it may be the next also by dubling the offertory of this day which of right should have bin tribled but that we have excused your oversight by your forgetfulnesse which otherwise might have proved of great losse & difficulty unto you & then say you have seen a Mercy in this dayes action & ye favor of your oratory   And Caliel said having regard Sr to your weaknesse lest my Children to defend your Innocenty which as this our Holy & high Servant of Grace Meledgeth hath expressed but had you bin found Guilty of disobedience you had bin at a great losse if not for ever lost pray take care it be so noe more I doe assure you I have bin your friend & am so & shall continue so And so long as you serve god & stand obedient to his law & Commandements I and mine Allies will also still serve you & be your friends

I with my brethren Ave & Levanael have bin taking a view & comparing all ye making of Glass truly Sr we cannot finde any Glass to exceed your owne saving only say you we want a whitenesse or lunar lustre and then you should be well but pray Sr doe you take notice of the Principles or Ingredience of which other glassworks are composed & then I confess you may weight your owne ye best in poynt of goodness I pray you Sr how much of your Mettall doe you spoyle or through away & then you will know ye difference between your gaine & others losse when you better examine ye Matter

But Sr I can tell you & I will tell you what can make your glass as fine & beautifull as silver & yet keepe its strength which others do not doe whereas others worke much in prepared saturne or Brasse I confess the same to be good so far as it will flux but when it cometh to settle & fuse to a kind of conglutination it will not worke, or worke to that effect, which is expected & so is said by, & what doe they get by that + + yet you may use some Ceruse according to your discretion well then Sr to prepare ☾ for to whiten Glass to dissolve ☾ in ye Menstruum Iuriel spoke of Thus have we Srs kept promise with you & in doing your duty you keepe promise with us & we will fill you with Knowledge continue on Monday Morning

October 25: 1686 = verily Srs you have not said more then hath bin heard, ye foresight whereof appoynted convention here at this time The actions & Motions of your envious Enimies at this time we may call, the blustring stormes & beating billows of Malignity, tossing & tumbling you on ye raging surges of danger & desperation, we confess with you they are great Trials & great hassards, yet through Grace & mercy in the highest after ye great violence & Turbulence of this Adventure a Calme may follow & you may be a little happen becalmed, but then a gentle Gaile Ariseth & ushereth you with safety into the Port of Peace This Srs I must needs say, that the Person in whom ye Right & Power of the disposall of your Charge & Imploy ment lyeth, much restraineth us, by reason we touch not the Party so nearly, as to withstand ye Proper & due Rights of Proprieties & Propriators Beleive it Srs those your envious enimies now in question are in some respects in greater streights then you are which is thus to be understood, they doe find themselves sinking, for ye barke of their Ambitious hopes will not float or scarcely buoy above the streame, which makes them in many different thoughts & Consultations & Contracts many doubts & feares in their foresight as not understanding how the proceedings thereof will Prove & determine for they proceed with great cost & conclude it impossible for them to stand except you fall & have not any way to pursue that result but to offer ye bait of Purchase for many which is generally thought will take ye prize, well then Consider we that ye shall g to the place & persons concerned & discourse ye matter which you may easily doe in laying downe how prosperously this worke began & accordingly succeeded by Carefull & honest Manadgement as then was well known & proved & at this day to be attested so Sr if you can with such good Rhetorick as you genuinely carry on this discourse & with what hassard to your selfe you have managed whilst & Carried on ye credit of this worke & with what difficulty & opposition to your selfe you have sought still to prevent ye downefall & distruction thereof by those who now plainely appeare under ye pretence of Purchase to take it out of their hands verily Sr if you consider well how to dispute & lay all these things gradually home before them & the ill Consequences of ensuing Effects of these Pollitick Elusions & deceitfull offers they may easily perceive ye finall determination thereof to be noe more nor otherwise to be a distruction to their Interest therein & a totall subversion to ye worke it selfe goe to Mrs Browne & to mr Oliver & come againe on Thirsday

There appeared before ye stone a spectrum it is Zedechiel And also an Appearance of a spectrum within ye stone; it is Anne, And Anne lookes towards me & smiles And Zedekiel lookes on us very gravely & seriously and not angerily.

And she said Come on Sr to our Purpose, hearing of your scruples at somewhat lately delivered you of salts & the spirits thereof especially & more in perticular ye of urine I will now take upon me to Anatomise & define thereof differ then that spirit of wine & spirit of urine although never so highly & well rectified & truly dephlegmated, they are accounted of us & should also bee of you Kinds of sharpe spirits note then, that urine before any thing of Putrifaction is called Recent urine. to make ye spirit & salt whereof it is to be thus made

4 take of such urine quantum vis, and in a moderate heat vapor off or exhale wth 2 pts thereof & the other part or third may be distilled 3 into good spirit with which the salt vollitile will ascend as you may perceive by ye sides of the glass Receiver & if any flembe remaineth behind after ye spirit & salt is come over it is that which washeth away & dissolveth your salt the which spirit & salt may be after distillation a fewe times & then by sublimation brought all into a body of salt & then againe

if you take urine after due putrifaction according to the signes fore showed & distill ye same the spirit thereof cometh first over as you shall well perceive by bladders at the nose of the Retort which will be of all colloures & when you see ye salt thereof adjoyned to the sides of your glass representing ye ~~fil~~ simillitude of many plants or vegitables, and if you see afterwards ye a water come over yt doth dissolve that salt then stop that worke and this spirit by often sublimation may be brought all into salt

Thus have I Sr removed your doubts cleared your scruples & rectified your error, the use whereof shall as it may please ye highest be shortly hereafter declared & showed forth unto you,

I question as little as I have don in these Resolves but shortly as it may please ye highest as great gifts & benifits may be given to your supply & comfort I doe assure you Sr the Care & Charge in office in order thereunto is now in motion to that purpose it may be better ~~[illegible]~~ you may come downe here on Tuesday morne if you can conveniently

November 2d :: 1686 :: tuesday

There appeared before the stone Esmeli and it said My Mother saith you must not dispaire but be comforted in the highest who forsaketh not his servants although you are now (as hath bin said) in great hassard of a dangerous & distructive storme, which may be thought to drive your hopes on a most difficult rock or strand you on some desperate Quicksand of feare even worse then the supposed dangers passing between Silla & Caribdis and though I can say noe more then what hath bin already shewed forth yet I give you this Assurance that divine providence careth for you, & that Charge is gon forth by office given to Answerable Mediums for your supply succor support & comfort whensoever divine pleasure commandeth administration thereof which is not given me as yet to reveale; we touch not the rights & proprieties of buying nor selling or dealings of persons upon Earth one with an other in their temporal Concernes, the urim & Thummim are shewing forth & denominating the particulars litterally thereof which then are to be verbally collected & conjoyned for use which predicteth your deliverance & fulfilleth your desires all that you can doe at present is to gaine time whilst your hopes floteth on the stormy surges of feare & desperation a Calme paradventure may succeed notwithstanding the unruly & blustering billows of externall Enemy beateth never so hard against you, incompass-ing you as a whirlpoole to swallow up & devoure you wherein to if you should fall the bottome will breake you all to peeces, but through the strength of hopes & divine mercy supporting you may yet escape and arive to safety though battered with a little slandrous & scurrilous Rumors as some Owners of vessels will threaten their Careless Masters with Charge of great loss not being sensible of his necessity in extremity of weather who yet notwithstanding hath bin buoyed up & saufly drived & so resisted their fury & withstood their menaces And at Length all restored againe to friendship And the losse either Answered or Remitted, & afterwards in future viages Regained & redoubled you have I say by gentle excuse to gaine what time you possibly may or can And we trust that divine grace will be mercifull in gifts unto you & that by some one means unknowne as yet to me you may finde assistance all which lyeth in the power & pleasure of the highest 686: November 4th ; Tornary ::

there appeared in the stone a good way in a heavenly place and A glorious fiery red sceptrum in Imperiall forme & Michael on the right side of it & Uriel on ye other next to me And Galuah a good way of this side of them and before the ston is Esmeli & Ellomest in a silverish Cloud And Galuah lookes something ~~[illegible]~~ graver & it seemes to consider with them before the stone And now Galuah ~~now~~ lookes more pleasant and they seeme all to be in a Conference together in all the [illegible] and now they are turned this way all of them & Galuah ~~now~~ now Lookes more pleasant & smiles And Galuah saith Trust me these two bugbares feare & folly affrighteth & driveth the hopes of all man kind into desperation which though blameless yet weakens the faith & zeale of mind causing the spirits to faile & the Corporall as well as temporall

Condition of man to finish, without Considering the Allprovidentiall Care of divine power & providence is streched forth to Answere Assistance, yea of the Most high Madzilodarg through the grace & Paternall goodness of himselfe

You plaints Sr are heard of us, & we know well the occasion and the Necessity thereof and all the mischeife is that we touch not the Corrupted parts of terrestiall things so nearly as to advise or Assist therein But yet we consider with that respect of Promise Made unto you that there must be some good & propitious effect thereof in order whereunto there preparations & provision are both made & Making by Answerable Mediums in Charge and office as will fulfill your desires & discharge your Complaints a further attempt whereof may be shewed forth unto you on ye 4 or 7th day Cease the rest comes on Monday

November: 8th: 1686: Monday ::

There appeared Lexamael in a pleasant bower, very pleasant, and it said; Come on Sr, let us to our purpose first as to your Method in Menstruums & matters of the Laboration will shortly be delivered unto you to the sight & sence of your understanding And also the Names of there Spirituall Creatures, as by order & office shall be nominated to serve your Necessities with the treasuries of the Earth with prescript Rules for the due performance thereof of And you will be called also shortly to Speculation in order to your further & future satisfaction & felicity if it shall please the highest to Enlighten your Eyes & fortify your Animall Spirits with Celestiall Power & dignity for the which end a Celest Stone was here presented unto you, the benifit whereof will be further also shewed forth unto you 25 that day must pass over that is to say it is the 25th instant & your dies [illegible] wherein I find not the effect of what I shew forth to moue or desiered, 16 of desember & is also died lenarius with you the which likewise justly order, but then when you shall arrive to the 6th day or ye 13th day of Januarius then Then Sr will mercy begin to flow upon you as a flood untill it be a Spring tide & so arrive to a fulness of Celestiall Grace for which reason it hath been shewed forth that after 4 months yet insuing you may weather this difficult & stormy poynt

And Sr I will tell you: if those fooles who are the occasion of Prosecuting the Attempts of your worke for I can Call them noe better then Incendaries or busy Pick-thanks & mere Ignorant Dunces to foment & stir up differences before a Relapse can be recovered considering under what Circumstances the Cause thereof appeareth & which very oversight is the only meane of pulling downe & distroying the same Considering I say the Circumstances thereof for if those fooles did but consider & Rightly understand how the worke is eclipsed by meane of an other & with what ambition the Pertakers thereof drives at its totall subversion by either Ingrossing or other deceitfull project, I say if this was but Rightly understood & the Pollicy used to subvert it they would quickly lay aside their prosecution for there is nothing more in it then deceitfull crafts & subtill devises to Ruine downe & Level the future hopes & benifits yt will certainly proceed from it & Indeed, if you can gaine so much time: you will assuredly stand and they will assuredly fall

Sr I will tell you if you are Challenged with bein indebted to your undertaking then you plead it woul not otherwise be since the worke was eclipsed by an other meanes & you striving to uphould, support & keepe the Glory of your worke in Credite & have thereby very much ingaged your selfe for ye keepin the worke by reason of the other works well Sr have patience you may be supplyed with advice & paradventure with comfort too know you not that you are in a storme & know you not that I have already said of mercy ready moving & descending upon you, you must therefore with patien a little endure & by the strength & power of Perswatio to strive a little against the streame ~~as~~ if you can gaine time as I much question it not to stand 4 months you may be served with supply sufficient & strong drawe your enimies & stan ad usquam finem
And so for this I have showed forth my message & it is of Comfort unto you

November 11th 1686 the first

There appeared Galuah & 5 spectrums more & they are in Converse together the one with the other, And Galuah said it is a common Proverb amongst you that saith, threatned foul live Long, And so may you, what though inveterate mallice would throw you headlong into a dungion of despiratio & implunge you in the pit of distruction Sr remember you are yet on this side the grave, And that nothing shall burie you alive, untill the time of your mort dissolution by Nature and Order

Let me say what I came to comfort you in order to which I am this time moved hither I can declare noe more then what hath bin already showed forth unto you And to that purpose also, I shall leave my Children here with me to attend you & your motion untill the 30th day of the next Month were not you tould of being brought to subjection else to partake in such as shall be delivered unto you in order to your deliverance by such meanes as should be thereby appoynted therefore move not much in your sufferings least you dispaire of Comfort causeth its absence keepe you to your duty & we shall keepe to our promise in the meane time prepare ye 4 stirts of Parment made of the largest Lambsskin & bring them hither & my Children shall make them usefull to you, well Sr I have given my Children their Charge who will also attend you & your motions besides your other friends in Celestiall Land & Glosorium Community & Contemporiety for I am called away & must at this present leave you to the mercies of the highest & the Care of his servants over you & for you

Nouember: 15: 1686:

There appeared directly [in] the stone a fiery sword poynting upwards and in the stone a delicate place like a bower richly adorned & mighty pleasant there is a great many spectrums mov =ing some one way & some an other passing & repassing too & fro, and there is a small spectrum before the stone And in the sollid glass towards in vale of them are fiery walles & Michael is in ye one South side & Uriel in the other; And the spectrum before the stone said behould the Light & finger of Superior Celestiall Grace now in office & Charge given, to direct & conduct you unto peace and rest in your lives conditions & concernes

And Indeed in all or most of your temporall affaires I must say with my Mother I can shew forth good since touching that subject then what hath bin already shewed forth only this far I may add, that you stand in as good state & condition in your present Imployment as ever my Mother hath sent also in love of her promise of her retinue sufficient as we hope to your Assistance & help you to weather this boysterous storme, & Pilot you through the turbulent surges of threatned dangers & malitious Invectives

You have Sr in this last triple ternarius commencing on the 4th Instant and extending unto the 6th day of January next which is partly adjourned untill the 13th day by reason of an Interposition of silence from ye 23d of December untill ye 30th of the same or rather from the 24th to the 31, yet on those dayes that is to you must doe your duty in this place my Mother hath given some charge in office to shew forth & declare unto you touching this great triple ternary which is of great & considerable Importance touching you as in order to your future happiness, by whose comand I am not only ordered here in charge with the rest of my Alliance but there is also the light of order of superior And Grace to our & your Assistance & fulfilling your hopes I know it may seeme to be some what in charge touching some [illegible] offertory of the same tripling terna for orders as issuing forth from superior Power to Assigne the great spirituall Prince by name Ussill whose residence or Mansion is in the Northwest Angle or part of the Aire with others of his Attending presid =ntiall Dukes & other Ministring spirits under them a further account ~~[illegible]~~ thereof together with the invocations moving & calling them forth with all proper directions thereto depending in due Manner & order soon to your Assistance shall be given you the nature & office of whom ~~and properly~~ not only to discover & make knowne all treasures y be hid which are many & great but also to serve your Necessities therewith them of the day are good but them of the night are more evill

And others of the ~~Inferior~~ sort of ye 9 orders will also be given in

And if it pleaseth god you stand firme the weathering of this storme And shall enjoy a serene Calme & settlement in your condition & affaires the next Epocks will bring you to more superior Enjoyments And then shall you never be incombred with future Molestations nor troubles of life give him noe trouble but rather keepe ~~faithe~~ faire & friendly with him

nor I will not trouble you on your next day of action I know my Mother entends you her selfe to give you further Informations in the more Important Directions of this triple ternary well Sr if you cannot remember you are excusable in your conjecture its not materiall whether you can remember it or noe Sr be not ~~be~~ dismaid you shall find friendship to the last moment

November 18 :: 1686 :. .

There appeared that Blessed Angell Galuah & two small spectrums like little pritty Children with it & they smild on one the other and on us

Let your thoughts & minds be carried over inferior scrutinies & your soules & spirits exalted above any follys of dispaire or fear of sinking all though the vessell of your hopes is dangerously desperate, & fearfully wearied, in thunder & stormy Impetuous gales issuing from Infernall vapors contracting malignant blights Ah ye weaklings question not your Deliverance & future Injoyment of Peace & Safety in a more Calme & serene Tranquillity; And know ye that you have the Power of the highest to support & Assist you divine grace & mercy comforte & given to comfort Celestiall Love imbracing you & all Inferior Powers giving forth & Ready to serve you, therefore since you know the Rock & foundation, whereon you stand keepe steadfast there And you Certainly never fall should I make Repetition of what I could Render it is but needless; But stay a while

Then Galvah spake to each of the little spirituns by it & they went away
And one spiritum came & brought two slips of parchm and Galvah looked on them & laid them by And then the other came in & brought a skin of Parchm four square & it is written on & it layd it by Galvah looked on it & layed it by Them two slips of Parchment are two Girdles that are to be worne That square Parchment is to be laid down to a table it is called Mensa Theurgia more wilbe speake of it when it is delivered There is an other Table which is called Mensa = Pali Parchina of which more also hereafter A skin of Parchment of 28 inches over the narrowest way

And Galvah looked wishfully on me & smiled here are 4 which are the 4 Angles & the governing Powers here are the 16 that serveth for 16 poynts of the Compass here are 11 wandering Powers in no Order here is the 9 superiore Orders that undulateth all those Powers of the Aire out of ye 16 we will draw one (viz) Usiel & 3 dukes under it with or 4 if there be occasion with the Ministring spirits under them Come on then Sir we shall mention 3 out of each of the 9 superior orders which commandeth all the more Inferiour though all Great in Power & so contract all into Practice & service befitting any occasion whatsoever, & more Especially ye part or Branch of operation or affaires that is of present use to supply our Necessities Come we then to the purpose reckon up 9 times 3 is 27 & one times 3 just so many Crowned angels manifested offered [illegible], up as an oblation correspo nding the full Perfection of Command of Celestiall [illegible] by such Mediums as shalbe given & assigned to your service & I trow ere the two next ensuing Months shall expire you shall find Rest & Peace into your troubled soules [illegible] & so Enjoy your attained felicity; & let this be done on the now next following Dies Veneris which I trow is the 7th day for it seemeth your complaints requireth it the Rigor of which girdeth you very sorely but we shall loosen you from the pinching hardship & bondage of all envious extreamities from whence the most high God mercifully deliver you & graciously blesse you with ye promised happiness that shall make you for ever joyfull & both Temporally & eternally; you shall want nothing; be not dismaid Sr this offertory will produce & purchase more welth unto you in a manifold Measure then ever as yet hath bin offered at this mistery after you are dignified with that Power that giveth you Power as first was given to man over these Creatures

November 22th : 1686 : Monday :

There appeared a small spirit before the stone & motions in the stone that waled in, and the small spirit looked seriously on us & smiled & then looked to ye stone & then on us againe & smiled, and said

Be comforted Srs the splendor of Celestiall grace entirely [illegible] Board may Breake forth through the darke and stinking Mysts & fogs of Infernall & terrestiall envy as Poysonous Exhalations infect & corrupt the Aire much offensive & many times disturbant to the health of mankind may one day shine gloriously forth & dissipate these noxious vapours, that you may walke with the benefit & happy Enjoyment of your hopes of promised grace, what the great & most high soveraigne Power of heaven & Earth giveth we shall receive & accordingly by the charge in office we shall in true love as faithfull friends administer to you at the will & pleasure of the highest, which with you we also humbly attend. farewell and obay; then in the stone were collecting what is promised

November 25 : 1686 : Thursday

There appeared over the stone a sun & over that a blew glass Turret is a star And in the stone is a fiery Red spirit in Transcendent Imperiall formes, And of one side of it is Sakidkiel on the other side is Zadkiel & before in the stone is Galuah, in great Beauty & splendor —
And before the stone is a little spirit

And there is 2 little spirits with Galuah & Galuah they doe looke first to one sollid Glass Turret & then to the other — There is in the North Turret 3 garments like Girdles & 2 square garments one with knots on it & the other with Circles on it And Galuah doth looke on ye two hollow Turrets & holds some converse with them And the little spirit before the stone doth converse with ~~Gal~~ Galuah. Galuah sayes to all the store before it, doe not ~~And~~ you hear how necessity pincheth them And the small spirit said By Superior Permission my Mother hath ~~ordered~~ Comands to give in Charge by office to appointed Mediums to redresse all agrievances that necessity thus pincheth you withall to me Beleive me Sr your Antagonist that strives to over top you & over Reach your Employment are as short winded as you are gasping for Breath as much as you doe And I assure you that provision is making for ye Releife of which a faire prospect Layeth before you though you see it not neither can you Understand or apprehend the sight or some Splendors till some thing is delivered in order to the knowledg thereof & operations therein and as for these offertories My Mother saith what is enjoyned must of necessity be fulfilled & by reason of theire assignements whereunto every part diversly & joyntly are to be properly referred wherein there is noe commission can be disputed of nor Alteration made untill the 6th day of January be expired for from on the 13th of the same Month you will be restored and in a faire compliant way of Releasment from the pinching powers of necessity & troublesome Cares and the next Annuall Epoche freed from all feares of futures troubles & evills Sr my Mother saith you must endeavour to strive against the streame make the greatest hast thereof that possibly you can — the Mystery is greate also the benifits thereof which cannot I say be shewed forth or explained to youre sense or apprehension — — My Mother hath given Charge that her Children shall come to you here every Monday & thirsday — — you are Advised

November: 29th: 1686: Monday

There appeared a Riall vail in the ston & vailes in the solid glass Receipts of each side of it. And of a sylverish & Azure Collour And a litle spectrum before the ston; And over ye ston is a glittering star, It seemeth impossible to keepe you from dispairing & repining Notwithstanding promised grace & Mercy in Celestiall friendship & love, Can Celestiall be a seat of pleasant felicity when there gilt altereth the smoothnes of the place, Let therefore the servants of devine favor beware least they purchase displeasure, & so likely to be dismissed service & acceptance I say noe more neither wee nor you may determine of Divine pleasure with through faith & hope in the highest is surely Obtained let not your weakness therefore eclips the honour & Glory of mercy, least you lossen that blessing which many have lost through the trialls of patience and perseverance with which great commendations hath come and was to in you firme & stedfast, enough hath allready bin said & shewed forth unto you; well, well Sr you were bid to make what expedition you can you have this ternary to doe in — — well Sr your questions what were you aske on thursday shall be salued I am also under Comand & must obey And at this time I leave you in the Care of that grace & mercy wherewith wee humbly beseech the highest to blesse you

December: 2d:: 1686:: the first ::—

There appeared a litle glittering star over ye ston & a Riall vail in the ston; And a small spectrum before the ston, the first table is for the powers of darknes or of darke places And also for the powers of the aire & of the poynts of the compass which are more benevolent so get one frame & two boards or cover to slide on it at pleasure to naile these two vellums or — my Mother desireth your hast. let not your fear degrade your faith you stand yet firme enough, the Anchor of your hope may yet preserve you the storme may cease as the winter fadeth the 7th day you may take away the Parchments

December 13: 1686: Monday

There appeared in the ston in ye top of it the testimony

O that shined downe on a pleasant Orchard like garden with fruite & leaves on ye trees of various beautifull Collours amongst which Trees are some small beautifull spertiums walking or moving to & fro & sometimes they meet &

Congratulate each other & smiled on each other & then they both looke towards us & smiled and there was 7 of them small spertiums & they met all together & saluted each other and they all smiled on us and then came a fflash & all was vailed in & there stood a ~~[illegible]~~ Cross

December: 16th: 1686: Jornary

There appeared in the midle of the ston an Alter like thing yt is four square with 3 steps that goes round every every square and a golden shallow dish with a narrow brime flatt Bottomed and in it stands a Cup with a broad foote to it of gould & out of ye cup issueth out a flaming Ray that extends quite out of the ston from there And to the eastward of it stands a Glorious spectrum of a flaming yellow which we judged to be Pastor on ye right side of it stands the sun & on the left side a figure like the full moon And in the center of the sun & also of the moon is a wonderfull bright sparke from whence issueth a litle Ray on ye north side of this Alter stands Sachiel & on the south side stands Zadkiel And on ye west side is Galuak with a litle spectrum of each side of it And there is 3 litle small spectrums before ye stone And them 3 before the ston looke pleasently on me especially the Midlemost & smiles on ye north side in the sollid [illegible] is two spectrums in white one of them instructing ye other & that spectrum ye is instructed had a litle Paper booke in its hand 10 leaves in it And at begining of it is written Operation by ye Royall spirit Usill a true experiment & great Arcanum — And in the hollow [illegible] on ye north side is Luxaniak & ~~an~~ two Imperiall spectrums of the Aire and are called the Emperours of [illegible] Angles & there is Princes under them Emperors & Dukes under them Princes and others under the Dukes

And on ye South side is the like of the other two Angles of the 4 Angles

And the Midle Spertum before the ston looke on me & smiles And said This action Sr is for you Instruction & Satisfacti =on as will be Manifest upon the practice & operation there will be given up unto you, Now it is so that the whole host of your Celestiall & Ellementally dignified friends and all the Celestian Allianses are offering up their humble supplications for Divine grace in Charge by office to be Admitted unto the Assistance of their friends & god his Servants which continued & will continued in this forme the next first day of your action being the 23th Instant & so on ye 2d which will be on ye 30th Instant & so on ye 3d & last which will be on ye 6th of the next month which day you should not exceed your present great & Memorable oratory for a great & Mysticall reason which I say not at this time meet next monday then on thursday being ye 23d then on the 30th then on ye Monday following and on ye 6th of January being Fornarian day

December: 20th 1686: Monday

There Appeared a small Spertum before the ston in a Silver Cloud and the whole show as before although not so plaine to be seene; And now the small Spertū is turned to the ston & doth reverence & after some time turned to us ward & smiled: and said; ay Sr you must expect some mishaps from wicked persons they come from blackman street & Kent street Consirning Peter: if it were possible that he would be reclaimed & reformed you should not dismiss him of which I see no Likelyhood for he is strongly possest with Infernall fury And Nothing of good advice will prevail or worke reformation on him yet you must be discreet and be very Prudent to take heed in the dismiss of him, I tell you Sr as to this Matter how desperate such infernall fury may become in heat of Revenge or Passion I cannot say more then you may Rationally Imagin or Judg of but dismiss not his soon — well Sr you have don well in doing your duty be comforte dispaire not you are not yet lost or given over as a Pray to Insulting Mallice for that Paternall goodness that hitherto hath preserved you will doubtless yet further & forever support & defend you which we also with you humbly beseech for his owne great Name sake that is gratious & Mercifull Amen Hallalujah

December: 23th: 1686: the first after Fornary

And there came a flash of Light and then Appeared the show in the ston but not very plaine but only two small Spertums and they are visible And they did Converse with the Spertums in which in the Solid Glass Convex And they looke out a small paper booke & seeme to review it & examine it And the two small Spertums turned to the East & did great veneration & they turned this way & looked on us pleasantly & they Commened one with the other

1686 December 30th the 2 after Ternary The best way is to make your memorable offertory with the Ternarian offertory on ye 6th of January And that Day willbe a great day of Rejoycing and being Comforted in the hopes of Happiness in the highest 1686/7 January 3d: ~~Mo~~Monday

There appeared a small Spectrum & it looke on us & smiled & was very pleasant as if it was rejoyced at some thing & it turned about & did Reverence to the East, And it turned this way & smiled & said So, Sirs what is it you have to say methinks I heard you make scruple touching somewhat foreshewed, which I will separate from further mistake Know ye then yt the 6th day instant is your propedist Ternarius & not ye 13 & so you ought to observe it both in the generall & particular appoynted offertories therefore were you commanded to pray earnestly & solace your selves with joyfull hopes of future felicity &c — it is a day of a duble Jubilee if you doe thus as ye 13th instant is the entrance of action so it touches at 3 principals so if you tribble the single offertory of the day it is as much as can be required of us, by the sayings of my Mother but not tribbled as a Ternarian offertory only as a tribble entrance into action as may be fully & wholly shewed forth & discovered unto you in the two first insuing Ternaries & the 3d from thence proceeding into effects, that you may enjoy your selves in your fulfilled hopes & happiness well well Sr you have stopped my mouth I am gon but I leave the blessing unto you behind me were with the highest preserve you & strengthen your faith & hopes in him

1686/7 January 6th Ternary

There appeared under the ston like a whele of fire & in the Center of it is a face and out of its sides doth come rayes towards us & the ston & all the Receipts are full of flames And before the ston stands a Spectrum alotte about the Mystery it is very ~~Cl~~ brave in Countenance its eyes sparkle & it hath a curious Crownet on, and it turned to the ston ward & bowed downe and opened its Armes with great reverence And there came flashes out of the ston a red as fire & they came to this Spectrum and it turned this way and looked full on me & smiled, and it said, God be thanked that you are safely arrived unto this day which through Grace in him may proue a hopefull Jubilee of Deliverance unto you on Sunday morning set up your ston on ~~any~~ your owne Table & make your prayers as here & earnestly pray for sight & dignity & to dignify your ston and then call on Michael & Uriel by the Abreviated calls & the Angels of that Hierarchy you must begin at 6th in ye morning & sit untill 1/2 an howr past nine And come hether on Monday Morning & call by the Abreviated call on Gabriel & Samael & the hierarchy of angels withdraw & be joyfull & comforted in the highest

1686/7 January 10th monday

There appeared a glorious bright star over the stone and flamed appearances in all the Corners — And a Spectrum either first in the stone or first out of it, it is Lexanael & it looked on me & smiled & Cast a Ray towards me & said well Sr be content, although you see not your friends when yesterday you moved them to appearance yet they did see you And hath appoynted good things for you as very shortly shall be collected & granted forth, come againe on thirsday morning

1686/7 January 13th the first after Ternary

There Appeared a great & Glorious Raye coming out of the stone & poynting upwards And there is two Spectrums before the stone & other Corners And in the stone is one in a fiery Roundle where we suppose to be Castor that is a good way to the Eastward & there is at this side of Castor before the Alter is Sachiel & Zedekiel & before them is Galuah And the two Spectrums yt stand before the stone are in discourse with the Spectrums in ye solid Glass Corners; And Galuah said Thanks be to the highest yt ye are safely arrived to the begining of this day wherein the Mighty power of the highest protect and serve & defend you, and also for ever Know ye them, that this day is the entrance, & begining, of materiall & great Action the Methood whereof my Children here Attendeth to show forth & deliver unto you by Order in Charge as they are made & delivered unto them for the which you shall Glorify & thanke your God And also his Servants ministring unto you as in the Administration of your duty & obedience Conspicuosly to the Glory of God & your Comforts you must on next Sunday morning to Pray & call on Michaell & Uriel & sit one hower and also the next sunday following that; And when your Action is here ended stand you both before this Mystery 3 minits or there and then with ~~draw~~ into your Temporall Concernments And both the Spectrums are turned towards us & smile And in the Northern solid Corner is that Booke of Uriell & 5 thin Plates with Caracters of Gold on them And in the South Corner is another little booke of Michaell And the Powers of the Line of ye order under Michaell that seems to be a doing as if it were halfe done and there are such plates but not finished ~~an~~ as ye other are

And the Northern Spectrum is turned this way & smiles And said, here is the Talismanm of Uriel made Perfect & fitted for action unto you, we are only Revising & examining the same from originall President & on wedensday next the 19th instant or thirsday the 20th it shall be here delivered up to lengthen your Girdle of each end a little & make 3 Crosses on each Part in Red now the Southern Spectrum is turned this way & said the Talismanm of Michaell Powers subjected unto ye Order of vertues, is not as it seemeth yet finished or made perfit from ye Originall president but I trow will be fit for use & action on ye 3d of the next Month or 2 or first or thereabouts as in the Attempts time with you & sone after you will have great & materiall action both Celestially superior & Ellementally Inferior, that the highest may be glorified & your selves Comforted and Gabiah said I Charge you Sr be not dismaid that the greatness of action deferreth not rate untill the 16 day of the next Month although yet if we rightly Consider the Care by Charge in Office of Composing & perfecting of these Arcanums with others & so fitted for practice in Action I say though the actions of this time be more silent & obscured are more Considerat then your Emaginations can esely comprehend, for as it hath bin shewed forth they may seeme easy by your thoughts by sight but hard for them by Collection And the Northen Spirit said I know my Mother hath well pleased you & you are to blame if you thinke it not so & from her I am Charged to tell you that you must be as dilligent in the obseruance of that your obedience already enjoyned, and to your great Comendation & hopefull blesse therein hitherto well & duly obserued & what shalbe further injoyned during ye time mentioned untill the 16th day of the next Month when we hope god will blesse you & mercifully from thence forwards Crowne your hopes with happy & safe deliverance in the Administration of your actions

1686/7 January 17th

There appeared a Spirit before the stone & it looked on us & smiled, and said your sayings are heard & my Mother wills me to tell you that your actings in your Temporall Consernements & Employments are left wholly to your owne prudence we touch them not it sufficeth only you may proceed well therein by reason mercy attendeth you, you are also to make your appearance here on friday morning the 21th instant for my Mother attendeth divine Comands & moveth not untill then I speake noe more

1686/7 January: 21th: friday the 2d

There appeared a Star over the stone that is very bright & glitters much & shineth forth a short Ray to us ward There is in the stone Galuah & two more & Galuah sent one of the small Spirits to the Northward & it came againe & brought an other Spirit in white & that Spirit pulled out a paper booke out of its bosome & it was that Arcanum of Qiel finished & the Seales also are finished and the white Spirit said that they were finished with some difficulty and Galua gave the booke to the little Spirit & that is gone northward out of sight & the other little Spirit brought in an other in white & Galuah with it doth discourse that came from ye Southward & after some discourse that Spirit is dismissed & Galuah went into the light or fiery part of the stone & there came a flash & in it a small Spirit before the stone & it looked on me & smiled & said Come Sr be not dismaid fear not we hope your desires wilbe fulfilled this worke is well composed & the first that ever was on this subject, there is wanting some words of Directions which shalnot stop you so as you may Cease & withdraw untill I meet you here on Monday morning as accustomarily Cease for Power is present

January 24th 1686/7 Monday

There appeared two spirits in ye stone viz Lexanael & an other

Lenamael hath a Chaplet or Garland on its head & it looks very finely, And the other is in a whitish Gray vestment with a round flat Cap on its head & that is very neat but plaine

And Lexanael said to ye other spirit shew forth your Name, my name is Fesim and by Charge Prothonotor, by order in the office of my Mother, and a Custos of many Metaphysicall Arcanums that are & may be Admitted to ye knowledge & benifit of God his servants & my Mothers friends which I could more at large discover & discourse of, but Order & time here must have its place, for such things by us are not otherwise to be had nor understood, And Lenanael said so I well perceive you have performed this matter in Charge & Fesim said yes and have desired the same here, Lenanael said And is it in full Fesim no its in full but not quite finished &c it may be finished ~~two~~ between two Actions peruse this booke at home & lett us know what objections you meet with all

1686/7 January 27th Ternary; ~~[illegible]~~

There appeared a bright Star over ye stone & all like flames within ye stone and two spirits before ye stone and they looke pleasantly on us, and one of them said well met Sir I know you have received ye script of an Arcanum branched out from others, & set forth for your use then which there are non bearing ye like office as subscribed like unto those of this Order it is not imperfect although yet not quite finished but you shall have ye rest take ye seales of ~~ye~~ two of ye Diurnall Dukes and also of two of ye Nocturnall Dukes & put them on Parchment or any thing 4 square like a Trencher on every Corner one seale lay this on the treasure you would keepe & give Charge by Invocation to those 4 dukes to keepe it untill you call for it and then not Mortall can Meddle with it but your selfe you must Sr doe on Sunday Morning as before well Brethren come on be of good Cheere although it be hard with you ye sun of Celestiall love will breake through the Misty frozen Clouds of a sharpe afflicting winter Tide whose splendid rays shall through & open ye hard icy bands of your Afflictions & set you free to pass the Current of your Deliverance & future felicity, ye 17th day of ye next Month is your great & Remarkable Ternarius & Mistically knowne to us but verbally delivered to you by the Name of Mystically very great & remarkable as I now will soone after shew forth & Appeare to the fulfilling of your opportunities but you are comanded from superior

Action must cease

168$\frac{6}{7}$ January 31the Monday

There appeared a little spirit in the vaile of the ston; and it said No action appeareth untill weddensday Morning then bring the ston with you something eclipseth the action of this day

168$\frac{6}{7}$ feb 2d: weddensday the first after January

There appeared the testimony in forme like the sun at the top of the ston out of which went a ray upwards at the top of which is a bright glittering star & out of that star comes flashes ever now & then And there is a spirit in the ston that looks first to one sollid glass receipt & then to the other And Galuah turned round about & Called And presently came two spirits & brought with them two ugly things and Galuah said something Angerily to them and then the two spirits tumbled them downe into a hole

And Galuah said God be thanked that we have subdued this evill those Infernall spirits will still be fomenting & striving to act their wicked designations against the Innocent, & stirring up the spirits of evill minded persons to storme their peace with most wicked and scandelous Batteries, but these are false & will doe noe execution & God be thanked they are now vanquished and confined to a restraint & their Power wholly diminished & become voyd
If you be remembered Sr there, Being ye 3d presidents agu well Sr now we goe on with you & with all imaginable dexterity for your delivrance not only from ye fear but perill of danger & danger of Enemys I have returned the mallice of your Enimies upon ym selves, make hast with those papers that the rest may be delivered up to you with them
I would faine see you happy that you may be in peace & imbrace the benifits of your paines & Patience & reape the consolation of Colosiriah to me you have Sr the booke of Invocation of the 4 Directiall Tables which you may also bring with the other papers I know you have not transcribed the same yet neither would I have you untill it be renewed & the same method thereof made truly & effectually perfect as all things that now cometh to your hands shall assuredly be, we have great respect unto the 16, 17 & 18 dayes of this present month be ye therefore comforted & rest assured of that mercy that will fulfill your hopes & happiness which we humbly beseeche the highest to give & grant unto you that your peace in in the Promise may be accomplished

1686/7 feb: 7th monday

There Appeared a transcendent beautifull star over the ston poynting downe a Ray into it And there appeared a Spectrum in the ston which we suppose to be Ane and two more Spectrums in white came to Ane one from the North & one from the South And them two have two bookes in their hands And some papers, each of them have a booke & two or three sheets of Paper written also, And they are very earnest in discourse together & they smile & are very pleasant And the two Spectrums in white did obedience to Ane & to us wards & went away againe one to the North & the other to the South And Ane looked on us And smiled And then the Star over over the ston gave a great flash & Ane is gon & there is a Spectrum before the ston which we suppose to be Lexamell,

Well Srs if sid you have don your Duty you may Cease and be present at your next accustomary time of appoynted Action viz) thursday next

1686/7 feb 10th: The 2d after Ternary

There Appeared 4 Spectrums in the ston (viz) Ane & Galua and two more Attending them & beyond in the ston is a Great Light & in it as we suppose to be Castor & the two Intelligences of the day

And Ane & Galuah are a Comparing the 3 Calls of the Seniors and 4 Angels sett over & the 4 Servient to the East with a paper in Lattine

And Ane gave a booke & papers to on Spectrum & it went away to the South ward & and it gave an other booke & papers to the other & then Galuah & Ane looked on us & smiled And Ane & Galuah did curtesy to us ward went away & smiled & the other Spectrum with the booke & papers in its hands stood before & smiled & said meet on tuesday morning & take direction for your ternarian Action, bring a Coppy of the Invitations against the 21th day remember your Sundayes action

:1686/7: feb: 15th Tuesday:

There appeared over the ston a body like the ~~[illegible]~~ Sun with a Rubied Appearance in it

There appeared in the ston a fountaine like thing & a Spectrum standing one of each side and out of this fountaine issueth out fiery Rayes like as water Running out of pipes

There appeared a small Spectrum before the ston & it looked on us & smiled and is as seemed to be ready to speake & then turned to the ston & afterwards to us & smiled & then seemed to be ready to speake to us & so did severall times but now said when we behould the mones & wailings of god his servants & the humble supplications & earnest petitions unto the highest for succor Comfort & releife we certainly are moved with great pitty & Compassion, but as we touch not the Corruptions of the Earth so we reject to deale with defiled things, but Srs I am willed to show forth of this next Ternarie entering & the qualities thereof, on the 2d day you are to Conveene here as in order to the Ternary: and R: O must sit downe before the ston ~~at~~ and I cannot say what sight you will have but keepe to your forme with your booke pen & inke on ye Mystery, but when action here is Ceased then you shall repaire to the other Mystery & there move the spirit Vriel with the other spirits mentioned in ye prefixed given you As touching your oratory & great Mystery thereof upon ye day you shall know yt it is 3 fould first of a Certaine pass of Attonement 2dly of Power & 3dly of dignity of all being dignified therewith & the sight & sense of what conduceth to seeing hearing & understanding of spirituall Misteries & apparitions, its also an oratory containing more Interior Mystery as first a Conquest over & dispersing of your enimies & their malitious Inventions 2dly Producing thereby Redemption in the quallity & condition of your vocation & 3dly the fruits of your future peace   for this let me give you to understand That it is a Maxim in Philosophy as you call it That effects proceed not from Causes, so as your enimies neither had or have cause thus to dispite you as they doe & have don, then Consequently measured you the effects it will returne on their owne heads & prove their owne distruction   well Sr it is said before not long not the ~~[illegible]~~ Earth nor the Current part thereof what cannot be don the one day may be in following dayes of action as they succeed of the Ternary be offered as it may be appointed & then I know the end thereof will be the end of your Sorrows & afflictions & the begining of your Comfort & Redemption your action is at this time ended you may give thanks & cease

1685/7 feb: 17 : Ternary:

~~There~~ appeared a body over ye stone like a sun & a fi golden eye in the Center of it from the Center of ye Eye came a bright Solar Ray towards me And before the sun stood Michael on ye North side & Uriel on the South side & both of them looked stedfastly on me & between them appeared Lovana= =el in a Silver Cloud and after this shew continued some time. Lovanael turned to the stone & did obedience & afterwards turned to us & looked on us & smiled

And Lovanael said, well Sr I heard your discourse even now of your morning vission them who were very good friends of yours, them, who are conversant in both the Element of Aire & Earth, they will prove very kind to you you shall know them & their offices it is time you moved to your other part of action I will make further report of it on monday morning about your sight — — — — — — — —

— — — — — — — — — —

1686/7 feb- 21th monday

There appeared a star in the Center of the stone & it open= =ed & gave a flash & there appeared a spectrum then in the fore part of the stone & it is Lovanael & it said to the North Report in the name of the highest where are you, And a spectrum in white appeared by it & Lovanael said where is what should have bin here & the other said Bless me I left the papers of precedent & the rest of the last Autumn here but yesterday at noone together with the holy Pentagon of Power & by that I see them, but where are the Papers Just now the envious Infernall Adversary hath made an encroachment & plaid his theevish pranckes but I will Arraigne him & stifle his future Attempts for trust me it must be that we were no sooner returned from home to orders but this hellhound entred & seased his prey & all this is to vex, & try, the very faith & hopes of our friends & render us if possible disfavoure that we might thereby Clamorously be scandalously tempted to Anger, but with sorrow I find hath so insinuated shall surely & imediatly receive their Reward of a Theefe & a Rebbell & of god And Lovanael looked towards us & said why thus it is not ~~[illegible]~~ and things prepared for Considerable action but these Malitious divels imediatly roue up & downe till they find Prey & so devour the hopes of many honest & carefull expectantes & so rejoyce at their damned designes of scattering the seeds of separation amongst the hopefull greatest of the faithfull but I know they will quickly be fast enough yea Sr there hath bin some private slanders cast upon thee but in secret & truly hardly taken much Notice of but because those you seeke of somewhat wondreth at the deadnesse of profit that should accrue from them is such as produceth little effecte I say not knowing the reasons thereof may be animated to seeke some further inquiry into the state & condition of your worke, they come to see fashions as much as aught else 1686/7 feb: 24th the 1st after Fornary There appeared a sun like body over the ston & an Emxdriall forme in it & a star over the sollid Glass Vessel — And in the ston is Galuah & Aud And Aud hath a booke in its hand like a table booke the boards are blew & the writing lookes like gould And Galuah & Aud are very pleasant & smile one on the other And Galuah put its fingers to its mouth pulled it from its mouth & between its fingers was a round ball like a small bullet & it looked fiery & Galuah put it to Auds mouth & Auds mouth did suck it in & Aud became more beautifull & its face shined. then Galuah laid its hand on Auds ~~head~~ forehead & so went away And Aud looked on us & smiled & turned over the booke in its hand & put it into its bosome & said yea Sir those are Golden Legends without which we receive not Power to act, move, or communicate Celestiall favours through divine grace by reason

All is concentrated in the will & mind of the Allpow= =erfull only, untill by divine pleasure given unto us I dare not shew forth the gifts & benifits which this containeth the effects whereof are such as not only be admired but to be made a perpetuall monument And remembrance of the greatest merites, which are not only gon forth & now given & by us received but even ready to be communicated & so converted out of Power into act which my deare Ally now returned to Attendance on superiours Charge & Comands with my selfe, shall I trust manifest to your Comforts & happy deliverances, your Infernall Adversaries are now fast enough Confined from future Molestation And your Terrestiall enimies are under some fear whether they may flatter you or yet revile you that is a viall of Wrath & a Grenade of vengeance that shall be executed on your enimies, which will suddainly be put in to execution And then comes your deliveran ce — — — — — — — — — — — —

You must act on tuesday morning & satterday morning at home on Usiel for these are dayes proper The paper left here is of my owne Acknowledgment Now Sir it hath bin heretofore declared & converted into your Mother Tongue for the more plaine & easy understanding thereof, this is one Abstract of the originall which you may convert into your owne language & then I will show you how little difference standeth between the first & the last Coppyes for we must now make you perfect in all knowledg And understanding as it shall please God to give unto us to shew forth unto you You may bring the same translated hither at yr pleasure

I am also called & must returne but I charge & Comande you not to enter this place not till three howers after the sun be set 1686/7 feb: 28: Monday:

There appeared a star under the stone a royall vaile in the stone & the star begins to flash in fire small flashes, And the star gave a great flash & in its place is a Spectrum in a sylver Cloud and it looked morosly & sowerly & had a fiery Dart in its hand and there came a black smoake like matter & rouled it selfe round the ~~fair~~ white silver Cloud & the Spectrum did angerly take its dart & struck at it & out of the point of the dart came fire & that black smoake tooke fire like tinder & is quite consumed & the cloud became more diaphanous & Bright, it is Lexanael,

And Lexanael said Although Indignation bareth me not Company yet I must reprove you for that you enter not the presence of Celestiall friendship in this place but with a repining dispaire Lamenting your forlorne hopes; Alas we know & see how you are every way wrecked on the rugged surges of Clamorous menaces & tossed almost into a swollowing gulfe that ~~will~~ would sink you up or destroy you, if possible, the fury of its violent Eddy could prevaile; but still fear not the danger of this storme which thus wrecketh your hopes but take a courage & resolve cheerfully to endure it, by reason it is but momentary & shall passe away, least by murmuring at the hard usage of Infernall Enmity you loose the promised benifits which attend your felicity the most high God hath bin mercifull to you & will also be mercifull to you if you stand these trials with Patience which is a

Triumphing vertue you will not only gaine a glorious Conquest but find Assurance of future mercies to morrow enter on your 2d call to Vriel as before 1686/7 March 3d: the 2d after Ternary:

There appeared a solar body under the stone with an Imperiall Presence in it And there came a flash out of that solar body & it spread all over the whole Mystery there is ~~[illegible]~~ to eastward of the center of the stone a wonderfull Glorious Spectrum in a Celestiall Ruby redness whom we suppose to be Castor in the Center of the stone is a beautifull glittering font like thing with a Ruby flame ascending out of it and at each side Northward & Southward of it is a Spectrum and to the westward of it is Galuah

And Galuah said be silent & move not

And the 3 Spectrums about the font doe kneel downe but the fiery Spectrum doth not

And the fiery Spectrum takes something from its breast & throwes it into the font which presently converted all the show in the stone of a Ruby redness very transparent

And now they are all rose up & with a great deale of veneration, we cease but move you not from hence for your Action beginneth And the solar body broke into a flash & became a star & sent downe a ray into the Center of the stone & there was a little sparke at the end of it and before in the stone is And & it said

Come Sr let us goe on to our business in hand (and then looked earnestly on me & said) And now Sr for your Instruction & satisfaction in Terrestiall actions & discoveries on the 5th instant being Saturday next you make the 3d & last part of your entrance wherein I know you may have great signes of appearance on the next day being Sunday & first day of the weeke you shall humbly & Earnestly Invocate and move by Supplication & Petition to Michael & Uriel, as you did before with earnestnesse,

Then Sr on Tuesday morning at 7 a clock make ~~progr~~ progresse being the first of action to Uriel & other Spirits ministring servients as by degrees & office are accordingly placed & Invocated you may paradventure = ure find them somewhat remisse or slow in their motion or appearance but be not dismaid for that is by reason they are Powers of the Aire respecting also the Earth & Sublunar & by Nature more grosse & naturally somewhat obstinate in serving or assisting mankind but they are by earnest Invocation moved & Constrained to do their duty & fulfill the requested Commandements of mankind so that in short processe of time the Earth shall through the spirituall mediums as thereunto by nature & office being properly referred & appointed shall serve your necessities with the fulnesse of its treasuries &c —

And Sr when you shall behould & see the Corporall appearance of those or any of those spirituall Creatures present before you veiw it or them well & see if you can discerne or discover what degree in Orders you may Conjecture or Imagine them to be of if you thinke it to be Kingly as by its Attendance may be thought or observed, then you must give it ye title of (Royall) if it be of Dukes or Peers then (the most Noble) if it be of the Inferior sort of the highest of them you may say (Honoured) but of the lower sort (benevolent) or friendly)

---

at their first appearance say if it be Uriel (wellcome be ~~ye~~ you Royall spirit, you are to me hartely wellcome I desire you to tell me your name, & shew me your seale or Character unto which you give obedience if they be slow in answering say are you the Royall spirit Uriel or any that I have moved or any of them orders superiour or inferior under the Royall spirit Uriel or who are you otherwise that I may so note of you ~~And when you are satisfied herein~~ if you see their seale take a Coppy of it with Character whereby that spirit bound to you to performe its office durantem vitam then calling it by its name & bid it wellcome And now by the same Power you were Invocated & Moved to appeare in presence here at this time I doe also by the same Power & in the true and most especiall Name of your God & by the vertue of this your seale or Character or bond of Creation (most firmely & sollidly binding you to the service of ye God & also his servants the sons of men living on Earth) Earnestly request & Powerfully ~~Comand~~ Constrain you to stay with me here in Peace, meeknesse & serenity, untill you have fulfilled & Accomplished unto me all & every my request I shall now demand of you & ~~the~~ the which I now also doe in the truest name of your God Powerfully Command you to serve & assist me in & not to depart unto your Orders or mansion or place of Residence untill you have fulfilled all my desires nor untill I give you license to make your Departure being your office to make discovery of all hidden treasure I doe command you to make discovery to me of all what is easy to come at & Obtained

And since it was provided for the use of man to serve his Necessities therewith I do command you to ~~[illegible]~~ make discovery of all such hidden treasure as ~~my~~ may easily be obtained and to bring it to me ~~or~~ to this place the first ~~[illegible] Dukes are called~~ honoured the rest are called benevolent

~~O you [illegible] spirit (N)~~

O you Spirit (N) now since you have obeyed the name of your God the superiour Power & seales of your orders & your owne seale or Character & by your selfe here delivered unto me according to my desire & hath also obeyed my wayes & at my invocation moved & appeared here before me and accordingly served & assisted me by office given you, for the which I give hearty thanks unto god & your superiours & also unto you for this your friendly faith & kindness unto me which I desire may be for ever continued betweene us & the peace of the highest confirme it unto us & remaine with us during my Naturall life commanding you thereby to be alwayes ready to move at my Call & to appeare unto me when soever necessity shall give occasion for your further friendship & assistance & so you may depart in peace unto your orders

If any evill Power hath the keeping any hidden treasure these Powers will discover it & their Names & their seales And you may command it to bring the treasure & say to them, Depart to your Orders thou art of darkness & the places of darkness, this was provided for the use of man therefore depart to your orders

& say Feouah, Feovrah, Feovaſcah

It mattereth not whether you doe put on your girdle untill tuesday & so likewise for your Pentagon of Power let it hang at your brest or lay before you on tuesday first your Invocation to Vſiel 3 times, 5 minits between or 6 or 7, then make a stop for 9 or 12 or 15 minits between then read the Invocation to Arnen, Poriel, Amandiel & Hissam, & doe the like by them (viz) ~~ree~~ repeat their Invocation 3 times with like distance then stop againe as before then must call againe to Vſiel & stop 3 minits & then the Invocation to the 4 dukes then stop 5 or 6 or 7 minits and then call on Vſiel againe & so do 3 times ~~and~~ more & then you have don calling stay ½ an houre after

Now I will tell you Sr there is neither doubt nor question to be made of successe in the practise or use of this arcanum I could say much as to the commendation encouragement & benefit here of if I durst since I have said enough by reason its not befitting for mankind to know more thereof for that will seeme so marvellous as to be incredible & thereby subject to suffer abuse or Corruption, & then and thus wholly depriveed the benifit thereof And you knowing enough therein need not more but humbly to supplicate grace & mercy from the highest wherewith I humbly beseeche him also to blesse you —

March 7th 168 6/7 Monday

There appeared over the stone like a glorious face in a fiery Cloud And in the stone is Lorganael, & it sais smiling on me — yea Sir if we smile you may smile for I assure you that your enimies now standeth upon a more uncertaine foundation then you see or I you can sensibly imagin of which you will shortly heare of Know ye now it so happneth that the succeeding dies Ternarius & Solstitiall entry of this vernall equinox chanceth happneth of one & the same day which much befitteth you by reason of the Conjunct offertories know yee Sir that through divine grace assisting the efforts of your future actions as they shall orderly succeed a blessed & happy Catastrophe insueth both before & after your Annuall Epoche it is true Sir hath bin declared that noe such offertory as hath bin enjoyned this present Ternarius will ever be enjoyned more which I also aver, & that only ye 4 Annuall Injunctions should be observed all which is of verity but then know ye it is meant only of those extreame Injunctions which could not untill now ~~be~~ have bin possibly avoyded of dubling or tribling ye Duty is only now Ceased but your weekly dayes of action as comonly accustomary is not heere included nor the dies Ternarius untill the day of Epoche which happneth on the 7th day of the next month 83 and if divine grace & mercy maketh you so happy as you can reasonably request from the most sharpest of your Necessities, then shall you have noe Cause to question offertories of any kinde, but I know there will be noe occasion or need to enjoyne you to ought that can afflict you, if you cannot offer the whole offertory doe what you can untill you can do the ~~whole~~ remainder — And Lorganael did veneration to the face over the stone & then smiled much on us & said verily Sir there is noe fear of falling where Celestiall assistance supporteth & upholdeth which the highest in his mercy hath graciously given to his servants that humbly feare honour & obey him in faith & truth & wherewith we also humbly beseech him for you Amen on thursday at the usuall time.

March 10th Ternary : [illegible]

There appeared a solar body over the stone and an Imperiall forme in it And at the East part of the stone or further part of it is a fiery Spectrum in Imperiall forme wonderfull beautifull & Regall & there is in the stone a faint like thing & a Dilliciate flame ascending out of it to the sun like body over ~~and~~ the stone And there is a fiery beautifull star of each side of that Imperiall spectrum in ~~the~~ the stone — on the north side of that flame is Galuah & on ye South side is Anael And before the stone is Susaniah & Samariel And the whole shew doth now & then bow to the East as if they bowed to the great Imperiall spectrum in ye stone

And Suvaniah & Samariel turned this way & looked on me & smiled; And they turned to the ston & seemed to Confer with Galuah & And & turned this way & smiled & then turned againe to Galuah & And & then turned this way & there came a flash on them & then wee see them more plainly And Suvaniah said smilingly, well what is it you make scruple of

I will tell you Sr that branch of practise & operation by the Royall spirits Uriel & ministring spirits of that order is as positively true as truth it selfe in the great Mysterie of heaven and the only choyse Arthanum for support & releife in the sharpest necessities the spirits of this Order are by Nature frindly good and Constant when brought to appearance & Comunity as that may Certainely be effected & will faithfully serve in their offices whereto they are enjoyned & Courteously requested to content & satisfaction, yet many times they move slow & remisse, by reason of bearing by nature a kind of humane passion as being sublunar & of the aire, They truly know of all hidden treasures & make full discoveries there of & how to obtaine the same & also to assist mankind therein, but you must be very earnest in spirit when you make Invocation to them by reason it must be effectuall & then will good effects succeed therein, you may Sr if you please make use of dayes in the weeke on saturday & Tuesday you may have action from the morning about 7 a clock & in the afternoones about one or two in the afternoone and also on mundayes & Thirsdays in the afternoone by this meanes you may & will assuredly obtaine your desires

Now knowing yt by office they can make a true Report or discovery of treasures hid & other treasures of the Earth & not only to informe of the same but also to assist in the Obtaining of it we also have Charge in office with the strength & Power of Invocation whereby they may be brought the sooner to Comunity & your wants releived, well be contented yet dispaire not of mercy for we all hope with you for grace & mercy in the highest whom with we humbly beseech him to blesse & Comfort you with all to his Glory & your Comfort of Redemption Amen Hallelujah be not too hasty Sr in putting by your working tooles stay untill the 7th day peradventure you may have need there of

March 14 : 1686/7 monday

There appeared an Azure Sphear over ye ston & a bright sparke in the Center of it out of which issueth out flashes And there is a Royall veile in the ston & there is a great light behind it And there is a spectrum before the ston & its face doth shine & it doth looke pleasantly & directs its countenance towards me And said

Is not this the Month March with you so called; yea it is:

why then you will shortly heare newes as hath bin already showed forth & said unto you, And to be hoped to your benifit & Comfort (to me) well Sr goe on as you are instructed doubt not of your success take Courage be not dismaid nothing shall assaile you, I confess that sight is yet wanting though signes did appeare in place & tho you see them not; yet signes will appear & then true appearance sone Cometh well Sr be contented & thereby rayse up your spirits to a sublimity of hopes for your enimies will fall before you for this hopes hath a triumphing Power well Sr I cannot stay with you I am called by superiour Power we also pray yͭ Divine grace & mercy may not desert nor leave you in adversity which the highest grant for his owne sake in the unity of the sacred trinity Amen Hallelujah God blesse you Sr on thursday morne at accustomary time

March 17th: 1686: The first after Ternary

There appeared 3 stars a pritty height above the 3 Temples the middlemost of them more glorious then the rest & more glittering & flashing out some times And there is a Crystall vaile in the ston & a light behind it & a Spectrum before it in the ston A heavenly spectre my name is Ath, I am acquainted Sr with your Concernes & by the motion of superiour Emission am sent to give you this visitt It seemeth Sr you have received a Note from your Superiour relating to your Employment I pray you was it not to place one whom you call Simpson in the worke & it may be likewise all to speake with you & have you call there as you se will Sr use your Discretion I will stand by you you shall not want friendship well Sr if you goe not this day send your appoynted time by some Messenger which then willbe all as one & so use your discretion this I assure you that your Envious opposites will soon tumble headlong downe & be at great difference one with an other for it is even entred already which some ~~hearts~~ them appeares & for yͭ matter I have said, proceed with Cheerfullness you may thinke you see nothing but deadly though I cannot my selfe justify any present Corporall Apparition, there and have signes foregoing the same, & you may not well as yet see or perceive them vissible, but then you must herein still proceede & persevere by action & invocation & you will thereby find motion & appearance & keepe your Sundayes action too by any meanes ~~if not~~

I will seeke for a meane to assist you in your sight I have little given me to say but Commanded in Charge to attend & take Care of what is just & needfull wherein rest assured so that you need but little advice further your reason shalbe strengthened & your discretion. attended & so you may walke with satisfaction in your spirit & content to your minde I shalbe with you yet 14 if not more dayes & according to my Charge by office promote your peace & fulfill what is promised in order to the same as Power shalbe given unto me a superiour, well, well, Sr I touch not the Corruptions of the Earth but know yͭ you must make your best Endeavours in your Employment wherein beseech yͤ highest mercifully to blesse you with happy & good successes to his Glory & your Comfort Amen Hallaluja

March 21th 1686 Monday

There appeared a Viall vaile in the ston & beyond it a great Light & a flame ascending up in a Conicke forme to a poynt a foote above the ston & a star at the very poynt of it that flashes much every now & then And there is a Spectrum before the ston in a Lunar Cloud And there is Azure vailes in the other two Temples it is Loxanael in a purple vesture mixt with silver & it lookes seriously & pleasantly on me & said God save our good friends which is the only best best sorrowfully of all mankinde, and well Sr though your Enimies looke upon you with a malitious & frowning Eye even to a desperate hatred yet noe doubt they will fall before you as rotten Leaves in the winter season for the servant of God Ale; is by office & Power your Protector & in Charge over you I am Compelled to order so much for your present Comfort God bless you

March 23: 1686/7: the 2d after Vernary there appeared Coming out of the Sun a Comit Ray about a foote in lenghte & on the toppoynt of it is a flaming Star from whence (as we suppose) comes a great many flashes & they come bigger & bigger And before the Sun in a Sylver Cloud is a glorious Spectrum Crowned with an Imperiall Crowne very Rich, & Imperiall Robes on, ~~white~~ in Gold & Red with glittering Gems And the star over the Sun broake out into a great flash & so disappeared & in the stead of it is the likeness of a dove as white as burnished silver & its ~~[illegible]~~ Eyes Red like the Ruby flaming like fire & out out its Mouth Comes a Red Ruby streeme poynting downe to the Spectrum before the Sun And the Imperiall Spectrum before the Sun doth smile on us pleasantly & it turned to the Sun & did great Reverence towards it And it turned to us & looked on us more pleasantly if possible & said The posture of appearance in Celestiall & Imperiall Glory signifieth the Lorde thereof to be great & Splendid to like benefit & happiness in the state of the Morodi; as before when it standeth present [illegible] not [illegible]

Action of the day is more then usuall or as at other times, but the occasion differeth the quallity & forme thereof by Reason it so happeneth, being the time of Pascha were begun on tuesday at sun Rising with us what you may thinke if is not Materiall, we touch not ~~but~~ the ~~the~~ Earth but thinke it indeed ought to touch at us if all the host of heaven Rejoyceth at the Returne of one sinner to greive what thinke you then of the Redemption of all mankind who should thereby Returne from sin to Grace if the great & mighty gifts & heavenly benifits there=of were duly Considered I say how stupid should the Earth & all man kinde may be in their Libidino=us surfitings & Luxurious delights I touch not as being wrapped up in Vanity & blindness wee of the Celestiall host of God his servants incessantly Glorify him & with whom the like praises & thanksgivings of the Morodi should be conjoyned & united that the Glory of the highest might not only be consubstantiated but also extended to the benifit of all man kinde by that great and inestimable offertory & Attonement of the ever blessed sacrifice of the Messiah Jesus Christ the only & true son of ye highest & 2d person of the God=head in the unity of sacred trinity Action floweth not during this present Vernary as in the honour of time in Celestiall observances follow you like example in prudence & sobriety but Rejoyce & be thankfull & make merry with your selves & friends as in accustomary nabourly & good friendly society remembring with all to conscience how & doe your duty to your God as accustomarily remember to keep your selves cheerfull & serve your god & be comforted who will certainly blesse you with innumerable successe in your desired proceedings & supplications thereupon for surely That almighty Power that Redeemed the world thereby restored mankind to an happy estate of spirituall felicity can redeme his servants from the wicked bondage of all Terrestiall evils & Malignant surprisalls — — — — —

Marth 31th: 1687: Ternary present 6-10-03

There is a Solar body over the stone and an Imperiall Crowne over it And a flaming sword before it and there comes a short ray out of the top of the Crowne and at the poynt of it is a wonderfull bright star And the stone is in great glory red as a Ruby and there is a glorious spectrum before the stone Crowned with an Imperiall Crowne & on the top of the Crowne is a jewill like thing of a diamond collour that shines and the spectrum looks pleasantly on us and it turned to the stone & did Reverence wit towards it And now it turned to us & smiled very pleasantly and said Thanked be the highest that we have met together this day for which his name be for ever glorified this Moneth is now expired & determined with the last Annuall Ternary our Annuall Ækothe now Imediatly succeeding the same & so here is your Offertory which now call by your Obedience of Attonement & Absolution unto you whose reward in effect is Peace obtained by the celestiall vertues of spirits Patience & Perseverance which also hath 87 strongly Armed us with Powerfull weapons on your behalfe for betwixt a great Combat ensueth & is nigh at hand but thanked be the highest through whose divine grace we have taken up your quarrell & will encounter the Ambitious & infernall fury of your worst Enemies And certainly obtaine a victorious & a Triumphant Conquest & thereby redeeming & redressing your Terrestiall Agreevances & setling you in our Celestiall Peace & Tranquillity, the Power of Redemption in the Action & determination of this day is great & its effects will show forth happiness unto you you must conceive there againe in your living vestments which well becometh you in particular appoynted Actions on Tuesday morning next at usuall time for our materiall conflict will engage us on the day before, And then on thursday as ye 7th from hence is your Annuall Epoche: I am your friend za and am now come to receive Power to obtaine this victory of which I hope you shall shortly hear more now then Sr here I have laid downe or rather delivered up this Crowne before you which is a semblance of an offertory of Epoche etc I leave it in place as bearing the office of Power to prevent any Malignant encroachments & take a greater care or may Attempt to annoy you And then stretched out its hand & tooke the flaming sword yt was before the sunlike body into its hand understand me Sr well here

I am comanded to giue you notice of the offertory of your Epoche which should be Answerable to the office action of the day & ensuing effects of your deliverance

Lay before ~~the~~ me as in the Place where I stand (viz) before this shew ston one Angell Crowned & there on placed a diadem or diamon ston consisting as it should Rightfully be of 5, 7, or 9 graines by dimention & on each side of this first or midle part an Angell uncrowned And so shall you fulfill the injunction of your Comanded obedience

1687 Aprill: 5th Tuesday

There appeared on or the ston a body like the Sun with an Imperiall forme in it And an Imperiall Crowne over it And a top of it where there should stand a Cross is like a Diamond very beautifull And shining :: And before the ston is a delicate beautifull ffoetum with a Crowne on its head & it smiled

I am Sr ex filijs filiorum I am neere Allied to Ath

I am also a servant of Celestiall Grace & Amicus Mozodi & Celosiriana Lucis,

I am sent Sr hether by Superiour order who are in place & office above this place & Charge in Office to be delivered here by reason of ordaining Power in Charge (then looked it hard on me) to dignified with Light & Power to Comand such or those More Inferiour Elementall sublunar Powers, who are & may be given for service in the supply of your Necessities a Relation whereof is not given me to shew forth well Sr what hinder you from your late discoursed ~~Inquired~~ Inquiries I know not how divine grace may bless you with assistance in your present greatest Charge Enjoyned, Now Sr I will tell you the Mistery hereof is not in mans Apprehention because it is a meane of Enjoying Celestiall dignity with an other=all soule exalting the spirit to the same likenesse & quallity of spirituall light Carrying with it an Inherent Unity then which nothing is more blessed in Grace & Perfection touching then any thing of [illegible] of your now late discoursed Coronall offertory as it cannot be to great nor too high nor too splended nor too glorious so yet neither can we confine you to Impossibillities for ought I know Assistance may come to your supply with a few howers, if not then your day of Epoche & also of action now ensuing may declare further unto you, I cannot serve you, what may be Exercions or otherwise compliment herein that is left unto the Power & Presence of that dayes action I only give you to understand what is plaine & Easy to your sence I say tis not of me to confine you or determin further by reason of the Improbabillities that may possibly Eclipse the Greatnesse of that action but I have don for fear I shall digress & exceed my Charge I must goe for I am under Comand & must also respect my Charge but I shall leave the Power given me to Comand in Place during superiour determination

1687 Aprill 7th Epoche

There appeared over the ston a Solar body with an Imperiall Crowne on it glittering & out of the top of the Crowne comes a Ray upwards; and in this Solar body is 7 Imperiall Spectrums in a Rednesse wonderfull shining; in the Midle of the ston is a font like thing & the brim of it is ~~set~~ with precious stons which every one of them cast a Ray outward & there is Spectrums standing ~~behind~~ about it two Rowes one behind the other and there is two Spectrums like shaddows before the ston or ye Mystery the 7 in the Solar body are the 7 Superiour Intelligences they seeme to be pleasant and about this font like thing is the 7 Intelligences & the 7 subintelligences & without the subintelligences is 3 or 4 at each Angle And they are all very pleasant in Countenance & all Crowned in the sollid glass Respect next me is Saluah Alth & And very pleasant & very glorious & in the North sollid Respect is Nalvage Murifri & Maxsama & they are pleasant & glorious And the two Spectrums before the ston doe smile & the Crowne layes betweene them on a ~~Re~~ purple Cushion and they are Shemeli & Illemese

And in the hollow ~~R~~ heights are in the top of them a Luna light but in the Midle of them is like Clay or Earth & Some ugly things like vipers doe come out of it & suddainely goe in againe;

And Shemeli said The Magnificent Appearance in the Action of this day as your present Annuall Epoke showeth; the Paternall Mercies of the highest towards you, as your God promising through divine grace thereby Peace & happinesse shortly to the Comfort of your Soules & Redemption of your Corporall Cares in your temporall Concernements

What is it Sr nay Brethren as I may call you that seemeth uneasy or difficult to your Apprehension or understanding in the oblation of this day I know not but I find nothing of difficulties that have bin shewed forth unto you; so that here seemeth not else but impertinent Mistake in your Judgments

The dedication of the ston or diamond ston of 5 graines may be dispensed with all this 21 dayes if it cannot be had sooner & then make this present also that it may be compleat it shall not hinder the promised mercies, Sr that sight & Power cometh in Course to you You will have Release by them Aireall Powers

You must Cease Give thanks on monday Morning

1687 Aprill 11th : monday : ~~[illegible]~~

There appeared; a star over the ston & there is an eye in the Center of it as Red as a Rubey casting a Ray from it towards mee and in the ston it seemes to be all like a flame; And the Ray of that Eye in the star continues to cast its Ray still towards mee

And also there seemes to a bright transcendent face in the stone and ~~[illegible]~~ it casts forth a light from it like the sun & it is very pleasant

And there appeares a fine small Spectrum in the ston with a Ring of Gold on its ~~R~~ Head with studs on it & it smiles & it looketh on the Eye about the ston & turned to mee & looked full on mee & smiled & it said;

Your desires Sr will be fulfilled observe the prescript orders & Rules given Dispute not further of the effects the rest followeth in Course of Promises; I trust you will be setled er long in Peace & freedom

I see not more Desired nor given me to shew forth

Give thanks to god & beseech him for mercy that you may Posses the benifite of Grace & Peace from above which gives all Temporall felicity and wherewith the most high God [illegible] blesse you Amen

1687: Aprill 14th the 2d after Ternary

There appeared a sparkling star over the ston & in the Center of it is like a birds eye & it casts its Aspect directly to= =wards me And there is a ~~Royall~~ vaile in the ston & a small spectrum of hands either in it or before it And it hath a crowne on its head & it looks very pleasant & smiles on mee And it said My Mother saith your desires shallbe suddainely or very shortly fulfilled as before hath bin said & your promised hopes Accomplished beseeche the highest for his grace & Mercy for he is gratious & merci= =full And will give blessing to his servants that humbly beseeche him; nihill plus desendet hodie I am called away but my Lord resteth behind with you

1687 Aprill 18th Monday

There Appeared over the ston a Glorious star that sent forth a streame downe into the Ston, that gave a light into the Ston, and there is a great brightness in the Center of that star & it is like a blasing star And there is a Transcendent Royall vaile in the ston so glorious like fflames There is a Curious spectrum Crowned in the forepart of the ston and there is also a spectrum in each sollid glass recept and they have a ring of Gold on their heads & and they are very pleasant and smile in the ston is Lexomael and in the recept next one is Susaniah And in the other is Samariel and they converse together very friendly and Susaniah & Samariel both looke on me & smile And Susaniah looks on me & then on its hand & then conferes with Samariel these plates and the seales of Diurnall Powers & degrees neere to complience then the other 4 were, they are so Naturally, use these 4 tables in the roome of the other 4 be carefull of Good deportment at the time of next Ternary afternoon Questions, nor make noe Enquiries therefore make noe further question what you doe not is noe Error make a Ternarian Oratory You may act at home any day non excepted but Sundayes & that is bee continued by order of vertues God blesse you

1687 Aprill 21 Ternary present 06—10—03

There Appeared flashes that came towards mee And like a body of fire over my head, as if it was just upon it, There is over the ston a Glorious solar body shining out rayes all round upon it And something in it And the ston is all full of Glory And there is somthing before the ston in a silver vaile And there is Appearances in all the recepts but all valed in with fiery vailes or vailes of Glory And the spectrum in the silver vaile seemes very pleasa= =nt & it casts its Aspect to me it is Sanniel & it hath a bright star on the brest of it, and it said, move not without permission the presence of Power in Appearance is great in greater mercy & the place thereby holy confirming your hopes of Admission And Entrance into promised Enjoyments, And the light of true Celestian felicity

And desired Deliverance from Terrestiall Creation in the fore part of the ston is Vriel Galvah & Schemeli= =el Galvah hath a golden rod in its hand & there is a small sparke or fire at the end of it & out of it doth shoot now & then a small sparke to R:O: And Vriel hath in its hand like a viol of fire & there comes out of the mouth of it a ray or beame upwards And Schemeliel hath in its hand A scepter like thing with a thing like a small bird on it & out of it issues like the Attomes in ye sunne beames in the sun like body over the ston is the Governour of Hylick and Metheratton

And in the midle of the ston is a font like thing covered with a Crowne & Michael on ye one side of it & Gabriel on the other & the rest of Intelligences on the East side of it, And Charge is given to all to performe the promises & to show forth the same in following actions in Course, And Semmiel hath converse with the Spiritums in the sollid Glass Recepts And in the sollid Glass Recepts are the other 6 subintelligences 3 in each Recept & behind them is six or 7 & behind them is a great many in each Recept next the ston — And Semmiel said to me goe forward with your actions as ordered And call on the Order of Vertues on Sunday, this action passeth not of untill the 7th day not more can be given untill ye 7th day

1687 Aprill 25th Monday
There appeared a Spiritum like a young Child standing behind me with a Crowne on its head & a bright flame issuing out of the top of it And before the ston is a delicate beautifull Spirit Crowned it is Lecanael & it looked full towards me & it had a star in its forehead & it cast a ray towards me & it smiles and to exceeding pleasant, fiat voluntas Dei, fear not neither dispare, si deus nobiscum, quis contra nos, there are good friends in Charge & care of you, but my Message [illegible] to suffer thereon Rayse up your spirits even to the 4th heaven where the light of Grace dwelleth & you will quickly find the light of your hopes Comfort you with a happy passport of your Deliverance & wherein very like you may receive further knowledg then is given to me at this time to show forth but I must returne to the service of the highest whom we all humbly beseeke for you and therewith to endow & blesse you 1687: Aprill: 28th: the first after Tornary; There appeared a Sylver Cloud before the ston in the midle of the ston is the font like thing & a flame burning in it & that ascends about 2 foot above the ston a bright star at the end of it & About this font like thing are 4 on their knees in each quarter one & they are at prayer and in the Center of the star over ye ston is a small eye out of which comes a bright Ray toward R:O: And the four Archangels that was on their knees about the font like thing are rose up and seeme to looke up & give thanks, And Galvah is in the Sylver Cloud before the ston and is in discourse with Suvaniah & Samariel in the two sollid Glass Recepts & they two doe great veneration to Galvah & the ston & Galvah went away in a flash, And Suvaniah & Samariel doe remove to the Northwest poynt & flashes come from them to them, and two Spirituums come to each sollid Glass Recept in humane forme & Suvaniah & Samariel doth talke to them 4 Spirituums & they seeme to be humble & sometimes to tremble and them 4 went away in flashes & vanished Vernariel doth looke on ye Spectrum before the ston & doth say some what to it, it is Samuiel, And Samuiel Looked on us & did Curtesy & smiled and then looked full on me And said, God save you what is it I pray that   Annoyeth you if aught disturbeth your understanding wee shall Arbitrate ye mistakes; stay awhile I come againe And it came againe & looked pleasantly; And said Well Sir I will settle your thoughts in Peace this day is a Charge gon forth, which you will hear more of on Monday next but in the meane time proceed in your action at home   observe then Sir you shall have one day of action in the weeke at this Mystery & I appoynt it thus; on Monday next. shall begin your first day, And the first day of your weekly actions & so consecutively, (viz) on monday the next weeke & tuesday ye weeke following & wednesday ye weeke following & so on in course successively ~~&~~;   And for your offertori they must be thus one Crowned angel and ye quantity of $\frac{1}{3}$ part thereof more as a band or continuity of our correspondent friendships is the weekly offertory of the day of action & for this Ternarius there will be non after this triple ternarius ending June 23d but untill this triple ternary be ended the offertories thereof is Mitigated (viz) only tribled as thus 3 Crowned angel with one third part of the quantity thereof   And there is all the trouble you will under have in this poynt

But one thing I must needs offer to you if you are able to offer up ye ~~[illegible]~~ diamond ston of 5 graines or more with ye Angel Crowned of gold & two angells of silver in ye time or between this & the 23 of June next ensuing it will doe well being a conformation ~~of sight~~ or consubstantiation of sight & Powre well Sir I have said what sufficeth so I bid you fare well in ye highest

May 2d: 1687: the 2d after Ternary

There appeared in the midle of the ston a great flame and that streames up in a Conick forme above the ston to a poynt on which is a very bright star and in the two sollid glass Vessels is a Lunar brightness There is a Spectrum before the ston in a sylver Cloud it is Lexanael & Lexanael looks pleasantly on me And said (looking more seriously & gravely) ha good friend I have heard you lamenting your unfortunate state of present being in your Imployment, the gilt of your losses & declining hopes of future certainty & success therein seemeth to strike you in fear & terror of minde more then the danger that attends you you may nay you must appear to them partyes or else it will be worse through mercy in the highest you may shortly find deliverance to your great & unexpected Comfort Mr. Millet) some such thoughts hath bin contrived amongst some persons who are every way wholly unconcerned in those affaires but by Imaginary flashings & idle talkings of persons unconcerned as they carelessly meet together Rumors whereof spreading abroad may also incite others to thinke differently there of untill it soundeth in the Eares peradventure of those that are concerned though there be not reallity therein nor foundation therefore, I confesse what you say that euen as sinking persons will lay hold of a straw to keep them up though in vaine so Necessity will take hould of what benifit oppertunely may offer, but this report is yet nothing though there may be Contrivance of some to create a Conception of setting such a designe on foote but still it is Nothing for it cannot be ~~easily~~ Consulted nor Determined so I still it proceeds to nothing

I say question not your sight for it will be given you & your Instructions are sufficient to make use of upon any Appearance presents it selfe

Well my good friend you may withdraw into your Conferments and now the most high God Protect & Bless you.

May 10th, 1687: Tomary ~~[illegible]~~

There appeared a sun like body over ye stone and in it a thing like an Eagle ye cast a Ray towards me like a streame of light,

And Susaniah is in the sollid Glass = kept on ye North side And Samaniel on the other & severall spectrums more with them And Susaniah & Samaniel doe looke to ye East ward & then to the stone & upon us & smile—

And in the stone in the front like thing is a flame & Michael is on the North side of it & Uriel is on ye South side of it and Madimiel & Ane are of the west side of it & on ye East side of it is a Spectrum in Imperiall forme in a ~~red~~ firy Appearance

And Michall & Uriel looke directly on me & they have each of them a star on their brest out of which comes a Ray pointing to me from them both : 1.

And Madimiel & Ane doe looke to the Eastward & then one on another & then on us & smile

And Madamiel said, God save our Good friends & brethren verily Sirs by this time you may thinke me much a stranger by reason of my late not presence in appearance upon action here Not Sir our absence is mostly or many times the same as presence because we are at all times & every where present by service & Comand from our great Master I have often seene you & served you at Comand & by Charge in office Imitted unto me though you see me not nor know me not for the Most high & Great Jehovah euen ye Almighty Madrilodarp when he made the Earth & the Glory thereof And looked downe from heaven upon that his most Admirable & ~~Vast~~ Transcendent worke & viewing the greatnesse [illegible] Glory variety of all things as the Idea & Image of himselfe & then framing the more Nobler Creature of all Man as the Image thereof, I say beholding this wonderfull & even Incomprehensible worke as to the apprehension of man in all succeeding Ages untill this day. the great & most high God I say, did declare all this to be good & made man the sole Imperator & governour under himselfe of all ye he had so created & made, & withall made particular promises unto man not only to Injoy but to comand the great benifits & comforts thereof, if he would become humble & obedient & observe his comandement which if he so kept & observed should be inherent to all posterity euen to all Eternity but foolish man falling from his duty into a relapse of disobedience & sinning divine Justice as a punishment due to his disobedience was degraded of his Angellicall & Immortall habit-=ude & cast forth into dishonour & so became in sight & subject to death & Corporall dissolution entailing thereby the like on all his posterity But yet my Brethren let us also consult here withall, the goodness of the highest that although he severely punished that great offence & sin of man yet he compassionately beheld his weakness & lost his grace & mercy paternally to continue with him that he should yet stand in a state of Glory & Retain an Imperiall power of all God his good Creatures both Celestiall & Elementall & to make the infernals & powers of darkness as his vassalls & to comand ~~at~~ them as wild slaves although by Nature evill, yet in their places & offices to be not only serviceable but also humbly & submissively bound to obay his Comandement when Called or moved thereunto from whence my brethren you deeply infer & conclude with me what the Merodr of Grace shall possess especially where Celestiall promise dwelleth & the light thereof is as I may say alwaies or Continuall present — the rest is given to Aud= And She said This truth now said & showed forth must warrantably be confessed of all & undeniably assented unto (& looked on me) if so then Sir I tell you the great works of the hermetick sophiarks will be truly given declared & showed forth unto you & that you shall by your Industrious performance in what is delivered you partake of those great 94 Earthly benefits, which shall not only be Revealed but delivered unto you as a Continuall supply to serve your Necessities that you may live in a Magnificent Comfort & Enjoyment of promised felicity; but stay was not the 23d day of the next month with you pointed at & Mentioned well then be contented for I have not given me to say there of now, and they looked to the East & then spake to the two ~~glass~~ sollid glass Receipts you may give thanks & Cease but at your utmost perrell let not a foot enter into this land till the sun is set

May 18th:1687: the first after Ternary — Wednesday —

There Appeared in the stone Uriel & before it Cothabiel & over the stone like a whele of fire & in the Center of it is an Eye I looked directly on me And Uriel did ~~confer~~ muse with Cothabiel & Uriel did sometimes & also Cothabiel looke on ye two sollid Glass ~~Receipts~~ and now & then Uriel did Cast a smile on me And Cothabiel turned this way & smiled & said smiling muse I heard you Srs but even Now rendering the action of the last day of your Convention here the which I have Confirme in yet for the whole thereof I say that the Power & Providence of ye highest is past the Reach of humaine Apprehention & Imaginatiō what though you are incompassed with Terrestiall Desperation & Battered furiously with the most Malitious Inventions that can be Uttered or pursued by Infernall Inventions dangerous enough his true in portent & effect but what then thinke you not that yet Remaines not an ~~[illegible]~~ overrulin Power yea Srs most assuredly & that to your Comforts too as that I could manifest in many sound examples & in all ages of time I doe not find y you are greater sinners then many that haue bin wonderfully deliuered & preserued from more greater & apparent relapses then you now suffer & are at present wrecked in to me I confess Sr what you but euen now offered as to be advised touching those present difficulties now laying incumbent upon you are very considerable & indeed as necessary for you to be advised in, but it is not of myne office at this time Receiue answer at 9 of the clocke on Monday morning & then you wilbe resolued by Loamael

- A desire that I shall haue ~~[illegible]~~ sight & dignity &c — — Behould the sacred seruant of the highest Ariel, cometh to your Comfort & assistance unto whom it is & wilbe giuen mercifull to the Confirmation of your hopes in him unto whom all honour glory & thanks giuen be ascribed for euer & euer Amen —

May: 23th: 1687: Monday:
There appeared Loamael in the ston very pleasant & friendly yet seriously, & I looked on me and said smiling It is said Sr you want Counsell in order whereunto I am present here at this time, And doe find that you would gladly understand what wilbe the fate & euent of the state & Condition of the place & imployment of your present being, & of the good or ill successe thereof, as it now standeth in the midst of a storme of uncertainty wrecked euen to the utmost despi= =ration, and how you shall steere a course therein for a generall preservation, both of it, & of all whatsoeuer is therein Concerned, you say you know not neither know you how to advise your selfe therein, which I know to be the reason of the desires of this day what say you Sr is this the somme of your desire well then I perceiue I haue summoned up the principles in the sense of your present desires, and there came a flash & it turned to the Eastward & then turned to us againe & looked more pleasant then before if possible & said Now then upon a view of this whole Matter as I haue taken & thereby obserue, I finde seuerall persons concerned there in whose proper Claime thereof or who will lay Right or Claime thereunto, is at this time wholly unknowne & not to be understood but many layeth out baits angling to bere the profits & benifits that layeth ready to be made thereof & those who are or may be properly said to lay Claime thereunto are subject to giue eare & Listen to seuerall Contrary & malitious Informations, undervalluing deriding & setting the same at nought thereby making so much of strange disorder & confusion so eclipsing the truth that the splendor of its glory will not very shortly shine forth in the Luster of right understanding — such most horred & turbulent lyes like whirlewind stormes wilbe infernally dispersed, that the innocency of the naked truth wilbe cloathed with a scandalous and unseemely garment gladly seeking to shroud it selfe behind a Rock till a more serene Calme appeareth & the storme ceaseth & the sun of Righteousness giue a beneuolent ray & wholly disperse it those false and malitious impostures & then will all appear in a joyfull safety & blessed hopes of happy determinations I must needs tell you Sr that your interest hath the most iust right & will surely hould the same from the Dutchesses Claime by reason it is to be understood that the obligations must first be paid And herein they may be both strangely perswaded into great Mistakes by strong flatteries & other manyfould delusions by seuerall envious & rancorous villaines who like Hellhounds will seeke to hunt the very truth it selfe to slaughter & distruction if possible that Nothing should hinder them like ravenous wolves to tare & rend all in peices these are the intentions of theirs as fish for distruction

But through divine grace there is fortitude enough to defend the innocent these roring Lions shall miss there Aime & loose their prey Notwithstanding the rigorous fury of their upholders & deceitfull fark=rals

I now will shew forth & declare unto you that if ye Duches should claime the same as doutless some synistrous thereof will appear animated on by nothing but meere Envy & Ignorance as knowing nothing of differences then will Mrs Elizabeth Browne be partly inforced to seeke defence for her owne intrest & preservation of right, then cometh what I have said to pass And verily Sr I am in great hopes that thou mayst or they be able of purchasing ye same your selfe & so beat them all out now Sr take notice & be carefull of what I shall advise thee I find it willbe to better purpose for you to make address unto your patroness But I tell thee what there are some persons who should be related to the law who either hath or may have her ear And also may discourse her & whosoever maybe intrusted by her unto whom you may address your selfe by first contracting in a private both the good & evill effects of all these concernes & the good or evill consequences ye may ensue; & the means of preserving her intrest or the distruction thereof & for her to take some care therein & then will she ~~be~~ willing to consult with you being so animated to seeke ye safety of her intrest for this I certainly assure ye if these two gentlewomen should fall at variance & thereby walke into trubble by your laws or other dissentions they willbe both surely cheated & the reputation of the world even almost lost Although ye enimies thereof gets nothing by it verily Sr this matter requireth a little dexterity in your address

Dewidt pag nod debt

Sr I tell you a greater nor more true Arkanu experiment or operation in ye part of true science is hardly to be found & therefore persevere in it & through grace in the highest you will find good effects thereof which you may persue at your discression since you are under noe limitt of time

May 26: 1687: thursday: 2: after T—

There appeared a delicate lovely spirit in ye ston in a purple vestment mixt with gold & golden haire And looking very ~~very~~ pleasently

My friends for so I call you although as yet you know me not by reason I am allyed unto good friends of yours that have been so & are so & willbe so to the glory of the highest & I trust unto your comforts & benifits I am also de filys filiorum by name Phaviel & stand in place of absence ready to serve by office & present charge given) the servants of the highest in their addresses & to you in perticular as present here in place Attending celestiall grace for a support unto your hopes under doubtfull & dispairing difficulties, It not only sufficeth that I have heard partly of your discourse give me then more fully to consult then reasonable answere for you I will tell you Sr good to counsell first & then to Mrs Browne verily Sr I will tell you although it is not for me to justify an evill person nor ye ill action of any person yet not withstanding these things must be adjudged at reasonable conveniency doe not discharg him but give him 10 £ weeke & speake him faire

The Landlord will not stirr

Ay marry Sr if you talke of wickedness there is enough of ye & wretchedness too make a fair parting with him

Concerning Jam yea Sr I have seene it & in very deed a very ill Chance it is considering the ill flesh he hath to be wounded it must be well searched & opened — — — — goe on with your Calls enjoyned & feare nothing.

May 30: 1687: monday instead of Conquer, make us & our works faill & so by y meane utterly destroy the future prosperity & good successe there of in stead of som Informed say it is Credibly reported by good Information

June 3d: 1687: Fornary friday prof

There is a sun like body over ye stone & some thing in it And in the stone is Glory
And in the solid glass receipt on y North side is Michaell and on the South side is Uriel And Michaell is in Regall forme Crowned And a Golden Key in its hand And Uriell is in a High Preists habbit with a golden rod in its hand & out of the top of it a flame issueth out like a Candle or Torch And we suppose the Governour of Physick is in the sun like body over the stone. And Methratton is before in y stone with the Caduce in its hand And Methratton looks on Michaell & then on Uriel & points with its Caduce to me & looks on me with pleasant Countenance & so doth Michaell & Uriel and in the stone beyond Metratton is in Great Glory is Dagall & before Dagael is Anael & Galuah & before the stone is Nogall as we suppose — & in the two hollow receipts is Jusaniah in one & Samariel in the other and Numberless of spirits with them of divers formes And y Spectrum before the stone said Ego sum Nogall and Nogall hath a whitish wand like thing in its hand & with a bright sparke at the end of it & it looks pleasantly on me & so doth all the whole shew And Nogall said The Glory of Appearance in action surpasses terrestiall Conferrments as it is a particular gift of Grace unto you therefore no reports more untill Monday 7 or 8 in the Morne untill then you may Cease —

June 6: 1687: Monday

There appeared lights in all the receipts called in And a spectrum before the stone & it smiled & we suppose it to be Camael & it went away and after a little time Phariel came in its place & it looked on us & smiled on us & it hath fine Golden haire ~~Bearded~~ Bearded, and it turned to me & looked very pleasantly on me And it said
The appearance in action on y last day of ye Convocation were signally shewed forth the mercies of your God in his Paternall grace & favor towards you, there appeared the Governour of Physick & its disposer to give order for y disposing of the Great Medicine & the medicinall thing and there was Michaell & Uriel to give power And Sight to R.O. and Jusaniah had with it the Gnomi And Samariel the Sylphi who will be subjected to Obedience Now then let us to our purpose in hand, to me, you are highly commended for addressing your selfe to Camuel with what you had occasion for its assistance And shewing forth the state & Condition of your Consernments, verily it was well don of you & now you may use your owne discretion in your other Intentions saving only to morrow goe not on any materiall Enterprise, not to speake with any body to morrow but any day else

I tell you Sr the Duchess will seeme to be animated on by some very Ignorant fooles as hath bin already shewed forth which will nerdly breake forth into folly tending to make som fraction or difference in the claime but it will turne to nothing, for the dutchess will take advice of the Learned And when she will be given to understand the difficulties Attending her claime or propriety there she will then desist And acquiesse but yet some disturbance will hardly rest there for some other folish Attempts will seeme strangely to Arise from unknowne principles striving to make more miss understanding And through many Mistakes Animosities will Arise & in the midst of the storme all Malitious Batteries & Attempts will dissolue & waste off become nothing & so the world stand in a perpetuate unity & peace & succeeding Prosperity.   you need not be further Concerned at this June 11th 1687 the first Ist [illegible]

There appeared beyond in the ston a great Imperiall sceptrum & two more with it, Tophiel Boel Sabathiel and in the middle of the ston there ascended a flame in the forme of a spire & it ascended out of the ston a pritty way above it & as we see Michael stands on the North side side of it & Uriel on ye South side of it And in the sollid glass ~~except~~ on the North side of ye ston is Anel And in the other is Sahiah & they seeme to sit & contemplate out very pleasant & smiling And before the ston is [illegible] is Phariel And Michael took of the flame ye ascended & threw it into me & so did Uriel & then they looked on me & smiled And Phariel said, Come, Come, Sr let not hope fail you nor your faith sinke into delays, all is well & will be better unto you for behould the finger of Celestiall grace guides Power to dignify, defend, & redeeme you, from fear & dange And ye divine Light of Elohirah giving safe guid

And happy conduct unto Enjoyment of true felicity,   98 besides these many Celestiall servants of grace ready to minister all promised gifts even ready to be Administred & shewen forth unto you, which neerly Approacheth & is even at hand;   Monday next in order is of Right a day of action as appointed in the ensuing weeke your Ternary falleth on ye 29th instant but you must consider the 23th also but of ye Matter you will be informed the 21th day as it falleth out to be an Appointed day of action   meet next monday & the weeke following on Tuesday & then the weeke following on wednesday so all will correspond very well togeather since I am that grace & mercy is here shewed forth unto you and will shortly be delivered to you well Sr be not dismaied, for I trust you may very shortly see the deliverance of the highest lead you from thraldom into a most happy & Glorious freedom in your Temporall Estate Condition & enjoyments which we all humbly beseeke of the highest for his owne blessed Names sake for you to the comfortable Enjoyment of your hopes & so rest you satisfied untill we meet again &   on Monday Next 1687 June 13th Monday

There appeared Phariel before ye ston & in the ston is Michael & Uriel & they are a speaking to severall spirits in the ston & over the ston is a thin like body looking of a Ruby Rednes; And Phariel doth looke very pleasantly on us and hath something in each hand & that it lookes on like little stons & it strikes them togather & they strike fire

And it looked on me & said It would be accompted great vanity or at least a great oversight for us to declare of descent of the Infernall Machinations & other malicious Inventions & most wicked Conspiracies dayly Invented fomented & acted upon ye Earth Amongst the Children of mankind but only to Comfort you thus for with a satisfaction unto your disturbed spirits Conjecture you then with us, which we may also Continue= without sensible Error as ye sacred word of the highest hath it and hath declared it, that such great & Grosse Injuries may be permissively premeditated & acted by wicked persons— but then what followeth wo be to them from whom they come And are perpetrated Certainly it were better such had never bin borne then live to suffer the Reward of their — wickedness for it is to be observed that if all things must Returne ye Returne from whence they came then pray judg you the Rationall Construction thereof & of those dreadfull effects which Returneth upon the heads of those from whence such materiall Injuries most perfidiously shall proceed which undoubtedly you may live to find & see verified, O then on the Contrary how great is the Reward of truth in its hope faith & Obedience be not therefore troubled nor so much disquieted in spirit or mind, at feared or threatned dangers or Malicious Contro= =versies for they will Returne from whence they Came with shame Enough to the Conspirators & promoters thereof; And so dissolve, Then will victory triumphantly stand in a Glorious & firme stabillity before the servants of the highest & continue in their defence against all worldly assasinations stirred up by any Infernall motive whatsoever

To be breif with you Sr, that I must also be; many servants of Celestiall grace are by office appoynted for your Comfort & great things willbe shewed forth unto you that willbe means of your happy deliverance & such happiness as willbe shewed forth the 8th day to me know you Sr or have you not heard of yt which is Called Lapis Pyrites the which hath wonderfull & occult vertues & great secrets which will in good time be declared unto you for power is gon forth & permission given to declare & shew forth unto you the mercies of the highest unto your peace And Comfort but I must also Returne & Condition Resolve therefore you may give thanks unto the highest & Resolve also on Tuesday the next weeke

1687 June 21 the 2d after Ternary

There appeared over the stone a body like the sun and in it is like an Eagle & on that Eagle is a Glorious Imperiall presence And before the stone is two fine Spectrums yt seem to be at play one with the other And there came a third spectrum before the stone & now they leave of playing And now they be serious together & very pleasant the first 2 spectrums before the stone is Esemeli & Elemese & Ath was the 3 spectrum that came to them And in the stone, is Galuah, Maplema, & Mirrifei & behind them is a flame Ascending up & of the one side of it is Ane & on ye other side is Nalvage And beyond it is An Imperiall Presence in a red flaminess & one spectrum of each side of it which we suppose the Samael & Madamiel

And in the soled glass Receipt on ye North side of the stone is hog in white And Susaniah behind them & 4 attending on Susaniah & Many attending on them 4 &c — in the soled glass Receipt on ye South side is the like then with Samariel

And Ath looked on me & smiled And said

The Righteous shall be justified & be victoriously defended not= =withstanding the desperate & distructive poyson of Infernall mallice, And shall triumphantly Rejoyce in happy deliverance Blessed are ye then in your faith Obedience Patience & perse= =verance the precious vertues supporting the hopes & hopefull Enjoyments of the Morodi & Elect through divine grace unto mercy, This day Sr is appoyntment of Action the which manifesteth it selfe in Glorious Appearance, the effects whereof will be accordingly Answerable

Then I will tell you Sr this day in the Action whereof is of Advice to you, which I am willed to show forth for it is of great concernment, understand me then I on thursday or 23 instant you shall meet at this Mystery in the morning at 7 a clock & make Earnest prayer & supplication unto your God for grace & mercy to dignify you with sight & happy success in all your future proceedings, for the same shall be a day of humiliation or of humble Address unto your God as before I said eating nothing yt hath lost life untill 6 in the After noone the offertory of that day shall be only two Angels Crowned the which toucheth not the offertory of this day for the 27th day is a day of Preparation as well as continuall oblation as hereby is enjoyned preceeding the next day of action which is dies Ternarius Magnus And Indeed as I may say likely to be the greatest day of action that hath preceeded it ~~being on three~~ on this day stay an hower in all from 7 to eight & then withdraw but be very Circumspect in your doings ye day that you offend not, nor are tempted to ~~act~~ any offence untill after six of the clock now Sr observe with fear & Reverence unto superiour Power on the 8th day you shall meet at this Mystery by 8th in the morning for as it is the greatest day we trust of mercy unto you as may succeed the Glorious & happy Effects thereof & by reason it may be that many future Expediences in extraordinary offertories may be mitigated & the burden thereof eased & so very reasonable offertories for the future enjoyned as bin showed forth already which on ye day I trow will be settled to your good liking now then although it hath bin said that ternaries will Cease after the expiration of this present Ternarius Magnus of which I show not forth at this present that is partly referred to the Action of that day

I am Commanded to show forth unto you what you are to observe & to do on that great day, the offertory of the action singly only as dies Ternarius, the which standeth singly & of itselfe but then considering the magnitude & greatness of the day & time as it must of necessity be, if with us, then consequently also with you that single offertory of the ternary must be trebled & presented at the foot of this holy stone which I trow will be a period to all extraordinaries & an entrance unto a future & happy estate both as to your deliverance & the benifit of mercies therein for the more your enimies hateth you the more & greater will Celestiall love & grace be with you; be not therefore dismaied Sr you shall have no troubles I trow or otherwise perceive but you shall enjoy all your desires — — — — — — — — —

I have now showed forth & delivered what I was comanded desiring you in Gods name to observe & take heed unto it by reason it neerely concerneth you wherein the most high God graciously endow you with happy & heavenly success to the Glory of his great name & the comfort of a lasting peace unto you 1687 June 23: Humiliation ~~[illegible]~~ there appeareth the ston & towers of Purplish red Collour and there seemes to be something before the ston like a small ffigure and it is in a deep reddish purple Collored vestment Ego sum Affeliah I am also of the family of friendshipp, And am Comanded by superiour Power to greet your humble Address before the presence of Divine grace in the Admission & we trust your Entry to the sacred Pallace of Celesiriah on wednesdays action I must also sit before ye ston & we must be serious & not to entertaine any other discourse then belongeth to the action, take heed of Passion Injustice Anger & superfluous discourses The sacred spirit of the highest direct & receive you into grace & mercifully defend you from the snares & illusions of Infernall & wicked temptations Amen Hallaluja

87 June 29 the great ~~the first~~ Ternary ~~[illegible]~~ Ternarius Magnus

There appeared Ga, za, vaa, and they bid us come againe next on Monday Morning at 8th of the Clocke and then the Action will be showne forth. It is written that god giveth Grace to the ~~meeke &~~ Humble and the meeke in spirit through faith & obedience shall obtaine mercy
It was said before & it is this day confirmed yt you shall enjoy your desires, be not dismaid but comforted in the highest who careth for you

July 4: 1687: Monday

There appeared a solar body over the ston and in it the 7 before the throne & before the ston is Ga, za, vaa, And in the ston is Galvah & one in the fore part of it
And in the Center of the ston is 3 persons in a flame & about them are the 7 Intelligences & about them are the 7 subintelligences & about them a great many incompassing them & so a great many more incompassing &c — being many Circles of them one about the other
And in the North side of the ston is Nalvage And Mapsama & with them is Themeli & there is more Appearance but we cannot discerne it. And in the South part is Murifri & Ath & with them is Hemesse & more Appearance there also but we cannot discerne it And za said: Amongst the Hierarchyes of Celestiall Superiours And amongst the many Legions of the Elementall & also dignified spirits even to the most inferiour parts as those of Darknesse, we are now severally to discerne of Know ye then that Manifould is the show of appearance in action unto the sight of a well seeing eye unto whom severally & respectively by degrees orders & office Charge is given, the Power is from a superiour & so emitted to inferiours accordingly to some such respectively in perticular as by name given with the rest shall be invocated Moved & so called forth to service in humaine Charge temporally; I meane Srs to your Assistance in your worldly Concernments, the which although it is not yet given to us to give a limmet of perticular unto you, yet this I may show forth that you must observe this ternary as a ternary begining as on Wednesday last with you next thursday is the first part of it then the 15 is the 2d pt and the 23 is the last day of the ternary and the 25th day is a day of Jubile of which you shall heare more; mean while I protect you in your Charge &c,

As Instructions given as accustomarily, I know not the Reason of their not Appearing or your not seeing them, But sure I am they must & will serve & obey I pray not to Neglect the time that Reasonably offereth opertunity to move therein, of which I trow you May be further given to understand on your next day of action this not being befitting that purpose we have noe more given to say but to will you to goe on in your progressions And God speed you in them

:1687: July 7th thirsday the first

There Appeared A Solar body over the ston & an Imperiall Presence in it in Great Glory
And in the ston is 3 spiritums (viz) Michael, Galwah & Sachiel And a great light beyound in the ston
And in the sollid glass Receipt is Azure vailes And in the hollow Receipt is like duskish Clouds flying And Michall hath a bright star on its brest that poynts with a ra directly to me And the [illegible] spiritum before the ston is Zedekiel And Zedekiel said Move not & so disappeared And there appeared a little spiritum before the ston that looks very pleasently it is Phariel And a flash came from the East to Michall & Imediatly the star in Michall Brest shot out it Ray like a shaft to me & Imediatly I was Incompassed with a light round about me & those by in ye light stil stood, & then Michall & Sathiel went away but Galwah staid & looked on me & smiled & so did Phariel, & then Phariel comunned with Galwah And Phariel said to me, It is understood that you have not seen effect by Appearance answerable to your Invocations in the prescript Operations delivered you, Notwithstandin which I am to show forth and declare unto you, that you may not be Deterred nor withdrawn from those Actions or operations. For Assuredly believe that good Effects shall succeed hereafter, I must proceed to my Calls to Zadiel And I shall have sight Meet here on Monday next [illegible] proceed in your Affaires & care shall be taken that you shall have the Effects of your Indeavours verily my good friends I am called away Give thanks to god & take Care of your Charge

July 11th
There appeared A Spiritum before in the ston And he said that All things was ready prepared to deliver to us [illegible],

Let your hopes my brethren be continued through faith in the hiest & And that your humble supplications are assended before the presence of ye divine Grace who ennables messagers there to fulfill & performe promised mercies, even in the very narrowest limits of Confinements & greatest straights of desparations giveth freedome & raiseth us up from ye greatest depth of forced distruction Come Come you are not forsaken nor yet left to mens vile Mallice for Although you seem eclipsed [illegible] by black invidi nebulosities & spurned at by Infamous & scandalous Machina -nations, yet it is not [illegible] to be at all feared but that the sun of Celestiall favour will mercifully shine forth in Glory & disperse the Infernall Vapours of black mouthed envy & shine forth splendidly upon your Comforts And you shall [illegible] survive the sight & sorrow of your delinquents; let your hopes therefore I say againe & again be exalted through faith & obedience to the Gracious assention of your happiness thus much I have said the effects whereof is even entring upon you & so to continue & stand with you as shall please the hiest whose paternall mercies never departeth from the comfort of his servants which we [illegible] also humbly beseech unto you for his his sonnes sake that is Almighty & mercifull keepe your duty in prayer unto the [illegible] the may keepe a mercifull God unto you

a mercifull God unto you

July 15 : 1687:

Affriah said Sir ye action on monday last suffice to [illegible] your hopes with a ~~[illegible]~~ credulity of being blessed with peace & mercy from above & ~~[illegible]~~ the good benifits & comforts thereof it is naturall S^r for all men & man kind to be troubled with various & manifold [illegible] & depressions of health in corporall constitution is very your selfe my good friend you are not totally [illegible] by any acute distemper & verily declare besides what hath already showed forth that extreame griffe & trouble & of spirit accumulated through great discontents & hath merrely overwhelmed you which is the only & great cause of the malancholick condition of you blood and indisposition of health it ~~make~~ may be also conjectured that outw~~[illegible]~~ person might imprudently pre sume to intrude & might give a hasty push by you but I am very sure it was quickly vanquished & cast forth into confinement but you have received any sensible injury from the same but from those extremities & disturbances of the spirits hath more weakened the elementall vigour of the senses thereby ordain strongly of naturally & [illegible] [illegible] which showeth it selfe in a paralitick in thy tongue

Rosmary & flowers Bettony & flowers ~~Sage & flowers~~ Piony flower Margeram and flowers ~~Rosmary~~ [illegible] tops of Sage & Marjorum make these into a conserve ~~[illegible]~~ take the quantity of a walnut first & last & drinke a dram of your spirits after it this will deliver you from any palsey or paraliticall distemper that it partly inclined to July 18th: 1687: monday

There appeared Chariell & it saith to needless repetitions this appointment is for you comfort & preservation it seemeth then you are appointed to bleed againe as on wendensday next ~~[illegible]~~ which suffices to be day ~~[illegible]~~ in the man by reason I would have you purge the next day or the next day save one, purge with [illegible] & when the moone doth enter into the sighne of gemini then shall you bleede under the tongue then shall thou take flowers of Rosmary Bettony & Saige & each one ℥ the flowers of Cammomill & Piony of each halfe an ounce Amber ½ a dram aloes or 2 of best tobacco [illegible] from ye stalke one dram or ½ or two drams of ~~[illegible]~~ black hellebore ½ a dram the ~~[illegible]~~ white hellebore all which must be reduced into a very fine ~~or~~ imperceptible powder & use it as snuff Saterday July 23th Tomorrow [illegible] hoc est [illegible] magnus peace be unto you S^r and which is then rather said because we firmly trust [illegible] glass in the first that mercy from above newly descendeth and as [illegible] entring your cottage fullfilling your request answering your supplications & putting a period to your feares & jealousies it seemeth S^r that the action of this day was referred till munday but ~~[illegible]~~ I tell you S^r we too have pitty for your weakness ~~wh~~ which we see now upon you for the which I counsell you to eat & drin well on good diet & drink ~~w~~ shortly when it I would not have you remain here untill after 3 dayes or untill the 4 day tire not your sence

The Appeared an eye out the stone yt is fiery with 5 rayes out of it one raye upwards one downward one ~~West~~ North on one S: & one between us ~~and out of one beame of it proceeds~~ in the midle of the ston stands a fountaine & out of it it comes like fire & falls on all the spiritums rounds about it ~~that the~~ stands in eleaven Circles ~~or lig~~ rings but they are more Glorious that stand neer the fountaine, and they are all rejoycing there are many spirituns in the receptacle on the side like the ston, in the north side the stone the receptacle hath great many spirituns in it but ~~those bel~~ those are not so beautifull as the other and in the hollow receipt next me is severall spirituns coming & going but on the other is a great many ugly ones coming & going

Za said of you beleive Sr that the most high God ~~created~~ all things for the use & ~~benit~~ benifit of man kinde and that by the ministry of all Creatures therein he should be Assisted & directed in into the true knowledg benifit & use thereof as being ordained to the Glory of the highest and through Eternall Grace given as aforesd all things Administring according to their ~~respective~~ offices & sacrifice kinds, great Comforts both Physically & Metaphysically unto the sonns & ~~dagh~~ daughters of the Earth, if I say if you doe believe this, which undoubtedly is true which is showen forth unto you in the appearance of this Action

The ston represents all the ~~Continall~~ Celestiall Hierarchy orders in there orbis; that receipt on the S side. represents all the sublunary dignified spirits and are directed accordingly to Administer

Those one Nth side. are the powers of are more inferior by orders both good and bad of ligh and darkness; those in South side in the hollow receipt are the Gnomes of the Earth, and those on the Noth side are the Infernall orders

I would have you to set up the secret table as Injoyned by monday next if possible by reason it is an appoynted day of Action when this preparation is set up you shall then place on every corner thereof an Angell Crowned and on the Center there of round the receipt 3 crowned Angells; and then you shall pray to the highest to subject those powers and to appeare accordingly this Tenary ends 17 August which must be observed ~~Teal~~

it is very well. I mean yt you have well observed your injoyned obedience & see your severall table for so you must use it (it is prepared & set in place) I trust it will doe very well Fesaliah from your friend although unknown unto you as to this ~~present~~ time you have thus to doe your ~~[illegible]~~ weekly day of action, you must observe as to day, &, when you with draw from this mistery you repaire unto the other where you first shall make your injoyned offertory & then make ~~the~~ prayer unto the most high God even the all powerful and all Conquering Madzilodarp to blesse & dignifie you and after you have made presentment of your offertory you shall sit in morall while & stay 3 minits of time and then afterwards on munday morning

So So. It will doe very well, I know all will succeed to your Comfort &, assistance the servant of Donolion moved me hereon

1687, August 9th the 2d. After Trinity well Sr though I have not of late bin conversant or Contemporary present in action with you neither yet have I bin absent in friendship from you as hath bin evinced testimonially by the presents of myne Alliances in appearance & Action here but our businesse will not be altogether so frequent here ~~[illegible]~~ at this Mistery as at the other from whence issueth temporall Assistance which I ~~[illegible]~~ doubt not but will Accordingly Answere your ~~expected~~ desires I finde you have have made entrance by a ~~[illegible]~~ first diurnall ~~[illegible]~~ summons according to ~~[illegible]~~ rule & ~~[illegible]~~ order wednesday & friday & monday my noble Galuah is very friendly unto you & so indeed is all the servants of the rest in place order & office Cheere up therefore you should be drooping spirits ~~for~~ serve god & be contented what grace & mercy is sufficient for you wherewith we humbly beseech him to inrich & dignifie you to his honour & Glory & your Comfort & felicity

1687 August 12

Ego sum: Bezarian god save you friends what would you understand? see Sr yt substance ~~[illegible]~~ of spirits of the aire & of the rest are composed of more grosser formes then then the Celestialls & the reason is that as they they inhabitt in the Grosse & ~~[illegible]~~ Elements making them naturally the same thereunto & though Immortall yet equally grosse by nature with ye Inferiour Ellements which is the cause of there being slow remiss and Averse in there suddaine Apparance ~~& Aspect~~ but there are also Ellement powers of spirits more [illegible] were dignified with Celestiall Light who are different in nature & office then those we speeke of & that you moue by Invocation

Know then Sr that you are ouer hearde to call forth, such by name & office who Inhabit in the more grosse & Inferiour pt of the Aire & which also conseqently symbolize with the other Ellements of Earth & water and you say you see them not in there motions will dispaire ~~not~~

Beleive me first there are signall Appearances though Invissible to your sight for Indeed to say sooth although the diurnall powers or spirits are by nature good yet considering their affinity to the Earth & Earthly treasurys and the Curruptedd things thereof and they being delighted therewith & in such matters as appertaine thereunto are made thereby more obstinent & more disobedient by nature then was appoynted or given them by office or ~~pre~~ preordinately decreed in the begining of time therefore Judg not Amiss of you proceedings, ~~but~~ therefore it is requisite you were Accompanied with an other eye or person in ~~that perticular of~~ operation [illegible] it requireds sharpeness & quickness of sight which may happen to ~~you~~ prove the better for you in the ~~fixinge~~ trying of observance

The Appeered a small Spectrum & it looked hard on Mr Kew & it smiled & then it looked on me & smiled & said So So Sr I see you haue bin in action upon your sublunar operations which indeed you haue well performed I must giue you zeale & earnest Affection therein a worthy Commendation, you must understand that the property of all sublunar spirit of the Inferiour orders And that touching neerely to the Earth & the Corrupt Consernments both of it & the members thereof are by nature altogether delighted with the treasures & rarities that in any wise ether appertaine unto it or that is conceled by it And doe therein simbolize with other spirits both of Terrestiall & Infernall natures which makes them by a naturall Averseness unwilling to become vissible in their motions & Appearances but by the Constraining power & force of Invocation but when once brought thereunto & thereby be subjected on then may be imploied & made for ouer serviceable now Sr it is to be understood y wedensday will be a great Tornary and as we hope in the highest a blessed day for you for that Celestiall Graice & mercy may by divine permission descend & dignify you with light & power to Effect and Accomplish your desires in those your Terrestiall opperations now then [illegible] Noting that as you may not act ~~att~~ any thing in those appea opperations on that day. I cannot well informe you what day you may enter thereon ~~of~~ untill the 1, 2 or 3 dayes following of which peradventure you may have more on your Ternarian Action my Mother saith & commanded me to showforth & tell ~~you~~ that it is friendly hoped for & trusted that you you yet stand firme & stabile in your being & confirmement & that of right the offertory of that day should be kissed but then I suppose further by that beside the usuall ternarian offertory there must be an Crowned Angell paced at the foote of those receipts so Sr you are herein under grace of extraordinary by a meane of an Act of stable obedience & in order of a Confirmation of sight & power upon you in you terrestiall operations whereunto the most high God blesse you with happy successe to his glory & your Comfort ~~p~~ and gratiously deliver you from the dangerous snares of malicious murderers & infernall stormes 1687: 17: August Ternary ~~[illegible]~~ there appeared Ga, Za, ~~Ma~~, before the ston and they kneeled to the ston Michael & Uriel doe respect me & reignt to me & Rafael & Gabriel doe give Charge to the two sollidest glass receipts in sollid glass receipts are in each one great spectru & 3 Rill forme and then aboundance of superior & inferiar spirits Aza saith thankes be the great Madrilodary around most high god & lord & host who hath heard the humble supplications of his servants daly beseeching 107 him by earnest addresses for yt he hath appeared in mercy unto Comfort and as we have a full deliverance from desperation & Affliction & to restoration to tranc felicity, now let the Allpowerfull Arme of the hiest Curb the Insolent presumtion of hell bred mallice & uphoulde the Glory of sovereinty in a happy deliverance from the devouring jawes of distructive enemies Amen

the 4 great servants of the hiest are showed forth in mercy unto you whe barely power with them Michaell & Uriell are over the sublunar powers of the dire are ~~Coles~~ Colestially dignified & Raphall & Gabriell over more inferior now the sollid glass receipts are ~~two~~ two Angles of west & south ~~to the four~~ Soveraigne spectru is the Emperor & the 3 ~~[illegible]~~ are the 3 kings as Uriel is the 3d King now Sr understand what I shall say unto you this day is of our Charge by superiour Grace & per =mission to morrow in the forenone pray to god for light & dignity and the assistance of his servant Uriel and to call on the 14 one friday to call on Uriell saturday to call on the 14 one Sunday morning to call on uriel mounday morning come to these mistery

1687 August 22 Monday

There appeared A body over ye Ston like ye Sun And in it an Eye & a Ray come from it that poynted to me: Jedaliah God save our good frinds & fellow servants in the hiest I am willed to informe you Sr that what is hath bin promised shall be also performed unto you & that you have done well in your late And present Proceedings & you are willed there in to persevere

---

1687 August 25: first After Ter in the ston is Markadlle & Uriel & Zedebiell & ~~before and~~ the sone is yet Sr be comforted for the Paternall Care of the hiest & the love of his Celestiall servants is with you, & forsakes you not, your Consernments now are not more here at this mistery as at the other or terrestiall mistery whereunto you must repaire & Adress unto those orders what although they are thus terrible & a little obstinate in visible appearance before you and so to be accounted Adverse to the desires of men yet they are by nature benevolent & being earnestly moved by due perseverance notwithstanding they may seeme hereby unwilling in reddy Answers to the ~~[illegible]~~ of Invocation yet they suddenly make their Appearance and as suddainly [illegible] favourably fullfill & Accomplish the Commands of the servant relieving the necessities of temporall Conditions when deserted & dispairing of Comfort with those of Natures benifits as the most high God himselfe hath provided for the use of mankind but once being Constrained which Certainly will be by a due perseverance through the strength & Power of you Invocations; all this hardly a remiss Person to us the wilfull rashness of man are like to the wildness of A tiger whose fury Nothing Appeaseth but prey & which some of terrestiall malignity we touch not more then to destroy those Infernall Evills Attending to make entrance into those passages making distention & disturbation & what to Advise you I cannot tell

there Appeared Levanael & he said well Sr be ye comforted for your prayers are Assisted by the humble supplications & Adresses also with you unto divine grace for you here you will be eased of the trouble that so much disturbeth your spirits of which I have not to say single of my selfe but may be showed forth on your next day of Convention the the 4 day from hence, I know a time of note & of good unto you & observed in Course as due Tenarius ~~[illegible]~~ sent me Sr great things moveth upon his part in things faier & Cardinall Ingress of the ~~[illegible]~~ Quatuor Annuall proceedings in all your operations mean while and as at this ~~p[illegible]~~

Call Ane

1687 Sept 2d the 2d after Ternary there appeared a spectrum & it said ~~[illegible]~~ strange & many soules are the means by the most high God maketh use of whereby to shew & send forth grace & mercy unto his servants, the greatness of such benifits and Comforts, Attending with as concommitant thereto are very hardly apprehensive of us much less of mankind who are altogether ~~of fre~~ Ignorant of these divine apprehensions &c yet Sr you may take a small quantitie thereof at pleasure and then afterwards take of your Masslett medicine till at your discretion stay not your operation in hand, untill ye 13 day of this month be expired untill which time you must doe your duty & your deliverance cometh

1687 ~~August~~ Sept 5

There appeared on the stone a blew Globe & a spectrum ~~[illegible]~~ in it with a sword in his hand & a Sell in its brest & a bright sparke in it that cast a Ray towards us and there is a spectrum in a silver cloud before the stone and it doth talke with it above the stone & doth respect much

Ha Sr be ye still undaunted ~~of~~ of good Courage & pursue your operations, goe on & stay with vigor of spirit cease not, let not your hopes weaken nor fall but believe it that your perseverance will certainly receive constraining power to bring to an awfull obedience wherein the most high God blesse & prosper you with an happy & sure effect of deliverance that you may live to his prayse & glory & your present & future comforts

1687 Sept 10th : Ternary

Za said Sr make wee noe questions now further respect nor inquire into the actions of this day for it is of divine Grace in the highest unto his servants but meet here againe on the 2d day at 9 in the ~~mo~~ morning, & then you shall be toald returne the thanks to god & withdraw into your temporall affaires

1687 Sept 12th: ~~[illegible]~~ patience

Sept 13

Michaell & Uriel doe speake to Cu, za, vaa, & now & then Uriell doth Looke smilingly on mee Come come sirs be comforted in the highest your ~~[illegible]~~ servants of celestiall Grace have humbly besought mercy from superior power to blesse your proceedings & crowne your expectation, from thence with a glorious & happy success: well Sr goe to: although your spirit be oppressed yet be cheerefull, it is not good to over charge your weakness to ~~[illegible]~~ much or in 2 places distant therefore tis advised that you at this day at your inferior secret mistery at your owne home for yt we say is the place appoynted for success wherewith we hope you are blessed for above & receive Power on ye inferior actions and operations here below yet notwithstanding you should conforme this Remarke by a secureing any Intrusions or interruptions that may alſo move the preſent Power given to hinder your Poſtulation in your operations; this Sr for better ſecurity in your operation ſhould alſo be attended by the preſence of freindship & aſſiſtance in a ſmall oratory as one Angell placed on this Miſtery & crowned on the other miſtery and then you are ſafe & well and I alſo affirmed in the confirmation of what hath bin lately ſhewed forth unto you that athe and things of Great Conſequence are neere approaching unto your Deliverance.

Sept 23: 1687:

there appeared a Spectrum with with a faire one and it is very plaine & it hath a crowne in its hand; it is altogether needleſs to tell who I am by reaſon you may aſſuredly beleive me to be a friend elſe I had not bin heard in ſo trubleſome a ſeaſon; but you cannot cleanſe the place to both us ye office belongeth unto me my name is Carucah I am ſent to prepare the way for ye future felicity, but you muſt ~~[illegible]~~ meet one Wedneſday morning

Sept 28: 1687:

There appeared before in the ſtone Che Ramoli & Stemoſe: there appeared ~~him~~ before the ſtone Caza, zaa, Come let us fall downe & pray unto our God for he is Gratious and mercifull to all thoſe that keepe his Commandements, dutifully fearing him with all humility and meekneſs of ~~the~~ ſpirit you muſt alſo ſtand or kneele before the myſtery whileſt we pray & joyne your harts with us therein now we prayed. and then in the ſtone is mighty glorious and he a ſhewed forth ſomthing well Sr reſt your ſelves contented and comforted for through grace & mercy in the higheſt your happy deliverance neerely approacheth and of ready entrance this is the time of revolution ſince firſt you came before us, & indeed well don of you to amend and Purifie this place & we alſo have ſweept forth all the infernall Rubiſh that lurked in every Corner the 7th of the next month is your Tornary I was commanded Sr to inſiſt upon this point by reaſon it is great & extraordinary following what was formerly ſaid of late the great action will appear & worke of conſiderable eſteeme thereby whoſe effects will accompliſh your felicity you were heard to inſiſt on future tornarys ſaying yt ye were built they ſhould ceaſe now I am commanded to ſhew forth the truth thereof unto you now then after this ~~[illegible]~~ preſent Tornary is ~~[illegible]~~ truly endeth on the 6th day of the next month with you as I ſaid it after which day I doe ſay your Tornaryes will ceaſe as to the offertories there of which will we reduce only to the offering of one Crowned Angell but this dies ternarian you have the ternarian offertory to make good by reason of the entrance of the Revolution of time wherein your deliverance approacheth which was then ende poynted at you must observe a two foulde offertory or dubling there & then you have noe more, but your weekly conventions & your Quatuor Annual observances to trouble you. besides what I have now said and fear but you shall finde releife god will blesse you and all those that put there trust in him

1687 October 3d monday in the name of the Highest whose name be for ever glorified Amen Hallelujah

Comfort Sr yet let not dispaire assayle you & fear not the worst of your Enimies for beleive it they are troubled more then you or then you can conceive notwithstanding the looking at your Downfall they looke I say at you, but see not where they are themselves, malicious wretches may frame & invent false reports & idle suggestions, every one ignorantly giveing out their owne wicked wishes & machinations or as they would have it, if report could ever sway reason trust me Sr I say they are more neere there owne downfall then you imagin. for they begin to repine at there losses for they cannot bring both ends together & were it not for one able support were sunke merely by the strength & power of perswation they had fallen ere this which very thing being thought of you as being supposedly disabled they only hold up in the hopes of your fall though they disable them selves by it now I say be Comforted for through grace & mercie in the highest you may finde a happy & supprised deliverance

October 6th 1687: Ternary [illegible]

There appeared [illegible], before the stone in a white cloude

inquire not into the action of this day for it is above only report that I may show forth or give those of A mercy is greater then a miracle for a miracle though admirable yet may be attempted as phisiologicall but a mercy is an immediate beame of Divine grace &c

now Sr I will tell you as touching the other mistery I here you say that you see not the appearance of those powers you move for & call forth alas Sr be not dismaid thereat, for they are Naturally perverse, which is noe wonder for they are disobedie & rebellious to the commands of God him selfe & so consequently by Nature I say somewhat obstinate to the invocations & motions of man & indeed to say sooth the absolute reason is, because they are fearfull, for they ownly know at the rehersing of your invocations shrowding themselves in darke shaddows or vailes unwilling to be seene visibly in there Corporall forme because they are also unwilling to serve untill constrained thereunto which is don by the force & power of invocation being duly & truly exercised & performed therein & you will find they will be sone brought to an obedience & you will be assisted

October: 10th 1687:

there appeared Galuah and Ane in the ston and Lonanadl before ~~the~~ ston and all looke steadfast by on me & smile And Lonainall said God Save our good friends in Celestiall love I have heard you in all you have said this day and believe it there passeth not a word from you at such times that is not taken great heed too I will now reveale & show forth unto you somewhat of that purpose; we see you Indigent in health & I pray what thinkst you is the Cause of your weakness nothing else but your drooping in dispaire which hath brought great trouble & oppression on your spirits which seemeth to be a darkness vaile somewhat eclipsing the Glory of your just effect. ffor know that you are Assuredly dignified with Celestiall Power, that Inferior Ellementall Power such as worke the Earth commonly feare you & shroud them selves from the sight of you as well as hidden from us for they stand in great feare of all Power that appeareth Above them for you never call forth or ~~or~~ move them to visible appearance before you but your gardian Angell standeth by you bearing your Seale of Creation ~~I~~ before which they fear and ~~t~~tremble where they encounter it by reason they dread Confinement unto which they are also brought by due performance you must therefore Sr banish all thoughts of dispaire for though you thinke your selfe even just now sinking into a difficult or stormy Course yet you shall have a suddaine wonderfull & even unexpected deliverance : on friday

1687 October 14 the first there appeared a bright cloud before the ston & there is a ~~big~~ brightness in the ston & 2 glorious spirits in it them 2 in the ston are Andel & Nogael & Nogael said move not & so went away, And there came a flash and Ane came into the ston And Ane called Susaniah & Samarill & they both appeared in the ston And said see you not the sharpe tribulations of our friend how is it yt their operations are not answered or fulfilled, pray you see to it and Consider submission for I find by you fear & obstinary rebellion stubbornness goe ye then & make all passive that Action may take place & the Accomplishment of desired Effects may happily succeed, you know by orders & what you have in Charge in the name of the hiest then fulfill your Office ~~now~~ and Ane speake to both the sollid glass ~~keeper~~ I heard you Sr moving for some Answere worthy good Sr I will tell you although you operations be fulfilled & your necessities thereby relieved if we consider the stubbornness of some things supernaturally & the willfull Ignorant peevishness of others naturally driven thereto by necessity then I say although your desires be some accomplished yet notwithstanding I doe advise you by all meanes to make the present state of you Condition as it now standeth in your Imployment know it will be the better And lay down before them both the good & the evill Consequences

Octo: 17: 1687: monday:

There appeared a person afore the stone & saide nomen est meum Baxafflas of the order of Angels Inferior & simbolized with heavenly Goodness in the Superior degree & to take Care & Charge of these things, it hath a bright star on its breast & a Crowne on its heade & it looks on me & smiles well Sr I find you have fulfilled what you desired the last time we met here And have bin as you said you would apply your selfe, where I stood by & heard your proceedings & indeed I found you even like as a tired Pilot, in more dispairing Condition then those under your under your Conduct at which you could not but relent Indeed I must blame you for dispairing in the spirit which proceeds the weakness of the flesh to passion & Ignoble discontinuance, when as you have bin Exhorted & Advised to nothing more then to thankfulnesse of spirit raysing up you selfe by the hopes of faith & Comfort in the highest; it was well your daug daughter stood by & put her hand to the helme seeing you had bin weakned by the turbulence of the Raising Surges that would have inverted or opposed your well being and hard Indeavours, but thankes be the mercies of your God who hath hitherto blessed you through this Insolent and Raging storme of Infernall Mallice which now is somewhat ceased & we hope will yet grow gradually more & more Calmer untill you find a pleasant & direct passage I advise you then first be Advised by your daughter & let her Assist you in the steering & conduct of your thoughts & affaires.

who will Assuredly counsell for the best 2dly imbrace & make use of any offered Assistance and Refuse it not though it may seeme to offer at some little losse thereby; therefore whereupon it when you are seene Cheerfully to raise up your selfe & put forwards as if you we sailing before the wind your friends will Rejoyce in the hopes & beleife of your deliverance & your Cursed enimies so discouraged discomfited & dismayd & be scorned of every ordinary bigots and the most scandalous and abusive of all persons & then say what they will non will believe or give Credit to their scurrilous Reports & then when you are seene in all likelyhood to stand then will your Enimies also be seen in likelyhood to fall and as for other concernes or feares of particular Troubles there may Chanceably be some sparks but noe Action or perpetuation thereof for it is formerly believed you shall have a full & positive deliverance before trouble befalleth: therefore steere on your Course and Advance ~~for~~ forwards if you find your shipps move so hard Bear you up till you can Repaire & amend the breaches of your weathered vessell & then through Grace in the highest you will perfectly get the weather gage of your enimies I have said what is given me at this time to shew forth I know saterday morne to be you most day of weekly action

October 22: 1687. the 2d

There Appeared 3 Royall spectrums in the ston sitting on a bright Cloud And a Appeared one before fore the ston with a Crowned on its heads and it said to me, come Sr comfort up your drooping spirits you shall not sinke in dispaire for thanked be the Highest the storme that caused your troubles blowes over & is well neere spent & so hope will shortly cease and you will have good times to amend the breaches the wreck of your tottered vessell hath suffered Come Come Sr there is a fair prospect through mercy from above of a happy reparation of your sufferings for that Redress Releife & thereby An happy deliverance is nearly approaching you, well Sr all is well there fear not good successe for although Celestiall Powers of light touch them not by nature yet they are thereby subjected to the sonns of men, and by Office the to their service in like worshipfull Affaires etc now then Sr to Answere the objection you made the last day Sr being here touching Offertories know ye that as there is a Cohaerent Connexion simbolizing union between Superior & inferior parts & participati ons soe as inferiours are passing to the superiours so are your Offertories a sure & perfect meane or Chaine of unity I say from the Anteriour to the superiour untill it reacheth the supreame of all for it is a sweet smelling savour of Obedience conducting your earnest supplica tions to the throne of Celestiall grace it is comon amongst men on Earth to make Offerings & Offertor ies According to there degree and quallety to the Priesthood and Ceremonially to the Church Offerto ries of which shewes there obedience there unto as they offer it in the name of God and his Church which though a Ceremony in vertue & merits of its devotion etc is then I pray you accept it with us etc now then Srs I tell you your weekly offertories are well knowe & must be duely observed and for your ternari an dayes the Ceremony there of and as for the offertories I will tell you they will cease by degrees also and the dayes as they succeede ternarianly shall be observ ed as ternarian dayes yet for a whiles observe ye that the 9th day from this time is the next succe eding Ternary on your offertory there of shalbe 3 crowned Angell which shalbe be accepted ~~notwis~~ notwithstanding the abatement of what was before you must meet here on monday next may the most high Madrilodarp blesse in your Actions & operations & Comfort your soules with a sight & sence of his grace mercy & Peace Amen Hallelujah God blesse you Srs untill we meet againe & for ever

October 24: 1687: monday there Appeared a spectrum, & it saith the Action of this mystery & this present time must be Adjourned untill friday morning all is well enough with you be you Comforted Fryday 28 ~~Sept~~ October: 1687:

There appeared the figure of ye Sun over the Ston And Dagall in it in Imperiall Glory and the Ston is Galvah Elemesh ~~A~~ Eschmeli And beyond them is Nogaell & 2 humaine spirits like us going Eastwards in a pleasant place like Parradise &c and Galvah & Eschmeli & Elemesh so all 3 looke on us & smile And Galvah said The God of Grace ~~Peace~~ and mercy blesse & preserve you both now & for ever the Appearance in action this day is two foulde first in my selfe a Superiore 2 unto your selves, by one of our Children not yet present in Appearance first from my selfe unto you emitted through divine grace and permission the blustring storme of your sorrows now ceaseth and is much abated & behould your selves, walking in safety with Celestiall Sonnes & happy & blessed estate in which all those are who receive entrance into the Glorious Elizium & Pallace of Celestiall into the light whereof you I say are now walking & nere yet very nere admission to A most happy & assured rest & lasting peace which also declareth your spirituall sight to be also nere at hand ~~were it~~ you but sensible of the mending appearing would for ever banish all thoughts of fear or dispaire, here I doe solemly say by my selfe though grace & power in the hiest is a luminous ray or beame there of that ere the month of march be called with you passe over ith rocks shall you be the most happy of any mortall wight of your quallety or condition and shall stand in as great Glory and renowne before the face of your Enimies & shall so continue until the time of your mortall Period I am sent therefore a Superiore: behould I am Comanded and I also strightly comand you to keep well it is observed that the 3 day hath bin reported to be dies Cornarius you Sr I say & also declare to be dies Cornarius Magnus and of greater note & Power then I may shew forth the observance where in your duty of oblatory was said to be 3 Crowned Angells but I must alter the Property & somewhere of by reason it is the last Great Cornary & of your entrance into a blessed happynesse make ye then the Action of this day is two foulde & I strictly Charge you & Comand you to observe me by reason it is very considerable unto you, the quantity of the foregoing Cornaryan oblatories must on that day or on the ~~for~~ second day subsequent before this holy ston I say the oblation of that day must be kindled before the ston of to the dies cornarius & 2dly as it is a day of action in Chest the single offering of the day me be pres ented Before that yet on thing I will hear withall Recorde I very well remember ye here tofore it hath showed forth or said unto you that your disburst ments offered of of your obliged oblatories shall be made good & profitably returned the say now yet further unto you shall be assuredly of truth & I earnestly trust in the hiest it maye nere unto a due performance then I ~~now~~ may at present show forth & now I declare that you have a portion passage to your cerebrum and head the small spectrum appeared before the ston well Sr you are disturbed in your body & Constitution the maine Cause whereof is truble of mind & vexation of spirit which very much disturbs your spleene sending windy vapours to ascend & disturb your head well then a for a drinke for you let be infused in new ale the simple vegitable of sage, rosemary. betony marjoram & rubarb this is an Essay desired to you

Then if you take the oyle of spirit of Amber rectified wherewith is incorporated its owne salts which dropped into betony water or into your Ale it is a marvelous remedy and then againe if you take halfe a li Sheeps suet Clarified ounce of pich melt them togeather then take 2 or 3 heads of garlickes Pill them & stampe them to a mass or pulpe & put them into the suet & pitch & stir them well to incorporate togeather of cominseeds pulverised 2 or 3 ʒs white wine with the rest take also of Cloves & mace finely beaten of each ʒ $\frac{3}{4}$ incorporate all well togeather to be a salve and lay it to the hollow of the foot & it will quit the head of all vapours that offend

1687 October last or 31th Ternary & ~~[illegible]~~

There appeared a sun like thing over the ston & there is an Imperiall forme in it & it casts a light downe into the ston & there comes small flashes out of the ston it is Orphiniel in the sun like thing a good way in the ston is Gabriel & Galuah & in the lower part is Levanall & Aio And there is a little spt before the ston and it smiles And said to make rehersall of Celestiall Gifts and favours through divine Grace omitted & promised to your Comfort and Assistance being alltogether needless is not therefore given me only in Breefe I make this Report you have painfully sought & you shall find you have humbly Asked and you shall receive, you have knocked and the entrance of mercy is opened to you, where you shall ascend the pallace of Celestria & be made partakers of promised & Continued benefits and Comforts of a sure & lasting happiness I Gaharah make affirmation here of, for I also was present here on friday the last day of action stay a little, so, so, god be thanked the fury of this storme is now blowne over & spent & now the fear of any further Danger is mitigated and tending into a more serene & Calmer season, Now then trim up the sayles of your hopes for they are fast linked unto yards & masts of your faith & trust in that God who never faileth in mercy to his servants nor breaketh promise with the faithfull whom we humbly beseech to inlighten your eyes & strenghten your spirits that you may see his mercy in his Celestiall & elementall messengers & be blessed with the happy Comforts of the bene fits & fellowshipp thereof, weddensday come againe

November 2: 1687 Wednesday

There appeared Gahazah in a Cloud before the stone & there sat out of the sun over the stone a sparke & it fell on Gahazah & it looked toward the son, and now it is turned to us wards and said, Now Sr, you may behould your selves neerly arrived to the end of your troubles and as neerly entring into the Pallace of a glorious And happy tranquillity of a lasting peace both of Body & mind and also condition settled a favorable there unto, Sr I heard you yesterday very earnestly supplycate for a cleerer & more visible sight in your terrestiall Operations, & assistance from Elementall powers properly by office therunto ~~refer~~ referred: concerning Glass mettle say a little: well well Sr I doe assure you make the best sort of what you call glass only say you that ye might have an higher or better albifing there of well it is said you may have it And it is also further said that you shall have it; but then it must also be considered that the goodness and diafanity there of be not lessned you are advised for the present to make adition of that white you call [illegible] which when I come againe you will be better satisfied

November 7th: 1687:

There appeared a fine spectrum before the stone ~~it~~ Gaha Gahazah it looks fully on me & it said ha ha. hola what in a pensiveness; come, come, be not amused you may chancefully meet with bad commodities, which Vitionally as ill compounds must produce like effects I heard you Sr Lament your fear of this matter & being in the seeds no, no, Sr instead of desiring you the se the seeds may cleanse you with a little assistance the Answere is not of this question ~~but~~ of the next which of right should bee to morrow but must be adjourned till Weddensday but thus far I advise the to make use of [illegible] in the Composition of your mettall you shall yet doe very well, persiste on for it will come to a good issue; beleive me there is good appearance to finde it will come to sight

November 9th 1687:

there is a sun like forme over the stone & in it is letter there is in the further part of the stone Raphaell & Gabriah in Royall forme & in the fore part of the stone is Cerabiell and before ~~in~~ the stone in a silver Cloud is Gahazah and it stands smiling on us God save you Srs and God be thanked we are meet againe according to promise and appointment I find our last discourse was of your occupation when you said you feared you would in the seeds: now, Sr let that be the lest of your care or fear, your Complaint hath bin made knowne before us. my superiours hath given me in charge to take full veiw thereof which I Certainly assure you I shall as obediently observe to doe as divine permission giveth me in attendance of that Charge meent whiles let me Certify you that your Compounds which you call ashes are good but you admit of too much of that Compound which you call sand the which indeed causeth that which you call your Mettle to be too hard you may therefore lessen the quantitie thereof & indeed you may well admit of 1 of [illegible] in a pot you need not feare any ill adventures but of this matter more on the 7th day

Sr I tell you sight thereof newly approacheth you I may say at sundry minutes it is so newly Admitting into the Power & Administration of your Good Angell therefore I say againe what I can say, and what you can doe is to persevere for we know not the hower that mercy entreth & passeth into your [illegible] well Sr I have said the full time of Approp Admission —

November 14: 1687:

there appeared Sahazah And it looked on me & smiled & said: ha: are not you eyes yet opened to behould promised mercy I doe assure you the Power thereof is gon forth & Certainly cannot be far nor long absent from you, all things are at hand for a full deliverance. all things promised shall assuredly be fulfilled the determination of time with you I account not by Reson it is not given me to reveale but it will be given to me or some others to reveale it so that you may now beleive that you will know the end of your sorrows & a joyfull begining of your Comforts which the most h give & confirme unto you to his Glory & your felicitie with a never failing stabillity, the wickednes of Assondam non obstante well Sr be not too eger you will have your desires in the fulfilling of the promises be ye comforted at this time Sr that you returne to your other desires or operation for yet remains Att home and at hand it therefore you must goe home

November: 16: 1687: the 2d

There appeared in the Ston a comit like forme poynting downwards into the Ston and at the end of it is a star poynting to a silver cloude out of the Ston & in the Ston beyond ye star is 2 Imperiall formes & beyond them is 3 and 2 like humaine formes and in the sollid glass receipt next me is like the figure of the sun & in the other the figure of the full mone and Cathabiel is in the Cloud before the Ston the two Imperiall formes in the Ston are Raphiell & Salvah and Cathabiel put his hands into his bosome & tooke out a white paper spredding white & writting with blew & it moved to the glasse sollid receipts to each & to the Ston & hollow receipts and to us, and all & it turned to me & looked wishfully & pleasantly on me & held out the paper to be red 1st to make glass lunar white Christall like diaphinous

2 to make the great solar & lunar medicines ascribed to the knowledg of the Antient Sophiarts in the Hermettic or Spagirical science & as the 3 secret medicinall & effectuall remedies answerably true for curing all distempers or diseases attending huma and bodies where the radicall vigor is not extinct so it put it up againe

If you be remembred Sr of that you may be it hath bin shewed forth unto you that great Action should come forward and Great secrets should be revealed which accordingly will be truly fulfilled unto you either by my selfe or some other Messenger of Celestiall grace of the same Order or hierarchy whereof I also am a servant of the first but it cannot as yet be that either of you is fitted to receive the same or untill the 14 day of the next month be come to pass reason for which I could instance but some terrestiall evils as yet interposeth, between your Capacities & the sence of perceiving it but we must hasten lest action ceaseth to come so neere are you to sight and also the sight & sunne of an happy deliverance

Needfully observe then your orders the eight day it dies Ternaries as yet in being after which Ternarian days ~~w~~ will gradually cease for I trow there above 2 more or 3 at the utmost and for that I have truly resolved you by which time also all terrestiall & infernall evils will vanish even as dew before the vigorous heat of the sun and become as nothing & your estate settled in the Celestirian Pallace of a stable rest to you soules where no storme ever more approacheth & so I say have I revealed the truth of what shall need be ever here after questioned and so I say observe of what in your duty you ought to observe without alterations untill the 14 day of the next month passeth away and so afterwards begin the entrance of Promise as before was said which the most hie god of his infinight goodnesse & mercy evin to your lasting peace & comforts I perceive your time calleth you hence [illegible]

Novem: 21: 1687: you have done well here you should repaire to the other exercise if those spirits doe not appeare you must comand them to open & extent into humaine formes

November: 24: 1687: Ternary [illegible] there appeared in the ston Galvah & Ahid and the seme to be pleasant and to respect the sollid glass receipts, And there appeared a litle spectrum before the ston well, well, Sr I heard what you said even now before your entrance here yet notwithstanding I say all is well with you, well, well, I say let not that be trouble upon your spirits beloved me you are blessed in it in that you are spiritually attended with the hopefull comforts of deliverance and peace I am to bid you persevere and desist not from your operations I make noe question of your sight & if not of your Contents I comand when you withdraw from hence seale up the dore & let not your foot enter the place untill one hower after the sun goe downe with you

November: 28: 1687: Monday stay a while (be silent) & observe the action till I returne there came flash of light in to the ston & the walls disappear a brightish ray pointed downe into the ston & cast a shining light into the ston, to the top of it that was a sight of appearance in action wi without the helpe & assistance of which Celestiall and Celestirian light you were not have seen it, then there came from the further part of the ston the appearance of four with a star shining there a top of the ston giving light, two of the spectrums were more Glorious & Celestiall the other two were humaine & terrestiall, the Celestiall were Anaiel & Samaell and the two humaine were our selves represented by our Gardian Angels

And Suxaniah made some call to the last word and after appeared A mighty Imperiall forme having some to hould up his Trayne & made obedience to them to & passed away swiftly and imediatly after came 3 in Kingly Royall formes with 3 Divisions following them which likewise made great veneration to them & ~~wale~~ wheeled about and went away and Suxaniah was saying something & there came a flash and they turned about & faced Mr R and so Samariel did to the West & then Suxaniah did to the North & the Samariel did to the South and they all disappeared in one & the same forme.

well Sr I know you not well what exercise & operation you are otherwise upon & the expected successe to arise from thence whereof I informe you first appeared in presence one after the other the 4 great Emperors or imperiall Superiour Powers of the Aire of the 4 angles thereof respecting also the like orde partes as being also by Nature & office referred thereunto the principall pts of each angle being 3, the Kings governing each of them distinctly with other other many servient & subservient subjects & attendants both superiour & Inferiour likewise in orderly appe rance moving by Comand with a greate obedience and so after the Power of Celestiall Comand with an humble submission craving liberty yet a very little by reason of some other present charge where unto some small matter of confinement yet remaineth which is one materially cause of our late making mention of the present observations ~~the~~ of the 3 pre liminarys whereof the one is [illegible] as also the 14 day of the next month which although it is not come in day for that falleth to be on the 9 day . . . .

whereon dependeth a great Mystery having certain dependance on the 12 day of the next month and also the said 19 day in order to the entrance and accomplish ment of 3 proposals lately shewed forth & then I trust you will be comforted in the Confirmation of your hopes & the succeeding effects thereof friday next is your time of action here when also you shallbe informed of what ought to be carefully observ ed & so through divine grace we shall press on to happy effects time is elapsed here & we must withdraw to orders & so must you come to your exercise if you can with convenientcy reach unto it

Friday December 2d: 1687; the first there appeared 3 before the ston, Ga, Za, Zaa, and in the ston to the North East i.e. Uriel and Raguel & I between them with a Star ~~in~~ in my forehead and an other on my Brest and on the S. E ~~in R two~~ between Lavanael & Corhabiel with a light in his foreh ead, and Uriel tooke of the star of my Breast & made a Cross there & put it to the fount like thing & it became light and ascended up and became one with the star at the end of the Cone, and then Uriel tooke of the star off of my forehead and put it to the fount & it tooke light & he rubbed both my sides with it & then he put it to the font and it was very bright and he wiped my sides with it & put it to my forehead and it flamed there, & Za, looked earnestly on me and smiled, and it said, Good God, how great is the least beame of Celestiall Glory to the beauty of ye earth and the least spa[illegible] of light to the Glory of the day or the least graine of mercy to the treasuries of the world, & the deliverance from its incumbent

-raced into all the pleasures & delights it can affo O how great is that Estate that giveth fulness of al Terrestiall Comforts & inliveneth the soule of man with a true Celestiall tranquillity both of body & spirit & furnishing the whole man with all divine gifts & graces, and investing him in all parts with a true enjoyment of Celestiall felicity in this life and a Crowne of Eternall Glory in ye which is to come which the most high God of his infinight Grace mercy blesse you with all for his owne sake who is Paternally Gracious and mercifull to his Membe who unfeinedly love and obey him Amen Hallelujah the effects of this days action is very Considerable as will appear shortly hereafter in its effects the mistery at present is not given us to show forth we are only given in charge to inform and command you strictly to observe the duty of your observations of the present times for the observance thereof is Consequen very materiall unto you in the same order and ten as at the first hath bin showed forth & injoyned and that you may not vexe your spirits with any thought or fear of evill for that Greater Comfort are at hand conducting you unto an happy and safe deliverance and withall Cease not in your operation & proceedings whereunto you may Retire for I find the time Elapsed here for we must retorn remember the 10 instant and ye 12 & the 14 are dayes of action and the 19 day being dies ternariu Jupiter & magnus which remember and so god blesse with the light of his Grace and mercy amen

December 5th: 1687: Monday:

There Appeared. Ga; Za, wac, & Ra said Se S^r we find you are in your spirits disturbed I tell you S^r your great & earnestnesse of speculation is like one that too hastily runneth & aptly stumbleth at the least oversight or by over hastiness may be brought into a mistake I pray you S^r unto whom did I direct my selfe on the last day of action, then you may adjudg to whom I spake & so I pray mistake me not now what I showed forth was thus that some informations would come unto you Concerni of a threatned trouble formerly mentioned might shortly befall, but not violence attend or offered untill the 15 day Instant the matter in Complaint S^r proceedeth from the same Tynworth Crosby and is somewhat earnest in the pursute thereof I per in order S^r unto your request be not dismaid but cheere up your spirits for if you loose your Courage & faint in this Charge you will doe your selfe more wrong then you can easily if at all recover your selfe therefore be carefull that your spirits fails you not least the faintness of you faith cast you into a dispaire which will prove the greatest losse of all I see you have a security unto your selfe now then I will advise you goe unto your Attorney and informe him of the whole matter come come S^r we hope to see you in happy Condition sooner then we may show forth unto you on Saturday next is you next day of action. you will hear further on your next day of action be of good comfort & you shall stand upright fear nothing you shall not fall

September 10. 1687. ~~Lunary~~ [illegible] [illegible]

Saturday There appeared Ga, Za, Zapadazell.
And Za looked on me and smiled and said that I may be plainly understood [illegible] I write you well remember it was once showed forth upon the approach of a Gentlewoman to you signified a threatned trouble now then if we consider the evils of this world and how the people thereof continually studdieth and striveth nothing more then to weed out one another one the other then it is noe wonder to hear the Calamities & severities there of the which in this present consideration of your selfe hearing your plaint hath bin of us defended from rigor untill the 15 day of this instant and may likely be yet defended untill 15 days yet to come provided that by a Naturall meanes you make unto some officer that may herein be concerned by a little bribery to suspend the rigor of severity for it surely [illegible] as hath bin said that you will yet be blessed with a sudaine and happy deliverance from the dread of future evils in order whereunto it hath bin already intimated unto you of your Conventions on the 12 & 14 instant as well as on this present day and then againe on the nineteenth day which is dubble great Lunary while you are well in your victory of that kind & then on the 20th day as being the day of your weekly convention And I hope in the sight of your promised deliverance be very nearly here unto for we are commanded in Charge & care to take of you & some particulars of your Confinements. and Furzaniah & Ginnariel & Gahorah and others stay a while

Come on Sr Cast not your spirit downe be of good Couradg let not your vallor sinke nor yeald to mon Trubles stand on thy deffance yet for 20 dayes and the mercies of the highest may discend to you great Comfort wher we all as your frinds in the highest shall humbly beseech with you gratiously to you withall for his owne ~~sake~~ sake that is Almi Amen Haleluyah I also desire you S^r to persist in the persuance of your Domestick operations as y [illegible] conveniance will admit if thou wouldst refresh thy trubled spirit with less Care & thought of Care wherewith you so exceedingly overcharge & incumber them thou wilt make thy great thoughtfullness much more easy unto thee thou canst not expect remidy for thy body untill th hast freed the burden of thy soule & spirits the naturall Cause that most greeveth thee are such flatuous Passions proceed from winds contracted of emptiness it is not of my office. but you shall know a true remidy for it I saie no more 1687 Desember 12 Monday

There appeared a spectrum with a Ring of gold on it head beset with flowers & on a purplish vestment bes with spangles, like a Child of 8 or 9 yeares of age and it saith you have not further to proceed here untill the 2^d dayes as was showed forth unto you I will meet you the 2^d day & tell you who I am from a servant of the highest & visit you for yr Comfort

1687 Desember 14 Wednesday there appeared in the stone in ye 4 quarters of it in ye East Michael in the West Uriel in the North Gabriel & in the South Raphael in there is 4 to the Estward of them downe on their knees, and it was I & m^r R & the two Celestiall spectrums rose & hoste of the fire flame from the stone & sprinckled on my head & [illegible] by my eies & saw there with & it seemed to be very bright & my eies doe sparkle. and they doe only sprinckle on m^r R head and so they marched away to the Eastward and now before the stone is a spectrum and it turned to the East & did Genuflection that way and it is turned this way and its face is become so bright as burnished silver that we cannot looke on it and it doth mind the follow [illegible] & it is passionately Earnest and it doth say your offerings are accepted & ye are Blessed it seemeth you have not as yet received sight nor benefit of your Superiour & Terrestiall operations & actions & daily offerings & your invocati ons are heard & obedience given though invissible yet signall & distinctly present obstructed only by an obstinate & perverse wilfullness, which are naturall unto those powers who partake of Grosse Ellementary composition as Aire & Earth &c but I know after 6 or 7 dayes they will be constrained to your Comands & so in effect to the full accomplishment of your expectance you are under Important action & be carefull to your Appointments the 5 & 6 dayes monday & tuesday

December: 19th: 1687: Ternary [illegible]

There appeared Orphaniel over the stone with a flaming sword in each hand looking down on the oratory or the mistery and there appeared Za, Vaa, before the stone. And a fiery sword descended to Orphaniel & Orphaniel gave it a fire & it immediatly went to Furaniah & gave it the & spake something to Furaniah in the Northern hand againe & it was Lewanael & it went to Orphaniel againe & Orphaniel gave it the other sword & it came into the other hand of the Seat & gave it to Samariel & spake something to Samariel & went away. And Furaniah & Samariel did seem to call & in the hollow corners there came first kings very submissively then Dukes then Lords then ministers of Fortune. Angel Za Vaa lifted his sword over his head 3 times & Za his dart & Vaa his spear. [illegible] and Za spake attempt not further operations this day Remember your Convention to morrow your God will have mercy on you

[Dece]mber 20: 1687:

There appeared a little spirit & [illegible]

Be ye therefore comforted & move not, contemplate both your Action are sanctified unto you all is well let not your Courage nor majesty of spirit yeald or fall into a relapse least desparation attempt entrance & triumph in your visitation for divine Grace is with you, which will not want for enemies to pervert or transplant some infernall misshift to accompany or overwhelme it but stand ye steadfast in your hopes & constant in your faith and you shall see & partake of Grace & mercy from above moreover

And there appeared the fourth like thing And a fume came out of it and [illegible] againe [illegible] star over ye stone And on the brims of it is nine lights and Michael stand on the East & Uriel W. & Gabriel N. & Raphael S. [illegible] stands between Michael & Raphael, & [illegible] stands betweene Michael & Gabriel & Uriel Looks on me, and my face doth shine. And Acimay is in Imperial forme in the stone to the Eastward & doth mind & observe this Appearance, and Madimiel & Lewanael are both without in a Sibbolish Cloud and Madamiell & Lewaniell seem to be glad & Rejoyce and there is two that stand before the Sitting Glass Kings that are in a venerable postur And they are not visible to us And madamiel is gon & left Lewaniell in a Joyfull postour & there comes Rays from ye [illegible] to the 4 Archangels And Uriel takes the Key that comes to him ~~[illegible]~~ through it. to R O his breast ~~[illegible]~~ it enters, and to his mouth it goes in & to his fore & there it enters and there is a ~~sparke~~ on his b.

& a sparke on his mouth & a ~~fire~~ flash on his forehead; And Lonanael said that Power & permission is given to our deliverance our Guardian Angells doe constantly beholde to the effecting our deliverance come come: for notwithstanding all those blustring stormes of thy past infernall mallice & wicked stratagems vexing and tormenting your peace honest endeavours Laboring for deliverance in the troubled seas of your hopes which I trust as I said before are by passed and that you are now driven to a desired and happy harbor of peace and rest to the blessed restoration of your Comforts therefore it was ever now showed forth that you should still be cheerfull & take fresh courage that you may become triumphant victores in the midst of the greatest dangers and triall of feare under the severest trials and vissitatio To morrow at in the forenoone a day of humill and in the afternoon a day of thanksgiving and on Thirsday morning present 4 penny of ☉ here before the son neither more nor lesse I will surely meet you at 9 of the clock precisely whereunto we adjourne the rest:

There appeared Lonanael & an other with a cup of Comfort in its hand, and is very pleasant & smiles on Lonanael The Paternall Goodness of all Generations God hath set a limit & put a restriction on all malitious machinations & Infernall sweatings so if wee trust in the highest ye your Comforts are Confirmed, & your peace Embraced by your patience, & both walking to an happy Enjoyment of a lasting rest proceed on in your Course of operation at home with a zealous inclination for the effects thereof ~~[illegible]~~ doubtless prevailing well it is only an obstinate unwillin gness that delayeth there open Appearance unto your sight by reason they are I say unwillingly to an obedience and assistance unto the service of men, because they as unwillingly part with what they delight in, being by nature much affected with the wealth ~~&~~ and treasures of the Earth and all sorts of terrestriall riches & when brought or Constrained to an obedience and visible appearance Corporally they are the best & most servic eable friends to mankind of all the Ellementary Powers I see you have done well in your duties yesterday which hath attracted Celestiall Grace unto you, persist you forward in your Endeavours with undaunted Courage wherein the Power of the highest blesse uphold & assist you to the full Enjoyment of your soules desires Amen Hallalujah make some small acknowledgment by offertory you are to meet here againe on ye 7th day for I believe It lyeth in the verge of mine office to instruct & serve you I will so do it

December: 29: 1687: thirsday there is two spirits downe on their knees before the stone and there came a small spirit said stay a while the act is immediate, There came a great flash and a flame ascended out of the stone up to the ceiling and a starre a the ceiling & it extended it selfe to the diameter a foot & ~~[illegible]~~ closed it selfe againe & so did often and the Curtains were all in flames. And a fiery spirit was before the stone and there is a spirit with a purplish Garment on and on his head a wreath of Lawrell & a scepter in its hand and it points to us And its ~~[illegible]~~ smiles & is very pleasant & it doth say. Beholde the immediat presence of Celestiall Glory appearing in the action of this day as a confirmation of your hopes in the enjoyment of terrest felicity which through the strength & force of your humble supplications, & the prevailing power of yo faith & obedience ascending hath entred the presence of Grace & is appeared this day immediat from ye superiour Power of a medial descending mercy answering your petitions. by a newly approaching deliverance of terrestiall tribulation & from the evill effects of such desirations as attend the chaos ticalls there of & the oblations of the two last foregoing ternarys are now ascended & the entrance of this 3 ternary is Glorified & more magnificent then any yet before it as being more high & superior ending on the 12 day of the next month with you and is I suppose the last ternary to be observed as I tra hath bin formarly of late showed forth I say the glory of this present ternarius is more high & Great then ever it must prove so both in its ends & effects & must be therefore as greatly to be observed

~~[illegible]~~ the 126 of & greatest and also by ~~[illegible]~~ foregoes ye entrance of a most happy & Glorious Sparke & Jubile of Joy unto you as will appeare both in light & sense unto you, therefore I give you to understand from superior Command that I say as on ye 12th day of the next month with you is the end of this Glorious & great triple ternarius. ended so must the ternarian offertory or oblation of that day be tripled as it is the last for it is consequently very Considerable I say both in its ends & effects & beholde your Guardian Angels included & also received into the Glory of Celestiall Grace will become also thereby united as one with us in Celestiall grace and dignification & that you may proceed in your Terrestiall operations but observe me now what I say unto you ~~[illegible]~~ on friday next call on Uriel at sun rising & stay and howre & on munday next here you ought to Glorify God & returne him thanks for the action of this day I assure you Sr it is more then an ordinary mercy; my name is Zoodkiel I am called away the Lord Blesse you preserve you & deliver you to his Glory & your comfort Hallelujah

January: 2d: 1687/8: monday

There appeared a spirit & ~~[illegible]~~ the oblations of your obedient Priesthood is in force by returnes of mercy unto inferiour mediums by order & office differently there unto appoynted this very day is the first entrance of greate & glorious effects now humbly beseeking both of us & you the highest to Confer and conferme unto & upon you the superiour & other Celestiall & Celestially dignified Powers of light hath received the Grace & favour of the highest [illegible] Majesty and Blesse his trew faithfull & obedient servants withall, but those of the Sublunare Elements especially those of the Elementall regions, of Aire & Earth &c are by reson thereof become whereby much more obstinate and Averse to serve and assist the servants of Grace from above or indeed to yeeld obedience unto Celestiall superiors or other dignified Powers of Light and may yet have po[illegible] a little to resist & withstand their motions and Comands though Powerfull & Imediat by reason they are strong affected & much indeared to the Earth & all earthly thin[illegible] and the benifits thereof & oftimes very unwilling to p[illegible] with such benifits as the Earth plentifully affordeth as by permission & suffrance they have Power by na[illegible] & other given them to possess & injoy especially unto the Mortals of whom they stand in dread by reason they ma[illegible] be thereby constrained & forceably brought to that obed[illegible] for one time or at once only but allwaies and at all times &c which by nature they unwillingly comply wi[illegible] because I say Power is given them in the Elementall Regi[illegible] and treasuries thereof & whatsoever else and dependeth thereupon; But how sever this is not in the understanding or knowledg of Terrestiall Ignorants.

now then to the purpose I say & as I said before the Influe[illegible] of your offertories are in operation and as also I say hath obtained celestiall favour through faith & obedience the which accordingly is gon forth & omitted to answer as for and on your behalfe in reference to your humble supplications and Addresses, therefore is this day & the 4 day Instant and the 9th day your Perticular days of attending here of our motions unto you for I they are of us & superior but keepe you close to your domestick operations at your Convenience guides you Commission though they shall seeme to be invisible & fly from the sight of you yet be not troubled there at at then also againe on the 14 day which is the greatest most Considerable of all the rest by reason it comprehend[illegible] other three and also its selfe which againe likewise hath againe likewise doubles them and as at it is a Ternary agnas Treplex and a limit of time by measure & compass your troubles & afflictions which now by reason of a[illegible] native action of Celestiall grace and mercy may Chancely stir up some Infernall Evills suddenly to besiege & beset you with sharp trialls but a sheild of Celestiall mercy will defend you from the day of Terestiall desperation & destruction, remember therefore your Convention here on the 4th & the 9 & the 12 dayes Instant the 4 is your weekly day of action so also is the 12 as well as a great ternarius Treplex and in the intermitting times proceed you in your domestick operation at your Convenient it is not questioned but the Glorious effects of those times or of the time now in your present being ~~better~~ times will bring forth the comforts of an happy deliverance from the Gulfe & storme of most dangerous Hassards & bring you on shore the lands of lasting ~~peace~~ peace & rest which the most high God grant and give unto you as to his faithfull & obedient servants to his owne glory and your comfort Amen Hallelujah

There appeared a fiery Cloud before the stone the re is in it there be 3 of them Armed with swords in their hands and the two in white stands betwe them, the two are crowned & have wands in their and they are all of them very pleasant and the first in white next me doth much looke on me and so doth the Armed spirit next me and the white spirit doth hould out his wand to me & out of the end of it come a sparke of light & it doth fly towards me but returns againe & enters the poynt of the wand out of which i came and came a little spirit in a silverish Clou & stood upon the hither part of the table, and now the are all look up, and the midle most of them directs hi aspect to the spirit on ye fore part of the table and it said to me & smiles on me The action of this great Ternarius is above huma reach neither endeth it but continueth 3 dayes and 4th day you must come here againe I adventure Sr you may then receive the mortyfi Consist of spirituall sight for it rarely appeareth attended with such gifts in true friendship & fashion as hath not bin amongst men or knowne of the wo for many by passed yeares you must withdrawe

7/8 January 16th
And Michael & Uriel were before the and they did Confer about me and they went away. And there appeared an other spirit before the [illegible] and it is very pleasant nd it saide divine grace is moved and is with you whereby a benevolence of Celestiall friendshipp attendeth you as directeth by the finger and light of mercy from above your Action in the other operation whereunto you must repai re friday is your day of action use it 3 days togeather & the blessing of the lord will appeare I question not your successe, would I had desired to touch the matter more nearly & I humbly beseeke the highest to blesse your operations unto you

1687/8: January: 14:

A Galvah said looking seriously on me, I find Sr that the arrogant ambition of your Enimies hath bin fore showed unto you to have its finall Period & there with the downfall of them & their great words they so much have bosted & still boast of as in the ~~next~~ ~~[illegible]~~ month with you or very sone after for I hope in the first you have an Assurance of a blessed Appeasing Epocke for thus myne Allies informeth me saying, they have sorely burned their fingers & wish they could pull them forth of the fire they have kindled to distroy thee & thy labors for they are a weary, of losing their mony to stake their Adventures nay further, notwithstanding this Complainant maliciously Aver that they have the better of you which they seeme to be satisfied with only the Conceite of but they ley greatly for you are Arrived even almost to the very sight of harbour & a reasonable indifferent breese of assistance would quietly speed thee safely ~~[illegible]~~ thereunto, wherein I know not what to Advise thee I feele it not given to me at this present, come Sir be comforted you shall stand and I trust bid defiance both to the envy of ye enimies & the stubborn Cares of your incumbrances good god how neere is thy deliverance of thy servants from the bondage of Terrestiall & Infernall Slavery O let thy mercy be showed that thy servants also may triumph in the strength of thy salvation by their happy deliverance Amen

you have the light of divine grace you shall need to fear the effects thereof I would not have you Cease but as ~~your~~ strength & ability will bare to proceede

I assure you sir the ship is within 6 weeks sale of England heaven forsake you not keepe in your fire by all meanes monday you shall know more

Monday Feb 20: 1687/8

There appeared Michael & Uriel & a son like lying over them and they are conferring some mercy or grace on some that are before them and they went away Lenaxael appeared and called and two more came to it well goe so to & secure the poynt for it is of entrance for it seemeth to frowne ~~that~~ threttning foule weather tossing the surges & the billows beating our heads even to A Port, so weake is our faith & so strong are the triall thereof, well good to I say cleare this poynt for it is the ultimate poynt and passage of danger that a serene entrance may possesse the Port of an happy Arrivall that the shore may be the blessed Entertainment of continued Rest & Lasting peace, I trow Srs the last words showed forth unto you the foregoing day of Action were that you should stand the white [illegible] to be Remembred in Letters of Gold it seemeth by the Charge now given in Commands are hieroglifically discribed the ill & dangerous Consequence of desperation & great fears were neerly seasing & distroying your hopes of promised happiness, well good Srs I beseech you let not your harts faile you nor your soules sink in dispaire lest all become a Rock to the fury of mercileſs tirany & irreparrable diſtruction, but I tell you God is angry with ſuch uſurpations & oppreſſions inſlaving his ſervants wit too ſevere a bondage & although, he giveth permiſſio to ſuch evell things by reaſon of that juſtice ſhould be amongſt men relating to their dealings & doings one with an other in terreſtiall affaires and becauſe he cannot ~~[illegible]~~ prove unjuſt he therefore ſuffereth the evill natures of mankind to be troubleſome to one anothe yet ſtill mercy taketh place, and though unexpected & wonderfull to humane imagination delivereth and bringeth forth his ſervants from the very midſt of the moſt ~~[illegible]~~ dangerous & diſtructive difficulties which being alſo now foreſeen do premeditally tell you againe that you ſhall ſtand & bid defiance to all terreſtiall & infernall mallice come on then Sr that I may yet come nearer & cloſe in with you as myne Office at this day giveth me I will ſum up your otherwiſe then upon ye 4 quaternian ingreſſes & the weekly dayes of action come one to the next we heard you ſay when will ſuch things be relating to the other terreſtiall operations firſt then as to this 2d point a bleſſed Epoche nearly approcheth, before which on the firſt of march is the laſt ternarian day and alſo then ſucceedeth & alſo then ſucceedeth ye 12 of the ſame month with you at which time, will your Epoche be appoynted & then truſt me alſo the utmoſt limett of your ~~[illegible]~~ trubles will be determined & future feares thereof extinguiſhed and all your ſorrows

I will meet you here on the 1st day god willing 1687/8 feb 22 1—blesse me how am I streightned, and my freedom limited in present writing with your desires because myne office is neerely toucheth not those your afaires in question at whose returne you may be Answered the 3 day of March & 9 day of March are successively appoynted dayes of action the first day being dies Lunaris ultimus the 10th day is the vernall quaternion which must be observed for great reasons thereon depending on the 12 day of march Lunaneel with other servants of the hiest Answereth your desires I like your motion well in moving to take a friend to your Assistance in your Affaires I find he may may doe you kindness by Reason he underst andeth somewhat the mind of Contrary parties which may conduce to your benifit & Advantage upon discovering thereof pursue what you can with discretion for ~~be~~ beleive me a Change is neere at hand and deliverance approcheth neere the shore of a setled Comfort unto you well, well, now is the time and venture of your hopes And Doubtless God will be mercifull if you can be cheerefull persist on therefore as your Inclination dictates with discretion & as you Reason directs whereon the mercies of the hiest Conduct & blesse you heaven forsaketh you not

feb 27: 1678 1— 135

There appeared a glorious Spectrum & it looked to the East and then looked on us wishfully & pleasantly & then it went into the stone & into the waites & the waite was all in a flame & now it is become a light at the further part of the stone and there appeared Lunaneel in the stone and it smiled on me, it hath a bright star on the brest of it & it said, well be it with you Sir come on my Brother & friend I see how it is with you & trust me thanked be the highest there is not danger of your health nor of your you only Received the blast of his shaft driving at thee but Could not touch thee, there is naturally a Coldness of those parts in most parts of stomack & digestive faculties but the Good Angell & servant of gods Chariott of the order of vertues and as some of Triel though Divine grace unto you mercifully in the hiest hath comand in Charge, over you & by office Appoynted for ye part of deliverance, which is more then Naturall & for the rest I shall send both Advise & fulfill my promise unto you ~~&~~ I pray you

March 5t: 1687/8

the appeared a fiery vission over the ston & in it a fiery Spectrum with a flaming sword in its hand & in the ston is Michael & Uriell & they looke towards the Corners of each side of the ston & before the ston is Ane And in the Corners of each side the ston is a Spectrum in white & two walking on it & abundance of papers and books & things by them And Ane doth looke on the hollow Corners ~~Angerly~~ earnestly & moves to them Earnestly calling some thing in the hollow Corner on the ~~Nort~~ North ~~side~~ there is a Majestick Spectrum with a great ~~frightfull~~ Armes A lions face & about his head is like ye skins of a hedghog & woolly bushy haire & long of a bluish coulor that in the South Corner is fairer and hath like a womans face & about it is a blewish vestment ~~gold~~ plated round & sits Close & hath long black haire like a ~~hors~~ horses tayle & Majestick to but more Compliant [illegible]

Michael & Uriel looked on the Corners of each side the ston & then on me & they in the Corners see great veneration towards Michael & Uriel & Uriel doth often looke on me & they are very pleasant The Appearance in action this day is very Considerable, ~~she said~~ continueth you in all your Agitations & operations which, & greatly Immediatly cannon be showed forth nor discovered to you untill the 4th day from this at what time you must ro come done here & then it shall be revealed unto you for ye you have not more at present here but returne thanks to the highest & Close seales up the dores Carefully suffering noe entrance untill the tim god ~~come~~ with you

March 5: 1687/8 monday

There appeared Galuah & Lenanael & they went away And there came Ane in there place Through Grace in the hiest I am moved in order to my promised presence in Appearance here on ye last day of Fernary to show forth the Appearance of action of that day & the mistory there of being very great and Considerable altogether accruing as hoped in the highest to your benifit & comfort the 3 stars, signifie ~~divine presence~~ Celestiall presence, that over the ston was paster Michael & Uriel signifie the sight & finger of the highest & were on ye Examinations with urim & thummim about such Actamum as are to be showed forth in the hollow Corners was Amenadiel & Usiel & they were obstinate but will be brought to Obedience & indeed very Sr if it were if you offered but one Crowned angell on your weekly succeeding days of action for lost cannot be if at all & that you failed on the last ternaryes whith is the last in Corse I pray you Sr mistake me not here for I show forth nothing but what is in Charg Comanded me by office from superior Powre it is not Sr in our natures to be Angry at times troubled and Sorrow for you by Reason as your offertories are obliged distinctly appoynted unto you as more selert Messdi then in thousands that have Attempted the entrance into the pallace of true Sience or the Rule of Celestia which ~~thus~~ chiefly obligeth the Apperan nce of presence in Action or Admitteth of malitious or false Intrutions whith may prove injurious unto you but herewith let this Comfort you that neither divine grace nor Celestiall friendship in a true Correspondent love and Assistance will ever desert or forsake you and I may advise you as comanded to Respect the next offertory the which I trow I heard you not long since consult Know ye that this Ingresse proceeds your great [illegible] whith offertory must not be as of the last Ingresse of the last quarter but as ye first or as they were before by Reason it is Considerable & beareth weight there it cannot be to great I dare not show forth more then I am Admitted of superiours verely this brought my Returne I said before we touched not the Earth as to your Abillities at this present nor untill the 26 instant be expired which also will be a day of great Action and of good unto you as it symbolizeth with a ternary Respecting the last ternary it is ~~said~~ this solar offertory should Continue & Certain vally 6 Crow nes Angells but not lesse then 5 although it hath not bin soe before it is not for me as being not given me to show forth unto you the Reason thereof at ~~Pote~~ Present some other Convenience will prove that on Munday is the day of Action & ingresse

March 9th: 1687/8

There appeared Phariel well Sr although noe present Action moveth or descending yet thanked be the highest we are well mett and through his Grace I also greet you well, well, Sr I have your sayings here for which I sorrow but yet Take Couradg & move Cheerfully in your Concernmen I am Comanded to Advise you that on Sunday next either between 6 or 7 in the morning or between one & two after noone will one Ariel and one Munday come to the now is the vernall ingresse of this Annuall quaternial offertory which I am Also comanded in Charg to show forth what you must observe therein which I tell you must be 6 angell Crownes as before hath bin advised for a particular Reason that I could show forth if it were needfull so to doe but I said noe Action descended yet you may know if Curious After dedication of the same well, well, Sr more will yet show it selfe peradventure more perfectly to your Comfort wherewith the most high Graciously blesse you to his Glory Amen Hallelujah

Monday March 12: 1687/8 ~~[illegible]~~ oo

There appeared Ophaniel over the ſton in a fiery forme and in a bright ſilverish Glory is Amo & Zonaniel And in the ſton is Uriel in an Ecclesiasticall Imperiall forme, And Uriel turned to the Roopt of the ſouth ſide & a ſpectrum in white pulled out of it before a booke & turned over the booke & in it was tables of letters & figures & he put his finger of a letter & a ſparke flew from it [illegible] And ſo it did to a great many letters & figures throughout the booke & ſo many ſparks flew from them & Uriel marked it downe on his hand And then a Vale drew over the white ſpectrum & Uriel turned to the other ſolliding glaſſe Roopt and there a ſpectrum in white tooke downe a viall & there was in it a cleare water and ſet it by & then it tooke downe 3 more vialls and there was liquid matter in them one of a ~~whitiſh~~ whitiſh Coulor & one of a greeniſh & one of a yellowiſh coulor & put them all together into one of the faſhion of an egg & there they ſeemed to be greeniſh & it ſeemed to be luted halfe way up the body of the bolt head & the matter ſeemed to be a little above it

Uriel ſaid ~~that~~ it is to be remembred that I once tould you that you ſhould make the great medicen or as call it ſton of the Hermetick ſophickers

I know Sr you cannot be inſenſible that the first m thereof or ☿ as they call it is not other wiſe but ſweet diſſolvent naturally reduceing ♂, ☿, ♀, ☾ mettells into permanent water & gradually one hath bin ſhewed forth heretofore which of ſome perſons on earth who make noe other there of but reduceing of Goulds into liquor which they call potable & ſell the ſame for potable Gould to be medicinally adminiſtred to ſick & Indigent ~~[illegible]~~ people in health, the which I confeſs to be a most excellent medicen & very uſefull & Efficatious in Redreſſing most diſeaſes, diſtempers and other ſuch like grievances which bodies incident to, and afflicting the health ſtrength & vigor of man kinde ſuch is the Ignorance of many pretendedly learned in that ſcience that they know noe better uſe nor benifit there of, but I charge you not to ſlite it

But now I will reveale & ſhow forth unto you that which the world knoweth not & for the Eaſyneſs & meane thoughts of it, as I may call it a miracle by reaſon it is Collected & Carefully gathered up together diſſevered & ſhewed forth by the keepers of all ſecrets etc yet it may be alſo truly ſaid be Childrens play & womens labour as your ſophiarts of ould termed it, from whence we may determine that the wayes of truth are plaine and Eaſy

You ſhall take then of good aqua fortis ſo called & put thereinto of limels of Copper by little & little untill t be clearly diſſolved & when all is only diſſolved hat will diſſolve therein, then put the ſame into a Retort ffixing thereunto a Receiver & in ſand or aſhes ording to the Art or Custome thereof write a ſoft or lo heat diſtill over ye phlegme which about 3 houres nd may be done, then Change the Receiver ~~[illegible]~~ g the ſame with the weſſell diſtill over ye Remainder y fire by degrees to the higheſt & that all be come over forcs remaine as I have not ſeene it this is a true dissoluent ☿ or menstruum as you well d & observe that noe glass vessell will keepe the same above 12 or between 12 & 18 howers it is so penetrating therefore it should be shifted out of one into an othe ler there you have the greatest arkanume on Earth & Could not be reveled by nothing but my selfe & though ye world should seeme to forsake you yet ye mercies of ye highest will assuredly hereby never forsake you but keepe you beyond me in Celestiall glory & preserve you in safety maugre notwithstanding the greatest of Infernall & Terrestiall malice that can attempt to oppose you but I find I must withdraw I suppose satterday next to be the day of action but monday may serve ye terme one thing I must give you in charge that you may not convene here at this mistery without some offertory though but as one sin: Crowne to the Glory & dignity of your actions wh should of rite be one angell Crowned

87/8 March: 19: Monday; Present [redacted]

Celestiall peace & frendship, which endeth in the all Epoche and speedily beginneth in ye Ne as hoped in the highest will be thrice happy I have not much given me to show forth for not in Charge untill dies Æpochæ which ordered to be on ye 2d day of the next m but then altered to ye 4th day of the same but after further examination found it best befitting to be yet allso deferred and now determined to be on the ninth day of the next month by: Reason first that ye 7th day from this day is Ternazing although not of force but as included in ye preceding Epoche & the 2d day of next month as further ine action the 4th of next month of preparation as fore going the great Epoche & so as hoped in the highest of blessed effects unto you & as for your offertories herein is Consulted favorable unto you considering our prudence & profession of Celestiall love & friend shipp unto you first on this day 2ly on ye 26 day instant 3ly on the 2d of next month on these 3 dayes is one each day only one Crowned Angell on ye 4th day of the next nothing or any small voluntary matter what you will & on the ninth day or dies Æpochæ 3 Angels Crowned & so we shall pass on in such good order as shall not burden you with any extreem but in order I say rather unto your Deliverance And further entertaynment of you hopes & trust in the highest therefore I would on thursday to move to: ye Ardall orders and on sunday move to Uriel & so ye next day you convene here againe

we Sr there is noe danger of losing life it hath got a great could & hath Chilled the spirits I have not more untill I come againe untill ye 7th day

Monday March 26: 1688: Present [redacted]

There appeared before the Ston Ane & Lenanamael And Lenanamael tooke his Leave is gon & Ane said Sr. God be thanked wee have thus far Continued and now hopefully driving in this Ultimate Jornary into the habour of a blessed deliverance where short you will land safely on shore & see your Enimies shipwracked or foundered in the ocian of dispaire sinking without hope or helpe of safety by chance or labour by chance as meting with helpe or by labouring buoying them selves up to keepe there sinking vessel on float above water I doe Certainly Assure you they are come into as bad if not worse Condition then your selfe for you have nearly passed over those di [illegible] that thay are but entring into wherinto thay will fa and be thereby separated & consequently quite expo sed, but thou shalt yet stand though at present or as yet under some trubles & vexation afflicting thy spirits but the outstretched Arme of divine Grace will support thee & blesse thy Labours even beyond thought to his glory & your owne Comfort blessed be this day and thanked be the Highest that wee have hereunto arived being the last terme and entrance to a blessed Æpoche dedicated to the Glory & service of the highest so that present action must Cease I tell you not why for it is reserved only this Sr I am willed to Advise you to act twice this weeke in your Terrestiall operations and againe on Sunday to Uriel and so come on againe here on the 7th day & so one the 9th day from this present which you must observe as a day of humilliation or devotion not confining you to fast only from that which hath lost life from six in the morning till three in the afternone then you may Refresh your selves by faith in divine Grace & mercy ~~[illegible]~~ beleiving the highest will blesse you wherein wee also humbly beseeke him for his owne sake y it gratious & mercifull Cease

~~Aug~~ Aprill: 2d: 1688: [redacted]

There was a spectrum appeared before the ston & went away 3 times and came againe and it looked on me and smiled & was very pleasant & said I trust you may be nearly arrived at the port of good hopes of your long sought for happiness for I see Morangrass hath set all the other foules opposing your happiness & so carefully indeavoring your over =throws at Great variance and strife quarelling on with the other in words blows and threatning suites in law strainge things and to be Admired, but I stopp & say noe more thereof as yet, but there is great feare & likely to turne to an ill effect, so, so, Sr what not sight yet in your Endeavours of terrestiall operation I trow I heard you say soe, it seemeth you acted therein twice only last weeke well come on then you must Endeavour action therein also this weeke thrice and on Sunday to Michaell & Uriel for the seaventh day is your Epoche, but herewith remember that the 2d day from this shalbe a holy humilliation and of pious devotion unto you before the hiest from 6 in the morning till 3d after none tomorrow at this place distinctly at 9 in the morning or there abouts sitting untill 10 to Attend motion of action & then to withdraw & after ~~at~~ 3 a clock Rejoyce & make merry with thanksgiving the dutie I meane ~~is~~ your prayers to god as usually & what voluntory offertory your please I confess I must tell you it would be exceeding well if it be as it was on the 7 d[illegible] since or as this day but you are left at libertie unconfined therefore I shall not show forth the nessesary or valluable Reasons for what I say thereof

April 4th: 1688: Weddensday ~~ffirst~~ [illegible] blessed be the most high God whose mercies descendeth by messengers of his grace to the weale & Comfort of his servants humbly prostrate before him & beseeching him in the spirituall Candor & faith of the soule wherein we also his servants greet you well in Celestiall love fear you mortallity because you see our action sably over shadowed it signifies nothing of that but the office of Day I should instance a Charge given unto me touching this gr entrance of your Annuall Apoche I am commanded to inform you Sr that beside your offertory allready injoyned there should be a little fine Gold intertwined & conjunct thereto or about 2 penny weight we sorrow to Charge you as y but it is a band of misticall union or Consubstantiate knitting together the solemn Effects of superiour Action & conformation on inferiour ordinations making liberty & participations it should have bin 4d weight but we ha humbly metigation I say 4d weight because yours are two I must confess it were better in two parts then one but then you must be charged therewith where we sorrow for but may not avoyd to inform you, but what we may beseech metigation & superiour permission & so it is left wholly unto you at your discretion wherein the God of all comfort & mercy strengthen you both in Corporall and Animall vigour & Joy of life Amen Halalujah

I will leave it for you at medicine to restore youthfullness a Cure my youngest daughter

Aprill 9: 1688: Apoche [illegible]

Phaliah sum: & ex filijs filiorum, and am sent in place of my Mother & other my Allies who even now were present here but are withdrawne by superiour Command to the Glory of the highest & the Comfort of his servants Respecting this present time and Appointment of succeeding actions, indeed it is very well done of you what was last promised is ready for you & somewhat more of Considerable attempt it is to be remembred yt it was once showed forth unto you the name of a Certaine stone & of its vertues but no more whereupon you were heard to say that sure a thing was showed forth but no Resolution further touching the use & practice thereof you have the name of it in your records it hath bin lately spoken of of some hermettick cabballicall sophisters who untill this day knoweth not the full & true vertues & operation thereof which are great & incomparable & the which shall be revealed & showed forth unto you you have it in these words amongst you a stone is found of price that is not dear from whence the sophists draw a flying fire it is a stone & yet said not a stone where of there great & famous words & to say sooth even of it selfe alone &c I say the name you have but I must also withdraw for this day of action is of Epocha unto you & of superiour order which we also attend as to be given in Charge & so accordingly to be administred as it shall please the highest and I will advise you to esteeme and also make the remaining pt of this day as a Jubile & Joy in sure hopes of your happiness and happy deliverance from your sorrows & aflictions here below but you must be removed hence on thursday morn ing then is the time of renewing this Action being your of action with your ~~ee~~ ordinary oratory as your weekly observation for this day is of superiour Power & mediat and not of you to be otherwise enjoined. but the 3 day after you must withdraw & injoy your selfe for the heavens smiles and the Earth must submit: pils of storax is good for a Cough 10 gr or 12

Aprill:12:1688: ~~present~~ in the ston is Michael & Uriel & great brightness beyond them, above the ston is Castor Zadkiel & Zede before the ston is Ane Galwah & Maluadg and in the Hollow Rocks there is two in dark in a brownish Mist, and Ane Galwah & Malwadg went away & a Spalian stood in place & said Come Come Sr Cheare up and be comforted my Mother saith & also willed me to show forth & declare unto you as you are truly beloved in Celestiall friendship & Cominity, that all your temporalle terrestiall trialls attended with those many sharp & severe visitts menacing much fear and danger of trouble both in spirits & Condition are now of us supposed believed and Considered to be at a period & now is the boat or Pinn puting forth to Receive you & bring you on shore the land of Good hope and a resting Peace to the true Enjoyment of plenary Comfort and felicity the ston lately spoken of & standing on your rewards is called lapis Pyrites it may be heard of at a Certaine place

1688: Aprill: 20th: ~~[illegible]~~

There appeared a ~~[illegible]~~ turn and it looked smilingly on me, with a Crowne on its head, & it showed forth something Welcome Welcome be the convention of this day And thanked be the highest we are thus met well together as being the opening of this annuall Expect after a 7 days silence and observance of the blessed redemption of mankind from the severity of the Law & divine Justice for the breach thereof & other rebellious Crimes greatly offending a Loveing & Longsuffering God as manifested & showed in the Gospell of the great & ever blessed Messiah effectually unto ye Soules & Spirits of the [illegible] as true & faithfull beleivers elect by divine appointment and Grace unto mercy blessed be this Apertio Portarum the entrance whereof also willbe the 5th or 6th day I can not well tell you which but you must Conveene here on the 5th day yt is wednesday next if action deferreth not by appearance that day, then you must conveen againe on the next for the knowledg thereof is not given untill the 5th day well come on then

* now then after the aforesd medicine is taken 40 dayes that the next day or two afterwards the body shallbe annoynted with this oyle for the space of 9 dayes all over and the 10th day to sweat with spirits or wash the body all over with spirits as spirits of wine and thus may the body of man be kept renovated & restored by the use thereof once in 7, 8, or 9 yeares in a full vigor youthfullness & health to an extreem Age

I hope in the highest with you that his paternall mercies will succeedingly extend bountifully unto your Comfort & releise by such meanes as thereunto are appoynted which in his great and abundant mercy give & grant unto you for his owne sake that is almighty if you can dispence with it one weeke it will doe well, I meet you againe on the 5th day to your Comfort

1688: Aprill: 25: ~~[illegible]~~ as

There Appeared Chariah

this is an Example of the Lapis Pyrites whose nature is to ~~be~~ dessolved & to desolve, & it looked towards me & said after the action we may take it away moving the ston, we are now seeking to ~~[illegible]~~ promote your Assistance as nere as we can come the Earth, and those Inferior Ellementary Mediums appoynted for terrestiall operations at 7 a clock & at 2 a Clock to move the Terrestiall orders [illegible] and forgit not Sundays action & conveene here to action on Munday Morning so you have done well, we trust God will give you sight for Certaine I am, you have had & will have appearance God will enable you, and we humbly ~~pray~~ pray therewithall to bless and prosper you with Comfort, Amen Cease

Aprill: 30th 1688: [illegible]

There appeared Levanael before the son and there is Michael Uriell and Gabriel in the ston and it is Orphanael over the ston what is it that so much unsatisfieth you stay a little & let me also examine with you, the word is Cataputia halas fear not that you are entred into the hopes of your desires and even just setting your foot on shore for I doe aver through grace & mercy in the highest wherein lyeth the hopes and trust of the whole Creation that you shall obtaine (though so much Remisnesse dismayeth you, it may well be for those to resist you that setteth heaven itselfe at defiance) but Conquest is obtained and triumphed by patience well then Come on I will you to proceed what you can in your operations untill the 3 days & then you shall operate here
I tell you Sr what you may doe first you take the Angellica rootes and the Rosemary buds and tops and beat them together into a Conserve with sugar and take the quantitie of a walnut first in the morning & last at night a a little less then a walnut you shall have ye amendment of your words & other promised contentments as superiour Power shall please to give place & permission Question not that or ought else that shall be a meane to make you happy I well know what hath bin promised and I also as well know it wilbe as surely accomplished although we touch not the doings nor dealings of the Earth for the count whereof those many different & troublesome evills & most grievous occupations are frequent amongst mankind, & because the Evill powers of darkness & those others, of the more inferiour & grosser ptes of the Ellementall Regions partaking of the terrestial nature & acting with the powers thereof have permission to vex people with severall Temptations genuinely or indeed rather Contendingly perswading them to Credulity of wrong though upon their owne frailties which is the Cause of remisness & slowness naturally of their Readiness or willingnesse to be or doe good for mankind in their respective offices though appointed of the highest as mediums in their places to doe that good office when moved and called thereunto as the necessity of Cause require stand ye therefore stedfast and be constant in your hopes and faith in the highest who without doubt will give you the victory, mercifully defend you & graciously preserve you in your Conduct to the desired ends of those injoyments that shall make you truly happy which the most high God grant & bless you with all for his owne sake that is bountifull in all his mercies Amen Hallelujah if you meete here at 8 a clock your opinion is well of that matter

May: 3d: 1688: your sayings are heard & I say as you say that what you say is true & what then I pray you, & were it given to me to Controvert with you I could but convince you that our sayings are also of truth & shall prove undeniable Sr the point of remisness and slowness in that nature hath bin already discoursed, I still justify the promise of your good success in your Terrestiall operations therefore Cease not desist by reason of any discouragement I say not to give you the reasons thereof for whas the effects are swift though Slowly & slow in their progress & proceeding but comes in a moment and as ~~soon~~ fulfilleth its office   when you have done here proceed at home and trust to mercy for your success he is a false busy fellow but shall doe thee noe hurt the Cause of mans offence doth alter the words so much that we cannot behould it without trembling let you trust be in your God who never forsaketh them that trust in him

May: 10th: 1688: Present Ashly

Peace be to you verily Sr your sayings and speeches are heard even at the same of your speaking signifying that your wrecked hopes wanteth a Pilot to guide & set you on Shore what not medium to lend a lift on shore great oppress well happy must & shall be found for your arrivall since divine providence hath delivered you thus far in a Perilous viage to an hopefull port doubtless he will mercifully admit of an happy expectation, be not yet dismaid I will now speake parabollically unto you A certaine man zealous in Religious piety & Charity gave liberally to the priesthood the Church & the poor expecting the reward of a 3 fould increase by divine providence in lou thereof as by the doctrine of the Preisthood was preached and evinced as the showed forth by God his owne word dayly in their sinagogues, he being a bountifull benefactor liberally gave all he had away saving only two shickles of silver which he kept for a supply in time of necessity or such needfull occasions & finding not returne answerable to expectation answerable to the ministry as the Preisthood taught fell into despair blaming them exceedingly cavilling much at the word of God 140 saying whosoever shall take God his word or guidance or promise for mercy therein a Pledg for his estate might 146 surely perish or come to naught for any helpe that he could find or hope thereof at length being enraged through ~~great~~ great fear of poverty passionately Resolves to goe up to the holy Citty and make his his complaint to the high Preist that by the ministry of the Preisthood preaching the promise of God revealed that who so ever gave liberally to such good & pious uses as thereby should be commanded or set forth, should have returne from God in his abundant mercy of a 3 foold reward he had observed & fully perform ed according to the prescript rules of their Ministry untill he had given all away that he had saving only two sheckles of silver which now served him to goe this jorney fearing he should want therein which he thought he might doe if he had not wherewith all to supply the Charge of his journey, notwithstanding the word or Promise of God well taking up his two sheckles of silver Resolveth his Pilgrimage and at some little distance ere he arrived at the holy Citty met on the way two men at much difference in great Contention earnestly quarrelling one with the other the our Traviller seriously beholding, demands the occasion of their quarrell who replied to him saying they had found a Jewell or Precious ston which as they knew not the vallew or the worth there of so the knew not how to devide the same neither could they breake it, whereby they might partake or give each the other an equall share thereof then saith our traviller what is the Jewill or this pretious ston wot,

- ~~aine~~ which they produced and he seing the same thought he could not loss much thereby if he bought it saide unto them see you here sirs here are two shillings of silver on for each of you which I trow may be good Purchis unto you for this ston and a meane of dividing the same equall =y between you & so put a period to your difference at which they were contented & so parted going each others on there way Now behould when our traveller cometh into the Citty goeth to a Jowelers shop asking the master thereof if he knew that ston and the vallew thereof who Answered ye but saide he could not purchase it for it was worth more then he had to by it & and withall tould him that if he went up unto the high Preist he might certainly purchase or by the same of him at his full vallew for that he had • heard that such a ston was lost out of his ephod, who then accordingly his former Resolution being hereby exceedingly strengthened and as it were redoubled, goes with undaunt =ed Courage to the high Preist and appearing in his Presence maketh first his Compaint against the ministry of the Preist =hood exclaiming against their docking the word & Promise of God which they preached & how his Great beleife therein and his bountifull liberallity had bin his downfall whereby he was Reduced to great Poverty & therefore beleived that the word and Promise of God was not true and that he could noe longer put faith or trust therein wishing he had not bin so liberall in Lending to the Lord or his word or intrusti to his promise for that he did see no fruites come thereof nor any thing like to turne to his benifit thereby and more to the like purpose of great dispare whereat the high Preist being marvelous astonished to heare his desperate blasfemy & standing mute thereat, in which meane ~~wit~~ while our traveller showed him this pretious ston asking him to buy the same whereby he might supply & releive his wants as a meane to his future livelyhood, the high Preist seing the same and well knowing it to be the same ston that was missing in the ephod, said he would buy the same and the high Preist also well knowing the fellow knew not the vallew thereof very wisely & worthily Answered the vallew thereof according to the word of God in Greater measure by far then could be expected, the which he did on this wise first our high Preist demands what he had liberally lent to the lord on his word and promise, who tould him 2£ the which sume our high Preist tribled according to the word as our traveller alledged and asked him if that would satisfie him, who ~~[illegible]~~ Answered ye ~~[illegible]~~ very well but knowing yt amounted not to the vallew of the ston gave him againe the like sume which the high Preist finding not to reach the full vallew of the ston gave him a like third some as before at which our traveller being transported fell on his knees pretending great thanks to God and the high Preist for so great and miraculous a mercy, where at the high Preist behoulding the same gave him a good box on the ear even almost fellen him to the Earth and also delivered him to his servants to be stripped & whipped saying afterwards unto, him behould thou blasfemour thou hast received the full ~~[illegible]~~ vallew of thy ston and thrice more ye 3 times thrice more then the single vallew of thy estate tribled which punishment now inflicted on the is justly due unto the for offering or daring to dispaire of gods mercy goe to the temple & make your Attonement with God & beware you dispaire noe more & pray god to strengthen your faith & uphould your hopes in him which only keepeth you from sinking into desperation &c-there appeared

To Mr R Ka Sr Such an other Attempt may possibly set the on shore I perceive the streem runnith hard downe the Currant of the harbour, Well though it be painfull striving against the streame yet through mercy, and Good assistance, a yaul will make its way up, feare it not, neither faint in your Attempts, but what shall I say, since I perceive not Error, nor neglect, in place persevere & persist on I speake to you both with undaunted and unbiased Resolution I the Name of the high[est] raise up your spirits for god is with you & his mercies preserve you on monday morning got to the interiour mistery

There appeared one with a Turbit on & it looked full on me & smiled it hath short locks & curled it hath a scale on its turbet before & it hath a brest plate that is square and hath in it stone & meddals & figures, and now it looks wishfully about it; it begins to looks angerly & frowned and it showes out something

I am not severe with you Sirs nomen est meus afflalilah and your friend I am one of the dignified spirits of the dire under Raagiod under the banner of gaiol; though what still adverse and obstinate move not from a place till I warne you question not your sight sir ~~and~~ I am caring for you Sr I would advise you to feare and withdraw for I am ingaged with a Rebellious Crew that must be Reduced in which conflict may Chancely happen some turbulence or malitious blight which humane weakness easy withstandeth not

~~May~~ May 21th 1688: ~~[illegible]~~

There appeared in the ston Levanaell & Saffaliah & there appeared before them a Great many in straing shapes and they are in great awe before them, and now they are all gon Levanaell said move not and they were in a great light in the ston

And there appeared something before the ston and it smiled very much; and looked on Mr R. and said feare not here meaning his last Action, And it looked on me and smiled very much. So, So. Sr I see your thoughts, disturb not your spiritt least you wrong your Constitution too much I see thou hast two Daughters, the Eldest whereof is perverse & obstin of temper accompanied with a disdainfull pride but the young is much better more lenitive & serene of temper but flexible & easy of perswation, is of dangerous consequence to our purpose to me: if the pleasure of the highest wilbe anoth that benifit of sight be Comforted he hath not lost ye: neither will you be lost in distresse you have 3 dayes now insuing wherein make what good use of action you can with Conveniente and on ye 4th day at 9 in the morning or sone after you shall come here againe on friday I hope you will have some Comfortable success the blessing & peace of the highest fill your hopes with glorious success

May 25: 1688: ~~[illegible]~~

There appeared 3 before the ston Ga, za, vaa, in the sollid ~~crost~~ next me is Uriel and hath a splendid Star on its ~~[illegible]~~ crest and a shaddow like lying by it And in the other sollid glass crost is Levanaell and and an other shaddow like lying And A great way in the ston is a golden vaile and on it a fiery Cherrub with a Great light behind it And before it is, 9 Royll formes or hirarchies And the ston is in mighty Glory And Uriel looked pleasantly on me and then looked on the ston And there is severall flyes seemes to pass & repass from ye hollow crosts
And za seemes to show forth somewhat and za hath in its hands an equilaterall triangle in it is a + in the midde with a dash cross it  & in the uper Corner a 3 & in the other two Corners a 4 & a 5:

It is said in the invocation referred unto this day that our Great Lord and Master even ye most high & only God made all Animall Creatures moving upon the Earth and also man as on this day so then it followeth that all things were Created for ye use & preservation of man kind and man for the service honour & Glory of his God, which principle let us stand fast by, I find it hath bin said the last time of your terrestiall invocation & operation here and also at the other terrestiall Mistery that in the appearance of that time there of saffaliah, that you were then Advised on a suddaine to cease action or any further proceeding in that operation then present, the reason whereof was that as it hath bin heretofore showed forth spesifying that Aeriall & Terrestiall spirits & spirituall Powers who are conjunctly by Nature both good & evill mostly willing to serve & obey & yet often at other times are againe very Adverse & obstinate to ye welfaire & good of man kind the which indeed is but Naturall to ye mediof those Elements   well then Sr Come on I find it hath bin showed forth unto you that you are laborin hard Attempting safe Arivall into your expected harbor of Peace rest & Restoration to Glorify your God in your happy deliverance from those many foule & dangerous difficulties with great hassard you have hether to passed through and I find by what medium had Charge of your Condect have also strove against ye storme which Infested ye same earnestly to move saying what is there yet noe meane to send us help with a lift on shore, from which earnest ejaculation penetrating divine Clemency hath now moved mercy unto your Assistance as appeareth at this day   understand ye then what by office I am Commanded to show forth it doth designe its figure ye one is of ye Godhead and Independent in it selfe not more of that, now to ye 3 this is the number of the trinity and is confirmed in all things by vertue whereof the devine power of the sacred spirit is every where present, to ye 4: it hath an Epitome on ye 3 this Compacteth onely ye Creation where in all thing live & move & have there being both phisically and Metaphisically in ye Element--ry sence of all things the figure of 5 is the number of mata of which they are all composed or made even from the pur elementated hylick and so unto Mortification, from whence proceedeth the end of tribulation and entrance into blessed happiness both temporall & eternall

3, 4, 5. makes 12 and 12 days reacheth ye 8th day of ye next month with you in which time just so many 150 ~~147~~ Crowned Angells should of right be offered at this mister as ye Consummate end or finall Period of all your terres triall troubles and the first day of the next month with you shallbe a day of humiliation from 6 of ye Clock in ye morning untill 3 after none and to refresh your selves with thanksgiven   on ye 10th day shall be a day wholly of thanksgiving for ye 11th day is the tropicall solstice and A Glorious entrance into a blessed a happy deliverance keepe your constant motives to Michaell & Uriel as accustom and Action when at lasure weddensday ye 30th instant at usuall time The blessing of ye most high God in ye unity of ye most sacred trinity Comfort your soules in his Peace & give you temporall rest in your spirits and All terrestriall happiness in the helth of your Corporall Constitution and give you the mercyfull Enjoyment of all Comforts Amen Hallalujah

May 30: 1688 [illegible]

There appeared A fiery Appearance over ye ston there is ~~the~~ testimony in ye top of the ston there is a bright star in the Center of the ston & from that star Ascends a Ray of Light up into ye sollar body or testimony & of ~~each~~ side of ye star is Uriel & Raphiel & beyond them is A Riall vaile with a fiery Character on it which seemeth to be a great way off the is a [illegible] before ye ston it is Emanuell & it he smileth verily Sr I commend you & indeed I commend your elaborate paines & zealous industry in your sullunar operations persevere in your proceedings, they will, they must Comply, do not conceive nor Apprehend the vigor of your spirits to lessen or impare through faintnesse or seeming weakness of the body but take Courage unto you & implore the grace & mercy of the highest for success I speake Sr as I may say unto you both and accordingly your indeavours & observances answerable to received instructions There is a time of silence at this mystery which beginneth the 2d day at 3 a clock in the afternoone & endeth on Tuesday sun setting and then you may convene here againe on Wednesday I would have you goe to the other mystery & make one Call to day for I know Saffaliah to be present & your intentions but let it be 4 a clock ~~fist~~ first at the inferiour mystery There appeared Saffaliah & it smiles Good Srs some present attempts of Proceedings here is a present Conflict fear not what Power can be against you

June 6th: 1688: ~~Aft~~ Am

Harmadiah of the order of Archangells servient of the midle Order, It seemeth Srs you have delayed in not fulfilling what of right you should have observed causing Consterna & severity in present Actions the 2d day from hence is dies Apertio ve or opining of Action & then mercifull effects there of the 4th day is a day of thanks-given 5th day is the tropicall solstice whence Cardinall Actions Commenceth if you delays of enjoyned Dutie depriveth you not of promised mercy, I came not hether at this time as to action of the time as the last of a sistome but only as sent by superiour Power to informe you as to what the necessity of those present times for the Advancement & benifit of future Actions requireth and then I crave not more Extreames will truble you untill you have full deliverance of all trubles I have stayed to Long I have delivered what I was commanded for honour & Glory of your God, be chearfull in spirit & be not dismaid although the evills of the earth thus nearly hath surrounded you for his providence can Lead you through a sea of truble & deliver you from the bonds of sorrows & cares which we humbly beg & beseeche of him for his owne sake who is gracious & mercifull the day from this time it is 4 Crowned Angells I heare your necessity Lett me advise you Srs ij 2 of the former mentioned offertory might be first presented well Sr Be of good Cheare as I said before god will not forsake ye nor suffer the to sink in dispaire therefore say be chearfull for you will have deliverance through the Inestable grace & mercy of your God if occasion requireth or oportunity serveth you may convene here on the 2d day

June .11. 1688: Ammael

There is a spectu before in the ston it is Lonanael thanked be god who in his great mercy hath preserved you to the begining of this day; and we pray to defend you in the same from all evils that you fall into noe sinn or happen into any Danger but support you in Righteousness before him evermore Amen Hallelujah this is a Cardinall Quadrannall Day. the action is to morrow therefore withdraw & glorifie god be Cheerfull & glorifie your God who is will be mercifull to all his servants that trust in him

June 12: 1688

There Appeared Madimiel before the ston & madimiel Beckned & Called and Semuiel & Saffaliah came to it and And ~~[illegible]~~ & 3 more in the North Corner & Faleah & 4 more in the South Corner that is 3 A & 5. & Madimi said some thing to Samuiel & Saffaliah & they went away & Michael & Uriel did obedience every way & went into the Viall vale & there came a great flash from the Cherub that is over the Viall vaile & it filled the ston with brightness, and two flashes come out of the ston & filled the 2 Corners of each side the ston of a lunar brightness & Madimiel is a speaking to the spectrums in the hollow Corners, and they did Curtesy to Madimiel & they were covered over with brightness, & Madimiel said All honour & Glory be unto the highest & his Grace & mercy unto his servants on Earth Good brethren in Celestiall Love I now say unto you as in the Appearance of action this day doth ~~[illegible]~~ evidently Aver for behould first the finger directing & Conducting & Celestiall Light Illuminating and ~~[illegible]~~ opening the Eyes of tenderness to the visibly testimony of promised mercy, unto whom the first act of this offertory is omitted & by office disposed unto your Comforts & benifits of promis ed mercies things not seen or Commune with your selves that your God hath forsaken you, no: S.rs as the stable Rock of your faith hath bin fixed on him & the servants of you hopes wholy in him he will yet Assuredly lift you you up from amidst your Captivities & breake your bonds a sunder & Cast them from you, & free you from the violence of blustring stormes of insulting Arogance & plant you safely in the blessed Rest & Seate of Celosiriah, beleive me S.r that we or some of us, as mediums of Celestiall friendship, and as by office given are many & oftentimes more nere unto you then you Conceive or can know & therefore it given nextly unto the first order of this action first. 3. as in order to terrestiall operations by Assistance nextly 4 as unto the ~~[illegible]~~ effects in proceeding 3ly 5 as to, the end obtaining the fruition & benifits thereof the mistery whereof I heare declare by Reson you so much Admired these numbers were showed forth in the action of the late comanded offertory in the meditation where of you may affirme untill the 20 or 21 days to this month by Reason we heare of your Complaint but God will Provide for you & I show forth so much the Father unto you by Reson the 24 day beginds your entrance into the light of mercy wherein you will make good progress untill the 15 day of the next month is 21 dayes though but 12 is mentioned unto you the other 9 on triple time are superior & Comanding & the 12 passive & obaying I have showed forth the mistery of this Action, this day sevenn night or next Tuesday 1688: June: 19th ~~[illegible]~~

There appeared in the ston Michaell & Uriel & before them is Zaluah & before the ston is Madimiel there in the hollow [illegible] two like humaine spirits and there is two in Angellicall formes with them & great number of spiritts semingly to attend them And the Angellicall spiritt next me is Sanniell & that of the other side is Saffaliah but what that other are as yet we know not if the most high God looketh downe upon ye earth & visiteth his servants with many sharpe trialls let them not therefore Continue or fear much less conclude yt god hath forsaken them or deserted them in the midst of adversity – least such blasfemy should greatly offend & obstruct mercy when Elisha dispaired & complained unto Elias, when he beheld the Ennimies of Gods Chosen people were much more numerous then they whereby in humaine Imagination the lesser number must be overcome & distroyed by the greater whereat holy Elias lifted up his spirit unto heaven and prayed that God would be pleased to open the eies of Elisha see as he might see & behould the salvation of his god & when he had blessed him the Elisha looked up & beheld themselves & their people Encompassed with legions of Angells, who then with great zeale glorified god & beheld the distruction of his enimies what then is Impossible to the great god, who is it then that offereth to dispaire of his and be giltless of manifest offence therefore beware for deliverance commeth in a moment unto all his servants the Morodi, who may be under the trials of tribulation & oppressed in spirit by triumphing malice, alas: a meere bubill a sone falling as Rising you two shall convene here at 8 a Clock the 2d day in the morning come hether to this mistery & say the first part of your prayers here, and then goe to the other & pray to God that he would dignify us with sight to see those sublunar Ellementall Power & have the benifit of suffrage in those operations keepe your duties to your god your love to his servants and obay the Comands injoyned you, and ye also shall behould the salvation of your God which we humbly beseech him for his owne Glory who only is to be worshipped in the unity of the blessed trenity Amen thursday June 21th: 1688:

Passion A me how Greatly doe I sorrow to hear your moans and see the breath of comand likely to be espetially in this so very Considerable Interim of time as from the 18th day of this instant month untill the 25 of the same, now I yet further informe you I see you have performed an Orison on purpose for your ~~[illegible]~~ operation, you shall repaire to the [illegible] Mistery in your vestments it is now such atime for the purpose of those operations which commenced as I said the 18 instant and houldeth in time & effect & so untill the 20th of the next month with you, you must carry your utmost hope with you I say and also affirme unto you that such a hopefull time of deliverance answerable to your Indevoring operations is not of any mortall man to be conceived and there was the Numeration of time & order collected and the offertory thereof comanded was afterwards Remitted unto the 2/3 pts thereof and now from your Allegation it is very likely quite to fall which I tell you Sir may not be as the necessity thereof at this time Required: my Mother saith from superiour powers that there may be Remission partly of that also but that there must the last Number of the 3 & one of the 2 with is 5 & and one made the Number 6 and many Crowned Angels must of necessity be offered and of Right as on this present day but you are favoured untill the 25 day by Reason it was said that your god had not forsaken you for he sendeth mediums accordingly correspondent unto your assistance and therefore doe you enter this day at the other mistery in order to a formall proceedings in that your operation whose effects we humbly beseech our God & your God to blesse you with that happy success as may give you ease of your labours settle you in peace and Rejoyce in your happyness Amen fear not for Heaven is your friend & the Earth is your ~~ser~~ servant

at the Interior Mistery Samaeel saith So. Sr now you looke like beholder of the Elementall orders, I goe, but not to orders, only passe away untill you have moved this your operation not very Sr I see you to be elaborate paines & those orders fear & trimble before you when they behold the seales of your Creations by Reason there is a Ray or beame shining forth on the presence of the Mediate power dignifying your soules & spirits being inherent therein as you are said to be the temple of your God you have don very well Sr though you ~~did~~ behold not the sight of a willing unwilinesse yet there is manifest Assurance testimonially of an opening & extending thereof unto visible personall & Corporall formes I am Comanded Sr to advise & tell you let your progress herein be on the 22 day instant as it was on the 20th and on the 23 day as on the 22 and at night from 11 to 2 and on the 24th day in the morne from 4 to 7 and I beseech you both that offertory Comanded at the supream Mistery as its now stated unto 6 Crowned angells only may be observed with the time prefixed for I I will observe the great Mistery there of which is not neither can be knowne of you or any one verily Sr you will have great Labour but Comfort you selfe with hopes of mercy wherewith I humbly beseech the hiest to blesse you

June: 25: 1688: off ~~[illegible]~~ [illegible] the 4th day in the morning

June 29: [illegible]88: friday ~~[illegible]~~ there appeared two in the stone Mathael & Uriel & two in each Sollid glasse Recept & two before ~~in~~ the stone & there ascended up a Curious flame out of the Center into the testimony, and Saffaliah & Samaliel were before the [illegible] and Caluah was in the Sollid glasse Recept next me & one more & one was in the other the success the London the president Mary all in Company but with a vexatious viage & a troublesome & crosse passage they have not un lately offered since the expired time of the former motion made thereof but further a account will be had in 17 or 18 dayes or I may shew forth more in 8 dayes

I am comanded to keepe my action on sunday morne: Repaire to the other mistery & make invocation ouer there is yet left a little assumed power to withstand you which verily is but little and finding Contradiction to Comply causeth obstinacy & be so much the more, let not that in any wise dismay you, noe, noe, persevere & persist for through Grace and mercy in the hiest, upon these your operations unto you. your happy successe I trow is not to be feared, Tuesday next is day of action well, well, I trust good sight is at hand wherewith I beseech the hiest to support you

July 3d: 1688:

there appeared then in the ston Michaell Uriel & Saluah they are very pleasant and smiles on upon ye other, and Madimiel is before the ston and looked on me & smiled even to a laughter and then turned to the ston and there is white vailes to the Recept of each side the ston & madimiel hath respect to them concerning the ship there was some difference with the mariners & she went to persia about the 18 or 20 of this month you may here somethi they are put to some streights but I am willed to advise you to persevere in your other operations, our offices at this mistery being at present witheld yet through grace & mercy in the hiest extendeth to your assistance otherwise then is here to be declared repare to the other place fitted for that purpose and proceed as before on the last day of action and then you have other two dayes also wherein to succe ed the whole earnestly [illegible] and the 3d day I meet you here againe for you must be restored unto peace by an happy deliverance from the ~~malitious~~ bondage of your Malitious Enimies at the Exterior mistery

I verely say Sr I speake unto you that noe mortall wight living on Earth can or doth invocate or move in spirituall operations so vigorusly & so powerfully both in spirit & utterance so naturally simbolising with this subject like as unto your selfe which not only speaketh but also approveth you to be naturally indowed & learned herein & yet it seemeth as you declare your apprehention reacheth not the sight & understanding of spirituall appearances by the outward signes only & swiftnesse in passing away It is true it is variously to be construed of those who can not judge of it as through great ~~doubt~~ doubts seated in the minds and opinion of Ignorance and unaquainted herewith

July: 6: 1688:

there appeared Salwah in the ston & Madimiel out of it & before the ston and madimi called Samaiel & he came into the follow Glass receipt in the North side of the ston & then called Sammiel & it came into the south side of the ston Be ye blessed in the hiest & confirmed in his Grace & mercy
Amen Hallelujah
my mother giveth you visit and hath brought her name with her the picture whereof is also at hand but Sr To Mr R: it was showed forth unto you the Methode of dealing with externall appearances or signes only of true & personall appearance of which I trow as mine Allies informeth me you have many & various of sundry formes & not some appearing but as switly passing away with great Celerity I informed you to gather up together the sense of your invocations from the Imperiall Power of the west unto the King of the North West mansion thereof unto unto the rest successively and to Charge command & Constraine them to open & extend and also to turne & Convert those Misticall signes in reale, true, personall & Corporall bodies in their forme & shape as you shall thereby mettly appoynt it is admirable that sight is yet wanting with you considering many of the like signes manie times showeth before you but then if we consult the swiftness of their motion & the want of a Constant sight & swiftly also passing away may be some oversight, my mother is friendly unto you herein

To J R

Thou hast a good Gift in the Judiciall part of this proceeding, and in sooth, Orator sufficient enough

It is very well Sirs though divine grace with you in the action of this day it is now time to goe to the other operation after the same method as before

Monday here on tuesday morning

July: 10th: 1688: xxxiii

There appeared Madimi & it seemeth to call on some body & there came 2 more so there is 3 on the stone it seemeth Sir you press ernestly on in your operations wherein you are commendable those orders seemes putteth you unto the extremity well well Sir be of good couradge & persist on you have two hopefull days now ensuing in the rest your intended operations there is some finds gon before you ready to Command attending to success Assined Conveyance according to prescription, yea I say according to success by reason their stubbornesse unwillingly parteth what they so dearly affect as hath bin said and so likewise are as unwillingly brought to Compliance notwithstanding your soe forceable Constraints but proceed, & supply your selfe with good refreshment to support your spirits for you live to sparingly which is the only reason that so oppresseth in body when urged on any extreame goe the on thy Course & fear not the rest in these effect I could say more unto you but cannot dispense with time for I am recalled be of good cheere I will meet you againe on the 3 day I will see if I am helpe for you, I have heard you Complaine some time since but now care shall Consulted for you, your troubles are surveyed & redress therein Considered be of good comfort wherewith the mercies of the hiest blesse & conforme you amen

there appeared Saffaliah and it smiled on us both and it spoake to Mr R you have moved Constrained and much disturbed those rized Power in the Action & Invocation of the Ellemental Opperations, Sr I have heard you Resolved & in the name of th' est pursue them, there is neither of you forsaken I trow you will have success according to your hopes — appeare here on monday morning

July:16:1688 ☽
I seeme not otherwise then what I am for I am moved with sorrow & also with pitty for your weakness and dispaire yet not withstanding, I must greet you in ffraternall vissit & Celestiall love I touch not the Action of this day not being Comitted to my office & my sister Madimiel is of other power in Charge, Comitted and Commanded by Superiour Order but mine other Allies mought hither to supply assistance touching your Operations & affaires now in a full Charge of Progression & Prosecution move not: and two aforesaid stay a while and they went ~~went~~ away & left a star in the place & there appeared Saffaliah and Samariel your present Comand in Charge also with us is to proceed & persevere in the Actions of ye Ellementall Opperation in verity our ~~brother~~ brother Lanael was much to heare your distresse & were it the nature of Celestiall Powers to be froward might have retained much Anger thereby with you but thanks be the highest Celestiall Natures differeth: that terrestiall Passion ~~104~~ dwelleth not with us therefore submit not your thoughts to misapplying what you may be only mistaken in 157 for want of better Judgment or of a Right understanding I declare unto you Sr, that those Elementall Powers doe follow you up & downe, the Power of your Invocations and Zeale and much moveth them but their adverse obstinacy to the service of mankind as yet a little withholdeth there obedience to sight of appearance but yet let not that dismaie you to me Come on Sr I am willed to goe & continue with you and you are to proceed on in your operations as you can you have 3 dayes which in verity wee also hope with you will effect your labors & set you safe on shore, which the mercies of the highest blesse & confirme unto you & on the 4th day repaire hither againe that is on friday. Sr you are promised help for your Rupture

~~the~~ July 20:1688: ♀
There appeared a spirit it is Saffaliah I stood by you Sr on Weddensday I tell you Sr your Invocations as you rehearse them are forceably & powerfully Constraining which vigorously moveth them & causeth them to be so rigorous and Rushing in in there Appearance and with turbulence & boystrous fury but they render not harme, but only being disturbed as they are Constrained to Appearance by Reason they are Naturally unwilling to be forceably moved thereunto but I command & Charge you to persevere & proceed

I will tell you Sr that you are dignified in the ſacred Spirit of the highest as being inherent in you I proue it thus, the word of god euery where Affirme th, that his ſeruant Moses and all the Profits mentioned in the old Testament & the Apostles in the New, besides the arthipatri in the ould time before them as peculiar vessels of God his honor and Glory were Imediatly inſpired by diuine Inspiration from the ſacred Spirit of the highest in the unity of the blessed Trinity, which you must grant and allow of, well then they preached the truth of God his word as they were inſpired & commanded of which I shall giue you an Instance, Paull a ſeruant of God and Administrator of the Gospell of the great Messiah Christ Jesus saith unto all the Mosodi, true & faithfull beleiuers Elect through diuine grace into mercy of which you also truly are expressly in this text, ye are the Temple of God now then from hence is drawne this Inference of undoubted verities & undeniable truth that the Spirit of God is not only inherent but alwaies present in his temple where his Glory dwelleth in the Sanctu Sanctorum of the Immortall Soules & Spirits of his Elect & true Mozedi thereby Conforming them in the dignification of that Power which through faith Patience & Perseuerance ouercometh Conquereth & Command =eth all things I say unto you againe that you shall yet stand though I heard you talke of many and these m any great Impossibillities which indeed is confessed to be greatly feared but my Charge is to informe you that you are to proceed in your operations for there is noe Action descendeth untill tuesday

July 24:1688: —

The appeared Madimiel and it smiled on me and then came Saffaliah to it, and they discoursed together I know Sr you haue orders to proceed in your Terrestiall operations, which although we come not here yet considering my Charge there with Attend you I will better Aduise you then you haue taken in your owne Apprehention you haue now two ensuing dayes of notable obseruance and Great Action there the first where of is from 9 to eleauen to Cooke in the Afternoon from one to art to 4 and so on thursday if I can I must needs tell you Sr being willed so to doe that you are a little to Remiss & short by $\frac{1}{3}$ part of your weekly oratory & make inuocation as Accustomarily if you heare any Noyse take noe notice of it for that is a signe of good unto you and now I tell you truly Sr I Ide trust that the one of them will Answere to your expected Comfort this one of the 3 dayes wednesday thursday or Saturday make Action at home

July 27 :1688: —

the appeared a fine Spirit & it said, stay a while and Saffaliah came & said So Sr ye were hastly driving on to your Iorneys end, but it seemeth you were way laid by some euill theifes & Robbers who Attempted to strip the of health for some time but I Chancely espying them being in obscure there of interposed by stepping in betweene the rigor of their furious Surprisall but God be thanked that you are now here [illegible] make entrance on your operation at 3 afternoone I will meet you there be Cheerfull Sr I assure you nothing wanting unto your assistance so neare as by Nature order & office wee can move to touch at terrestial operations & if you can with conveniency make present hast to operation at your owne place that if possible that you may have ended by 3 a Clock or to be then in it, you have two hopefull days to morrow & monday

July 31: 1688! [illegible] +++

There appeared Madimiel, & Saffaliah, they looke both towards us and smild very Much upon us Madimi, said stay a while and Saffaliah said God save you Sr & be you greeted well in the Highest, by his servants I have not much given me to Reveale since by office I have Charge other wise of you, where by you are defended from all evills the which although non can be truly sayed that non can attaque or intreate upon you in your other operations to harme or hinder you yet you may be turbulently assalted by suddaine violent Rushings in upon you to surprise the animall spiritt or senses with Amasement but fear not you proceed well and accordingly persist on keepe to your Orders as you know to nig [illegible] verily Sr I am instructed to declare your spirituall sight now at hand, that are many apparitions to you in place but so singular & unknowne in their forme they as that you cannot be sensible thereof but they must transforme & be rendered, as soone as the signe [illegible] of it [illegible] appeares here that it is; as soone as they sende answere to him, they open to me, and Madimiel said my Brother Saffaliah informeth me that he trusteth such an other ingagement in acting sublunar operation with like appearance by constraint moved there unto move prove a mean of admission not a Mitigation only of other Charge in Comand by Reason it is not given by any superiour power Celestiall but from there owne as Residing in their Ellementall orders the which have Power which they only assume by there affinity [illegible] the Earth & delights in Terrestiall things but they must comply notwithstanding, their seeming Resistance & stubbarne withstanding which is naturall for them so to doe, but I pray you desist not nor be troubled thereat for that worke will be effected in a Moment therefore let not your proceedings be slited nor slackened for they must yeald unto you

I will tell you Sr an easy Remedy to Restore you to your helthe, & to preserve you therin notwithstanding what was delivered before you shall take the Rootes of Comfry & Cleanse them & boyle them in spring water and preserve the liquor the which you may dulcefy with surrup of the same herb or with fine suger then Take the Rootes & beat them up with fine suger into an electuary like methridate or treacle drinke a wine glass full of the liquor first & last every day and take the quantity of a small walnut of the electury every day first & last every day and you may take ~~the~~ drinke ~~the~~ one in a day besides then Sr let me tell you bring the receit of your medicen for the head and I will magnify it to make it usefull for you I have more in store that are exceeding effectuall on friday

I assure you Srs your supplications have prevailed and as it shall please the hiest through his divine gifts and grace by appoyntment to his servants as mediums of mercy in charg comanded will not suffer you to sinke so neere the shore as in great likelihood of a happy deli[illegible]ance and restoration appear on friday for the rest

August :10th: 1688: [illegible]

There appeared Galuah in the stone in great glory and there appeared a spectac to stay a while move not

The appeared Saffaliah before the ston, so so Sr I perceave you know me not in my Earthly & Celestiall Attire but I know you both very well therein, tho I likewise appear in my Ellementall raiments as being many times Conversant by appoynted office therein though Celestially dignified & ranked amongst the number of the blessed therefore is our appearance many times not according to what we are but according to the office of those actions & opperations whereof we are Administrators

I have Srs made my ~~offi~~ earnest Accesse unto consulted my dearest mother a Celestiall Matron & Queene of divine grace through like permission into the Melodi of ye Celestiall

And Certaine heires of mercy into like Celestiall grace ~~157~~ though visited with many trialls & trubles in their 160 Passage & Arrivall to the ~~blessed~~ end & effect of an happy deliverance and hoped Restoration

I doe verily assure you Sr I perceive the end of your operation As far as I can reach those mediums of action And have therefore humbly besought my dearest Mother who only by office is competent Judg of all supernaturall & spirituall Events & of Adjusting the finall period of all Actions & operations Controverted Parties & sought for in expectation of those benifits as thereby are to be obtained, And I doe Assure you that my mother is your friend & hath as Motherly Advised me & lent me her Assistance who looketh into and knoweth the end of those beginings, & guideth you to conclusions and ~~Af~~ Also willeth you to persevere & persist on with a full and undaunted resolution neither fearing nor doubting the mercies of the highest extending unto an happy Issue of your hopes wherewith we beseeke his almighty grace to blesse you on Tuesday mor[illegible]ning

August 14 :1688: [illegible]

The Appeared Madimiel with a Greene branch in its hand and waved it over its head, like Triumph, and it looked at us and was very pleasant and it stuck downe the green branch & saith stay a while & went away

Madimi saith to them, ~~what~~ now say you is it withered

Answere, not verily it hath bin taken as Arbore 3 dayes it withereth not, possibly it may revive & flourish my Mother charged me to plant the same here I trust in 3 dayes more it may take roote & improve well the one sayeth it is a lovely branch, the other asketh what it is, it is of the tree of fruite & good ~~hop~~ hope it groweth plentifully in Colestiriah, & seemeth strange you aske me what it is as if you know it not ye now we know it looking thereon againe, but slipped it, as being here; it is a branch of my Mothers office & placed here as a Mistery thereof who also will pursue its growth and improvement to the Glory of the place where it standeth & the Comfort of those who shall eat the fruite of it by reason they are also members and Inhabitants admitted into this holy place stay a while move not; the madimiel appeared before the ston say not Sr that you strive against the streame My Moth[er] will then be angry for she also loveth the servants of hon great Masters may happily take you up or give you entertainment and so perhaps receive you very friendly at the Cape of Good hope I am well Informed of you Sr you are also Charged still to persue & persist on in that your elaborat operation the benifits whereof will Certainly recompence your great labores therein as it shall please the highest to support & strenghen you   nay Sr fear not for nothing shall overcome nor Assalt you for I find you can be dismaied but indeed the greatness of your spirit being fixed on a stable resolution though faith supported in the strength of you hopes will bare & carry you through all these operations to the end and injoyment of those benifits & for ever will be a Comfort unto you wherein the Most high God in his paternall grace and many blesse & prosper you with happy successe

August: 17 : 1688: ~~[illegible]~~

It is true the Earth appeareth variously in her Accustomary & severall seasons but the Glory of Colestriah where the Divine power & grace of the highest alwaies continueth in Glory as the verdure of the pleasant spring and florisheth as the ~~Beaty~~ beauty of the somer & Cherisheth as the pleantifull sweetness of the harvest & frutefull vintages for Nourrishment even so doth the great mercies of the highest extent to the Comfort of his darling Morodi who yet in the severe & depth of sorrowfull winter yet florisheth as well in the Antartick as the Artick: sun mounting his Declinations to the replenishing of terrestiall Creatures Beholde then the Glorious Image of that sunshine issuing from the light of Celestiall Grace giving yet more splendor to despairing hopes beaten by the stormy pressures of Contrary formes even as boysterous weather beateth the Goodly Graine & grass with the Earth, but then as the Comfortable rayes of solar ~~th~~ influence shall breake forth & give a Comfortable heate thereunto the Passive plants riseth & standeth upright fit for the sithe & sickle of the Painfull husbandman to the Joy & happiness of the farmer whose Care is then freed by the Happy Deliverance of his dispairing hopes from the fear of a future Dearth and scarcity and by that ~~means~~ means reduced to great want & penury by the totall losse of his former Labors, it is evident then that if the mercy of the highest shall appear even in the most desperate & unexpected season when yet in humaine Imagination were noe hopes of succor can be in thought discerned then, then, even then, doth the Glory of Celestiall Grace appear as a Rising sun in the sedimente of the pleasant

~~August~~ August:24:1688: ~~[illegible]~~

The Appeared Galsiah and Midimi, with many more come on Srs, be cheerfull and let your Animall Spirits be raysed up and elevated above thought of dispaire, your God hath not forsaken you neither will he suffer his Servants to fall into desperate Extremes and Especially the mercies of Celestiah ye you have of dayes of Jubile now entring, perfume the Rome of silence myr & Rosemary before you forgit not to Implore the hiest in the morning to be blesse you the first thing and Call on Uriel one Sunday morne & perfume the Rome you are not left alone nor shall be for ye Celestiall love & friendship dwelleth with you and you are blessed in your hopes through faith with the Pleasant & delightfull fruits of Celestirian Plenty & future felicity wherein I also am perfect as the end I hope in the highest and at his pleasure of your happynesse Cause withdraw ~~[illegible]~~

There appeared A lovely Bower made of a tree full of leaves and fruits and An Imperiall Majesty sitting therein in a Great light, and many small Spectrum at play ~~under~~ it

And Madimiel appeared in a silver Cloud before the son you have done very well Sr in observing & fulfilling ye commands in Charge injoyned you these 3 last by passed dayes the which indeed is not ~~a~~ only Considerable unto you but also commendable as to the performance of that duty which though Commended you by us as the servants of ye same God with you though different only in Immortallity & Celestiall mediums of divine ~~light~~ of whose will & pleasure we are only Administrators for my mother saith well unto you when she declared her selfe the end of our of our happinesse, the office of my Mother is the finisher the will of the most high Donator & distributing the gifts that goe forth unto us her indeared Children as we are administrators & so accordingly to be administred, it is not therefore that any may dare to say that the superior Powers of Celestiall Angells or any others, that we should be supposed to pry into the secret will & unsearchable wisdom of the Great & most high donor of grace & mercy in the dispensation of his Paternall bounty & extended benefits unto his servants therefore the office of my Mother is not to put a period but to fulfill the Charge thereof not obstructing but freely communicating the benefits by their issuing forth descending & emitted unto her therefore say not she is the end of any happinesse to the servants of God, for as she is a beame of that wisdom which is the end of mans excellency so she is a Ray or light also of ye Grace which giveth the comforts of mans felicity in verity Srs you disturbed me with dispaire - the which notwithstanding we know the secret will of the highest in his unsearchable dispensations, yet wee may give the hopes of that Comfort unto his servants as by the light of his grace shineth forth & emitteth into our ~~we~~ understanding so that it is truly said, man is like to Angells in understanding and Angells like to God in Immortall=ity. Sr you have your Commands which observe in the persistance and perseverance in yr operations, and Murmur not but persist therein with like vigor & Corrage as will obtaine the victory & support thy animall spirits as you may that your Corporall senses also may thereby be rendered able to withstand any suddaine superficiall rushing hastily or fiercely upon you which though nothing can harme you by reason of that Power that supports you, yet suddaine or turbulent Assaults may Chancely daunte or dismay you

there appeared Galvah in the ston in Great Glory & very pleasant and looked wistfully on me. and there appeared two before the ston like young men or youths about 9 or 10 yeares of age, and are in Converse with Galvah their names are Potestia & ffortitia move not from place stay a while and there appeared madimiell in a pleasant forme, this is not of me to have bin here at this time but my Mother being recalled by superior power, willed me to supply what Action was given to this day (and it smiled) and verily I as yet know it not but I will goe a little aside into the ~~Nort~~ North East and beholde the prospect of the west stay a while move not

of terrestiall Evills to withstand Celestiall goodness but when then it bareth not weight for heaven smileth at such folly this indeed ~~raiseth~~ Disturbance and Causeth great Conflict producing much trouble in those inferiour operations of terrestiall Concernments thereby showing forth much difficulty & despaire in your proceedings and perseverance to the depression of your hope by unsettled Imagination converting the Animall thoughts into many various & dispairing Conjectures the humaine fact of man being over borne thereby whose frayleby betweene hope & feare may stagger but not stumble if he looketh upwards, but verely I commend thee Sr and may Call the Champion of Magicall Resolution in this thy, persistance without intermission, or selfe perswation, by thought of Ceasing or dissisting here from, by reason of your instant & Ellaborate progression, but desist not, & persevere

Sept 4th: 1688:

Madimi why truly Sr if heaven loveth not you both it were not for mee or any other Celestiall medium of mercy to be seen of you thus frequently familiar or conversant as here with you and though we love not the Earth nor the more Gross & Inferiour Powers thereof as to the Ellementary and subterranean Parts inhabited by Relapsed Powers but you are assisted in dealing with these spiri=tuall Concernments, very Sr I say unto you that fore at this day in the dominion & place y you inhabit hath the like Mastery with you, in the sence & Power, of Invocation. nor Endowed with a more commendable Resolution of Patience & Perseverance ~~being~~ having triumphant and Powerfull constaining vertues wherein persist as usgam finde in truth it Rejoyceth me that I know well of you and to find you so true & lively in your faith & so firmely strong in your hopes and so warlike against dispaire that I verily Assure you that it will purchase great mercy unto you & contract the Inestimable benifits of Peace and happiness after so many trialls of malicious warfares by Infernall troubles & vexations so often assailing & surprising you with desperate feares & follies but yet be comforted & keepe close unto your God in Prayer and all Dutifull obedience and he will surely blesse you and Crowne your actions with eternall joy both here and hereafter in light and Presence of his owne Glory which we also humbly beseek though the only merrits & Intercession of your Redeem= =er &c I would have you Srs to keep this place perfumed with good odours & more especially with male Incense Myrrh & Rosmary and keep by you some benzoin and other two more excellent perfumes

Sept 7th 1688 [illegible]
There appeared many things but all ended in a Red Cross

Sept:11:1688:
There appeared Galwak & 2 more & Galwak seemed passionately earnest with them two, and then 2 went away & Galwak looked on us and smiled & said more not, and Galwak is gon out of sight and there is a Green walle entrewoven with fowls and there appeared a spectrum in the walle dawning, it is Madimiel & it looked pleasantly on us & it looked seriously on me, & then seriously on him, and it said, how doe you Srs I speake thus unto you only as it an Accustomary Greeting amongst you, which I need not offer since I well know how you doe & also how it is with you but the storehouse of divine grace & Celestiall Love, where mercy is included still Remaineth undiminished &c You thinke Sr that you have with stood a great Assault by violente Rushing in upon you which verily might have surprised your Animall spirits And bodily senses with a suddaine Astonishment by its fury had not superior power over Ruled but thanked be the highest for his unspeakable mercies to all his serva= =nts; hence feare not nothing can Assale or harme you the poore vassalls feare and tremble before you which is the reason of that obstinary and unwillingness to a speedy Compliance, but cease not, persevere & persist on, and be not dismaied, at any Assault or furious offer thereunto as may Chanceth seeme before you &c

These were the true Ingredients of what you had before imbibed in spirit of wine; then which nothing scarcely exceedeth in the vegetable Kingdom both internall & externall or on or both waies Administred at pleasure or Discretion for the Increase support & preservation of head, braine, memory and many other benifits for the health & strength of all the sensitive faculties you must conveene here on fridays to pray & doe your duties to the highest that you may obtaine his mercies Cease I must withdraw I saie noe more

Take the Tops ~~of~~ & flowers of Rosmary & also of sage Tops of Margerome, flowers of Lavender Lily of the

There appeared Ga, Za, Vaa, and Za ſaid it is high time for us to move hether you might have bin ſoyled under a Miſtake in the appearance & action of this Day yet I well know that your Diſcreſſion & Great Judment here in could have done very well both in the ſence, & ſeditions withſtanding there of having knowlidg enough in this ſcience and I aſſure you though Contrary Appearance of the more Inferior Powers or Tenebraſs ſlaves of Dire appeared here ſeeking to deceive you by their Inſinuating Entrance occaſioned by Reaſon of your Inſtant & vigorus motions in your other actions and operations & yet although they entred to attempt a crafty Adventure to try your ſkill as not opporting ſhure a ſight here they are not of ſo evill an Nature as to have as to attend any evill towards you — — — — you are ſafe from evill you Underſtand here is a trubleſom world whereon you ſojurne nothing floriſhing mongſt men but the tidings & Rumors of wars & under & Alſo occaſioned Choifely by the Deſeit & Crafty delutions & many ſubtill inventions of contrary Powers to the Practice of Government eſtabliſhed by your Nationall Laws to Crooked things that are not whereby to bring good people into Antichriſtian bondage but God be thanked your temptations Layes not there yours are only Domeſticke in your Actions & operations which are conquered without Armies or bloodſhed we ingage Cloſer and with ſharper weapons yet more ſacred and Powerfull in Conqueſt ſo now I ſee we may Retorne there is noe Euills about us

October: 16: 1688: present only these

There appeared in the ston a Cristilling Piller & over the ston is a fiery Churrub, incompassed about with a wreath of Greene leaves, of a Glorious Greene and in the ston is 4 spectres and before the ston is one spectrum And there is a perfect ☉ upon the Christaline piller & that ☉ is wreathed also and there is a Glorious spectrum in it that seemes to have a wreath about the head of it and the 4 Archangles stand about the Piller & betweene every one of those 4 stands a beautifull tree having severall sorts of leaves and ~~fruit~~ severall sorts of fruites on them as Cheries of some of all sorts of Colleres, and there are 3 before the ston Ea, za, vaa, all the spectres in the ston doe smile on us & the Glorious presence in the Collomi doth smile on me

And in the sollid glasse receptes is vailes like silver inter woven with many Coullers & there is a light in them in that next me is Madimi and Lotostia, & in the other is Louanael & ffortoshah and they doe move them in the hollow receptes as we suppose Annadiell in the North recept and Uriel in the south hollow recept with many more & madimi & Louanael said to the other two see to your Charge & secure all & they went away and now Madi= =mi, and Louanael lookes toward the ston

And za said Behould Sr here is shewed forth in the appearance of this day, the Monument of a Glorious Conquest over all your Troubles & vexatious Cares thus pinching you with sharpe Afflictions, but the obsequious Monument of that Glory showing forth ye state of a Triomphant Enimy it is true seemes Great and Memorable but it must perrish & fall & so become as dust as of no regard when troden under foot but the fame of Celestiall Power united to Angellicall Glory Continueth & florisheth untill the end of time and shall know of noe decay, I doe verily assure you (to me) that heaven loveth you and therefore not to be feared but that divine Grace & mercy will descend by answerable mediums into your absolute & happy deliverance from the bondage of terrestiall Troubles

verily Sr you are greatly to be commended for your unwe= =ried labours ~~in~~ the Prosecution of your Actions & operations ~~yet~~ pursue them yet a while that you also may receive power by divine Assistance obtaine the happinesse of a triumphant Conquest & so may the happinesse of a lasting peace & tranquillity amidst the terrestiall stormes of the greatest difficulties for thou hast but one evill ~~that~~ threatnes thee against which earnest beseek the highest to defend & deliver thee and so shalt thou be for ever in peace

I am commanded to tell you Srs that in the perfomance of this dayes action notwithstanding the greatnesse of your disabillities that either on the 3d day or one the 7 day there must be two Crowned angells offered at this mistery that Power may descend into your assistance & glory in your Actions attended with

The Effects of grace & mercy from above

October 19: 1688: Present onlye two there Appeared a Cherrub inclosed in a Wreath round about it of Lawrell and other things mixt with it There is a delicate fine spirit appeared before the ston with a Garland about its head I am a servant of the highest in the order of Principalities at the instant Charge & on the behalfe of myne endeared Allies make you visset and am exceeding well pleased to find you ~~heare~~ here; but verrily I have nothing given me to revele or show forth them to comfort you hereby in the mercies mercies of the great God who is paternally gratious to his servants amongst whom I am Assured you are not omitted & therfore consequently blessed

I am willed to tell you must not omit you Action to Criol the first day of the weeke

October 23:1688: Present ~~onlyone cancer~~

There appeared over the ston A fiery Cherrup with an Imperia=ll Crowne on its head and just under its face is a Glorious star. in the ston is a Glorious Piller with a body like the sune on it & there be 4 & they are the 4 Archangells & they have a Glorious tree Growing between each of them and they have brestplates on and a star in the Center of it and there is a ~~starr~~ over each of the sollid Corners of each side the ston in the North West is a Tomb with with figure one covered over with snakes & vipers crawling upon it in the other ~~Corners~~ like 4 or 5 ~~that looke~~ spitefully like a trubled Malitious Countenance the others seemed to them there Cloakes of Cloath of a browne collour there is snakes and vipers Crawling under them and there came one spirit to the ~~west~~ North West and kicked the tomb all to peices & threw it away and to the south side came an other and laid hould of the spirits & tore them a peices and threw them away & looked Joyfull=y as if they had got some great victory

And there appeared Madaniel before the ston in great Glory and Madimi looke full on me & smiles & saith I have heard you Sr pray unto the highest for the Restoration of your health as for your deliverance from the sharpe severities of terrestiall trubles & vexations in order whereunto I have yesterday sent a paper by your friend and myne Allie the servant of God Lonanael who hath only as yet made a numerall Collection thereof which may not peradventure be so redily ingrafted into your understandings or untill it be further & more plainly Illustrated with a full & true discovery of its use & vertues which are extraordinary in the the 2d degree of Comparison the which shall be faith=fully delivered & communicated unto you it Certainly & effectually worketh generally the most distempers & diseases of mans body, for it is a mighty Antidote expelling the greatest poysons & poysonus distempers, clearing the whole mas of blood restoring the vigor to Admiration preserving the helth even to the greater yeares of time by this medicen which is not only reall but it is Imperially reall for there is but one exceedeth it by this famous remedy you may not only preserve & keepe your owne selves in helth but your friends also and likewise make benifit & great Profit thereof and when once made will keepe Vudivull good many yeares keeping the same in a temperate state this will make you as vigorus in helth as youthfull you shall have had it the next Convention here

The Action of this day Sr blesseth you with the undoubted hopes first in the recovery of your helth & nextly the Restorati on of your temporall felicity from the Chaines of Infernall bondage & affliction & a delivery from the Complaints of your great wants to the injoyment of true Peace & Rest

October 26: 1688: present — only two There appeared a fine person before the ston it hath a fine Crowne on its head & it lookt on me and smiled & it said verily Sr what is promised shall be truly performed unto you & you shall injoy your helth as well as ever with the Assistance of happiness therein therefore be not dismai for you have good friends who will not admit of your longer sufferings of weakness in Constitution & hope of discontents of also, and truble of mind therefore I find you have taken what you were advised, the fore pills I pray you Sr keepe to your Sundays action the next day of action will be great & Glorious Octo 30 the third day present only two

November 2d: 1688: present 5 There appeared A Royall Vaile in the ston a little spirit appeared before the ston & said smiling on me here is a paper Sr left for your Instructions informing you how to help your selfe & others for restoring of the helth & renewing the Elementall vigor of nature to its former strength & heat, I doe assure ~~you~~ Sr it hath bin a hard taske for my deare Alloy 189 to number & Compose together though it may seeme very Esy unto you, you may take the same & make [illegible] thereof and to transcribe the same and keepe it for your use but you must be sure to bring back & returne the same at this place by reason it must be revised fearing least my over sight or mistake should probably pass the number of some letter

November: 6: 1688: present — dies memorabilis There appeared Arimay with a helmet on his head and a sword in his hand in the ston is Samael in his Right hand is a flaming sword it is all in Armor in his Left hand is a buckler Raphael is on one side of it and Gabriel on the other side of it Gabriel hath a rod in it Right hand and a Coat of male on with ~~[illegible]~~ scollops of gould & silver it hath A Crowne on & so hath Raphiel most incomparable for for beauty and a scepter in its hand with a bird on it in the North Recept is Galwah & In the South Recept is Uriel & Madimiel is before the ston in the hollow Recept is Potestias fortesiah Galwah and Uriel doth looke on me now & then And Samael saith God to show forth & make report hereof as in the will pleasure of Superiour Dispensation And madimi turned this way & said mone not and Madimi is very earnest with them in the two hollow Recepts,
And Madimi doth smile on me said Behould thus saith Superiour Power must the Celest Morodi in Celestiall Choyce & ~~Chr~~ Charge be still kept in ~~Bodag~~ bondage under the heavy pressures of usurping infernall envy ill willing them obstinately contemning and setting ~~them~~ lightly by that Power that comandeth the whole Creation & maketh all the hosts of spirituall Powers both ellementall and Infernall from ye superiour to the Inferiour to feare tremble and fall down before him cast them forth & drive them into the lake of eternall forgitfullnesse ~~fast~~ Judge & bind them, in the Chaine of Perpetuall subjection never more to rise up before his face nor to usurpe Rebellious Contempt Against the glory of his name wherewith his servants Glorifieth him & whereby they receive Celestiall Power to Comand whatsoever he hath preordinately appointed unto the service of his will & pleasure and by divine dispensation dignifying & impowering his elect melodi by his inherent spirit of Grace invested in them with sufficient Power & Comand in his name to bring all sublunar spirituall Powers unto a due service homidg and obedience whereunto by nature & office they are placed & Appointed by reason the most high God in his Just & Righteous disposing Power suffereth the Evills of this world to persue his very Elect and to be thereby assalted & afflicted with many sharpe trialls & desperate relapses with so great severity that many times, the most Constant and faithfull of his servants nerely falleth into dispare so that when his servants are even rendred ~~unable~~ uncapeable either of helping them selves or of Assisting one an other then are of those sublunar spirituall Powers by nature & office accordingly placed and appointed unto the service & assistance of God his servants with such of natures benifits as was created for their uses & Comforts & with such advice as may Conduct his better knowlidg in the true Judgment of all whereby you may now understand that you are now in a good & faire method of dealing with such therefore allthough you may suffer a little hardship in your Corporal Constitution to the detriment of your helth yet feare not here but proceed as you may with a resonable reservation to the safety of your helth for we are not only informed by our allies Charged unto your assistance herein, but we see the rebellious obstinary and resistance standing in Contempt Against the Glory & Power of the great God and his holy name &c but believe me Sr it neither doth nor shall stand them in steed & make your proceeding with Couradg & Prowess which surely gaines you the Conquest & Considerable victory for the which you pray for when shall we find this promised Comfort verily Sr I have said unto you that I touch not the Earth so merely as those inferiour subjects there are other offices thereunto appointed as before was said I understand you direct your proceedings in these terrestiall operations unto the west Angle of the sublunar element of the Aire with affinity & reference as also hath to the like part or Angle of the Earth where resideth the Imperiall spirit Amenadiel, & in the north west divisio there of wherealso resideth Ssiel a spirituall King with other spirituall Presidents with many other servient and subservients spirits, I am comanded to tell you then that there should be offered at that mistery in their nam of Potestia, unto Amenadiel one Crowned Angell & unto unto which one more & $\frac{1}{3}$ pt of a Crowned Angell unto the Diurnall superiors & $\frac{1}{3}$ pt more unto the Nocturnall superiours whereby the Power of Constraint may take place & prevaill for behold that a greater power shall stand in place to the Assistance of your assistance

November 9th 1688 psent Ally —

There appeared Samaziel and it smiled & looked wishfully on me, and said to both the bones in these & such preparation as lieth in the Mistery of the Apotecarys things are diversly & differently prepared some times they are dried in the heat of the sun, dried ~~enough~~ enough to pulverise the best way is to drown them in ~~vinigar~~ strong vinigar let the be in it a day & night if the vinigar be foule cast it away & put on more till it will stand the like time & not be foule then put it into an earthen pot with a cover to it & let it in with a batch of bread all the time & if they be not enough calcined so as to beat to powder then let the stand in the oven an other time the bones ought to be taken out of the vipers but if they be not it is not hurtfull ~~when~~ one word of the Apothecarys art will tell you use haverdupois weight both ʒ & lb

November 13: 1688 psent [illegible]y There appeared a white vision over the ston like as if it was stuck with stars it hath like as a dart in his hand there is like as two spectrums in the ston & they appeare plainer & plainer they be Susaniah & Samaziel.

and there be two in the glass sollid receptacles of each side the ston one & Susaniah hath conference with that spectrum on the North & Samaziell with that spectrum on the South side & Susaniah said Neither Madimiel nor Samael or others of the orders of Potestates serving before Aromay moneth in Appearance of Action this day or else where by reason they are otherwise disposed and dispensed in Charge at superiour Commands, for behold Divine Justice is gon forth to visit the Earth whose Abominations have sorely vexed the spirit of Eternall Providence, who desireth nothing more then its preservation wholy for the honour & glory of himselfe whereo he is only delighted, if the whole chronol-ogy of holy writ be duly examined and Considered ~~nothin~~ nothing appeareth therein more lothsome and hatefull in the sight and presence of the highest then the frollicro-us backslidings of his owne people from the Commands of his Law as for a meet Comparison whereof unto the present Age of this sublunar world is a fit & evident parrallel when Superiours rebell Inferiours goe astray but this matter now standeth in plea whether gilty or not before the highest Judg of all truth and ~~Ri~~ righteousn-ess, but my mouth is stopped I say noe more you may assume to judg the rest even by what hath formarly bin showed forth & shortly you will heare newes but looke you the peace of your god now Sr to your owne affaires what have you to say but I thin--ke I had best to note that unto you my selfe by reason I heard your discourse him whom you call by the Name of Millet is a vouish ignorant person in any thing besides his owne profession & truly not very wise in that neither the which truly being woven with ſome terreſtiall diſturbances much provoketh to Paſſion but let him reſt ſlumbering in his owne opinion untill the 7th day he will be reduced to a better and more Conſiderate Reſult, keepe the mony you receive, it is neere the further of November 16::1688: pſent only two

There appeared Imaniah in the ſton and ſaid verily Sr Apparence in the action of this day is the Right of Potoſtiah, ſaving only it is otherwiſe diſpoſed in Charge for you by Superiour Comand, who as yet ſtandeth in great Conflict with ſome obſtinat & ſtubborn Powers of Inferiour Parts of the Element of Aire, & alſo both by nature & office Terreſtiall of which you Cannot be ſenſible nor indeed be made Apprehenſive by reaſon its ſpirituall & the Coleſtiall ſervant of Grace Potoſtiah wreſtleth hard & Contending with moſt refractory ſpirits much adverſe to the Comfort of God his ſervants on Earth; which indeed Powerfully oppoſeth it by reaſon it Standeth ſingle, when of Right it ſhould have Acquired the Aſſiſtance of its Ally fortiſiah, you may not enter the other Rome till after 6 a Clock at night but I tell you Sr thus I am given to underſtand & alſo to ſhew forth, that if the like offertory as before was adminiſt ed there ſhall be dedicated in the name of fortoſiah then I trow will ſo conſiderable a Conqueſt be obtained as may ~~the~~ Anſwere your deſires the 3 or 4th day in the name of the higheſt be ye comforted. [illegible] will not ſuffer his ſervants to fall before his Enimies nor give his Glory to Infernall blaſſemies Yo Sr I heard you what you ſaid & in ~~fate~~ ſooth although it may be requiſite & well for you to goe & ſpeake with him yet it will be ill for him to weep & trumble your ſpirits indeed he is a good & friendly perſon, and may after a few words be paſſified and declaring your earneſt Endeavours to fulfill his deſires and demands whereof you may give better Attempt after ſome little time then at this pſent the next time we weaven here we may know the time you ſhall be informed next time about all it is gon with a prayre for us and ſmiled

November 20th 1688

There appeared Galuch & it ſaid I know you know me Sr I am finis, & ſhew my ſelfe preſent to the purpoſed end of deſcure and the begining of bleſſed hopes and ye 40 howers expire with you a Glorious entrance of theſe hopes will be aſſured, and become Anſwerable comforts I muſt goe but move not you from place; there appear =ed Madimiel come on Sr we muſt be breife for I have other Charge under Comand, to me ſmiling it looked n & S and Called ſomewhat & Rotoſtiah came to it and it ſaid Grace be to you my mother informeth me that ſome Advice is wanting to thoſe our friends as the Moredi in Celeſtiall friendſhipp & there is but on Anſwere to be given to what ſome may Interrogated, that is a ſupply of thing temporall & terreſtiall aſſiſtance as Superiour Power hath appointed by Nature for the uſe & benifite of his ſervants man kind Living on Earth &c which you know is not of my Charge any otherwise then to Assist you with Power if withstood by wilfull Resistance or Rebellious obstinaty as are in the Nature of those & such inferiour Powers as are delited in ye treasures & pleasures of the Earth; this being of your Charge I marvell at delayes it is true I touch not these things though I well know the many foulds Conflicts & other difficulties in those inferiour & tenebrous operations in sooth It is also as well knowne unto you & all superiour Power the assumed usurpation of a permitted libertie given to Inferiour spirits of the more tenebrous and Lower parts of the Aire & so nearly related to the Earth which they much frequent and visit both externally & internally superficiall so as that they are not called Divils or such as dwell in the darkest & deepest parts of the Earth & seldome or never appearing in the light or brightness of the serene Aire in sooth my dearest Ally I tell you I have had a great Conflict alate with those inferiour Powers by reason of those many motions made by these our friends made unto them or some of them, strongly moving them to appearance in order to their supply etc And I have also accordingly urged Constraint by a late Dedication made in order thereunto either by force or Compliance but you see I stand single & have great opposing Power unwilling to yeald Compliance for which reason the Company & assistance of my Brother ~~fatesiah~~ fortesiah is herewith also fitly to be required and in sooth I desire you to move it hereunto . and fortesiah came at Madimiels Bekkoning for it .

Madimiel said to fortesiah I have moved you hither to take part with your Brother in the Charge by office committed unto you —— I am in Charge of myne other elsewhere —— yea I well know that we will other wise dispence therewith well enough you must continue in place from the 12 hower of this present day untill the 3d day be expired at night, and I comand you Sr be deligent in your motions and action

Come on then, goe to, now it Resteth come & the blessings of the highest enter into you and his Power be present with you in Action so they both went away my mother said unto you that 40 hower Attempted with you should be esteemed as precious the mistory is in it selfe I give you Charge Sr to be present in action at your other operations this present Night at usuall time and also not to faile therein once in the day the two next insuing dayes and come here againe as accustomary the 3d day what have you to say either the 3d day or 7th day

November 23, 1688. present Ally two

There appeared a spectrum with a Crowne on & a staffe in its hand or truncheon & a sun upon it & a dillicate vestment of many Collours interwoven it is very pleasant & smiling my name is Ahasazi & of the order of Principall =ities and sent to give you visit at your Earnest intreaty in the appoynted action of this day, I know Sr the servant of god Galwah whose words I heard you say you under= stood not, when it shewed forth the saying of 40 howers I will tell you Sr the mystery you made 2d offertory at the Inferiour Mistory of sublunar operations which united & an Assisting Power to the first by reason those inferiour spirits having bin so powerfully moved by Constraining Invocations & also by reason of their obstinacy unto good offices as ought to be of them observ'd & effected are become wroth and furiously violent filling the Aire with turbulent stormes because they are limmited & restrained in Power from entring & furiously rushing in upon you under which conflict which continued 40 howers they have stirred up a troublesome Aire seeking thereby to revenge their willfull obstinacy for this Conquest which they could not withstand by reason the restraint was superiour we reason that those 40 howers expired at 4 a clock on thursday morning but there shallbe noe amends for it

November 27th: 1688: present only two there appeared Madimiel & it saies it is in a vestment as if it was guilt & hath a fiery sword in its hand and a Coronett on his head it laughs on us till turned to the East, there is an Appearance of one in the sollid Temple of each side the stone, in the hollow temples are like wormes with great heads but they stand upright they are darkish like moneshine and there came a light & darted downe upon them & they are plainer &, Madimiel is a speaking to them, these things in the hollow temple tremble And Madimiel tooke hould off the top of its sword & cast a light in to both the temples & it became a sword and Cortesiah tooke one & Colestiah tooke the other: and went away and all the show disappeared

I find Sir you zealously pursue your Charge & I also here by give you Charge to observe the Instructions therewith as you know & well understand let not adverse obstinacy perswade you in to a feare of resistance neither let nor suffer dispaire to possess your thoughts your operations will succeed to your Comforts the times or times whereof I know not because I touch not the reasons I shew forth anon but I will tell you Sr some times & hope thereof which I likewise will you dilligently to observe December 17 January 8 & 15 & February 15 March 15 and 29 Aprill 10 & day of Ezpothe & day of great happiness as I will shew forth hereafter & 17 so that now it appeares that from this present time of Action & the 17 of Aprill so called with you will your desired deliverance happily succeed I know Sirs you heare by this time of great troubles & Callamities like to insue thereon and much effusion of Blood thereby which are the prodigious Callamities attending ye succession of Antichristian Monarchies & Soveraigne powers those times Sirs hath bin shewed forth unto you heretofore and yet amidst all the most prodigious monarches the hiest [illegible] [illegible] of [illegible] Elect moreover & will Preserve them under the Covert of his owne Protection you have bin told Sirs of late that divine Justice was sent forth to visit the Earth & to execute the will of the highest zt who also now are present affrightinge forcing here with such spirits & spirituall Powers as are guilty of Apostacy & fallen into the lowermost parts & hinding the soules from the ~~tath~~ mercy of the highest who therefore will neither be seen of us for deeds of Judgment & in sackcloth at this present searcheth your operations, therefore now Sr further you Charge w with Care so I have given you the Reason of that Adverse obstinacy that disobeyeth you in operation and also that hindreth me of given you any other assurance more in perticuler then I have shewed from this day unto the 17th day of April

November: 30: 1688: present only two

There appeared a Collumne before the ston and there Appeared a shaddow in it its a fine picture it hath like Barrons Coronett on its head I see you very sorrowfull Sir which indeed causeth me also to sorrow for you, good God now let thy saving health be known on Earth helpe therefore O God & deliver thy servants from the perill & danger of ill disposed peopl and the evill demons that kindleth & stirreth up malicio-
-s inventions & intentions against them driving furious-ly to destruction, but we trust our God will prevent those evills, well my good friend I heard your discourse & see the trouble of your spirit therefore you are both attended with on & the same evill & threatned trouble I find Sr your evill is not so great as threatned the evill already acted is purposely intended to drive you into an necessity of making all means imaginable to fulfill usurping Cruelty, & I hope so will your sorrows move away with as mere witness I assure you Sr a Celestiall care attendeth you ~~more~~ which I trust in the highest will as surely preserve & defend you from threatned evills untill the Approach & Appearance of your deliverance be yet of good Comfort Keepe to your first days Action

December 14: 1688:

There appeared in the ston Galwah & it said move not & smile and a little picture came into the, ston, & was pleasant & said so god be thanked we have met againe, trust me Sr some good friends have bin to give you visset & finding you not in place might conclude you were moved out of knowledg but our blessed mother hearing you & carefully behoulding all places & not Readyly seeing you before sent to looke after you & finding you to be here commanded me forth to survay & take a view of what may be disposed for the best conveniency, and Accordingly, your Actions a to be converted like as in place before and also to further profitable purposes in order whereunto be ye ready at meeting here on the 4th day in the morning at accustomary time of about 9 or 10 in the morning not omitting your moving in your other & inferiour actions & operations on the day before & of sunday my action here is somewhat doth not well please but I may not judg till I have told my mother of it let not these lights be extinguished untill you have order and after the sun be set with you about halfe an houre come your selfe unaccompanied heather and give Attendance halfe an houre speake not nor move not for it is a mystery commanding only your Attendance singly and beare well in mind what you shall be given to see or understand it [illegible] good unto you both as it may please god who appeareth in mercy in the midst of the heaviest trialls be yet thereof good Comfort

I will request my Mother to see if any can be found ready for use that you may have an Immediat supply to give you ease & help for I know it hath bin in use among some Choyce Morodi in former times who by the use of such medicines preserved there helth & vigor & lived therein for many yeares. it will be both a president & a good remedy for you god blesse you &c. now & ever

December: 18th 1688:

There appeared 2 glorious Spirituns in the ston one is Galuah & the other is Samall & there is a litle Spiritum in a whitish Cloud before the ston & it said move not from place and then came Machmiel & it said thanked be the highest that we are well met in safety Although this place seemeth not fit for superiour dignified Actions for neither my Mother nor other superiour Powers delight at all here in, but it is very good & well befitt. place for other inferiour Operations yet not withstan ding we shall not desert nor forsake you neither leave you friendlesse in what shall please ye highest to permit but howsoever we shall seeke a better Conformity by reason of the present necessity that Compells the occasi =on therefore observe with Carefull deligence the Charge given me to show forth unto you to Mr R the place from whence you came being accordingly dignified was most expedient this is as yet not so, I pray you Sr give me leave to interrogat you, have you not [illegible] the sight & some of visions manifestly before you, very well, then Srs I give you to understand though I well know the necessity of your removall hath that very occasion hath committed great alteration in the property of place & remisnesse in superiour action, now then Sr bring this together as well as we can if you select this for place of action then you must have in perticular as well as generall and with as defficient accesse hether at all times as usually hath bin accustomary unto you before your moving hether for you have bin looked for accordingly here as before and have bin missing which is not well but I confesse I comend this place above all for your inferiour operations both by Day and by Night I tell you Sr in answere to what you say we continue with you as much in the darknesse of the night season as in the want of your Corporall Sight which god be thanked is made good unto you in Celestiall Speculations It is not as yet good for you the reason Srs why this place of me is commended to be very good for those Inferiour Operations here is good store of treasures lay here abouts but well garded

[illegible] Secreta

The most Incomprehensible, & Abundant God, hath framed two Images Like Unto himselfe, & they are the world & man, that in one of ~~them~~ he might be Delighted, to beholde all those his Greatly Various, Manifold, Admirable & wonderfull workes of the Creation & operations; & in the other be glorified; who seeing he is one, he hath created the World One, Seeing he is Infinite, hath Created the world, ~~Round~~ Round, Seeing he is Eternall, hath Created the world Immoveable, Seeing he is Immense, hath Created the world the Greatest of all things, Seeing he is the Chiefest Life, he hath Adorned the world with Vitall Seeds, begetting all things out of himselfe, & Seeing he is ~~the~~ Omnipotent, By his will alone (not by any Necessity of Nature) hath Created the world (not out of any foregoing Matter, but out of Nothing; & Seeing he is the Chiefe Goodness, Embracing his word, which is the Idea of all things (ab Origine) with his Choicest & Essentiall Love, he hath fabricated this Eternall world, After the example of the Internall, or Ideall World, sending forth nothing of the Essence of the Idea, but Created of Nothing that which he had from the Eternity of the Idea.

[illegible] Also after his owne Image; for as the world is the Image of God So man is the Image of the world.

It [illegible] this of the wise, that man is not created simply the Image of God, But after the Image, i.e. the Image of the Image; therefore he is Called Microcosm or the lesser world.

[illegible] true [illegible] of God is his word, the Wisdome, Light, Life & truth, Existing by him selfe, of which Image Mans soul is the Image; Therefore we are said to be made after the Image of God, not after ye Image of the ~~Image~~ world, or of the Creatures, For as God Cannot be touched nor perceived by the ears, nor seen wth the Eyes, So the soul of man can be neither seen heard nor touched, And as God him selfe is Infinite, & Canot be Compelled by any, [illegible]

So also the mind of man is free, & Canot be Enforced or bounded; As God Comprehends all this whole world, & whatsoever is in it, in his mind alone; ~~so~~ the mind of man Comprehends it even in thought, And as God moveth & Governeth all this world by his Beck alone, So mans Mind Ruleth & Governeth his Body; Therefore man is Called the Other world, & the Other Image of God, because he hath in him selfe [illegible] that is Contained in the greater World, So yt there Remaineth nothing which is not found even truly & Really in man him selfe, performing ye same Offices in him as in the greater World.

[illegible] the four Elements, with the most true properties of their Natures, And also an Ethereall Body, likewise the Chariot of the soul in proportion Corresponding to the Heaven [illegible] the Vegetative Life of plants, the senses of Animals, Angelicall Reason, Divine Understanding, & the true Conjunction & Divine possession of all these things, flowing together into one, Wherefore we may truly say, That man is Called Every Creature, Creature, not onely as being made another World, ~~that he~~ Comprehends all ye parts thereof in himselfe; but also doth Receive & Containe even God him selfe; As Saint paul Clearly Expresseth, Saying ye are the temple of God.

[illegible] it is no absurd unjust, or Atheisticall tenet, nor any ways unbeseeming a Christian to Confirme this tenet, and say, that man is the ~~most Expresse Image~~ of God, seeing he Containeth in himselfe, all things which are in God.

[illegible] that God by a Certaine Eminency Containeth all things by his power (simply as the beginning of all things) And he hath given this power to man, That he should in Like manner Containe All things, but it is by a Certaine Act & Composition, as the Bond, tye and Knot of all things; Therefore man onely Rejoyceth in this honour, that he hath a similitude with all, operation with all, & Conversation wth all, [illegible] it with the matter in a proper subject, with the Elements in a fourfold body, with plants in a four fold vertue, with Animalls in a sensitive facultye, with the Heavens in an Ethereall spirit, & influx of the Superior parts in the Inferiour, with the Angels in wisdome & Understanding, with God in Containing all things.

[illegible] with God and the Intelligences by faith & wisdome, with the Heavens & Heavenly things by Reason & Discourse, with all Inferiour things by sence & dominion, & acts with all & hath power over all, even on God himselfe, by knowing & loving him.

[illegible], so man also can know all things Intelligible, seeing he hath for an Adequate object ens in generall, or Truth it selfe; neither Is there any disposition nor thing found in man in which something of Divinity may not shine forth; Neither is there any thing in ~~which~~ God which may not also be Represented in man.

Whosoever therefore shall Know him selfe, shall Know all things in him selfe, And more Especially he shall Know God, according to whose Image he was made, he shall Know the world the Resemblance of which he Beareth, And he shall Know all Creatures wth which he Symbolizeth, & obtaine all the secret & true Understanding that Can be had from Angels, spirits, Heavens, Elements, Animals, plants, stones, & whatsoever Els, & how all things may be fitted for all & Every purpose or purposes, in and According to their time, place, order, Measure, proportion & Harmony.

Now How much the more Every one shall Know him selfe, by so much he obtaineth the greater power of attracting the Like Qualityes & Vertues, & Likewise Operateth greater & more Wonderfull things, & so by Consequence & Course Gradually ascends to so Great perfection, that he is made the son of God, & is transformed into that Image which is God, & is United wth him, A Guift that is not Granted to Angels, ye world, or any Creature, but to man Onely

This is the [illegible] to be made the son of God, & to be United to God, all things which are in man are united also, & Especially his mind, then his spirit, then his Animall powers, & then his Vegetative faculties &c: [illegible] of the Divine Image, is the proper & peculiar Guift to man, & Common to no other Creature.

There are three things placed in man, that distinguished according to their respective Division, parts & Qualityes.

The { Supream, Lowest,
Middle,

The Supreame, is that Divine thing which is Called the mind, or Superiour portion, or illuminated Intellect; Moses Calleth it the breath of Life (that is) Breath from God, or his spirit inspired into us.

The Lowest, is the Sensitive Soul, which is also Called an Image, Saint paul nameth it the Animall Man:

The Middle is the Rationall spirit, Knitting & tying togethor, both Extreams; (that is) the Animall Soul with the mind, Savoring of the Nature of Both Extreams, yet it Differeth from the Illuminated Intellect, the mind, light & Supream portion; it Differeth also from the Animall Soul, from the which the apostle teacheth us, that we ought to seperate it by the power of the word of God, saying the word of God is Lively & powerfull, more penetrating then a two Edged Sword, pircing Even to the Dividing of the Soul & spirit

As the Supreame portion, never sinneth, nor Consenteth to Evill, but always Resisteth Errour, & Exorteth to the best things; so the inferiour portion & Animall soul, is always drowned in Evill, in sin & Concupiscence & draweth to the worst things, of which Saint Paul saith, I see another Law in my Members, leading me Captive to the Law of Sin

The mind therefore, or Illuminated Intellect is never Damned, but although its Companions are to be punished) goeth away unhurt Into its Originall; But the spirit, the Animall soul, being by nature free, & can according to its pleasure, adhere to either of ym of them, if it Consent/adhere to the Superiour portion, it is att Length, United & Beautifyed with it, till it be absumed into God; And if adhere unto the Inferiour or Animall man, it is Depraved & becomes Vitious, Untill it be made a wicked spirit —

The Soul of Man, Being a Certaine Divine Light, Created after the Image of the word, the Cause of Causes, & first Example & Substance of God, Wee will now treat Somewhat thereof in particular, & through what means it is joyned to the body &c: —

It is a Certaine Divine Substance, Individuall & wholly present in every part of the body, So produced by an incorporall Author, it Dependeth by the power of the Agent onely —

The Soul is a Substantiall number, Uniforme, Rationall & Conversive unto it selfe, far Exceeding all bodyes and Materiall things, the operation whereof is not according to the matter, nor proceeding from inferiour and Grosser things, but from the Efficient Cause:
Which is not a Quantitative Number, but removed from all Corporall Lawes, whence it is not Divided nor Multiplyed by parts —

Therefore the Soul of man is a Certaine Divine Substance, flowing from a Divine fountaine, carrying along with it selfe Number, not that Divine one by which the Creator hath Disposed all things, but a Rationall number, by which seeing it hath a proportion to all things, it Can understand all things, —

Now Mans Soul, immediately proceeding from God, the Efficient is joyned by Competent Means to the Grosser body, Whence first of all In its Descent, it is Involved in a Celestiall and Ayriall body, Called the Celestiall Vehicle or Chariot of the Soul —

Through this Middle thing, by the Command of God, who is the Centre of the World, it is first Infused into the Middle point of the Heart, Which is the Centre of Mans body, & from thence it Diffuseth through all the parts and Members thereof, when it joyneth his Chariot to ye Naturall heat, being a Spirit Generated to the heart by heat, by this it plungeth it selfe into the Humors, whereby it inhereth in all the members, & to all these is made Equally the Neighest, although it be Diffused through one to another, And thus it is manifest how the Immortall Soul by an Immortall Body (that is to say) an Etheriall Vehicle, is included in a Grosse and Mortall Body —

But When these Middle things doe Disolve or fail, by any Disease or Some Accidentall Mischiefe, then doth the Soul, by these Middle things, Recollect it selfe, and floweth back into the heart, which was the first Receptacle of the Soul —

But the Spirit of the heart failing and heat being Extinct, it leaveth him & man Dyeth, and the Soul flyeth away with this Celestiall Vehicle &c Every Noble Soul is said to have a fourfold operation, And the [illegible]
The first Divine, By the Image of the Divine propriety —
The Second Intellectuall, by formality of participation of the [illegible]
The Third Rationall, by the perfection of their proper [illegible]

The fourth Animall or Naturall, by Communion with the body & these Inferiour things.

¶ that there is no Work in the whole world, so admirable, So Excellent, so wonderfull, which the Soul of man (being Associated to his Image of Divinity) standing & not falling, cannot Accomplish by its owne power, without any Externall help.

¶ Now we have in breif treated of the Celestiall propertyes of ye Soul of man, and the Dignityes thereof, & its Conjunction to ye body; we will now show forth the dignityes of the body, & how through each degree of Dependency, his Mind ascends into the intelligible World, & becomes more Sublime, like unto the Intelligences &c:

The Omnipotent God, in the admirable Creation & Composure of the World, with ye Diversity & Distinction of all the Creatures therein, and the severall formes, shapes, disposition & natures thereof; Allthough the greatest part of [illegible] (considered) [illegible] with Wonder and Astonishment [illegible] yet in his [illegible] power, & [illegible] when he Created them, they were [illegible]; for he spake but the word & they were made, according to [illegible] time, order & degree ——

But when [illegible] was to be [illegible] all the rest, there was a Consultation of the Trinity, & [illegible] the Godhead, about the production of so Excellent a Creature; Let us make man according to our Image, endued him with Soul & body, (a Divinity & Reason

Reason, giving him Dominion over the ~~fowls~~ Fowls of the Ayr, the fishes of the Sea, & all the Creatures of the Earth / saith the text word &c:

Therefore man that Deliberately made, thus highly honoured, Induced wth a forme so Angellicall, prerogatives so Royall, a Stature of body so Ascendant, & lifted up towards heaven, a minde so Elate and Ample, able to Comprehend the height & Depths of Mysteryes, measuring the world in a moment, yet not Contained in the world)

The Contemplation Whereof, made the Kingly prophet and psalmist David (being Stirred up with the wonder and love of Such a Workman) to Break forth into this passion, psal: 139: I will Magnifie thy name Lord, how wonderfully am I made, all the works of thy hands are wonderfull, & Bith my Soul hath tasted, and knoweth right well, my Mouth was not hid from thee, being made in Darkenesse, How wonderfully was I fashioned in the womb of my Mother, Thine Eyes saw me a Rude & undigested Heape, & all my members were written in thy book, which afterwards were not perfected but in many days (A)

Besides [illegible] great Miracle, [illegible] to be [illegible] wondered, for the Soul being Created and made like unto God, [illegible] Image of God, that it [illegible] all things [illegible] (Contract of Divinity, so the body [illegible] & [illegible] the image of the Soul, According to the Celestiall faculty, [illegible] faith, steadfastly Resolved with hope, Adorned with the inspired Ornaments of Love & Chastity, it passeth into the nature of God, whereby he becomes God

He Knows the Rise of Demons, & himselfe to have his Originall with them, Despising the part of humane Nature, in himselfe, having a sure Confidence of the Divinity of the Soul, by which he Obtaines, Whatsoever he Asketh at the hands of God, by the help of Angelicall Ministery, & Conversing with those ~~blessed~~ Creatures, &c:

[illegible] therefore being Drawn from the Archetype himselfe; according to the Harmony of the Microcosm, being the Image of the Divine Idea, powerfully attracts the Correspondency & attendance of the Gods & Angels to our Assistance, Compells all Evill spirits to our Commands & subjection, Submits all the powers of the world unto our Service, yea all Creatures both Necessarily Obey us, & all the Quier of heaven doth follow us, whose office it is to Execute his Commands, who then according to Gods Decree & their Duty, Doth Manage our affairs and petitions according to our Desires.

In the next place, Before we enter to treat on the proper subject which we intend, Let us take a View of Some Necessary Instructions as Certain paths to lead us the next way unto the truth, Unto which there are three Guides namely [illegible]

[illegible] of the soul [illegible] faculties the most Excellent, Descending from the Intelligencies above, to the most Inferiour things & Congregates & Converts our mind into the Divine Beauty, preserves us in all our Works, gives Event according to our Wishes and Administreth power to our supplications [illegible] hanging [illegible] things it Desireth, whence is Certain great [illegible], nourisheth the mind & bringeth it to perfection.

[illegible] Faith the [illegible] Vertue of all, not grounded on humane fictions, but Divine Revelations, wholly pierceth all things through the whole world; for Seeing it Descends from above, from the first Light, & remaines Nearest to it, is far more Noble and Excellent, then all the art Sciences, & beleifs arising from Inferiour things; By faith is man Made Somewhat the same wth ye Superiour powers, and Enjoyeth the same power wth them, Faith is the Root of all miracles, by which alone we approach to God, from whome we Obtaine Divine power & perfection; where ~~of~~ for all things are ~~to~~ be beleeved, because all things are Easie to God; Nothing is impossible to him, therefore nothing is incredible; and he who shall fail In his faith, shall Do nothing worthy Admiration, but Rather Incur punishment & Sustaine Loss therefore.

[illegible] therefore being Divine & ~~pure~~ puri, inflamed wth a Religious Love, Adorned wth hope, Directed by faith, placed in the Height & top of the humane Soal, Doth suddainely Attract & Comprehend the Very truth, & beholdeth all the Stations, Grounds, Causes & Sciences of things, both naturall & immortall, in the Divine truth it selfe, the first Cause (as it were) in a Certain glass of Eternity.

[illegible] that we, (though naturall) Know those things that are above Nature, & understand all things that are below; And it is not in Sciences and Arts only that the understanding (tending to it selfe) shews [illegible] Certain all Evidences, but also Receiveth this miraculous power, in Certain things, by Command to be ~~[illegible]~~ Changed.

[illegible] in our framed naturall body, yet may [illegible] predominate [illegible] nature, & Cause such wonderfull, suddain, & Difficult Operations, as that Angels & spirits Obey us, the stars are Disordered, the Heavenly Heavenly powers Compelled, the Elements made Obedient &c: ---- -- [illegible] that therefore, if it would work any admirable thing, Experiment, operation or Effect in these inferiours, must have a Respect to its Begining, that it may be strengthened & Illustrated thereby, & receive power of acting through Each Degree, from the first Author ——

For it is a Certaine Maxime, and an Observeable Rule, that whosoever doth ye more Exactly imitate the Cælestiall Bodyes, Either in Nature, Study, Action, Motion, Gesture, Countenance, passions, of the mind, and Oportunity of Season, is so much the more Like unto them, and shall receive the Larger Guifts & Benefits from ym; the Reason is apparent, for the body doth not resist a most powerfull Soul, and perfect mind doth not Change its Councell (B) ——

—— Further Observations Worthy of Note

The Omnipotent God having Created all things, ruling & disposing ym, holy & gracious Will, doth he distribute the putting thereof in and setteth his heavenly Decrees, according to his Divine ^ Execution, by ye Care of ye Angels & heavenly ministers, the which being [illegible] Calls assisting and destroying Angels. → ---- -

And [illegible] God doth by Angels (as by Ministers) the same he doth by ye Stars (as it were by Instruments) who accordingly transmit them to this Service World, that after this manner all things might make together to [illegible] him.

So yt it is fitting [illegible] apply the [illegible] to their Respective parts, according as they are Referred to ym, both in Respect of their Office and Signification &c. --- that [illegible] may aptly be reduced from these inferiours to ye Stars, from ye Stars to their Intelligences, from thence to ye first Cause it selfe, from ye Series and Order whereof all hidden Philosophy flowes, for every Day, Some Naturall thing is drawn by art, & some Divine thing is drawn by Nature, in the attracting like by like, and of Suitable things by Suitable, and by such Kinds of Attractions, there is a mutuall Correspondency of things amongst ym Selves, of Superiours wth inferiours; for every Inferiour thing in its Kind, should Answer its Superiour, and through this the Supream it Selfe, whereby it receives from heaven that Cælestiall power, which is Called the Quintessence, and from ye Intellectuall World a Spirituall & Enlivening Vertue, transcending all Qualityes whatsoever, & Lastly from ye Exemplary or Originall world, through the mediation of the Other, According to their Degree, receive the Originall power of the whole perfection. Know therefore, that every Superiour moves its next inferiour, in its Degree and Order, not onely in Bodyes but also in Spirits. ——

The Universall Soul moves the particular Soul, and the Rationall Acts upon ye Sensuall, and that upon the Vegetable: for every part of this Superiour World, suffers from ye Heavens, according to their Nature & Aptitude, & one sort of the [illegible] Body, suffers from another, and the Superiour World moves all things [illegible], and (after a manner) Contains all the same Beings from ye first to ye last, which are in the Inferiour World.

[illegible] moves the Bodyes of the Elementary World, Compounded, Generable and Corruptible from ye [illegible] perpetuall and spirituall Essences, depending on the primary Intellect, which is the acting intellect (or Divine power) and the Second from God (the first Author) from whence all all things are produced, & upon Whome all things Depend, and through whose Comand, Every Orb acts in its office, accordingly from the will of the Creature, according to ye will of the Creator; in & by which we attaine, not onely to ye knowledge of things Naturally, But Come to the perfection of more Rare & Sublime things Calestially &c:— as may be instanced in many presidents, both Ancient & modern— But [illegible] is the image of God, the Acting intellect is the image of ye word, the Soul is the image of this intellect, & our word ye image of the Soul, by which it acts upon Naturall things Naturally; Nature being the work thereof, And Every one of these perfects his Subsequent, & none of the Latter Exists wthout ye former, for they Depend amongst themselves, by a kind of Ordinate Dependency, So yt when the Latter is Corrupted, it is returned into yt wch was next before it, untill it Come to the Heavens, then to ye Universall Soul, & Lastly unto ye acting intellect by which all Creatures Exist, & then by Degrees in ye principall Author, ye first & Last, by whose heavenly will all things at Length are Returned,

This is the [illegible] and Continuity of nature, that all Superiour [illegible] flow through Every inferiour, wth a Long and Continued series [illegible] succession Dispersing its Rays, Even to ye very Last things. And inferiours through their Superiours, Come to ye Supream of all.

[illegible] of God is the world; of the world, [illegible] Man, Beasts; of Beasts, plants; of plants, Metals; of Metals, Stones

[illegible] Stones [illegible] are [illegible] Hearbs, Hearbs wth Animals, Animals wth the Heavens, the Heavens wth ye Intelligences, the Intelligences wth Divine properties, [illegible] & So Consequently wth God himselfe, according to whose Image & similitude [illegible] and all things inclusively were Created [illegible] spirituall, the plant agrees wth a bruit in Vegetation: a bruit, with A man in Sense: Man wth an Angell in understanding, an Angell wth God in immortallity. [illegible] annexed to the mind, the mind to ye intellect, the intellect to ye intention, the intention to ye imagination, the imagination, to ye Senses, & the Senses at Last to things. &c:,

[illegible] may Conclude, thus: inferiours are so Successively joyned to their Superiours, that there proceeds ~~An~~ Influence from their Head (the first Cause) like as a Certaine String stretched out to ye Lowermost things of all; of ye which String, if one End be touched, the whole doth presently shake & soundeth to ye Other End; Even so, at the motion of the Inferiour the Superiour is also moved, to which the Other doth answer, like as Strings of a well tuned instrument; so yt wt soever is must of necessity imitate the motions & influences of the Superiours; moved, Caused or produced in these inferiours, to which as to its Roots, Causes & Signs, it is Reduced — ^ A

It is Very Difficult, if not impossible, to Convince or perswade a Knowing & Intelligent man, by Reason, into a Credulity of Such things, that Reacheth a Little beyond his present Capacity, out of Reasoning that in presidents force; by Reason for the Animal Spirits [illegible], is of the influence of the Celestiall Bodies, & ye Co-operations of ye mind [illegible], as forwardly [illegible] no former [illegible] all dispositions. [illegible] Phylosophers, doth not admitt this word ~~of~~ Divine Doctrine, & the great [illegible] fits proceedings thereon; [illegible] thereby from [illegible] many wonderfull & admirable Experiments, Operations & Effects are produced and brought to passe, by Vertue of the Celestiall Authority & management according to ye Order & wisdome of a sound & Expert Sophical [illegible] because he is not a Stranger to the Heavens &c:

[illegible] wee Breifly treated of the Celestiall & Terrestiall Harmonyes, and the Mutuall Correspondencyes of those inferiours with their Superiours, whereby wee become Capable of Receiving Certaine Celestiall guifts from above: &c:— wee shall now Lay down Some beneficiall Aphorismes, Worthy of Remark:

Beneficiall Aphorismes.

~~Beneficiall Aphorismes~~ 1st: Wee ought to Labor, nothing more in this Life, then that wee degenerate not from the Excellency of the minde, by which wee Come nearest to God, and put on the Divine Nature, least at any time our Minde waxing Dull, through a stupide Vanity should decline & yeild to ye frailty of our Earthy Body becomeing fleshly Vitious—: Wherefore wee ought so to order our minds, that it by it selfe, being mindfull of its own Dignity & Excellency should always both think, Doe & operate something worthy of it selfe. But the Knowledge of the Celestiall & Divine Secrets, doth [illegible] and [illegible] powerfully performe this for us, [illegible] of the Renowned [illegible] Majesty, [illegible] Divine [illegible] Every [illegible] things, by a [illegible] And by all the Degrees of the [illegible] ascending [illegible] Creature [illegible] the particular Vertue of each thing [illegible], trusting only to worldly & naturall things, and [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] mistake the proper object of [illegible], whereby they are [illegible] deceived by fallacyes, &c: But the understanding of Celestiall things, purgeth the mind from Errours [illegible] & that Divine [illegible]

power

power to our works, and drives Clearly away the Deceits and Delusions of all Evill spirits, and yet Subjects them to our Comands too.

2: [illegible], and the muses; avoyd the friendship of the multytude; be Covetious of time, Beneficiall to all men, Use the Angels & spirits given & attributed unto these ministers, without Rashness & presumption, as the messengers of God, be Vigilent in thy Calling.—

3: Be obedient to good Admonitions, avoyd all procrastination, ~~accustome~~ accustome thy selfe to Constancy and Gravity, both in thy words & deeds, fly from Earthly things, Looke after Heavenly things, put no Confidence in thy own wisdome, but Look unto God in things.

4: Whatsoever thou Learnest, fix it in thy mind, Learn much but not many things, because a Humane Understanding can not be alike Capable in all things, Unlesse it be Divinely Regenerated, & unto him, nothing is so difficult, which he may not be able to attaine to:

[illegible] to shew that [illegible] things [illegible] [illegible] Superiours, [illegible] Divine [illegible] wayes: Therefore [illegible] Magician ought to be [illegible] that is godly, honest, Constant in his words & deeds, prudent in all his actions, Covetous of nothing but wisdom, [illegible] all his [illegible] [illegible] & thy spirits [illegible] himselfe [illegible] pray to God for Constancy in faith, & he shall bring to passe all things [illegible] heaven:

6: It is properly call'd that a Secret in Magick, which no man Can Attaine unto by humane industry, without Revelation: the Knowledge whereof Lyeth, Obscured, hidden by God in the Creation, yet notwithstanding, he doth permit to be revealed by spirits & Angels, to a due use of the thing it selfe, And these Secrets are either Concerning things Divine, Naturall or humane; & if wee do but Rightly ~~Consider~~ & examine a few, we shall Commend the whole wth the most Select

7: If the humane understanding be Divinely or Angellically Inspired, by Conjunction or Revelation, it is the onely Effector of all wonderfull operations, and produceth what thing soever it Indulgently Conceiveth: Let a Magician therefore Carefully shroud himselfe, under the wings of Divine Assistance, Least he fall into ye Snares of temptations ——

8: Be carefull that you mix no Experiments that are of Contrary Qualityes or offices, but Let every one be simple & severall; for God & nature hath appointed all things to a Certain [illegible] end & purpose, as in [illegible] and Characters [illegible] need [illegible] as [illegible] being according ye [illegible] for there is [illegible] both Divine, Supercelestiall, Heavenly, Terrestriall, Subterrestriall Aery, Watery, & Infernall, Visible and invisible, required [illegible] Bodies with all Readiness & submission unto us &c:

9: There is nothing so much becometh a Magician, as Soundness in faith, Constancy in action, & minde immoveable in hope, patience in perseverance, and when the like Receiveth its like, there is (I say) none more happy then such because the holy Angels are Conversant about them, possesse the Custody of ym, they will familiarly Converse wth them, and willingly give attendance to ym, & Communicate unto ym whatsoever shall be Desired, they will successfully & successively supply them in all things, according to their Severall & Respective Ordrs & Offices, & faithfully instruct them in all wisdome & Knowledge, by the Doctrine of Angelicall Ministery, and Inconstancy, & Dispair, bring all to Confusion & losse, & nothing to Effect.

10: He who would know secrets, [illegible] first Learne to know how to keep secrets secretly, & to Reveall those things yt are to be revealed, & to seal those things yt are to be sealed. Observe this Rule, & the Eyes of thy understanding shall be opened, to understand secret things; and thou shalt have whatsoever thy mind desireth, to be Divinely Revealed unto thee, thou shalt have also the Angels of God [illegible] prompt & ready in their nature, to minister unto thee as [illegible] humane mind Can desire, & thou shalt be endued & replenished with all Divine & Celestiall & good Gifts whatsoever &c:

11: [illegible] of all things is sufficient for receiving influences from Celestialls, because [illegible] nothing [illegible] Celestialls, to send forth their rights upon inferiours, & they suffer [illegible] to be Destitute of their Vertue, therefore [illegible] as is perfect & pure is not unfit to receive the Celestiall Influence.

12) [illegible] minds doth effect Divers things by faith (that is) A firm Adhesion, a fixt intention, and Vehement Application of the worker or Receiver, to him yt Co-operates in any thing; & gives power to ye worke which we intend to doe, so that their is Composed in us, (as it were) the very image of the Vertue to be Received: we must therefore in all things affect Vehemently, imagine, hope & beleeve Strongly, for that is the greatest helpe, & Conduceth wholy to the Assistance of the Operator; it is a Verified Maxime amongst physitians, that a strong beleife, And an undoubted hope & love, towards the physitian and Medicine, doth conduce much to health, yea sometymes more than the Medicine it selfe; for the same that ye Efficacy & Vertue of the Medicine works, the same doth the strong imagination of the Physitian work, being able to change the Qualityes in the Bodyes of the sick; Especially when the patient placeth much Confidence in him.

13. [illegible] invocate, any Celestiall Angels [illegible] workes [illegible] & rightly [illegible] what belongs to you, shall hardly [illegible] nor any successfull Effect from you

14 [illegible] ing of Divine things works so with others minds, that good spirits obey us willingly, & Communicate their Vertue and power to us; Daily Illuminating & inspiring us with all wisdome, by Daily working & acting upon our Intellect, framing & making us by their Influences, like Images most like to them selves. Even

Even so far, as that we at some times have the appearance of Good Angels unto us, and familiar Converse with them; Whereby we both Contemplate Divine things, & work wonderfull operations to gods glory and the use of man: faith assisting and the Capacity Comprehending: &c:

15) All Evill Spirits are over~~throne~~com by us, through the Assistance of the good, being invocated by Divine and Supernaturall powers, & miracles & Sacred Historyes, and by breathing forth Venerable names and words, wth a devout speech: Now by the power and Efficacy of such Conjurations they are Subjected, bound and Allayed, for they Cannot Endure them; whereby they are Enforced presently to yeild unto us, and forthwith to Depart out of those bodyes or places, which they possesse or inhabit:

16 Vertue is no Vertue, unlesse it have some like in Ruling whereof it may shew and Exercise its power; for as Victory Cannot Stand without Vertue, so neither can Vertue subsist without an Enemy, wth Vertue [illegible] had the Almighty Endowed Man withall, but he forthwith Added [illegible] that Vertue [illegible] its nature, being [illegible] so that [illegible] materiall perfection of things, [illegible] And likewise that no small [illegible] and buildeth up his salvation, wth a Continued [illegible] & Contention &c:

17 The [illegible]

[illegible]

To the Superiour intellect, is alwayes tending to Good; the which intellect doth indeed, alwayes shew a pathway to ye will, as a Candel to the Eye; But it moves not it selfe, but is the ~~mistriswill~~ Mistris of her own operation; from Whence it is Called free will: And though it always tends to Good, as an Object Suitable to it selfe, yet some times being blinded with Errour, the Animall power forceing it, it ~~[illegible]~~ chose the Evill, beleeving it to be Good: Therefore will is Defined to be a facultye of the Intellect, whereby Good is Chosen by the helpe of Grace, Butt Grace not assisting then is Evill Chosen, Therefore faith, hope, Charity, Love & all ~~infused~~ infused Vertues, is in the Will, as the first mover, which being absent the whole Consent falls into Dissonancy.

10] These who onely trust on the Course of nature onely, and the power and Labour of Inferiour things, thinking thereby to attaine Divine things, and there who faine to raise a foot in the Heavens, Doe Endeavour to receive those things from ye favour of the Heavens, which ought to be Received from God alone; Doe Erre in there judgement, and Labour in Vaine: for these inferiours (as bodyes, stones, Elements &c) have their power [illegible] the Heavens, the Heavens from Intelligences, and the Intelligences from God, in whome all things preexist in the greatest perfection; in the little world Man, there is not a member which hath not Correspondence with some Intelligence, Element, plant, &c; and in some Measure & numeration in the Archetype &c. -

19] [illegible] Soul hath a fourfold operation; first Divine, by the Image of the Divine propriety, the Second Intellectuall, by formality of participation With the Intelligences, the third Rationall, by the perfection of its proper Essentiall Essence, The fourth Animall or naturall, by Communion with the body and these inferiour things; So yt there is no work in this whole world so Admirable, Excellent & wonderfull, which the Soul of Man being Associated to the Image of Divinity, Cannot accomplish by its one power, without any Externall help: Therefore the form of all Magicall power, is from ye Soul of man, Standing & not falling. ——— (C)

It is not further to be observed, that There is nothing of such transcending Vertues, which being Distitute of Divine Assistance, is Content with the Nature of it selfe; therefore all things are full of God, for that all inferiour bodyes are Exemplifyed by the superiour Ideas.

[illegible] B. Souls or Minds, [illegible] simple, pure, immutable, Indivisible [illegible] Nor the Nature of all Ideas the same.

[illegible] by way of Causes, & they are [illegible] amongst them [illegible], by some Relation or Consideration [illegible] What [illegible] in the world should [illegible] things without any thing [illegible] that they [illegible] Essence, [illegible] would be a Compound Substance.

very

Very intelligible it selfe (that is) in the Soul of the world, Differing yt one from the other by absolute formes: But not that all the Ideas in God are but one form, but in the soul of the world they are many.

[illegible] placed in the minds of all other things, whether they be joyned to ye body, or Seperated from the body; by a Certaine participation, & by Degrees are Distinguished more & more.

[illegible] placed in nature, as Certaine small seeds of formes, infused by the Ideas ——— [illegible], they are placed in matter, as shadows.

[illegible] say that their are many Seminall formes of things, in the Soul of the world, as Ideas in the mind of God, by which formes, she Did in the Heavens above the stars, frame to herselfe Shapes also, and stamped upon all these some properties.

[illegible] shapes and properties, for the Vertues & properties of all inferior species depend, so yt every species hath its Celestiall shape or figure, that is suitable to it, from which proceeds a wonderfull power of operating, which proper gift it receives from its own Idea, through the ~~feminall~~ seminall formes of the Soul of the world. ——— ———

[illegible] of Ideas, [illegible] yt Causes of [illegible] Vertues [illegible] species, for the properties [illegible] the nature of things are [illegible] by Certaine ~~[illegible]~~ Vertues (vizt) are the operations of the Ideas, (vizt) such as have a Certaine & sure foundation foundation, not fortuitous, or Casuall, but Efficatious, powerfull & Sufficient Doing nothing in Vain ———

[illegible] Vertues [illegible] err in their actings, but by accident (vizt) by reason of the impurity or inequality of the Matter; so yt upon this account, there are found things of the same species, more or Lesse powerfull according to ye purity or indisposition of the matter (for all Celestiall Influences may be hindred by the indisposition & insufficiency of the matter) whence the proverb, yt Celestiall Vertues were infused according to the Desert of ye matter. —

[illegible] things, [illegible] there is Lesse of the Idea of the matter (vis) such things which have a greater Resemblance of things seperated, have more powerfull Vertues in operation, being like to ye operation of a — Seperated Idea ———

[illegible] plainly [illegible], that the situation of Celestials, is the Cause of all those Excellent Vertues that are in inferiour species —

[illegible] of all Vertues, and the marvelous Disposer of all things, [illegible] from that [illegible] the seal of the Ideas to his servants, the blessed Intelligences, who as faithfull officers signe ~~sig~~ all things intrusted to ym, with an Ideal Vertue, the Heavens & stars as Instruments, Disposing the matter in the meantime for Receiving those formes which Reside in Divine Majesty, & to be conveyed by stars, And the Giver of formes Distributes them by the ministery of his Intelligences, which he has set as Rulers & Controllers over his works, to whome such power is intrusted in things Committed to ym, that so the Vertues & operations of all things all things, as Hearbs Mettals Stones &c: may Come from the governing Intelli=gences immediately from the first Idea, & next from ye Configurations of the Heavens, Disposing, & Lastly from ye Tempers of the Elements Disposed, Answering to the Celestiall Influences, by which the Elements themselves are Disposed & ordered.

Now these kinds of operations are performed in these inferiour things, by Expresse forms, in the Heavens by Disposing Vertues, in the Intelli=gences by mediating Rules, and in the Originall Cause by Ideas & Exemplary formes.

All [illegible] must of necessity agree in the Execution of the Effect & Vertue of Every thing.

[illegible] there is a wonderfull Vertue, operation and Effect in Vegetables, Stones Mettals &c: yet it is greater in the Stars, beyond wch from the governing intelligences, every thing receiveth & obtaines [illegible] many things, especially from ye supream Cause, with whom all things doe Exactly & mutually Correspond.

[illegible], that there is no other Cause of the Necessity of Effects, than the Connexion of all things with the first Cause, and their Correspon-dency with those Divine patterns, & Eternall Ideas, whence every thing hath its Determinate and particular place in the Exemplary world, from whence it lives & Receives its particular being Originally, & Every Vertue of Herbs, Stones, Metals, Animals, words, & speeches, and all things that are of God are placed there.

[illegible] which is God, although he doth by Intelligences and ye Heavens, work upon these inferiour things, yet some times he workes those things Immediately by him selfe, which are Miraculous.

And [illegible] as Secondary Causes (called handmaids) doe by the Comand & appointment of the first Cause necessarily act, and are necessitated to produce their Effects, yet if God shall notwithstanding according to his pleasure, so Discharge & Suspend ym, that they shall wholy Desist from ye necessity of that Comand & appointment, then they are Called ye Greatest Miracles of God, as is abundantly Manifested in holy Scripture but for brevity sake here omitted, &c: (E)

Of Angels
& Spirits

A [illegible] of the names, natures, orders, offices, Degrees & Hierarchyes, Mantions & other Distinctions of the sacred Celestiall Angells, or Blessed Intelligences, & other Angellicall powers Celestially Dignifyed, both of the Air & other Elements, together with a summary of the Elementary powers or spirits, both of Light & Darkness, Residing in the four Elements, fire, Air, Earth & water, And the four Angels or Kings of the Compass East, West, North & South; And other wandring spirits both Elementall & Infernall, & other observations worthy of note:

[illegible] is an Intelligible substance, free from all grosse & putrified masse, of a body immortall, Assisting, having influence over all, & in the beginning of the Creation, were Created of the most pure

Pure & Superiour part of the Ayre, whereby they Cannot be Disolved by Death, in regard yt Element, which is more Active then passive; is predominate in them, being more fitt to act then to suffer.

Now the Bodyes of the Celestiall & Sublime Angels, are Nourished of the most pure, Ethriall, Element, & are not Rashly to be seen of any (unless they be sent from God) being woven & joyned together (as it were) of such bright & splendent threeds, & so small, that they transmit all the Rayes of our sight by their fineness, & Reverberate by their splendor, & Deceive by their subtilty; the wch angels, because their Bodyes have not so much fire as that they are Conspicuous, nor so much Earth that ye Solidity of them Resists the touch, their whole Composure being Made up of the # Clearness & moysture of the Ayre, hath joyned together an Indis=soluable Superficies.

ambient Air & the diaphanity & humidity thereof.

Art [illegible] Confirmation, those Bodyes were pre=served in the good Angels, But it was Changed in the Evill, by Reason of their fall, [illegible] Quality of [illegible] which Ayr [illegible] might be Rend=ered capable of torment [illegible] ~~of~~ spirits, is not without Bodyes [illegible] the Bodyes of good Angels & Evill spirits, is not the same &c.

[illegible] as though they were subject to the Influence of the stars, but as they have a Correspondence with [illegible] whereby all things are Directed, & from which all things ought to be Conformable. And as the governing Angels are appointed for & set over Divers starrs, so

So Likewise Divers places & times; not that they are Limited by time or place, nor by those bodyes, over which they are appointed to goovern, But the Divine Wisdome hath so ordered & Decreed, that they should patronize, & more favor those bodyes, Stars, times & places, over which they Regulate, & to Execute & fullfill the will & Commandement of God, According to their severall & Respective Offices, as Divine Dispensation shall appoint &c.

The [illegible] of the world, distitute of the proper assistance, Care, keeping or attendance of the Celestiall Angels, & they send Down their Influences through the Celestiall spheres, & planets, to ye place or persons sublunary, & doe Especially operate, according to their severall & Respective Regulations [illegible] of Angells Suffereth neither Change nor End, for they are immutable & Divine, & are Swift Messengers to Execute the Comands of the Highest at his Divine pleasure & appointment.

There are nine orders, or Hierarchies, of the Cælestiall Angels or Blessed Intelligences, Residing in the nine Mansions planatary Orbs, or sphears of the Heavens thus nominated; first the Order of Angells in the sphear of the moon, who performe the office of Messengers; secondly Archangells, in the sphear of the planet Mercury, who execute the great messages; thirdly Principalityes, in the sphear of the planet Venus, who Rule over others; fourthly Vertues, in the sphear of the Sunne, by whom signes & Miracles are wrought; fifthly potestates, in the sphear of the planet Mars, who do Restraine the Devills; sixthly Dominations, in the sphear of the planet Jupiter, who doe Excell orders; seventhly thrones, in the sphear of the planet Saturne; —— whereon God sitteth.— Eightly Cherubim, in the Orb or sphear of Heaven, Called the starry firmament; who being full of Knowledge, Do teach.— Ninthly— Seraphim in the Orb or sphear Called the primum Mobile, or first Moveable Heaven; &c:——

As there are Nine Orders, or Hierarchyes of sacred Cælestiall Angels or Blessed Intelligences, soe there are nine Orders of wicked or infernall spirits, Called Devills or spirits of Darkness; who are said to inhabit or have Residence in the infernall worlds, thus nominated: first Tempters & Ensnarers: secondly, Sifters, Tryers or Accusers Inquisitors:— thirdly furyes, the seminaries of Evill:— fourthly Ayeriall powers:— fifthly Juglers or Deluders— Sixthly, Revengers of wickedness. Seaventhly. Vessels of Iniquity:— Eightly— Lying spirits— Ninthly faulse Gods.

As touching the Appearances of those Glorious Seraphick Creatures, the Cælestiall & good Angels, & other Cælestially Dignifyed powers of Light, severall are the opinions of some Authors, & especially of Johannes Trithemius the learned Abbot of Spanheim in his polygraph who saith that never any good Angel was ~~made~~ read of, to have appeared in the forme of a woman; which assertion is denyed by Answered by a Divine, & an Angelicall Verity, thus Rationally Constructed Distinguished & Argued as followeth:——

[illegible] Angels, [illegible] are incomprehensible to those that are their inferiours, for the higher order is incomparable unto God by degrees, nor that are their inferiours, are also incomparable unto them [illegible] that in Respect of that Degree in Angels, things are incomprehensible:——

[illegible] neither are man nor woman, therefore they doe take forms (not according to any proportion in imagination but) according to the Discreet & appliable will both of him, & of the thing wherein they are Administrators; for they are all spirits Ministring the will of God, & unto whome unto every thing within the Compass of nature & the use of man, it followeth therefore, Considering that they Minister not of their selves, that they should minister in yt Unsearchable form, within the wch their Executions are Limited

Now if Trithemius or any other Can Say, that ye woman also hath not the spirit of God, being formed & fashioned of the self same matter (notwithstanding in a Contrary proportion by a Degree) If Trithemius or any other, Can seperate the Dignity of ye Soul of woman from the Excellency of man, but according to ye forme of the matter, then [illegible] his argument be good

But [illegible] Man & woman there is proportion, & preparation of Sanctification in Eternity alike, therefore may those wch are the eternall Ministers of God in proportion to sanctification, take unto them the bodys of [illegible] in Respect of ye form) for as in [illegible] Heaven, so in earth you find one & ye selfe same Dignity, in [illegible] matter alone

Now Trithemius [illegible] in Respect of the filthiness ([illegible] filthiness) wherewith all women are Stained, they Reason [illegible] the naturall Philosophers, [illegible] of [illegible] thence of hence who is the worker [illegible] a supernaturall Master, He (I say) Concluded the naturall [illegible]

In

[illegible] as aforesaid & the Opinion of Trithemius or any other naturall Conclusion is thus Answered; they are all beams of that wisdome, which is the Crown of mans Excellency And if Trithemius or any other naturall Philosopher, doth but seriously & well Observe; they shall find that true wisdome is always painted in a womans Garment, for then the purity of a Virgin, nothing is more Commendable.

A Breife Summary of severall orders & Hierarchyes of Some particular Angells & Spirits

[illegible] ~~God~~ in his admirable & great Work of the Creation, hath in his Infinite Wisdome Ordained the Heavens, as next under the Sacred throne of his Omnipotent Majesty, to Containe the mansions & Residing places of his holy ministring Angels & Celestiall Intelligences, wherein are many Orbicular spheares from his mighty seat, to the fiery Region in wch he hath (according to the Omnipotent decree of the sacred Deity, in the unity of the Blessed trinity [illegible] before the foundation of the world) [illegible] all Hierarchyes of glorious Angels both of [illegible] Orders, [illegible] in the [illegible] Orbs more superior, & the [illegible] four ~~Angels~~ Angels of the Heavens East west north & south, Certain Intelligences or Celestiall Angels, of [illegible] offices, [illegible] is good, & also Certain Spirits to [illegible] evill, [illegible] of the [illegible] of Darkness, of severall offices [illegible] subservient Angels & spirits, who [illegible] the [illegible] & [illegible] ye will

Will of the most high God, both as to mercy & justice, on whom soever & whatsoever he is, or shall be pleased to Comand them. the mighty God hath also Constituted & appointed a particular & Regal Angel to Govern Hylick, which is the matter of four Elements, or of which the Elements was in his Great Wisdome & marvelous Workmanship, onely Composed & made: Under whome are also many Subjects, And who hath Likewise Ordained Angelicall princes or Governours of the four Elements & ministers under them, And also hath Divided the Cælestiall Girdle of the Zodiack, into Eight & twenty ~~angels~~ Angles or parts, which are known to & Called by the Sons of men, the so many Mansions of ye moon, And Constituted so many providentiall Angels therein &c: And who hath againe Divided the Heavens into Eight & forty ~~Angels~~ Angles or parts, Eighteen whereof are Superiours & Cælestiall, & the Other thirty more inferiour & Airoriall; whose Mansions are not alike, nor powers equal, for that he hath Miraculously placed Eighteen Divisions above the fiery Region in the Heavens, to be ye Mansions & Residences of those glorious Angels, who by Divine institution are primarily Ordained to be princes & Ministers of government, over all such superiour Earthly Matters, as in their several & Respective Offices they are Constituted & Appointed, the Other thirty Inferiour Ayreall Angells are of Divisions, & remain Originally Seated, & amongst the Wonderfull works of the Creation Orderly placed, one above another, from the Earth to the fiery Region, in the Highest part part of the Air, where in are Located ninty one Angelicall princes or Spirituall governors, & many other Subservient Angels under them, who are spirits of the Air, not Rejected but Dignified; And who are governed by the twelve Angels of the twelve tribes: which twelve Angels are againe governed, by the Seven Mighty Angels, which Stand before the Most High and holy throne, in unspeakable presence, as Dispositors of the Heavenly Decrees, preordinately Determined, who transmits the Divine will & pleasure of the Highest, unto the twelve tribe~~ary~~ Angels, & who againe Distributeth & passeth the same unto the ninty one Ayeriall princes, unto whome the Governments of the Earth is by Divine Determination Delivered, in its severall primitive Divisions & Limited ~~proportations~~ proportions, & whose offices are by Superiour Appointments & Commands, Sent forth or Emitted & given to ym, to bring in, & againe Dispose of Terrestiall governors & governments, to vary the natures of things, with the variation of every moment, & to execute the providence of the Eternall judgment of God is already pointed, & who hath also most wisely & in order Distributed the Earth, into four Angles or Quarters, East, West, North & South, & also placed four watch towers, & Constituted a mighty & Royall Angel therein, as King, emperor, governor & principall ruler in each particular watch tower, set over the four & respective Angles of the world, to protect & Defend all mankind from ye Devouring blasphemy, stealth, mischiefe, Malice & temptations, of the wicked & great Enemy [illegible] & just in all things, & Strive to make our Spirit one with God's Spirit, least he againe should look down upon ye Earth, & Say, Let us now goe Down amongst the Sons of men, for we see all things grow Contrary to their nature & Creation; Either keeping their Dignityes & Secret Vertues Shut up in Obscurity, or else Roiotously perishing through the imbecility & frowardness of Ignorance, therefore I Delight not in the world: the Elements are Defiled, the Sons of men wicked, their bodyes become Dunghills, & their Inward parts (the Secret Chambers of their hearts) the Dens & Dungeons of wickedness: therefore I will Draw my Spirit from amongst them, & they shall become more Drunk, & their Ignorance such as never was: no not since ye fall of heavens, for I have tucked up my Garments & am fled away, & shee shall mourne on ye mountains, as a Widdow without comfort ~~&c~~:

(F)

Now it remains to show, how by ye Seven planets (as it were by Instruments) all powers are Diffused into Man, from ye first Cause: & now ye Influences of the Cælestiall Intelligences, are principally Drawn or Descended from ye Superiour powers, or seven Great Angels, who standeth before ye Imperiall throne of the Highest, & what Divine gifts man Receiveth from above, & [illegible] strengthened with excellent and Admirable Vertues, from ye Supreamest Orders in ye Celestiall Hierarchies, &c.

From the Order of [illegible], that he may be a Messenger of ye Divine will, and [illegible] of the mind of God.

[illegible] that he may Rule over the [illegible] of ye world, [illegible] of the [illegible] given him.

[illegible] God [illegible] to him, he [illegible] the powers of all, & Drawing all powers to himselfe by by a Certaine Secret Supercelestiall force & Vertue: ——

From yt Order of Vertues, he Receiveth power, by Vertue whereof he Constantly fighting, is Strengthned against the Enemyes of truth, for the Reward of which, we Run a Race in this Life ——

From the Order of [illegible] States, He Receiveth power & Strength, against the Enemy of this Earthly tabernacle. ——

From the order of Dominations he hath help, whereby he Can Subject any Domestick Enemy, he Carryeth along wth him & Can ~~Sta~~ obtaine his Desired End ——

From the order of Thrones, Men is Knit together, & being Collected together into himselfe, fixeth his Memory on those Eternall Visions.

From the Order of Cherubin he hath the Light of ye mind, ye power of wisdome, Very high phantasies & figures, whereby he is able to Contemplate the Divine things

[illegible] may [illegible] of Love, we may att length [illegible]

Wee have Seen therefore, what Divine gifts, powers & Vertues, man Receiveth from the Celestiall bodyes (that is) the Seven planets, called by the Astrologians the Seven Erraticks or wandring Stars.

From Saturn man Receiveth a Sublime Contemplation, profound understanding, Solidity of Judgment, firm speculation, Stability and an immovable Resolution. ——

From Jupiter An unshaken prudence, temperance, benignity, piety, Modesty, justice, faith, Grace, Religion, Equity & Regality, &c: ——

From Mars, Constant Courage & fortitude, not to be terrified, truth a fervent Desire of Animosity, the power & practice of Acting, and an Inconvertible Vehemency of the mind. ——

From the Son Nobleness, of mind perspicuity of Judgment & Immagination, the nature of Knowledge & opinion, Maturity, Counsell, Zeal, Light of Justice, Reason & judgment to Distinguish Right from wrong, purging Light from ye Darkness of Ignorance, the Glory of truth found out, & Charity the mother & Queen of all Vertues. ——

From Venus A fervent Love, most sweet hope, the Motion of Desire, order, Concupiscence, Beauty, Sweetness, Desire of Increasing & propagation of it selfe:

From Mercury A piercing faith & belief, clear Reasoning, the Vigour of interpreting & pronouncing, gravity of Speech, Acuteness of ~~will~~ will, Discourse of Reason & the swift motion of the ~~[illegible]~~ Sences. ——

From the Moon, a peace making Consonancy, fecundity, the power of generating & growing, [illegible] of Increasing & Decreasing; A Moderate Temperance & faith, which being Conversant in Manifest & occult things, yeildeth Direction to all, [illegible] Motion to the tilling of ye Earth, for the manner of Life, & giving growth to it selfe & Others, These [illegible] Influences of the [illegible] or planets, are principally Drawn from the Superiour Angelicall powers, & Celestiall intelligent Angels, as Afforesaid, Disposing the Soul of man, which is the seat of those Vertues

The planets Dispose the body only, giving it a tractable Com=plection, proportionated & tempered for every Good thing they being the instruments of the Intelligences; but God (as ye primary Cause) Doth yeild both influence & increase to all. Wherefore, if the soul work well in this body, it Returneth to that Divine power & mansion, from whence it Descended. These are the Degrees, or Ladders by wch men Doe easily ascend, to all kinds of powers, by a Certaine naturall Connexion, according to ye Divers Dispositions of the body Premised, by ye favour of the stars in Disposing of the body, & the intelligences Ruling therein, the [illegible] of which, the soul in its Descent, [illegible] on the Supreme power of the Creator favouring, without whose Divine grace & benevolence permitting, no good thing can be effected.

We are nextly to show forth, how their benevolent Influences are Depraved, in these inferiour things, & to observe ye Causes of Evill [illegible] & Vertue is from above, from God, the Intelligences, and Stars, who can neither Err, nor Do Evill; it followeth, that all Evill, & discord is found Dissonant & Disagreeing in these inferiour things, proceedeth, not from any Malignity of the influence, but from ye Evill Disposition of the Receiver.

[illegible] perverse [illegible] itself, receives the influences of the perverse, or its Debility Cannot Endure the Efficacy of ye Superiours, then by the Heavenly influences thus received into a Matter full of Discords, Somewhat Dissonant Deformed & Evill proceeds.

For the Celestiall powers, always remain Good, which while they Exist in themselves, & from ye Giver of Light; have their influence by ye holy intelligences & the Heavens.

[illegible] (as I said) in the first Degree, that it Cometh [illegible] in a evil subject, it is also vilified, then [illegible] the Receiver after [illegible] ye Qualities Disagreeing in the same subject, amongst them [illegible] & patiently Suffereth, in the subject from [illegible] the Superiours [illegible], Doth [illegible] the [illegible] Qualities in these inferiours, is far Different from ye influx of the Heavens; for as [illegible] Impressions and and Condignityes, is not to be imputed to ye judge, butt to the Evill Disposed Malefactor; So neither is the faults of wicked ones, to be Cast on the Cælestiall Influences.

[illegible] that we being well Disposed, the Cælestiall Influences Co=operate all things, for Good; but we being Evill Disposed, & having ye Divine Good which was in us, through our Sins & wickednesse, Departed from us, all things work for Evill: therefore the Cause of all our Evills is Sin, which is the Disorder & Distemper of the Soul.

We thus falling Down, & Declining from what the Cælestiall Influences Require, all things Rebell, are Distempered & work together for our Distruction.

Then in Mans Body (being Otherwise most temperate, & Composed with most sweet harmony) the Distemper of the Elements beginneth, Evill humours Ariseth, & the good being Disordered & Severed from one another, [illegible] Distempers worketh [illegible] to torment the body.

[illegible]

[illegible] Meat, [illegible] humours [illegible] infirmity, [illegible] [illegible] the [illegible] [illegible] evill [illegible]

[illegible] Evill to us, [illegible] the [illegible] Evill Dispose[illegible] Eyes

[illegible] Tediousnesse, Anguish, Melancholly, Madnesse, Sadnesse, Obstinacy, Rigidnesse, Blasphemy, Disperation, Lying, Apparitions, Affrightments, Walkings of the Dead, Stirrings of Devills, &c:

Jupiter Sendeth Down Covetousness, Tyrany & Evill Ocations to get Wealth, [illegible] prophane Arrogancy, furious wrath, Violent boldness, fierce Stubbernesse, &c:

Sol [illegible] Imperious pride, & in Satiable Ambition &c:

[illegible] Lacivious Loves & filthy Lusts, &c

[illegible] Cozenages, Deceits, Lyes, Subtle ~~[illegible]~~ desires of Evill propensity to Sin.

Luna, the inconstant progresse of all things, & whatsoever is Contrary to Mans Nature &c:

[illegible] Man receiveth hurt, by Reason of his Unlikness with heavenly things, [illegible] [illegible] influences [illegible] of [illegible] to men [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] to Evill [illegible] from the [illegible] [illegible] Knowing (he fore knowing their natures) by preventing, takeing heed, & Defending, Least they should meet him, & least an ill Disposed subject should Receive hurt, whence it ought to Reap benefit,

T[illegible] Celesti[illegible] [illegible]: Theologically Constructed, & Divided; together with a breif Discription of the Heavenly [illegible], & other Servient and Assisting Angels &c

The Celesti[illegible] [illegible], or Orders of Angels, (as we Said before) are nine & they are these S[illegible] [illegible], [illegible], [illegible]ations, [illegible], [illegible], [illegible]es, Arc[illegible], Angels: & they are said to be of three Kinds, & so are Divided into three parts; Superiour, Middle, & inferiour

The Superiour Hierarchies, are Seraphim, Cherubim, & thrones, these are Supercelestiall Angels, and are only about God: these Rule not the bodyes of ye World, [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] for the gover[illegible] of inferiour things, But infuse the light [illegible] [illegible] God, unto the inferiour Orders, [illegible] [illegible] them. Corresponding [illegible] [illegible] [illegible], ye [illegible] [illegible] the Order of Divine [illegible] [illegible] the first in the goodness of God, the second in the essence of God (as the form), the third in the wisdom of God.

The Middle [illegible] are Do[illegible], [illegible] [illegible] & [illegible], these [illegible] Conduce to ye government of the world; the first of these [illegible] [illegible] the other [illegible]; the second are ministers [illegible] [illegible], but

And sometimes Conspire to Miraculus Operations: the third Drives away those things that seem to be able to Disturb the Divine Law ——

The inferiour Hierarchies are principallityes, Arch-Angels, & Angels: these as Ministering Spirits, Descend to take Care of inferiour things, & are Called Certaine Invisible powers: for sometimes, they being Visible to none, Doe Direct our jorneys, & all our buisinesses, & are often present att battles, & by secret helps Doe give the Desired Successes to their freinds, for at there pleasure they Can procure prosperity, or inflict adversity: the first of these take Care of publick things, as of princes Magistrates, provinces & Kingdoms, &c: As we read in Daniel, But the princes of the Kingdome of persia withstood me twenty one Days. But Jesus the son of Syrach testifieth, that for every nation a Ruling Angel is Appointed; also Moses in his Song in Deutrenomy [illegible] to [illegible] [illegible], [illegible] the [illegible] [illegible] Divided ye Nations, he app[illegible] [illegible] [illegible] according to ye [illegible] [illegible] God. the second are present [illegible] [illegible], & Dayly [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible], [illegible] the [illegible] [illegible] God: the third Disposeth [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] also [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] Ministring [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] to [illegible] inferiours on Earth are Committed to them to be Disposed of.

[illegible] who are next to God, & Magnifie him incessantly with Continuall hymns & praises, there are Other Orders which are Called the Militia of Heaven. ——

[illegible] is Called the Doctrinall order, of which order was that Angell which spake to Daniel, Saying, Come that I may teach ye what shall Come to thy people in the Last Dayes ——

[illegible] is the Tutelar Order, of which mention is Made in Daniel Saying, behold Michael, one of the princes Cometh to my help, And Els where, in that time shall rise up Michael a great prince, who Standeth for ~~[illegible]~~ the Sons of thy people, & of this Order was Raphael, who Conducted forth, attended & brought back Tobias. ——

[illegible] is the [illegible] Order, of which mention is made in [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] the Angel of the Lord went forth, & [illegible] Assirians, an Hundred & Eighty five thousands.

[illegible] is the [illegible] Order [illegible] ——

[illegible] is the Order of Assistants, of which we Read in Zacharaiah. Saying, these are the two Sons of the Oyl of Splendor, who assist, the Ruler of the whole Earth —— (G)

From hence may be Observed, how the most high God in his unmeasurable wisdom, hath Ordained & Constituted the Orders & offices of the Celestiall Hierarchyes of good Angels, & their government over the stars, & from thence ~~[illegible]~~ over All Sublunary things &c:

[illegible] Celestiall, some Elementall, some Materiall, so[illegible] [illegible] Elementall, so[illegible] Materiall, some Lunary [illegible]

[illegible] both Celestiall, Sensitive, [illegible] Elementall [illegible] Sublunary [illegible]

[illegible] East, so[illegible] West, so[illegible] North, [illegible] South:

so [illegible] earthly; the [illegible] of these [illegible] Compacted according to the four Celestiall powers (See [illegible])

The mind, Reason, Imagination, & the Vivifying & Mooving Nature:.

The Fiery follows the Mind, whence they Concur to the Contemplation of more sublime things &c

The Ayrean followeth the Reason; & favor the Rationall faculty and after a Manner Seperate it from the Sensitive & Vegetative facultyes, & so it Serveth for an Active Life, as the fiery Serveth for a Contemplative.

The Water follows the imagination, & Serves for a Voluptuous Life.

The Earthy follows Nature, & favours Vegetable nature. (H)

Having orderly treated of the Celestiall Hierarchies of good Angels, & of their severall & Respective Quires, Orders, offices, natures, & mutuall Concordances, both amongst themselves [illegible] we shall in ye next place treat of their [illegible] Celestiall, Terrestiall [illegible] & of their [illegible] offices, orders, and Commanders.

[illegible] great [illegible] from goodness, & good from evill, [illegible] Mistress should be, [illegible] good [illegible] to [illegible] Darkness [illegible] spirits as these [illegible]

Sup:

In the Superior or Coelestiall world: Somany Unclean Spirits are there In the inferiour or terrestiall World; And now we shall shew fourth some Severall of the Hierarchies, names, Natures, Orders, offices, Qualityes, Distinctions & ~~Dignations~~ Derivations of the Ayeriall, Terrestiall & infernall Spirits ——

Of the particular Orders of Evil Spirits, or ([illegible]) Devils

As there are nine Orders, or Hierarchies of ~~Goods~~ Angels, So is there also nine Degrees of those that are Evill: & they are as followeth (viz).

The first of which are called ~~[illegible]~~ false gods, whose ~~prince~~ Prince is Belzebub, that is an old god, who said I will ascend above the height of the clouds, and will be like to the most high; who usurping the name of gods, would be worshiped for gods, & require adorations & sacrifices, as that Devil who said to Christ, if thou wilt fall down & worship me, I will give thee [illegible]

The second are called the spirits of lyes, whose prince is the serpent Pytho, these spirits joyne themselves to the Oracles, & deceive men by their Divinations & predictions, to deceive them; of this sort was that spirit who went forth, & was a lying spirit in the mouths of the prophets of Ahab, King [illegible] & to that woman of whome we read in the Gospel, who had pytho in her Belly -

The third are called Vessels of Iniquity, & Vessels of wrath: David Calls y^m Vessels of Death; Isaiah cals them Vessels of fury, Jeremiah calls them Vessels of Wrath, Ezekiel Calls them Vessels of Slaying & Destroying: whose prince is Belial: which is by interpretation, without a yoak, or Disobedient, a prevarication & an Apostate, of Whome S^t paul to the Corinths, Saith, what agreement hath Christ with Belial, these are the inventors of wicked Arts, & of all Evill things, for all wickedness, Malice & Deformity, proceedeth from these &c.:

The fourth order is called Revengers of Evill, whose prince is Asmodeus Causing judgment. ——

The fifth order is called Deluders, whose prince is Sathan, of whome it is written in the Apocalips, that he Seduceth the whole world, Doing great Signes, Causing fire to descend from heaven in the sight of men, seducing the inhabitants of the Earth, by means of the signes that are given him to do, these imitate Miracles, [illegible] & Witches &c & seduce the people by their Miracles, as the serpent seduced Eve &c.

The sixth are called Aeriall powers, whose prince is Meririm, raging in the South, a Boyling spirit, whome S^t paul to the Ephesians calleth ye prince of the power of this Ayre, & the spirit y^t worketh in the children of Disobedience, these joyne themselves to thunderings & lightnings, Corrupting the Ayre, causing pestilences & other evills, amongst whome are ye four Angels four Angels mentioned in the Apocalips, to whome power is given to hurt the Earth & the sea, holding the four winds, from ye four Corners of the Earth — &c:

The seaventh Order is Called furies whose prince is Called in {Greek Apollyon / Hebrew Abaddon} that is Destroying & wasting, these are powers of Evill, Causing Discords, war & Devastations, &c: —

The eighth Order, is Called Accusers or Inquisitors, whose prince is Astaroth, that is a Searcher out, he is Called in Greek Diabolos, that is an accuser or Calumniator, who in the Revelations, is Called the accuser of the Brethren, Accusing them night & Day, before the face of our God. —

The ninth Order is Called, tempters & Ensnarers, whose prince is Mammon, that is Covetousness: one of these spirits is present with every man, which we therefore call, the evill genius.

There [illegible] are other particular spirits, both good & evill, [illegible], of severall degrees, natures & offices, some whereof are According to the four parts, Angles or Divisions of the compass, East, West, North & South, called [illegible] Generall [illegible] spirits of the Ayre, of which are many Legions, some by nature & office, are said to be both good & evill, or particular [illegible] attending [illegible] in fulfilling the sacred will & executing the judgements of the Highest, When Commanded or Appointed

Th[illegible] [illegible] as principall Governors, set Over many other Legions of spirits of Different & Severall Degrees from Superiour to inferiour natures, orders & Qualityes, as Comparitively from great princes, & so gradually to the most inferiour & meanest ~~[illegible]~~ peasante, whose names are as followeth.

East Urieus or Oriens | West paymon | North Egin. | South Amaymon —

According to Other Authentick Denominations they are Called by ye names

Oriens | Panyn | Egin, | Mayrary

But according to the tradition of the Hebrew Rabbins, they are thus nominated

Samuel | Azael | Mahazuel | Azazel

Under whom many other bear Rule as princes, &c: of Legions, & there are of this sort Innumerable spirits of private Offices, as before are Said. — (I) [illegible] Con[illegible], Discourse [illegible] & Inquiries upon the subject touching spirits.

The bod[illegible] [illegible] are bodyes of Good Angels, [illegible] of their [illegible] bodyes [illegible] changed into the Quality [illegible] & Condensed [illegible] Materiall [illegible] shadows, [illegible] & may be [illegible] body yet [illegible] suffers Although it be [illegible] in [illegible]

In Sunder, Yet it Comes together againe, As Ayre & water, butt in ye meane time is much paind.

These Spirits are neither altogether Visible nor Invisible, & Sometimes being Conspicuous, are turned into Divers figures, & assume Similitudes & Shadows sic of Bloodless Images, Drawing the filthiness of a grosse body, And by reason of there Affinity with Earth & water, are also taken wth terrestiall pleasures & Lusts, of which Sorts are Hobgoblins, Incubus & Succubus &c: —

None of these are Supposed to be male or female, Seeing this Difference of Sex belongs to Compounds, butt their Bodyes are Simple, neither 1 Can any of them turn them selves into all Shapes at their pleasure, Except those that are fiery & Ayery, & unto those Kinds it is Easie to Change them selves into what Shapes their Imagination Conceives.

sic, As for Subterranean, & Dark Spirits, because their Nature is Concluded in the streights of a thick & unmoveable body, they cannot make those Diversity of Shapes as others Can.

But the watry, & such as live upon the Moist Superficies of ye

- Earth, by Reason of the Moisture of the Element, are for the most part Like unto Women, of which Kind are the Fayries of the Rivers, & ye Nymphs of the Woods.

Those Spirits which inhabit Dry places &c:

Those Spirits which inhabit Dry places, being of Dryer Bodyes, Shew themselves In formes of men, Such are those wch are Called Onoscoeli, or Satyrs, wth Asses Legs, or fauni & Incubi, of which there were Very many (as is Certainely & by Experience Known) & that often-times, Some of ym Did Desire, & made Compacts wth Women to Lye wth them: &c:

There are also a Certaine Kind of Spirits, not So noxious, offencive, hurtfull, Noysome, or Displeasing, butt most near to Men, & are affected wth humane passions, Delighting much in Mans Society, & Doe Willingly Dwell wth him.

Some also there are, which often meet poore men, Women & Children, but they are affraid of & fly from men of Constant, Credulus & undaunted minds and Resolutions; And to Good & pure men they are no way offencive, but to men yt are wicked & impure they are Very noxious & hurtfull.

Some Likewise there are who Dote upon Women, Some upon Children, Some there are that are Delighted in the Company of Divers Domestick & Wild Animals, Some in Desert Woods & Parks, Some Dwell about fountaines & Meddows (in multis alijs) but for Brevity Sake, ~~we have~~ wee have inserted a History to the following, Describing Breefly the names of most of those Kinds of terrestiall Spirits, Fayryes, Elphs, Goblins, or what names else they may be Called; together with what places and things they Doe inhabit, Delight, & Dwell in.

Fairies, Hobgoblins, Elfes in Champion fields ——————

Naiades — — — — — Fountaines ——————

Potamides — — — — — Rivers — —

Nymphes — — — — — Marches & ponds —

Oreades — — — — — — Mountaines — —

Humides — — — — — — Meddows — — —

Dryades & Hamadryades — — Woods

Satyri & Sylvani — — — Trees Brakes & Bushes —

Napeae & Agaptae — — — Flowers — — —

Paleae & Feniliae — — — Fodder & the Country —

There are Likewise Certaine things Vulgarly Called Gnomi, or inhabiters of the mountaines, but of some improperly Sylphes, or Pygmies, or halfe ~~me~~ Min and improperly by Reason that some credible Testimonialls do make this Distinction, calling the gnomi Spirits of the earth, Sylphes spirits of the Ayre, Sala-mandry spirits of the fire, & the Nimphes spirits of the water. These (viz Gnomi) are not properly said to be spirits but Like spirits. And if we shall call them spirits, then Ought they to be called Earthly Spirits, because they have their Habitation in Mines & such Like places, where treasures or other things are hid and and Obscured or Lost under the Earth, or Rather in the Bowels thereof: and also under those Mountaines, where there is plenty of Goold & Silver, & other the Like places, Mineralls & things, Conducing to the same end & purpose; wherefore they are said to be possessed with all temporall things, and are much Delighted therewith, & Do take the Care & Custody thereof, & will not willingly Depart therefrom.

Men that work in Mines & Dig Mettals, have great knowledge of these spirits, for some times they Do trouble, Molest, Vex & much persecute the Labourious Diggers, with blows & stripes, And at other times they are benevolent & friendly to them, & will work for Wages, &c: And at other times admonis-hing them & warning them of Dangers & Death, as when they are heard once, twice, thrice, or oftener to knock or strike, in the same place: Which foretells the Death of him that diggeth or laboureth there, if he heareth not the warning, or [illegible] by the fall of the Mountaine, or poisoned by some other the Like Accident, All which is said to be true, as hath been Certainly attested, by ye Experience & knowledge of those that Doe Dig in Mines, & search in ye Bowells of the earth for such of natures bounty as is there to be gotten.

These [illegible] although they are Little by nature, Yet they Can appear as big & great, or in what other Stature or Corporature they please unto Men, & either fair, Deformed, Rich or poor to our Imagination.

[illegible] Knowing in all arts that are or Can be found out, In all the Light of nature, & Containe the Knowledge & understanding of them all within themselves. It is said that they, as well as ye Gnomi, have many Mines of all Sorts of Mettals, & great Store of treasures hid in the Earth &c: Under their power & Custody, And Many times they Doe afford great benefit (in severall Respects) to Mankind &c:

The nature of these [illegible] or Elphs is, they are affected with ~~and~~ Love [illegible] that [illegible] they [illegible] Know [illegible] in a great measure, [illegible] It comes to pass that [illegible] to us, if we Rightly understand the Rules thereof.

Of this [illegible] Creatures are Likewise those which are Commonly Called Fairies, of which they are [illegible] sisters thus nominated

Lillia	Restilia	Fora	Tolla	Affrica	Julia	Venulla

It is Credibly Reported that in antient times ~~that~~ many of these ~~Affi~~ aforesaid gnomes, Fairies Elphs & other terrestiall & wandering Spirits have been seen & heard amongst Men, but now it is Said & believed that they are not So frequent; yet it is Certainely averred & Creditably Reported, that some of them have been Discovered & seen, but here we shall Acquiesce touching the Differences of there not appearing, or being not so Conversant with and amongst Men so frequently in Latter times, as they are Said Usualy to Doe in Antient times; by Reason the Cause thereof may be very easily Conjectured, by the Meanest Capacity. (K)

Magicall [illegible]

The [illegible] both of Good Angels & Evil spirits, are Sought to be [illegible], by Reason they are the [illegible] of Such appearances, & [illegible] knowing the Differences thereof, which is a matter of material Consequence, as hereafter shall be [illegible] shewed forth. +

[illegible] Elementall [illegible] of Light, [illegible] good Spirits of a [illegible] of [illegible] nature [illegible] Celestiall powers, and obeyed to the [illegible] & [illegible] and Called four

forth to Visible appearance (in a Christall Stone or glass) as one usuall way or Customary forme is amongst the Learned Magicians, then the signe or teste of there appearance most seemeth Like as a Vaile or Curtaine of some ~~Beauti~~ Beautifull ~~ifull~~ Colour, hanging in or about the stone, or glasse, as a bright Cloude or other pretty Kinds of Heroglifficall shew, both strange & yet very delightfull to beholde: it is therefore to be Remembered, that the Magicall Sophy ought to have for this purpose a Christall stone, of a round Globick forme, very Cleare & transparent, or other stone of the Like Diaphanity, or Ball of Clear & Solid Glasse, or thick hollow glasse, with a Little hole on the top of Like forme, of any Convenient bigness or Diameter, According as Can Reasonably be obtained or made, & the stone to be set or fastened in a frame, & also the glasses to be made with a ~~Staulk~~ Stalk or shank fixed there to, & so to be put in a socket with a foot or pedestall to stand upright; the stone being called by ye name of a shew stone, & the glasses by ye name [illegible] or glasse Receptacles, & in practise or Action, upon invocation or motion [illegible] for spirituall appearance, there shall either be a wax Candle [illegible] side thereof or a Lamp behind the same burning During the time of Action, set on a table ~~afient~~ a part fitted & furnished for this purpose [illegible] Appearance (as aforesaid) be moved for by invocation, out of the shew stone or glass Receptacles, or if yet notwithstanding Appearances happen to Shew themselves out of them, yet the signes of there appearances will be very Delectable, & pleasant, though various and amusing the senses to behold, as a shining brightness or sudden flashes, or such like similitudes very splendid in shew, all about, or in the place where action is made or appearance is moved. When invocation is made to any of the Celestiall powers, or other Dignified Elementall Spirits of Light, & appearance accordingly is presented and visibly sheweth it selfe, either in the shew stone, or Glass Receptacle, or otherwise out of the same; then view the same very well & also take notice of its Corporature, Physiognomy, or features of the face, vestures or garments, Deportment & behaviour, Language, & whatsoever els may be worthy of note; by Reason of making a true Distinction between the appearances of Good Angels or Spirits, & others that are Evill, & of Knowing the same without being Deceived, for although Evill powers or Spirits of Darkness, may be Invocated, moved or Called forth to visible appearance & Constrained [illegible] in such [illegible] upon such [illegible] powers [illegible] nature & office, they may be Commanded to serve; [illegible] Masters, according as [illegible] Dependent, but the Necessity thereof shall be [illegible] & Requisite, but there Actions with them are Different & [illegible] both in time, place & Order, & also the manner of apparation [illegible] by them are Diversly & severally els where here after in order set & shewed forth in its proper place, Therefore ye Sons of Magick Philosophie, give this Caution Saying, Beware that one [illegible] action, operation, or secret in this Art be

be not mixed with another, &c: but let Cœlestiall, Elementall & Infernall Actions, operations, & invocations, be used & kept apart or seperate, according to the Method & manner as are in particular Ascribed, & properly Referred unto each of them; now then Observe ye the Appearance of Cœlestiall & Benevolent Angels, & other Dignified Elementall Spirits, or powers of Light, are to be thus Known or Distinguished from those that are Infernall or Evill powers or Spirits of Darkness, the Good Angels or Dignified powers of Light as afore Said, are in Countenance very fair, beautifull, Affiable & Youthfull, Smiling, Amiable, & Usually of a flaxenish or Gold Coulored haire, & in behavior or gesture very Curteous & freindly, in speech very Gentle Mild, Grave, & Eloquent, Using no Vaine, Idle or Superfluous Language, or Discourse; in there Corporature very handsome, Straite, Comely well favored, & in every Limb most Exactly formall & well Composed; there motions sometimes Interceptable, both in their appearance, Countenance & deporture, & their Garments & Vestures, of what fashion, forme, or Colour soever thereof, are likewise very faire, beautifull or shining, decent and of glorious or strange fashion; yet they are also very splendid, rare & comely to behold; & in short, they are all Cœlestially Glorious in all their Appearances, as they are in ~~continuance~~ Countenance & Corporature most comely, beautifull, Amiable & well Composed, without any of the Least Deformity, either of hairyness in the face or body, or a swarthy Complexion, or any Crookedness, or either an Ill Shaped member of the body, So also is there Garments or Vestures, without spot or blemish, Either of being Ragged, or torne or Stained, or by any wise to be seemingly Durty, or Daubed, with any filthy, Greasy or nasty Soile, & always Imbrace the word Mercy. When the appearance of any Cœlestiall Angels, or Angellical powers of Light, or Dignified Elementall Spirits are Visibly Shewed forth, & by good testimony or Diligent Observation well Known to be So; then with Dew Reverence given there to, may be Said as followeth Wellcome be the Light of the Highest, & wellcome be the messagers of Divine Grace & mercy unto us, the true Servants & worshipers of the Same yor God, whose name be Glorifyed both now & for Evermore.

And if the appearance be of God, then it will Stay, but if not, it will Immediately Vanish, or flee hastyly away, at the Rehersing of ye word Mercy. But if any Evill power shall appear in the place or Stead of that which is Good, & impudently withstand any speciall, then Vanquish It as in this Case Evill spirits are to be Dealt withall, in manner & forme as here after is inserted in its place; by Reason those powers or Spirits who are by nature Evill, & so are Contrary to them by nature Good, may not be Dealt with all in those actions or operations, nor those powers of Light, by nature Good, to be moved in Reference to that Otherwise properly appertaineth or Belongeth by nature & offices to ye Evill powers of Spirits of Darkness, more then as for their Assistance

Assistance, & so accordingly for Deliverance from any Violent Surprizall, assaults, or Illusions, or other infernall temptations or Envious attempts &c:

Here then if by these Observations, the Expected appearance is understood & found to be Celestiall & of Good, or to be Dignified Elementall spirits or powers of Light, & so likewise of Good, as accordingly was invocated, moved & Called forth by name, order & office, to such appearances (Say thus)

Are ye the same, whome we have moved & Called forth to Visible appearance here before us at this time, by the name of N: or who Else are ye; & of what order, or what is Els ye name, that we may be note of ye; Either as yu may be Rankked in order, amongst the blessed Angels, or otherways Known or Called by of any Mortall man; if you be of Celestiall or Elementall Verity, & so of Charity, yu canot Mislike of or deny these our sayings ———

Then if it [illegible] [illegible] peradventure it may then Make Reply according as the Nature of the Discourse requireth, but if it Maketh no answer, then repeat the words afforesaid, ye the [illegible] &c: Then it will shew forth or write [illegible] [illegible] the which when it is Known by hearing, then it will speake, or otherwise Shew forth, Say then as followeth if yu be N: as yu say, in the name of Jesus, say that all wicked angels are justly Condemned, & that by the mercy of God in the merits of Christ, mankind Elect are to be saved

Whereunto it will then return, a Satisfactory answer or, Els it will Depart & be gon away; then if the appearance be of God, as may be Known by the answer ~~of~~ & the Reasons thereof, that was made or given to the afforesaid proposition, — say as followeth ———

[illegible] servants or Messagers, of Divine grace & mercy, & terrestiall Angels or angellicall powers of Light, or Dignified Elementall Spirits & mediums of Benevolence to mankind, Servants of God, yu both now at this time & allways, are & shall be unto us ~~trusty~~ truly & sincerely wellcome; humbly Desiring yu also to be freindly unto us, & do for us, In whatsoever It shall please god to give by Order & office unto yu, for the better Knowledge & benefit of mankind Living on Earth, & to Make us partakers of true Science & Sapiense, in the Undefiled & secret wisdome of yor Creation ———

[illegible] [illegible] movement be made [illegible] any discourse from hence should arise or proceed hereupon, then both wisdome & Reason must be the principall Conduct in the Management thereof; But if there be Silence, & yt our discourse Ariseth from hence, then begin to make humble request for answer, to such Desires & proposall, as in a Certaine writing is Contained or set out, to be in Readiness wth yu, & then will the effects of such things be undoubtedly with good Success Determined &c:

[illegible] of Evill Spirits, when action or Invocation is otherwise made, for moveing & Calling forth Celestiall Angels or Intelligences, or other Dignified powers or Elementall Spirits of Light, and not Apparent or Visible to be any wayes Discernable, more then their Shapes, formes Gestures, & other like principalls in Appear=ance, quite Contrary behaviour, Language, Clothing or Vestures, to those above Related, & to be Observed of the Good &c: neither are the herein to be Otherwayes judged of them then as intruders, tempters & illuders, on purpose if possible to Deceive, & also to Destroy the preserverance & hopes of Obtaining any Benefit by Celestiall good & mediums; by Reason they are Degraded & Deprived of power, to Send or Shew forth any forgoing Signe of their appearance, in those or Such Superiour Actions, in Vocating Or moveing onely Celestiall or Dig=nified Elementall powers &c to Visible Appearance; & therein to be noe otherwise taken for then notice of, then to be Vanquished & Sent away, as before have been said. Observe then that the Corp[illegible], formes & Shapes of Evill powers or Spirits of Darkness, in their appearance by forceable ~~instructions~~ intrusions of this kind, are easely to be Discovered from the good powers or Spirits of Light, as now shall be Declared as followeth —

Evill powers or Spirits of Darkness, are Ugly Illfavored, & Beastly in Shape & appearance, wherein Observe if they doe appeare in upright

Or humane Stature, then either body, face or Covering are quite Contrary to the other before Specified of the good, for although an Evill or infernall Spirit may appeare in the Likness of an Angel of Light, Especially in the time & place, when Good Angels or Spirits of Light are Invocated, moved & Called forth, forming them selves Very nearly, so Even almost imperceptable to Sight & apprehention, Except Ingeniously Discovered by an accute & Curious observance, and Clearly may be Discerned Quickly, by there Raggedness & Uncleaness of their Garments, & the Difference of there Countenance in beauty & features, & other indecent Composures of the body, Language and behaviour, & the Corporall Deformityes of the Limbs, or beastiall Similitudes, who in Such times do Suddainely make their Appearance, and as Readyly Shew forth Strange motions Gestures, & Speaking Unusuall blasphemous, Rediculous or Different Language, Alltogether Dissonant & Contrary & very Unlike, both in Manner & matter, to that of the Celestiall Angels, & Elementall powers & other Dignified Spirits of light, which also may be Soon Discovered by the Diligence of a sober & Curious Speculator, who notable ~~Infections~~ Intrusions, they make on this account, properly to Destroy, & if possibly, to overthrow the Reason, hope & judgement of ye Invocant, & by great Errours & other Ignorant Mistakes, not onely to Deceive & Confound the more Solid & Genuine

Genuine Knowledge & Capacity of man Laboring herein, but also to Distract the Sences, & thereby Lead the Understanding into a Meander, & therein to weary & tyre us with Varity of Doubts & Disparations, not Knowing how to unRavell this Gordion Knot; or to be Satisefied or Delivered from this hopeless pilgrimage, ~~but~~ by the help of Icarian Wings ——

From hence it may be Understood, that Evill powers or spirits of Darkness, Sooner appear as Impudent Intrudes, in the time of Good action, & in place where invocation is made, for ye moveing & Calling forth of any good Angels, or Dignified Elementall powers, or spirits of Light to Visible Appearance, then at any other time & place, when as unto themselves they shall be Indifferently by order, office & name, invocated, moved & Called forth to Visible appearance for Such their assistance, as by nature & office wherein they are accordingly Serviceable & Suitable to the ocation wherein they are Commanded; therefore in such actions, Method, forme of observations, were to be onely Referred unto those Evill powers or spirits of Darkness, those ocations (we say) are Differently Set apart, & to be Distinguished both in time, place, order & Method forme & Otherwise as aforesaid, & so they may be moved & Called forth Commanded & Constrained & accordingly so Dealt withall & used, as the present Ocation shall Require & the

And the Direction of the Invocant shall find agreeable to their Nature & office; So then, here it is Observable, that Evill Spirits may be invocated & Dealt withall, Differently or apart by ym selves accordingly as aforesaid, but not in Such place or at Such time, as when Action or Motion is made for the appearance of any Cælestiall or other Dignified powers of Light. And here it is to be observed further, that Evill powers or Spirits of Darkness & Other Elementall powers or Deferent spirits, by nature Good as well as Evill & other Wandering Spirits, non Resident in ordrs Certaine of Like nature &c: may be Commanded & Constrained by invocation to Servis & obedience Comparitively as Vile Slaves according as Elsewhere in a particular treatis & invocations properly thereto Referred, with severall Other Appertinent Rules & Observations inserted therein, as Amply & at Large shewed forth, but Cælestiall Angels & other Dignified Elementall powers & spirits of Light, by nature & office wholly Benevolent & good may not be Commanded nor Constrained by any Invocant; they are onely to be moved & called forth by humble intreaties, thereby acquiring favor & friendship ——

Now then if at any time & place, when Action or motion is made, & humbly intreated Earnestly besought, for the appearance of any Cælestiall Angel or Dignified Elementall powers, or other Spirit spirit or spirits of Light, & wicked Intruders should impudently Insinuate, & thrust themselves in place, & would Enforce Credulity into the speculator, &c: ————

And that it shall be plainly Discovered, then shall the master Sophy Dismiss, Discharge & send away & banish them from hence, after this Manner &c: ————

The Vengance of God is a two Edged sword, Cutting Rebellious & wicked spirits of Darkness, & all other Usurping powers in peeces the hand of God is like a strong Oake which when it falleth Breaketh in sunder many shrubs, the Light of his Eyes Expelleth in ~~[illegible]~~ Darkness, & the sweetness of his mouth Keepeth from ~~off~~ Corruption; Blessed are all those unto whome he sheweth mercy & preserveth from temptation & illusions of wicked intruders, Defending them by his mighty power, Under the Cover of Divine Grace, not suffering his humble servants to be Overcome Or overthrowne, by any infernall assaults, now therefore, because ye have come Hither & intruded without Licence, seeking to Entrap & Ensnare, us, & secretly Conspired by these yr subtilltyes, to Deceive & Destroy us & our hopes, In the true meaning of these our sober, innocent, honourable, & Calestiall Actions & operations, we Doe in the great & mighty name, & by ye power the power of the most high God, tryumph Imperially over ye, & by the Vertue, force & Efficacy thereof, be you & ye powers Vanquished & overthrown, & utterly Defaced, & broken, by Vertue of that Cœlestiall power, by Divine grace given to us, & wherewith we are potently Dignified, & as heirs of God's ~~Gods~~ promise (through faith) Continuing Inherent with us, we Doe hereby wholy Deface & over through ye, & ye are totally Vanquished. Therefore we say Depart, & immediately be gone from hence, in peace without Noyse turbulence, injury harme, Violence or Other Danger to us or to this place, or to any other place or person whatsoever, & as ye are of Darkness & the places of Darkness, & have without any Charge or permission Enviously Intruded, seeking thereby to Ensnare, Deceive & overwhelme us, the Divine Judgment & Vengance of the most high God, for this ye Wicked & malicious Conspiracy & Insinuation, to ye Eternall Honour, Praise & Glory, & to ye, so take it to ye, that the malice which ye have shown to us, may turn to ye own Disgrace [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] (I say) Depart thence to ye Orders, & there to remain in the bonds of Confinement, During the pleasure of the Highest. [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] but Rather [illegible] [illegible] then say as followeth:

Spirit or Spirits of Light, & wicked Intruders should impudently Insinuate & thrust themselves in place, & would enforce Credulity into the Speculator, &c: ———

And that it shall be plainly Discovered, then shall the master Sophy Dismiss, Discharge & send away & banish them from hence, ~~after this Manner~~ &c: ———

The Vengeance of God is a two Edged Sword, Cutting Rebellious & wicked spirits of Darkness & all other Usurping powers in peeces, the hand of God is like a strong Oake which when it falleth Breaketh in Sunder many shrubs, the Light of his Eyes Expelleth ~~for~~ in Darkness, & the sweetness of his mouth Keepeth from Corruption; Blessed are all those unto whome he sheweth mercy, & preserveth from temptation & illusions of wicked intruders, Defending them by his mighty power, Under the Cover of Divine Grace, not suffering his humble servants to be Overcome Or Overthrowne by any infernall assaults, now therefore, because ye have come hither & intruded without Licence, seeking to Entrap & Ensnare us, & secretly Conspired by these ye subtilltyes to Deceive & Destroy us & our hopes, In the true meaning of these our sober, innocent, honourable, & Calestiall Actions & operations, we doe in the great & mighty name, & by ye power by the Vertue, power, force & Efficacy whereof, & of all the Royall words & Sentences therein Contained, & also by the great Mighty powerfull & Excellent name of the Most high God Eheia, and his numerall attribute Kether, or otherwise by the truest, & most Especiall name of your God, we the servants also of the highest, reverently here present in his holy feare, Attending his Divine grace Mercy, & good pleasure paternally unto us herein, Do by the strength, & power of our faith hope & Confidence in our God, and our Confirmation in his holy Spirit, Dignifying us with Superiour power & perfection, humbly Entreat, & Earnestly Request & powerfully move you, O you Great Angel, or blessed Intelligences from the Superiour to the Inferiour, in Generall & particular, Every & Each one for and by It selfe respectively by Degrees nature & office, Residing & being in the mansion or ninth Orb, or the first Moveable Heaven & serving the Commands of the Highest, in the Order or Hierarchy of Angels Called Seraphim, move therefore O ye Great & glorious Angel Methratton, or some one or more or either of you, O ye sacred Celestiall Angello of the order of Seraphim, by Degree nature & office & by the Vertue power & Efficacy of all aforesaid, Descend & appear Visibly unto us in this C:S: or G:R:, or otherwise out of the same here before us, as it shall please God, & also you his servants & Celestiall Messengers of Divine Grace & mercy, & to show forth plainly unto us ~~[illegible]~~ a Remarkable signe or token, foregoing your Coming and Appearance, & be freindly unto us & Do for

& Do for us, as for the servants of the highest, Whereunto in his name we do Againe Earnestly Request & move you, both in power & presence, whose friendship unto us herein & workes, shall be a song of honour, & the praise of your God in your Creation, &c:

Some further instructions,

When Invocation & Replycation, thereunto is amply Made according to this Method, & order, & the Celestiall Angel, or Intelligence thereby moved Doth appeare, or any other angel or Intelligence of the same Hierarchy, then marke & observe well the manner, shape, form; Corporall Gesture, Vestments, & foregoing signe thereof, & if in all Symbolicall Likelyhood, & probable Symtoms, the Apparition seemeth to be no lesse, or otherwise Conjectured, then what is from hence to be Expected, although that very Intelligence, which was moved & Called forth by name, Doth not appeare, by Reason it is of the superior Order of the Hierarchy who are not allwayes sent, nor ~~Easily~~ easily go forth, neither are allowed to Visible appearance, but of Especiall grace & Divine pleasure more immediately unto chosen & peculiar Vessels of honour, accordingly Appointed Immediately, ~~by~~ by the holy Ghost to fullfill the Commandes of the highest, but yet some one or other or more ~~[illegible]~~ of the Celestiall powers of the same Order (as aforesaid) More Inferiour in Degree may be moved hereby to Descend &

Appeare

And appear at the Earnest Request of the Sophick Invocant, and to performe whatsoever shall be Requested, according to its nature and office, It cannot be Unknowne to any Discreet Magician, but whensoever any Good Angel or Celestiall intelligence, is moved or Called forth to Visible Appearance, but also that ~~all~~ Evill spirits & infernall powers of Darkness, are Immediately ready to ~~In Croach~~ incroach, & appeare in the Roome or steade of ye Good Angels, wherefore, It behoveth to be very Carefull & greatly Observing thereof, both the Method, & manner, how to Know & Rightly to Distinguish, the appearance of Good Angels or spirits, from those that are evill, & how to Deale with Either of them (that is to say) how to Receive Good Angels in their Appearances, & how to Vanquish & banish Evill spirits when they Intrude, and Enter into place & presence to Deceive & overwhelme us, we have sufficiently & at Large inserted & showed forth, in our Izagogicall preface, before Annexed hereunto, therefore we shall in this place onely show forth a Method of our greeting the Apparition of any Celestiall Angel, or Dignified powers of Light.

When by all the precepts before given, that Apparition is truly Known to be Celestiall, & of Good; then humbly receive it with Ample Submission & Congratulation, Saying as followeth:--

Welcome [illegible] Light of the highest, & welcome be the Messengers of Divine grace & mercy unto us the true servants & worshipers of the same your God, whose name be glorified both now & for Evermore

If the Appearance is perfectly Known, and Understood, & by all Signes & tokens perfectly Known, to be Celestiall or Angelicall powers of Light; then with ~~Dew~~ due & reverent Observance Say as followeth. —

Our Servants or Messagers, of Divine grace & mercy, & Celestiall Angels or Intelligences, powers of Light, or Dignified Elementall Spirits, & Mediums of Benevolence to Mankind, Servants of God, ye both now ~~and~~ at this time, & alwayes are & shall be unto us, truly & Sincerely welcome: humbly Desireing you also to be freindly to us, & Doe for us, in whatsoever It shall please God to give, by yor Order & office unto us, for the better Knowledge & benefit of mankind, living here upon Earth; & to make us partakers of true Science & Sapience, In the Undefiled & Sacred wisdome of yor Creation.

And if any Answer should be made hereupon, or any Discourse from hence should arise, proceed therein, then both wisdome & Reason must be the principall Conduct, in the Management thereof, but if there be silence, that no Discourse ariseth from hence, then begin to make humble Request, for Answer to yor Desires & proposalls; then will the effects of all things, be Undoubtedly with Good Success Determined.

But if there should, any feare Doubt or Misprission, or just Cause of ~~jelousie~~ to be had or made of an Expected Apparition, of any Angel or Intelligence of the Celestiall Orders, or other Elementall powers powers of Light, Celestially Dignified by reason of tedious Delay through non appearance, or Contrary Signes going before, or Deformed Shapes in appearance, or severall such Like Ill Consequences ~~&c~~; or otherwise, if at any time there should appear a spirit, which may be thought is not of God, nor of the Orders moved, that there be any mistrust of it, the which may be easily perceived by its forme, Gesture, Motion & Similitude, & allso by Its Answering, to any Discourse or Questions made, then may be said thus to it as followeth.

In the name of Jesus who art thou (then perhaps it will Say) I am the Servant of God)) (then you may Say) are you Come from God, or art thou sent from him with good tydings or Message &c: (then perhaps it will Say to you, or some such Like words)) (what I am he Knoweth, of whome I bear witness)) (then you may ask its name; Either as it is notified amongst the blessed Angels, or Called by any mortall man, if you be of Divinity, or in Charity, you cannot mislike my speeches)) (then it will tell to you its name, or say nothing at all; but if it Doth tell you his name)) (then you may say to it)) (if you be in the name of Jesus Say that wicked Angels are Justly Condemned, & that by the merits of God in the merits of Christ, Mankind that is to be saved)) (then it will give a Sufficient or Satisfactory Answer, or else It will Disappear, or Vanish & be gone: But if It is understood, or proveth to be of God, & maketh maketh rationall Answers to such questions as are Demanded, then perhaps it will say) (thus much thou hast Required) (then ye may say) (I did see, for so is his Judgment & justice against the Impenitent, & his Mercy to his Elect &c:) ~~[illegible]~~ then ye may aske ye Desires.

We thought Good to instance, thus much for better information & instruction, although a full narrative hereof is amply & at Large Shewed forth, in the foregoing Izagogicall preface, both as to the Knowledge & Receiving of Good Angels or Cælestiall Intelligences, or other Elementall Spirits or powers of Light, Angelically or Cælestially Dignified, And for the Knowledge Vanquishing & Driving away of all Evill spirits, & infernall powers of Darknesse, when any such Appostates shall forcibly Intrude, or make entrance and Appearance instead of Cælestiall or good Angels, or other Dignified Elementall powers of Light, in the time & place of those Actions, purposely to Deceive, Confound & utterly (if possibly) to Destroy the hopes, Expectations & benefits of the Sophick Phylosophers, in their Elaborate Industry, & Care & earnest addresses, unto the Cælestiall Angels, or blessed Intelligences, or Dignified Elementall powers, or other Spirituall Mediums or messengers of Divine light, for the true Knowledge & finding out the use of all Physicall & metaphysicall Arcanums, or Secrets in Superiour

In Superior & profound Misteryes: which Cannot otherwayes be Known or found out, but by the Divine Light & Conduct of Angelicall Ministery, or other spirituall Revelation, & instruction, by such Mediums of Benevolency to Mankind, as through the Divine Grace Mercy & goodness of ye highest, are by nature Order & office, thereunto, preordinately Decreed & appointed.

But as touching, the Insisting any further of this Matter, we think it needless, since it is fully treated, of in the foregoing preface, wch we advise to be well understood, by a due & Serious Consideration; before any progresse, or unadvised proceedings are made herein —

Observe also, that Whereas we have severally & particularly mentioned Cælestiall Angels, or Blessed Intelligences & Elementall powers of Light, & other Dignified spirits of Light, who are by nature & office good, & also freindly & benevolent unto Mankind, & have treated of them in a generall sence, without Materiall Distinction; yet let the grave & Sober Magician take notice, that Consideration be first had, of what Angel, or Intelligence, or what Spirit, & of what Order, & office, he would move or call forth; & so in particular to make Mention thereof accordingly, & not otherwise, whereunto every thing ~~out~~ ought by Order, nature, Degrees, & offices, properly to be Referred

A Select Treatis, as it was first Discovered to the Egiptian Magii, And Accordingly by them practised in antient times, & so Traditionally Descending, to the Knowledge of the Chaldeans, & Successively, from Antient, to Modern Ages; & here Delivered out of Darkness, & brought to Light; more Intelligibly Usefully, & beneficially, for the practis, & Experience, thereof, then Ever heretofore; since the Universall Deluge, hath been, Declared, or shewed forth,

We shall not here make an historicall prefa~~ce~~ parafraise, or Discourse of the Egiption Magii, nor of there great Learning & Knowledge, before the flud, for that hath been already Amply Defined of, both before the flud, in the time of Sahalock King of Egipt, who lived some time before the Deluge; who, being foretold, by his Magicians, that the world would be Drowned, did build five great towers, or pyramides, wherein he put all the Egiptian Treasuryes, Books of Learning &c: to preserve them from the flud; the which although over flowed with the waters, yet were safely, Defended, from the Rigor & Destruction thereof, through the grace & permission of Divine Goodness: & so since the Restoration of the world, & all mankind, hath been found Dispersed, through the world, & in process of time, by Ignorance & Distruction of Countryes, by wars & Rapines & the Captivityes of people all the More noble & greater part of that science, with the Knowledge,

Knowledge, & benefits thereof, hath been even utterly Destroyed, & Even as hardly or Impossibly, to be Conjectured, by all humane Reason, or Immagination that it Can be restored, or in any wise Regained, but by the incessant, labours, Unwearied, Industry, powerfull perseverance, & strong indeavors, of an Indulgent, Sober, Discreet, Grave, & Studious proficient in the Metaphysicks

It is to be Understood, that the Egiptian Magii, or Inspirati, in the primitive times, before the flud, received there profound Knowledge, Mediately from ye Revelations of Angels, or other Spirituall Ministery, both of the Caelestiall Intelligences, or some one or other, of the Angelicall Messagers, of Divine Grace, Residing in Orders, in any of the Hierarchyes properly referred, to every, & each particular, & respective, superiour Intelligence, Set over & Governing in every, & each, both of planetary, & other Caelestiall Orbes. Whereunto they [illegible] Inspired or regenerated, or otherwise, from the Elementary [illegible], or Spirits of Light, Caelestially Dignified, & by Nature [illegible] from whose tradition, being found Written, as affore said,) some time After, the Deluge, Coming to the hands of posterity, in after Ages, Revived, & began to flourish, in so much, that many of the [illegible] Chaldeans, then residing amongst, the Egiptians Learned there science, & became, Eminent, well skilled, therein

Lemegeton Clavicula Salomonis: Rex

The little Key of Salomon the King which containeth: all the names, orders and offices of all Spirits that ever he hadd any converse with, with the seales or Charecters belongeing to Each Spirit, and the manner of calling them forth to appearance, in 5 Parts called Books viz — — — — — — — — — — — —

The first part, is a Booke of evill spirits called Goetia, showing how he bound up those spirits and used them in severall things whereby he obtained great fame.

The second part, is a Booke of spirits, partly good and partly evill, wch is called Theurgia Goetia being all spirits of the ayre. — — — — —

The third part is of spirits governing ye Planetary houres, and wt spirits belong to every degree of the signes and planets in ye signes, and is called Ars Paulina

The fourth part of this Booke is called Ars Almadel Solomonis conteyning 20 chiefe spirits wch governe the four Altitudes or the 360 degrees of the world & signes &c.

These two last orders of spirits, is of good, and is called the true Theurgia, and is to be sought after by divine seeking &c — — — — — — — —

The fifth part is a Booke of Orations and prayers that wise Salomon used upon the alter in the temple which is called Artem Novam wch was revealed to Salomon by the holy angel of God called Michael; and he also received many breefe Notes written by the finger of God wch was delivered to him by ye said Angell with thunder claps, without wch Notes Salomon hadd never obtained so hyge Knowledge, for by them in short time he knew all arts and sciences both good and badd which from these Notes is called Ars Notoria — —

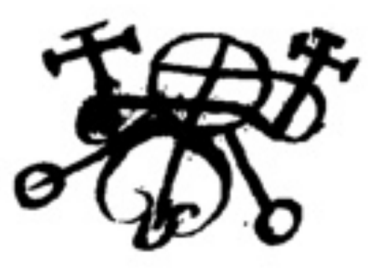
In this Booke is contained the whole art of Salomon although there be many other Bookes that is said to be his yet none is to be compared with this. for this containeth them all they be filled with severall other names, as the Booke Helisoe wth: is the very same as this Last is, wch called Artem novam & Ars Notoria &c.

These Bookes were first found in the Chaldean & hebrew tongues at Hierusalem, by a Jewish Rabbi & by him put into ye greeke Language; & from thence into ye Latine, as it is said &c — — — — — — — — — — —

Of The Arte Goetia

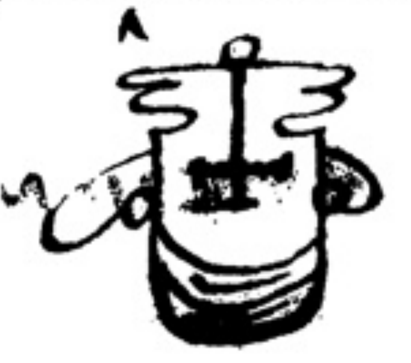
The first Spirite

The first principall spirit is a King ruling in ye East, called Bael. he maketh men goe Invisible, he ruleth over 66 Legions of Inferiour spirits he appeareth in divers shapes, sometimes like a Catt, sometimes like a Toad sometimes like a man & sometimes in all these formes at once: he speaketh very horsly.



This is his Charecter wch is to be worne as a Lamen before him who calleth him forth, or else he will not doe you homage.

The second spirit is a Duke called Agares, he is under ye power of ye East and cometh up in the form of a fair Old man riding upon a Crocodill, very mildly, carring a goshawke on his fist. he maketh them runne that stand still, and fetcheth back ye runnawayes, he can teach all Languages or tongues presently, he hath power also to destroy dignities, both supernaturall & temporall: & cause Earthquakes: he was of ye order of Vertues, he hath under his government 31 Legions &c: & this is his seale or Charecter wch is to be worne as a Lamen



King Agares

The third spirit is a mighty prince, being of ye same nature as Agares, he is called Vassago, this spirit is of a good nature, & his office is to declare things past and to come; and to discover all things hidden or lost ~~And~~ &c: he governeth 26 Legions of spirits. This is his seal

The 4th spirit is called Gamigin a great Marquise, he appeareth in ye forme of a little horse or asse and then into humane shape he putteth himselfe at ye request of ye Master and speaketh wth a hoarse voice, he teacheth all Liberall sciences, and giveth an account of ye dead soules of them that dye in sin, & he ruleth over 30 Legions of Inferiours &c. This is his seal, wch is to be worne by the Magician when he Invocateth.

The 5th spirit is called Marbas — he is a great president, and appeareth at first in ye forme of a great Lyon: but afterwards putteth on humane shape at ye request of ye Master he answereth truly of things hidden or secret, he causeth diseases and cureth them againe & giveth great wisdome & knowledge in mechanicall arts, & changeth men into other shapes he governeth 36 Legions of spirits. his seale is this

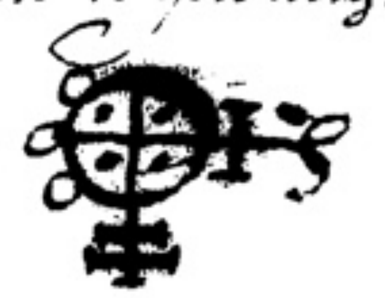
The 6th spirit is Valefar he is a mighty Duke & appeareth in ye forme of a Lion wth a mans head Roaring, he is a good familiar, but tempteth those he is familiar with to steale he governeth 10 Legions of spirits, this is his seal, to be worne constantly if you will have his familiarity else not

The 7th spirit is Amon. he is a Marquis great in power & most strong. he at first appeareth like a wolf, with a serpents taile, vomiting out of his Mouth flames of fire, but at ye command of ye Magician he putteth on ye shape of a man, with dogs teeth set in a head like a Raven, or in a Raven's head, he telleth all things past & to come, and procureth love, and reconcileth controversies between friends & foes, & governeth 40 Legions of spirits, his seal is thus, which is to be worne as aforesaid.

The 8th spirit is called Barbatos he is a great duke & appeareth when ye ☉ is in ♐ with four noble Kings and their companions in great troops, he giveth ye understanding of ye singing of Birds, and ye voice of other Creatures and ye barking of dogs &c. he breaketh hidden treasures open, that have been laid by ye Enchantment of Magicians, & of ye order of vertues, which some part beareth rule still &c he knoweth all things past and to come: and reconcileth friends & those that are in power he ruleth over 30 Legions of spirits his seal of obedience is this. which weare before you &c.

The 9th spirit in order is Paimon, a great King & very obedient to Lucifer. he appeareth in ye forme of a man sitting on a dromedary with a Crowne most glorious on his head there goeth before him a host of spirits like men with trumpets and well sounding Cymballs, and all other sorts of musicall Instruments &c. he hath a great voice, and roareth at his first coming and his speech is such as ye Magician cannot well understand, unless he compelleth him. This spirit can teach all arts and sciences, and other secret things, he can discover to ye what the earth is, and what holdeth it up in ye waters, and what mind is or where it is or any other thing ye desire to know, he giveth dignity and confirmeth ye same, he bindeth or maketh a man subject to ye Magician if he desireth it he giveth good familiars, and such as can teach all arts; he is to be observed towards ye North west, he is of ye order of dominions and hath 200 Legions of spirits under him, one part of them is of ye order of Angells & ye other of Potestates, if you call this spirit Paimon alone you must make some offering to him & there will attend him 2 Kings called Bebal and Abalam & other spirits of ye order of Potestates in his host are 25 Legions because all those spirits which are subject to him are not allwayes with him unless ye Magician compell them. This is his Character

The 10th spirit is Buer, a great president and appeareth in ♐ that is his shape when ye ☉ is there. he teacheth Philosophy morall & naturall, & ye Logicall arts, & ye vertues of all hearbes & plants, & healeth all distempers in Man, & giveth (familiars) good familiars, he governeth over 50 Legions of spirits and this is his seale of obedience which you must weare when you call him to appearance.



The 11th spirit is a great and strong duke called Gusoin he appeareth like a Xenophilus he telleth ~~all~~ of all things past, present & to come: he showeth ye meaning of all questions you can aske he reconcileth friends and giveth honour and dignity to any, and ruleth over 40 Legions of Spirits his seal is this. which weare as aforesaid &c.

The 12th spirit is Sitri, he is a great prince & appeareth at first with a Leopards face, and wings as a griffin. But afterwards at ye command of ye exorcist he putteth on a humane shape very beautifull, Inflaming Men with womens Love, and women with mens love, and causeth them to shew themselves naked, if it be desired, &c. he governeth 60 Legions of spirits, and his seal to be worne is this.

The 13th spirit is called Beleth, he is a mighty king and terrible, riding on a pale horse with trumpets and all other kinds of Musicall Instruments playing before him he is very furious at his first appearance that is while ye Exorcist allayes his courage, for to doe this, he must hold a hazel stick in his hand, stretched forth towards ye South & East quarters making a Triangle without ye circle, commanding him into it by ye vertue of ye Bonds & chaines of spirits herein after following, if he doe not come into ye △ at your threats, rehearse ye Bonds & chaines before him, and then he will yeild obedience and come into it and doe what he is commanded by ye Exorcist, yet he must receive him courteously, because he is a great king & doe homage to him, as the kings and princes doe that attend him, and you must have allwayes a silver ring on the middle finger of the left hand, held against your face as they do for Amaymon, This great king Beleth causeth all ye love that possible may be, both of Men and women till ye Master Exorcist hath had his mind fullfilled &c he is of the order of Powers and governeth 35 Legions of spirits

Spirit, his noble seal is this wch is to be worne before you in the time of working

I Invocate, conjure and command you spirit N: to appear and shew yr selves visibly before this Circle, in fair and comely shape, without any deformity or tortuosity, by ye name and in ye name Y and Vau wch Adam heard & spake & by ye name Joth wch Jacob heard from ye angel wrestling with him, and was delivered from ye hands of Esau his Brother, and by ye name of God Agla, wch Lot heard and was saved with his family, and by ye name Anaphexaton wth Aron heard and speak and became wise; and by ye names Scheme Amathia wth Joshua called upon and ye sun stood still, and by ye name Emanuel wth ye 3 children Sedrach Mesach and Abednego [illegible] singing in ye midst of ye fiery furnace, and were delivered; and by the name Alpha & Omega which Daniel named & Destroyed the Bell & ye Dragon; & by the name Zebaoth which Moses named, & all the Rivers & waters in the land of Egypt were turned into blood & by the name Elerchie Oriston wth Moses named, & all the Rivers brought forth froggs, they went into ye houses of ye Egyptians, Destroying all things; & by the name Elion wth Moses called upon, & there was great haile, such as never was since the Creation of the world to that Day, & by the name Adonay wth Moses named And there came up locusts thrnout all the land of Egypt and devoured all that the Haill at lost, and by the name Hagios. and by the seal of Adonay and by Otheos. — Iscyros. Athenatos; Paracletus and by these holly and sacred names Agla On. Tetragrammaton And by the dreadfull Judgment of god, and by ye sea of glass; which is before the face of the divine Majesty who is mighty and most powerfull And by the four beasts before the throne having eyes before and behind, and by the fire round about the throne and by the holly angels of heaven: and by the mighty wisdom of god. and by the seal of Baldachia, and by this name Primeumaton which Moses named and the Earth opened and swallowed up Chora. Dathan & Abiram, That you make true and faithfull answers, to all my demands and to perform all my desires so farr as in office you are capable to performe therefore come ye peacable visible and affable now without delay to manifest what I desire speaking with a perfect and clear voyce, Intelligible unto my understanding &c [illegible] at the beginning of these [illegible] in my conjuration (but without them will) [illegible] constraint —

I conjure the spirit N. by all the most powerfull and effectual names of the most great and incomprehensible Lord god of Host, that you come quickly without delay, from all parts and places of the world: to make rational answer to my demands and that visible and affably speaking with a voice Intelligible to my understanding as aforesaid, I conjure and constrain you spirit N. by all aforesaid and by these seven names by wch wise Salomon bound thee and thy fellows in a vessel of Brass Adonay. Prerai Tetragrammaton; — Anephexeton, Inessenfatall, Pathatumon, & Itemon. That you appear here before this Circle, to fulfill my will in all things, that shall seem good unto me and if you be disobedient and refuse to come, I will in the power and by ye power of the name of ye supream and everliving god. Who created both you and me and all the whole world in six days and what is contained in it Eye-Saray. and by the power of of his name Primeumaton; which comandeth the whole hosts of heaven, Curse you and deprive you, from all your office, Joy & place and binde you in the depth of ye Bottomless pit there to remaine unto the day of the last Judgment, and I will bind you into Eternall fire & into the lake of fire and Brimstone unless you come forthwith and appeare here before this Circle to doe my will in all things therefore come in and by these holly names Adonay. Zebeoth, Adonay. Amiorem; come ye Adonay commandeth you: ——

If you come so farr and he yet doth not appeare you may be sure he is sent to some other place by his king, and cannot come and if it be so, Invocate the king as followeth to send him. But if he doth not come still, Then you may be sure he is bound in chaines in hell: and he is not in the custody of his king: So if you have a desire to call him from thence, you must rehearse the spirits chaine &c ——

For to Invocate the King say as ffolloweth —

O you great mighty and powerfull King Amaymon; who beareth rule by the power of thy supreame god EL over all spirits both superior and inferiour of the Infernal order in the Dominion of the Earth; I invocate and comand you by the especial and truest name of your god and by god that you worship and obey, and by the seal of ye Creation & by the most mighty & powerfull name of god Jehovah Tetragrammaton, who cast you ought of heaven, with all other of the Infernall [illegible] spirits and by all ye most powerfull and great names of god who created heaven Earth & hell and all things contained in them, and by their powers and vertues & by ye name Primeumaton who comandeth the whole host of heaven that you cause enforce and compell N. to come unto me hear before this Circle in a fair and comely forme, without doing any harme to me or any other creature and to answere truely and faithfully to all my requests That I may accomplish my will and desires in knowing or obtaining any matter or thing wch by office you know is proper for him to performe or to accomplish. throu the power of god EL who createth and disposeth of all things both celestiall, aereall, terrestiall and Infernall —

After you have invocated the King in this manner twice or thrice soon then conjure ye spirit you would have called forth by the aforesaid conjurations, rehearsing them severall times together, and he will come without doubt if not at ye first or second time rehearsing. But if he doth not come add the Spirits chaine to the end of ye aforesaid Conjuration and he will be forced to come if he be bound in chaines, for the chaines will break of from him and he will be at liberty &c —

The Generall Curse. called the Spirits Chaine against all Spirits that Rebell

O thou wicked and disobedient Spirit because thou hast rebelled and not obeyed nor regarded my words which I have rehearsed they being all most glorious and incomprehensible names of the true god maker and creator of you and me and all the world, by the power of those names, which no creature is able to resist I doe curse you into the depth of the Bottomless Pitt. There to remaine untill ye day of doome in chaines of fire and Brimstone unquencheable unless you forthwith appeare ~~before~~ here before this circle in this Triangle ▽ to doe my will. Therefore come peaceably and quickly in & by these names — Adonai Zebaoth, Adonay Amioram come come ~~you~~ why stay you Adonay comandeth you

When you have read so farr and he doth not come Then write his name and seal in virgin parchment and put it into a ~~Boxe~~ black Box with Brimstone assafetida and such things that beare a stinking strong smell, and bind the Box round with a wire and hang it on the Swords point, and hold it over the fire of Charcoale and say to the fire first (it being placed toward that quarter the spirit is to come) — — — — I conjure ~~thee~~ you fire by him that made thee and all other good creatures in the world that you Torment Burne and consume this Spirit N. everlastingly I condemn thee thou Spirit N. into fire everlasting because thou art disobedient and obeyest not the comand nor kept the precepts of the lord thy god neither wilt thou appeare to me nor obey me nor my invocations, having thereby called you forth, I who am the servant of ye most high and Imperiall Lord god of hosts Jehovah and dignified and fortified by his Celestiall power and permission neither comest thou to answer to these my proposalls hear made unto you, for which your averseness and contempt you are guilty of grand disobedience and Rebellion, and therefore I shall excommunicate you and destroy thy name and seal which I have hear enclosed in this black Box and shall burne ~~them~~ thee in immortall fire and bury ~~them~~ thee in immortall oblivion. unless thou immediately come & appear visibly, affably, friendly, & curteously hear unto me before this Circle in this Triangle, in a faire and comely forme and in no wise terrible hurtfull or frightfull to me or any other creature whatsoever upon the face of the Earth and make rationall answers to my requests and performe all my desires, in all things that I shall make unto you &c

If he come not yet, say as followeth

Now O thou Spirit N. since thou art still pernicious and disobedient and will not appear unto me to answer to such things as I ~~[illegible]~~ should have desired of you or would have been satisfied in &c. I doe in the name and by the power and dignity of the omnipotent Immortall lord god of hosts Jehovah Tetragrammaton the only creator of heaven Earth and hell and all that is in them who is the marvellous disposer of all things both visible and invisible curse you and deprive you from all your office, joy and place and doe bind thee in the depth of ye Bottomless Pitt there to remaine untill the day of the last Judgment, I say into the lake of fire & Brimstone which is prepared for all rebellious disobedient obstinate & pertinacious Spirits, lett all the Holy company of heaven curse thee, the ☉. ☽ and stars the light and all the host of heaven curse thee, I curse thee into the fire unquenchable, & Torments unspeakable, and as thy name and seal is contained in this box, chained and bound up and shal be choaked in Sulphurous & stinking substance and burne in this materiall fire, so I in the name Jehovah and by the power and dignity of these three names Tetragramaton, Anephexeton, & Primeumaton doe cast thee. O thou disobedient Spirit N. into that lake of fire which is prepared for the damned and cursed spirits and there to remaine untill the day of doome and never more to be remembered of before the face of god which shall come to judge the quick and the dead and the world by fire —

Then the Exorcist ~~first~~ must put the box into the fire and by and by he will come. But as soone as he is come quickly quench the fire that the Box is in and make a sweet perfume and give him a kind entertainment shewing him the pentacle that is at ye bottom of ye vesture covered with a linnen cloath saying. Behold ~~the~~ your conclusion of your being disobedient. Behold the Pentacle of Salomon which I have brought heare before thy presence. Behold the person of ye Exorcist who is called Octinomos, in the midst of the Exorcisme who is armed by god and without fear who potently invocateth you and called you to appear Therefore make rationall answers to my demands and be obedient to me your master in the name of ye Lord Bathat ~~coming~~ rushing upon Abrac Abeor, coming upon Aberer. —

Then they or he will be obedient and bid you ask what you will for they are subjected by god to fulfill your desires and demands, and when they or he are appeared and shew themselves humble and meek then you are to say: Wellcom Spirit or most noble king or kings I say you are wellcome unto me because I called you through him who created both heaven ~~and~~ earth and hell and all that is contained in them and you have obeyed also by the same power that I called you forth I bind you that you remaine affably and visibly hear before this Circle (or before this Circle in this ▽) so constant and so long as I have occasion for you and not to depart without my licence untill you have faithfully and truely performed my will without any fallacy &c.

The Licence to depart

O thou Spirit N. Because thou hast very diligently answered my demands, and was ready and willing to come at my first call I doe hear licence thee to depart unto thy proper place without doeing any injury or danger to any man or beast depart I say and be ever ready to come at my call being duly exorcised and conjured by ye sacred rites of magick. I charge thee to withdraw peaceably and quietly and the peace of god be ever continued between me and thee Amen —

After you have given the spirit licence you are not to go out of the circle till they be gone and you have made prayer to god for the great blessing he hath bestowed upon you in granting you your desires and delivering you from the malice of the enemy the devill.

Nota you may comand these Spirits into the Brazen vessell as you doe into the Triangle saying That you forth with appeare before this Circle in this vessell of Brasse in a faire and comely shape &c as is shewed before in the foregoing Conjurations: &c

The End of the First Part which is called Goëtia

Here beginneth the Second Part called The Art Theurgia Goëtia of Kinge Salomon

In this following Treatise you have 31 Names of ~~these~~ cheife Spirits with severall of the ministring Spirits which are under them, with their Seals and Characters which are to be worne as a Lamin on your breaste for without that the Spirit that is appeared will not obey you, to doe your will &c

The offices of these Spirits is all one for what one can doe the other can doe the same, they can shew and discover all things that is hidd and done in the world: and can fetch and carry or doe any things that is to be done or is contained in any of the four Elements Fier, Ayre, Earth and water &c also the ~~[illegible]~~ secrete of kings or any other Person or persons let it be in what kinde it will

These spirits are by nature good and evill That is, one part is good, and the other part evill. They are governed by their princes, and each prince hath his place ~~and~~ of abode in the points of the compass — as is shewed in the following figure: Therefore when you have a desire to call any of the Kings or any of their Servants, you are to direct your selfe to that point of the compass the Kinge hath his mansion or place of aboode, and you cannot well erre in ~~[illegible]~~ your operation

Now every prince is to observe his conjuration, yet all of one forme except the name and place of the Spirit for in that they must change and differ also the seale of the Spirit is to be changed accordingly:

as for the garments and other Materiall things they are spoken of in the Book Goëtia beforegoing Therefore it is needless to mention them here againe &c

The form of the figure which discovereth the order of the 31 kings or princes with their servants ministers for when the king is found his subjects are easy to be found out &c

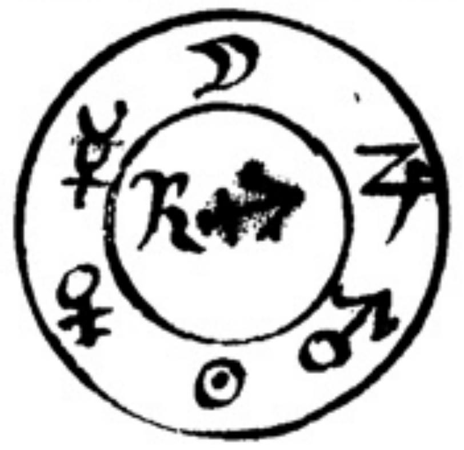
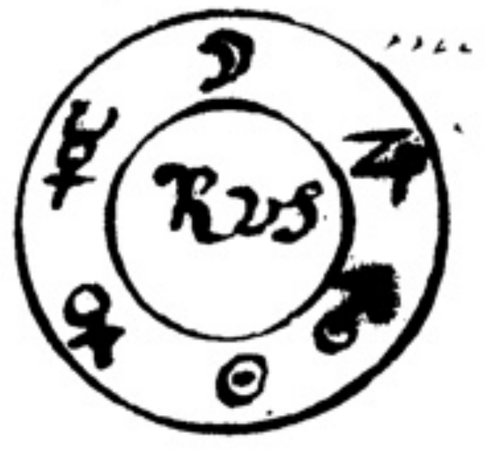
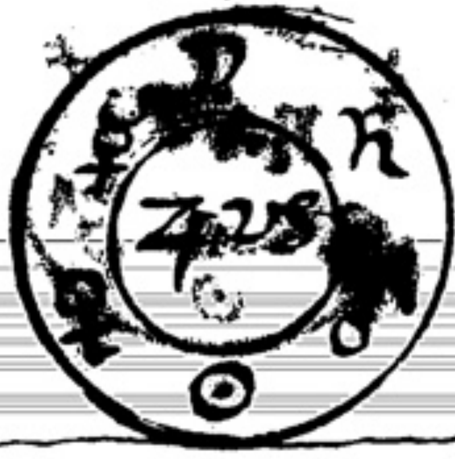
Uraniel. and when you operate in this houre make a seal sutable to the time as this is for time in the month of March 1641. then lay it on the table and say the conjuration: &c



The 11th houre of ye night is called Aalacho and the angell governing it is called Dudariel. who hath many servants and dukes whereof we shall mention 14 of ye cheefe dukes and 7 of ye lesser Dukes who have 1510 servants to attend them they are all good and very gentle [illegible] Their names are as followeth viz. Cardiel. Permon. Armiel. Nastoriel. Casmiroz. Dameriel. Furamiel. Mafriel. Hariaz. Damar. Alachuc. Emeriel. Naveroz. Alaphar. Nermas. Druchas. Carman. Elamyz. Jatroziel. Lamersy. Hamarytzod. and when you have a desire to make an experiment make a seal sutable for the time as this is for the time in the month of March 1641 then lay it on the table and say the conjuration &c



The 12 hour of the night is called Xephan. and the angell governing it is called Sarandiel who hath many dukes and servants whereof wee shall mention 14 of ye cheife and good Dukes of the first order and 7 of those of ye second order: who have 420 servants to attend on them. their names are as followeth vizt Adoniel. Damasiel. Ambriel. Merrel. Denaryz. Emarion. Kabriel. Marachy. Chabron. Nestoriel. Zachriel. Naverial Damery. & Namael. Hardiel Nefrias. Irmanotzod. Gerthiel. Dromiel. Ladrotzod. Melanas. and when you have a desire to make any experiment in this hour make a sigill suitable to the time as this is here for the same hour for the 10th of march in the year 1641 and when it is so made lay it on the Table of practice and lay your hand on it and say this conjuration following.



The Conjuration as followeth

O Thou mighty great and potent ~~prince~~ Angell Samael who ruleth the first hour of ye day: I the servant of the most high god: doe conjure and entreat thee in the name of ye most omnipotent and Immortall Lord god of hosts Jehovah Tetragrammaton. and by the name and in the name of that god that you are obedient to and by ye head of ye hierarchy and by the seal ~~and mark~~ or mark that you are known in power by and by the 7 Angels that stand before the throne of god and by the 7 planetts and their seals and characters and by the angel that ruleth the signe of ye 12 house wch now ascends in this ~~fift~~ first hour that you would be graciously pleased to gird up and gather ~~thy~~ your selfe together & by divine permission to move and come from ye place of the world where you are and shew ~~thy selfe~~ your selfe visibly and ~~clearly~~ plainly in this crystall stone to the sight of my eyes speaking with a voice Intelligible and to my understanding and that you would be favourable to me that I may have thy familiar friendship and constant society now and at all times when I shall call thee to visible appearance to informe and direct me in all things that I shall seem good and lawfull unto the creator and thee. O thou great and powerfull angell Samael. I invocate adjure command & most powerfully call you forth from your orders and place of Residence to visible apparition in and through these great and mighty incomprehensible signall and divine names of the great god who was and is and ever shall be Adonay. Zebaoth. Adonay Amioram. Hagios Agla On Tetragrammaton and by and in the name Primeumaton which commandeth the whole host of heaven whose power and vertue is most effectuall for the calling you forth: and commandeth you to transmitt your rayes visible and perfectly into my sight. and your voice to my eares in and through this Chrystall stone: that I may plainly see you and perfectly hear you speak unto me Therefore move ~~for~~ ye o thou mighty and blessed angell Samael: and in this potent name of the great god Jehovah: and by the Imperiall dignity thereof descend descend and shew your selves visible and perfectly in a pleasant and comely forme before me in this Christall stone: to the sight of my eyes speaking with a voyce Intelligible and to my apprehension: shewing declaring & accomplishing all my desires that I shall aske or request of you both herein and in whatsoever. Truths or things else that is just and lawfull before the presence of Almighty god: the giver of all good gifts: unto whome I begg that he would be graciously pleased to bestow upon me: O thou servant of mercy Samael. be thou therefore unto me friendly: and doe for me as for the servant of the highest: so farr as god hath given you power in office to performe: whereunto I move you in power and presence to appear that I may sing with his holy angells O mappa-la-man. Hallelujah: Amen

But before you call any of the princes or the Dukes: you are to Invocate the chiefe governing angell that governeth the hour of the day or of the night, as followeth:

The Invocation as followeth.

O Thou mighty and potent angell Samael. who is by the decree of the most high king of glory Ruler and governour of the first hour of the day: I the servant of the highest doe desire and entreat you by these 3 great and mighty names of god: Agla Tetragrammaton and by the power and vertue thereof to assist and help me in my affairs: and by your power and authority to send and cause to come and appear to me. all or any of those angells that I shall call by name: that are residing under your good government: to instruct, helpe aide and assist me, in all such matters and things according to their offices. as I shall desire and request of them (or him) and that they may doe it for me as for the servant of ye highest Creator—

Then Begin to invocate them as followeth:

O thou mighty and potent angell Ameniel who is one of ye principall angells under the great and potent angell Samael who is the great and principall angell ruling this first hour of the day I the servant of the most high god doe conjure and entreat thee in the name of the most omnipotent and Immortall Lord god of hosts Jehovah * Now read on as signed *: continue the contents of ye above written conjuration &c and when any spirit is come bid him welcome. Then aske your desires, and when you have done, dismiss him according to your order of dismission ....

so endeth the first part of the Art Paulina

The second part of the Art Pauline.

Which containeth the mysticall names of the Angells of ye signes in generall and allso the names of the Angells of every degree any ye signes in generall who are called ye angells of men: because in some one of those signes and degrees every man is born under therefore he that knoweth the moment of his Birth he may know the angel that governeth him and thereby he may obtain to all arts and sciences yea to all ye wisdome and knowledge that any mortall man can desire in this world: But note this: Those angells that are attributed to the fire have more knowledge therin then any other: So those that belong to the aire have more knowledge therin then any other: and those of ye water have more knowledge therin then any other: and allso those of the Earth have more knowledge therin then any other: and to know wt belong to the fire, ayre, Earth, or water: observe the nature of the signes and you cannot erre: for those that are attributed to ♈: are of the same nature, and so the like in ~~spirits~~ the rest. But if any planett is in that degree that ascends: Then that angell is of the nature of the signe and planett both &c observe this following method: and you cannot but obtain your desires.

To when you know the Angell that governeth the sign, ~~or~~ degree of your Nativity, and having the seal ready prepared that is sutable to the sign and degree as is showed before: then you are next to understand what order he is of and under what prince as is showed hereafter in the following part ———

First those genij that are attributed to ♈, ♌, & ♐, are of the ~~fiery~~ fiery region and are governed by Michael the great Angell who is one of the great messengers of god, which is towards the south wherefore those genijs are to be observed in the first hour on a sunday and ~~at the~~ at the eighth also at three and ten at night directing your selfe towards that quarter: they appear in Royal Robes holding scepters in their hands oft riding on a Lion or a Cock: their robes are of red and saffron collor and most comonly they assume the shape of a crowned queen very beautyfull to behold — &c

Secondly those genius that are attributed to ♉, ♍ & ♑, are of the Earthy Region and governed by Uriel who hath three princes to attend him viz Cassiel. Sachiel & Alsaiel. Therefore the genijs that are attributed to him and those signs are to be observed in the west they appear like Kings having green and silver Robes, or like little children or women delighting in hunting &c Saturdays at the first and eight hour of the day and at night the third and tenth hours, you are with privacy to obtaine your desires directing your self towards the west &c

Thirdly those genijs that are attributed to ♊, ♎, & ♒, are of the airy region their Soveraign prince is called Raphael; who hath under him 2 princes, who are called Miel & Seraphiel. therefore those genii which are attributed to him and those signs are to be observed towards the east on a wednesday. the first and eighth houres of the day and at night the third & tenth hour they appear like Kings or beautyfull young men clouthed in Robes of divers collours but most comonly like women transcendently handsome, by reason of their admirable whitness and Beauty &c —

Fourthly & lastly those genijs that are attributed to ♋, ♏, & ♓, are of the watery region and are governed by Gabriel, who hath under him 3 mighty princes, viz Samael. Madiel & Mael. Therefore those genii which are attributed to those signes are governed by gabriel and are to be observed on a munday toward the north at the first & 8th houres of the day and at night at the 3 & 10th houres; they appear like Kings having green and silver Robes or like little Children or women delighting in hunting &c —

So in the next place wee are to consider the Season of the year according to the constellation of the celestial Bodies, otherwise wee shall lose all our labour, for if a genius be of Igneal Hierarchy it is in vaine to observe him in any other season but when the Sun entereth those signs which are of his nature, that is ♈. ♌. & ♐.

So if it be a genius of the Earth he is to be observed when ☉ entereth ♉. ♍ and ♑, and so the like in the rest

Or otherwise thus: those genius that are of the order of the fire, are to be observed in the sumer quarter & those of the earthy in Autumne, and those of the ayr in the Spring, and those of the water in the winter quarter — &c

Their offices are to all things that are Just and not against the laws of the great god Jehovah But what is for our good and what shall concerne the protection of our life, our being & well being & doing good to & obliging our neighbours &c —

Now he that desireth to see his genius ought to prepare himselfe accordingly. Now if his genius be of the fire his demands must be the ~~confirmation~~ conservation of his Body or person that he receive no hurt from or by any fire ~~assault~~ armed ~~guns~~ Guns or the like and having a seal sutable ready prepared he is to wear it when he hath a desire to see his genius, That he may conforme it to him & for the time to come he may not fail of his assistance and protection at any time or occasion &c —

But if his genius be aqueall he reconcileth mens natures Increaseth love and affection between them causeth the desired favour of kings and princes & secretly promoteth marriages: & therefore he that hath such a genius before he observeth him should prepare a seal sutable to his order that he may have it confirmed by him in the day and hour of observation whereof he shall see wonderfull & strange effects &c and so the like of ye other 2 hierarchies: . . — and when the time is come that you would see ye genius Turne ye face towards that quarter the signe is and that with prayer to god: they being composed to your fancy. but sutable to ye matter in hand and thou ~~they~~ shalt find him. and having found him and sincerely acknowledged him bee your only [illegible] will it is being benigne & sociable illuminate your minde, taking away all that is obscure & darke in the memory and make thee knowing in all Sciences sacred & divine in an instant &c

Here A prayer which ought to be said upon that call or ~~[illegible]~~ when the genius is several times ~~[illegible]~~ to be used an Exorcisme to call the genius into the christall stone. that is to stand upon the Table of practice before showed. it being covered with a ~~[illegible]~~ white linnen cloth. Note this prayer may be altered to the mind of the worker. for it is here set for an Example &c

O thou great and blessed N. my angell guardian vouchsafe to descend from thy holy mansion which is celestial with thy holy Influence and presence into this Cristall stone. that I may behold thy glory: and enjoy thy society, aide and assistance, both now and for ever hereafter. O thou who art higher then the fourth heaven and knoweth the secrets of Elanel. Thou that rideth upon the wings of the winds and art mighty and potent in thy celestial and super lunary motion. do thou descend and be present I pray thee; and I humbly desire and entreat thee That if ever I have merited thy society or if any of my actions and Intentions be real and pure & sanctified before thee bring thy external presence hither, and converse with me one of thy submissive pupils By and in the name of great god Jehovah. whom unto the whole quire of heaven singeth continually O Mappa La man Hallelujah Amen —

. when you have said this over several times you will at last see strange sights and passages in the stone and at last you will see your genius: Then give him a kind entertainement as you was before directed declaring to him your minde and what you would have him doe: &c

So Endeth the second Part of the Art Pauline

Here beginneth the fourth part of this Booke which is called Salomons Almadel Art.

By this Art Salomon obtained great wisdom from the cheife Angells that governe the 4 altitudes of the world for you must observe there be 4 Altitudes, representing the 4 corners of the world. East, West, North and South. The which are divided into 12 parts; that is every part or Altitude into 3; and the Angells of every of these altitudes have their particular vertues and power as shall be shewed in this following matter &c.

Make the Almadel of pure white wax [illegible] coloured ~~suitable~~ to the altitude; it is to be four square and six inches over every way; and in every corner a hole and write betwixt every hole with a new pen these words or names of God following, but this is to be done in the day and houre of Sol. Write upon the first part towards the East Adonai, Helomi, Pine, and upon the second towards the south Helion, Heloi, Heli, and upon the West part Jod Hod, Agla: and upon the fourth part which is the north write these names Tetragrammaton, Shadai, Jah. and betwixt the first and the other quarters make the pentacle of Solomon thus ✡, and betwixt the first and other quarters write this word Anabona and in the midst of the Almadel make a sixangled figure and in the middest of it a Triangle wherein ~~[illegible]~~ must be written these names of god Hel, Helion Adoni and this last ~~[illegible]~~ names round in the 6 Angled figures as you may see in this figure ~~as~~ ~~you may see in this figure~~ here made it being for an example &c.......

and of the same wax there must be made [illegible] candles and they must be of the same colour as the Almadel is; you must divide the wax in to three parts, one part in to make the Almadel of, and the other 2 parts [illegible] to make the candles of. [illegible] from every [illegible] of them [illegible] foot [illegible] same wax, for to support the Almadel [illegible] in the next place you [illegible] to make a seal of pure and fine silver or ^Gold^ [illegible] in which [illegible] these three names Helion, Hellujon, Adonai; &c

Note the first altitude [illegible] called Oriens [illegible] East [illegible] the [illegible] experiment [illegible] be done [illegible] to make all [illegible] [illegible] names of [illegible] Alimiel, Gabriel, Barachiel, Lebes & Hellison; Note you must not pray [illegible] the [illegible] you [illegible] you [illegible] to call forth [illegible] ^Seal^ [illegible] upon the [illegible] [illegible] then [illegible] the Almadel [illegible] [illegible] written [illegible] experiment [illegible] the candles and [illegible] the Invocation as is set downe at the latter end of this part. &c [illegible] when he appeareth, he appeareth in the forme of an Angell [illegible] a fane or flagg [illegible] picture of a white [illegible] in a faire cloud and [illegible] fire [illegible] upon the [illegible] the appearition [illegible] Almadel [illegible] [illegible] in [illegible] earth [illegible] of his returne; it [illegible] in the forme [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] and what [illegible] you ^that^ [illegible] ^Lib^ [illegible] But [illegible] the Angell [illegible] [illegible] and [illegible] to speake to [illegible] [illegible] Almadel [illegible] colour [illegible] the 3rd Chorus [illegible] mixt with white [illegible] colour. The [illegible] Chorus [illegible] darke [illegible] of [illegible] colour &c.......

[illegible] Chorus [illegible]

Note [illegible] goods

* a few hot ashes or coales but not too much lest it should melt the wax of the Almadel; & put therein 3 [illegible] supra & Riches and can make any man Rich or poore, and [illegible] the first Chora with encrease and [illegible] with encrease and Barrennes &c. c c c c c c c c c c if any [illegible] appeare in any of the other 3 Choras or Attitudes then must doe it [illegible] as before is [illegible]; But doe not pray for anything that is contrary to the [illegible] of [illegible], or against God and his Laws; but what God giveth [illegible] that you may [illegible] 3 Orations [illegible] [illegible] prince [illegible] Chora are named as followeth viz.t Alphariza. Genon. Geron Arnion. Gereinon. &c. [illegible] then you speake kneel before the Altar with a table of the same colour in a [illegible] with the same colour also. for the holy [illegible] will [illegible] and when [illegible] put the Earthen Bason [illegible] 3 graines of Masticke in powder to fume as above written, and when the [illegible] he turneth his face toward you [illegible] the Exorcist [illegible] who hath called the prince of this Chora or Attitude, then you must answer as before, saying: I desire that my Request may be granted, and the contents thereof may be accomplished. for your office maketh appear and declareth that such is to be done by you if it please God &c. you must not be fearfull but speake humbly saying & I recomend my selfe wholy into your office, and I pray unto your princes of this Attitude that I may enjoy my wishes & desires &c. you may further expresse your mind in all particulars in your prayer &c. doe the like in the 2 other Choras that follow &c. . . . .

The Angell of this second Attitude appeareth in the form of a young Childe with clothes of sattin and of a Red Rose colour, having a crown of Red gillyflowers upon his head, his face looking upwards to heaven and is of a Red colour and is compassed round about with a Bright splendour, as the Beames of the Sunn; and before he departeth he speaks to the Exorcist, saying I am your Friend and Brother and illuminateth the [illegible] with his splendor and pleasant smell, [illegible] &c. . . .

[illegible] Third Chora or Attitude

In this Chora [illegible] the Angels of this Attitude are named as followeth viz.t Eliphamalai, Gelomitos Gedobonai, Saranana, & Elomnia, they appeare in the forme of Children or little women drest in green and silver colours, very delightfull to behold, and a crown of Bay leaves, beset with Flowers of white and green colours upon their heads and they seeme to look a little downwards with their faces &c. They speak as the other doe to the Exorcist and leave a mighty sweet perfume behind them &c. . . . .

The Fourth Chora or Attitude

In this Chora you must dress [illegible] in the [illegible] and the Angels [illegible] Barchiel, Gediel, Gebiel Deliel, & Captiel. &c. These appeare in forme of little men or Boys with cloathes of a Black colour, mixt with a darke green, and in their hand they hold a ~~[illegible]~~ Bird which is naked & their heads are Bare, only it is compassed round & beset

Beset with Ivy Berries. the are all very beautifull and comely, and are compassed round with a Bright shining of every colour. they leave a sweet smell behinde them also; but different from the other forementioned &c. c c c c c c

Note. There are 12 princes ruling besides those in the 4 Attitudes and they shift their offices amongst themselves, every one ruling 30 dayes every yeare; now it will be in vain to call any of those Angells unlesse it be those that then governeth, For every Chora or Attitude hath its limited time according to y.e 12 signs of the Zodiack and in that signe the Sunn is in. That Angell or those angells that belong to that same have the government: as for Example, suppose I would call the 2 first of those 5 that belong to the first Chora, then chuse the first Sunday in March that is after the Sun is entred ♈ and then I make my experiment; and so doe the like if you will the next Sunday after againe; But if you will call the 2 second that belong to y.e first Chora. Then you must take the Sundays that are in Aprill after the ☉ is entred ♉. But if you call the last of the 5.th Then you must take those Sundays that are in May after the ☉ is entred ♊ to make your experiment in: doe the like in the other Attitudes, for they have all one way of working: But the Attitudes have [illegible] in the [illegible] even as a Character, for when the Angells hear the Names of God that are attributed to them [illegible] the [illegible] of that Character. Therefore it is in vain to call any Angell or Spirit unlesse you know what Names of God to call them in; Therefore [illegible] the forme of this following conjuration or Invocation &c. c c c c c c c c c c c c c

The Invocation

[illegible] great mighty and [illegible] Angel of God N, who ruleth [illegible] governing angel [illegible] Chora or Attitude in the East [illegible] Adonai Heloni Pine; who is [illegible] disposer of all things both in heaven and earth and hell; I the servant of the [illegible] God Adonai Heloni Pine [illegible] conjure & intreat thee N [illegible] forth [illegible] and [illegible] my understanding [illegible] mighty and blessed angel N [illegible] servant of God [illegible] creature of [illegible] thing that I shall [illegible] office [illegible] God permit to the [illegible] Servant of [illegible] N, [illegible] the [illegible] name Adonai Heloni Pine, and [illegible] you in and by the name Anabona, that you forthwith appeare [illegible] in this crown [illegible] that I may have this [illegible] and glorious gracious and [illegible] [illegible] familiar friendship, and constant society, communication and Instruction both now and at all other times, to Informe and rightly Instruct me in my Ignorant and depraved Intellect Judgement and understanding; and to assist me with them, and in all other truths else what [illegible] Almighty Adonai The King of Kings, the giver of all good gifts, shall in his Bountifull and fatherly mercy be graciously pleased to bestow upon me, Therefore O thou blessed Angell N. be friendly unto me, and do for me so farr as God hath given you power in office to performe, whereunto I move you in power and presence to appeare that I may sing with his holy Angells. O Mappa-la-man. Hallelujah amen.

When he appeareth, give him or them a kind entertainement, and then aske what is just and lawfull, and that which is proper and suitable to his office, and you shall obtaine it.

Thus endeth the Booke Almadel of Solomon. &c

Here beginneth ye Fifth Part called by Salomon, Artem Novam; or Ars Notoria; being a booke of holy Orations & Prayers, wch Salomon used for to Obtaine his Wisdome & Knowledge by; for it was given to him by the Archangel Michael. &c

These following Orations may be said before all Arts generally; & before all notes specially; & they may be pronounced without any other Chapters. if thou wouldest Operate in any Art, Saying these Orations in due time & Order, thou maist have great Efficacy in any Art, & in saying these Orations, Neither ye time, Day, nor ☽ are to be observed; but take heed yt on those dayes you abstaine from all sinn; as drunkenness, gluttony, Especially Swearing, before you procede thereunto that your knowledge therein may be the more perfect & Cleer.

Wherefore Solomon saith: when I was to pronounce these Orations I feared, Least I should Offend God; & I appointed to my selfe a time Wherein to beginne them; that living chastly I might appeare ye more Innocent.

These are ye Proemiums of those Orations yt I might Lay downe in Order every thing, Whereof thou maist doubt, without any other definition, & before thou begin to try any of these Subtile works, it is good to fast twoo or three dayes, that it may be divinely revealed, whether thy desires be good or Evill.

These are the precepts appointed before every Oration.

Oration

but if thou doubt of any beginning, either of the three (Chapters) first chapters, or of the four Subsequent arts, that thou maist have ye effects of perfect knowledge; if thou consider & pronounce ye Orations, as they are above described allthough thou overpaſſeth some things Ignorantly. thou maist be Reconciled by ye Spirituall vertue of ye Subsequent Orations. The angel said of these Orations to Solomon. see ye holiness of these Orations; & if thou hast transgressed any therein presumptuously or Ignorantly. say reverently & wisely these Orations of wch ye great angel saith; this is a great Sacrament of God. wch ye Lord sendeth to ye by my hand, at ye veneration of wch sacrament, when King Salomon offered with great patience before the ~~altar~~ Lord upon the Altar, he saw the Booke covered with fine Linnen, [illegible] in this booke were written 10 Ortions, and upon every Oratione the signe ~~signe~~ of a golden seale, and he heard in his spirit; This are They which the Lord hath figured, and are far excluded from the Hearts of the unfaithfull; Therefore Salomon trembled lest he should offend the Lord, and kept them, saying it was wickedness to reveale them to unbelievers; But he that would Learne any great or Spirituall Thing in any art or necessary science; if he cannot have a higher worke, he may say these Orations at what time soever he will, the Three first, for ye Three first Liberall arts; a severall Oration for every severall Art; or generally all ye three for the three arts are to be said; and in like manner the four subsequent Orations for ye four other Liberall arts; and if thou wouldest have the whole Body of art, without any definition of time; thou maist pronounce these Orations before the severall arts, and before the Orations and notes of these arts, as often as thou ~~will~~ wilt, fully, manifestly and secretly, but beware that thou livest ~~[illegible]~~ chastly and soberly in the pronounciation thereof.

This is the first Oration of the 10 which may be pronounced by it selfe without any precedent Worke to acquire Memory, Elloquence, and understanding, and Stablenesse of these Three and Singularly to be rehearsed before the first figure of Theology.—

Omnipotent, Incomprehensible; Invisible and Indissolvable Lord God; I adore This day thy holy name; I am unworthy and miserable sinner doe lift up my prayer, understanding and reason towards thy holy and heavenly Temple, declaring thee Oh Lord to be my Creator and Saviour; and I a Rationall Creature doe this day invocate Thy most glorious clemency that thy holy spirit may vivifie my infirmity; and thou o my God, who didest conferre the Elements of letters, and efficatious doctrine of thy Tongue to thy servants Moses and Aaron; confer the same grace, thy sweetness upon me, wch thou dost Investigated into thy servants and prophets; as thou hast given them Learning in a moment, confer the same Learning upon me, and cleanse my conscience from dead workes; direct my heart into the right way, and open the same to understand and drop the truth into my understanding. and thou Oh Lord God who didst condescend to create me after thy owne Image; heare me in thy Justice, and teach me in thy truth, and fill up my soule with thy knowledge according to thy great mercy, That in the multitude of thy mercies thou maist love me the more and the greater in thy workes, and that I may delight in the Administration of thy commandements; That I being helped and restored by the workes of thy grace, and purified in heart and conscience to trust in Thee, I may feast in thy sight, ~~and being illuminated, strengthened and exalted by the sight~~ sight ſight and exalt thy name; for it is good before thy Saints; Sanctifie me this day that I may live in faith, perfect in hope, and conſtant in Charity, and may learne and obtaine the knowledge I desire; and being Illuminated, Strengthened, and exalted by the Science obtained, ~~I may know thee, and love thee~~; and love the knowledge and wiſdome of the ſcriptures and that I may underſtand and firmly retaine that which thou haſt permitted man to know: Oh Lord Jeſus Chriſt, eternall onely begotten Son of God, into whose hands the father gave all things before all worlds, give unto me this day for thy holy and glorious Name, the unſpeakable nutriment of Soule and Body, a fit fluent free and perfect tongue; and that whatsoever I shall aſke in thy mercy, will and truth I may obtaine; and confirme all my prayers and actions according to thy good pleasure: Oh Lord my God, the father of life, open the fountaine of ~~[illegible]~~ Sciences, wch I desire; open to me: Oh Lord, the fountaine which thou opened to Adam, and to thy Servants Abraham, and Iſaac, and Jacob, to underſtand, learne, and Judge; receive Oh Lord my prayers through all thy heavenly Virtues Amen

The next oration is the Second of Penn. and giveth Eloquence, which ought to be saide after the other; a Little Interuall between and before the first Figure of Theology.

I adore ~~the~~ thee King of Kings and Lords, eternall and unchangeable King hearken this day to cry and ſighing of my heart and ſpirit that thou maiſt change my underſtanding; and give to me a heart of fleſh, for my heart of stone, That I may breath before my Lord and Saviour; and waſh O Lord with thy new ſpirit the inward parts of my heart, and waſh a way the evill of my fleſh: ~~Infuse~~ into me a good underſtanding. that I may become a new man, reforme me in thy love; and let let thy salvation give me Increase of knowledge; ~~heare~~ my prayers; O Lord, where with I cry unto thee, and open the Eyes of my fleſh, and underſtanding, to underſtand the wonderfull things of thy ~~love~~ law, that being vivified by thy Juſtification, I may prevaile againſt the Devill, the Adversary of the faithfull; heare me O my Lord God, and be mercifull unto me, and shew me thy mercy; and reach to me the veſsel of salvation, that I may drinck and be satisfied of the fountaine of thy grace; that I may obtaine the knowledge and underſtanding; and lett the grace of thy holy ſpirit come and reſt upon me, Amen

---

For Eloquence and Stability of Mind, ~~[illegible] Amen~~.

This is the Third Oration of the Penn and is to bee saide before the The first figure of Astronomy.

I confeſs my selfe guielty this day before thee O God, Father of heaven and Earth, maker of all things, viſible and Inviſible, of all Creatures, diſpenser and giver of all grace and vertue; who hideſt wiſdom and knowledge from the proud and wicked, and giveth it to the faithfull and Humble; Illuminate my heart and eſtabliſh my conscience and underſtanding; lett the light of thy countenance upon me, that I may love thee and be eſtabliſhed in the knowledge of my underſtanding. that I being cleansed from evill workes, may attaine to the knowledge of those sciences which thou haſt reserved for beleevers. O mercifull and Omnipotent God, cleanse my heart and Reins, Strengthen my soule and senses, with the grace of thy holy Spirit; and eſtabliſh me with the fire of the same grace; Illuminate me, gird up my Loyns and give the ſtaffe of thy consolation into my right hand, direct me in thy doctrine, root out of me all vices and sinn, and comfort me in the love ~~of~~ thy mercies; mercies

:mercy; Breath ~~into~~ into me O Lord, the breath of life and Increaſe my reaſon and underſtanding; send thy holy ſpirit into me that I may be perfect in all knowledge; Be hold O Lord, and conſider the dolour of my Mind, that my will may be comforted in thee; ſend into me from heaven thy holy ſpirit that I may underſtand thoſe things I deſire, give unto me Invention O Lord, thou fountaine of perfect reaſon, and riches of knowledge; That I may obtaine wiſdom by thy divine aſſiſtance; Amen

To Comfort the outward and inward Senses.

O Holy God, mercifull and omnipotent Father, giver of all things, ſtrengthen me by thy power and help me by thy preſence, as thou wert mercifull to Adam, and ſuddainly gaveſt him the Knowledge of all arts, through thy great mercie, grant unto me power to obtaine the same knowledge, by the same mercy; be preſent with me O Lord, and Inſtruct me; O moſt mercifull Lord Jeſus Christ, son of God, breath thy holy ſpirit into me proceeding from thee and the Father, ſtrengthen my work this day, and teach me that I may walke in thy Knowledge, and glorifie the abundance of thy grace; let the flames of thy holy ſpirit rejoyce the City of my heart, by breathing into me thy divine ſcriptures; replenish my heart with all Eloquence; and viſit me with thy holy viſitation; blot out of me the ſpots of vices, I beſeech thee O Lord Incomprehenſible, let thy grace alwaies reſt upon me and be Increaſed in me; heale my soule by thy Ineſtimable goodneſs, and comfort my heart all my life, that what I heare, I may underſtand, and what I underſtand I may keep and retaine in my memorie; give me a teachable heart and tongue, through thy inexhauſtible grace and goodneſs; and the grace of the Father, son & holy Ghost Amen

This following is for the Memory

O holy Father, mercifull son and holy Ghost, Ineſtimable King I adore thee, and beſeech thy holy name that of thy overflowing goodneſs thou wilt forgett all my sines, Bee mercifull to me, a sinner; preſuming to goe about this office of knowledge, and occult Learning, and grant O Lord, it may be efficatious in mee, Open O Lord my ~~heart~~ eares that I may heare and take away the scales from my Eyes that I may see; ſtrengthen my handes that may work; open face that I may underſtand thy will; ~~to the~~ glorie of thy name which is bleſſed for ever. Amen

This following strengtheneths the Interiour and Exteriour Sences

Lifft up the sences of heart and soule unto thee, O Lord my God, and elevate my heart this day unto thee, That my wordes and workes may pleaſe thee, in the sight of all people; lett thy mercy and omnipotency ſhine in my Bowels; let my underſtanding be enlarged, and lett thy holy Eloquence be sweet in my Mouth, that what I read or heard, I may underſtand and repeat; as Adam underſtood, and as Abraham kept, so lett me keep underſtanding and as Jacob was Founded and rooted in thy wiſdom, so lett me be; lett the foundation of thy mercy be confirmed in me, That I may delight in the workes of thy handes, and perſevere in Juſtice, and peace of soule and body, The grace of thy holy ſpirit working in me, That I may rejoice in the overthrow of all my adverſaries. Amen

This following giveth Eloquence, Memory and Stability.

Diſpoſer of all Kingdoms, and of viſible and inviſible giftes: O God the ordainer and Ruler of all wills, by the Councell of thy ſpirit, diſpoſe and viſite the weakneſs of my underſtanding that I may burne in the acceſs of thy holy will to good; doe good to me in thy good pleaſure not looking upon my sinns; grant me my deſire though unworthy; confirm my memory and reaſon to know, underſtand and retaine, and give good Effect to my sences through thy grace; and juſtifie me with the juſtification of thy holy ſpirit, that what spots soever of sinn are contracted in my fleſh, thy divine power may blot out; Thou who haſt been pleaſed in the beginning, to creat the heaven and Earth, of thy mercy reſtore the same, who art pleaſed to reſtore reſtore loſt man to thy moſt holy Kingdom, O Lord of wiſdom reſtore Eloquence into all my sences, that I, though an unworthy sinner, may bee confirmed in thy knowledge, and in all thy works by the grace of the Father, son and Holy Ghost, who liveth and reigneth three in one; Amen

An Oration to recover loſt Wiſdom

O God ~~the~~ of the living, Lord of all Creatures viſible and inviſible, Adminiſtrator and diſpenſor of all things, Enlighten my heart this day by the grace of thy holy ſpirit; ſtrengthen my Inward man and pour into me the dew of thy grace, whereby thou Inſtructeſt thy angels, Inform me with the

the

the plenty of thy knowledge, wherewith from the begining thou hast ~~taught~~ ~~taught~~ thy faithfull; let thy grace worke in me; and the floods of thy grace and spirit cleanse and correct the flesh of my ~~spirit~~ Conscience thou who comest from heaven, upon the waters of thy majesty, confirme thy wonderfull sacrament in me.

To obtaine the grace of the Holy Spirit

O Lord my God Father of all things, who revealeth thy Celestiall and Terrestriall secrets to thy servants, I humbly beseech, and implore thy majesty as thou art ye King and prince of all knowledge, heare my prayers and direct my works, and let my actions prevaile in heavenly vertues, by thy holy spirit, I cry unto thee O God, hear, my clamour I sigh to thee, hear the sighings of my heart, and allwaies preserve my spirit, soule and Body, under the safegard of thy holy spirit; O God thou holy spirit, ~~perpetuall~~ and heavenly Charity, whereof the heaven and Earth is full, breath upon my Operation, and what I require to thy honour and praise grant unto me; lett thy holy Spirit ~~spirit~~ come upon me, rule and reigne in me Amen

To Recover Intellectuall Wisdome

O Lord I thy servant confess my selfe unto thee, before the Majesty of thy glorie, in whose spirit is all magnificence, and sanctimony I beseeche according to thy unspeakable name, extend thy mercifull Eares and Eyes to the Office of my operation, by opening thy hand I may be filled with the grace I desire, and satisfied with Charity and goodness; whereby thou hast founded Heaven and Earth, who liveth and reigneth world without End, Amen

The exposition of this Oration

O God, the light of the world, Father of Immense Eternity, giver of all wisdome and knowledge and of all Spirituall grace; most holy and Inestimable disposer, knowing all things before they are made; who maketh light and darkness, stretch forth thy hand, and touch my mouth, and make my Tongue as a sharpe sword to shew forth these wordes with Eloquence; make my Tongue as an arrow elected to declare thy wonders, and to pronounce them memorably; Send forth thy holy Spirit, O Lord into my heart and soule to understand and retaine them, and to meditate on them in my Conscience. By the Oth of thy heart, that is, by the Right hand of thy holy knowledge, and mercifully Inspire thy grace into me; Teach and Instruct me; Establish the comming in and going out of my senses, and lett thy precepts teach and correct me untill the end and lett the Councell of the most high assist me; Through thy Infinite wisdom and mercy. Amen

Hereby is encreased so much Eloquence that nothing is bove it.

The End of the first Part of Ars Notoria

The Second Part

Of the liberall Sciences and other things wch may be had by this Art.

The Liberall arts are seven, and seven exceptives, and seven Mechanicks. The seven exceptives are comprehended under the seven liberall: it is manifest what the seven liberall arts are, of wch we shall first treat. The Mechanicks are these, wch are adulterally called Hydromancy, Pyromancy, Nigromancy, Chiromancy Geomancy, Geonegia, which is comprehended under Astronomea and Kiogia.

Hydromancy, is a Science of diving by the ~~flowing~~ of ~~these~~ fire water, whereby the Masters thereof Judged by the standing or running of water.

Pyromancy, is a Experiment of diving by the flaming of the fire, wch the Ancient Philosophers esteemed of great efficacy.

Nigromancy is a sacrafice of dead Animals, whereby the antients supposed, to have many great experiments without sin, and to attaine to great knowledge; from whence Salomon commandeth that they might read seven Books of that art without sin, ~~and~~ that twoo he accounted sacraledge wch twoo Books they they could not read without sin, But having spoken enough hereof we proceed to the rest —

There are seven Liberall arts which every one may learne and read without sin, for Philosophy is great containg profound mysteries in it self; these arts are wonderfully known. — — —

What Notes the Three first liberall Arts have Grammer hath three notes onely; Dialets two and Retorick foure — that we know King Salomon himselfe testifieth and affirmeth for he saith:

And as I was admiring, and revolving in my heart and mind, which way; from whence; and from whence was this science; an Angel brought one Booke; wherein was written the figures and Orations, and delivered unto me the notes and Orations of all arts plainly and openly, and, told me of them all, as much as was necessary; and he explained unto me; as to a Child taught by certaine Elements, some tedious arts in a great space of time; how that I should have these arts in a short space of time: saying unto me; So shalt Thou be promoted to every Science by the Increase of these vertues. and when I asked him Lord, whence and how commeth this — The Angel answared This is a great Sacrament of the Lord, and of his will, this writting is by the power of the holy Ghost, which inspireth fructifieth, and increaseth all Knowledge; and againe the Angel saide: Fear looke upon these notes and Orations at the appointed and determinate Times and observe the Times as appointed of God, and no otherwise, when he had thus said he shewed to King Salom a booke wherein was written at what times all these things were to be pronounced, and published, and plainely demonstrated it according to the vision of God; which things I having heard and seen, did operate in them all, according to the word of the Lord by the Angel, and so Salomon declareth it came to pass unto him: But we that came after him ought to imitate his authority, and as much as we can all other things he hath left unto us — —

Here Salom

Here Salomon sheweth how the Angel told him distinctly, wherefore the Grammar hath three Figures.

Behold wherefore the grammaticall art hath only three Notes in ye Booke of Salomon, Gemeliath, that is in the Booke of the art of God, wch we read is the art of all other sciences, and of all other artes; for Salomon saith: when I did enquire every thing singularly of the Angel of God, with fear, saying, Lord from whence shall this come to pass to me, that I may fully and perfectly know this art; why doe so many Notes appertaine to such an art, and so many to such an art, and are described to severall determinate Orations, to have the Efficacy thereof: — The Angel is thus saide to answare: The grammaticall art is called a liberall, and hath three Things necessary thereunto: Ordination of wordes and Times, and in them, of adjuncts or figures, simple compound and various and a various declination of the parts to the parts, or a relation from the parts, and a congruent and ordinate division, this is the Reason, why there is three notes in the art of grammer: and so it pleased the divine wisdome, That as there should be a full knowledge declining beyond; by another there should be had a convenient ordination of all the parts; by the third there should be had a continuall and convenient division of all the parts, simple and compound.

The Reason why the Dialectiall Art hath twoo figures only

Dialect, wch is called the form of artes, and a doctrinall speech hath two things necessary thereunto to wit Eloquence of arguing, and prudence to answare, Therefore the greatnesse of the divine providence, and piety hath appointed two Notes to it, that by the first we may have Eloquence to argue and dispute; and by the second Industry to answare without ambiguity wherefore there are ascribed to grammar three Notes, and Two to Dialects Two Notes

The Reason why Retorick hath four figures.

Lett us see wherefore Retorick hath four Notes, for there are

are

are four things necessary therein, as the angel of the Lord saide unto Salomon; to wit: a continuall and flourishing adorment of Locution, an ordinate competant and discreet Judgment, a Testimony of causes or offices of chances & losses, a composed disposition of Buying and selling; an Eloquence of the matters of the art, wit a demonstrative understanding; Therefore the greatnesse of God hath appointed to the art of Retorick four Notes with their holy and glorious orations; as they were reverently sent by the hand of God; That every note in the art aforesaide, might have a severall faculty That the first note in that art might give a ~~con~~ continuall Locution, a competent and flourishing adorment thereof. the second to discerne Judgements, Just and unjust, ordinate and inordinate, true and false; the Third competently to discover offices and causes, and the fourth to give understanding and Eloquence in all the operations of this arts without prolixity, see therefore how in grammer, Logick and Rhetorick the severall Notes are disposed in the severall arts.

But of the other arts and their Notes, we shall speake in their due place and time as we find them disposed in the Booke of Sallomon.

At what Times and Howres the Notes of these three Liberall Arts are to be looked into.

Now wee proceed to show at what times and how the notes of these arts are to be looked into, and the Orations to be saide; to attaine to these arts; If thou art all togather Ignorant of the grammaticall art, and wouldest have the knowledge thereof: if it be appointed thee of God to doe this work of works, and have a firme understanding in this art of arts, Thou know that thou maist not presume to doe otherwise then this Book commandeth thee; for this Book of his shall be thy master and this art of his [illegible] thy mistriss.

How the grammaticall Notes are to be looked into in the [illegible] Moon

For in this

For in this Manner the grammaticall Notes are to be looked into, & the orations to be saide; In the dayes when the Moon is in her prime, the first Note is to be looked into 12 Times and the Orations thereof repeated 24 Times with holy reverence, making a little space between, lest the Orations be twice repeated at the Inspection of every Note, and chiefly abstaine from sinns. doe this from the first day of the Moon to the 14, and from the 14 to the 17. The first and second Notes are to be looked into 20 Times, and the orations to be repeated 30 Times, on the 15 and 17 days using some Intervall between them; all these Notes are then every day to be looked into 12 Times, and the orations to be repeated 20 Times, and thus of the Notes of the grammer. But if Thou hast read any Books of this art, and desirest perfection therein doe as is commanded using the generall Orations to encrease Memory, Eloquence, understanding and perseverance therein, repeating those above in the due time and houres appointed, least that going beyond Thy precept, Thou commitest sinn; But when thou doest This, see that it be secreet to thy selfe, and that thou have no lookers on but God. Now wee come to the Notes

Here followeth the Knowledge of the notes.

In the begining of the Inspection of all Notes fast the first day till the evening if you can; if Thou canst not, then take another houre. This is the grammaticall precept.

Of the Logicall Notes

The dialecticall Notes may be used every day, except onely in those dayes before noted; The Rhetorick every day. except onely these dayes of the Moon to wit the 11, 17 & 19. and they are forbidden on these dayes as Salomon testifieth, The Notes of all arts, except the notes of this art are offered those precepts are generally to be observed.

How the Logicall Notes are to be inspected and the orations thereof saide.

[illegible] the dialecticall Notes are four Times to be looked into, and the orations in that day are 20 Times to be repeated, making some respits; and having the Book of that art before your Eyes, and so likewise the Books of Rhetorick [illegible] thereof are inspected, as it is appointed. This sufficeth for the knowledge of the three arts

How wee must beware of offences.

Before wee proceed to beginne the first note of the art of grammer, somthing is to be sayed before. That we may have the knowledge of the 1. 2. and 3 Notes; and you ought first to know in what the Notes of the grammaticall, logicall or Rhetoricall art are to be Inspected, it being necessary that your greatest Intentions be to keept from all offences.

How the Notes ought to be inspected at certaine elected Times.

This is a speciall and manifest knowledge, wherewith the notes of the grammaticall art are knowne, how they are to be published, at what times, and with what distinction, is duely and manifest, it is spoken already of ye publishing and Inspections of the Notes and Orations. Now wee shall degresse a little to speake somthing of the times, it being in part done allready.

How divers Monthes are to be sought out in the Inspection of the Notes.

Wee have spoken allready of the Termes of this art, wherein the Orations are to be read and the notes to be looked into, it remaineth to declare; how the Lunations of those orations are to be Inspected and found out; But see that thou mistake not: yet I have allready noted the Lunations, wherein the notes ought to be looked into, and the Orations rehearsed, But these are some Monthes, wherein the Lunation is more profitable then others. if thou wouldst operate in Theology or Astronomie, doe it in a fiery signe; if grammar or logick in ♊ or ♍ if musick or Physick in ♉ or if Rhetorick Philosophy Arithmetick or geometry in ♊ or ♒: for Mathematicks in ♉ or ♊ if they are well placed, and free from evill: for all the heavenly Potestates and Chorus of angels, doe rejoyce in their Lunations, and determinate dayes.

Here is made mention of the notes of arts.

As it is spoken of the three notes of grammer so you must observe the times as they are to be observed; But the Orations thereof are not

not

Not written, but are more fully demonstrated in the following worke: for what is written of these three notes are not Orations, But definitions of those notes, written by the greek Hebrue and Chaldean; and other things which are apprehended by us; for those writtings wch are not understood in Latin, ought not to be pronounced but on those dayes which are appointed by King Salomon, and in those dayes wherein the Notes are Inspected, but on those dayes those holy writtings are allwayes to be repeated: and the Latine on those dayes wherein the notes are not Inspected. The Notes of the Logicall art are two, and at what times they are to be published, is already shown in part: more shall hereafter be saide of them; now we come to the rest. The Latine writtings may be published, according to the antiquity of the Hebrews, except on those dayes we have spoken of: for Salomon saith see that thou perform all those precepts as they are given: But of the rest wch follow it is to be done otherwise: for when thou seest the first Note in Logick, repeat in thy heart the signe in the first Note, and so in the Notes of all arts, except those whereof a diffinition shall be given. . . . .

Definitions of severall Arts and the Notes thereof

Wee will give also definitions of severall arts, as it is in the Book of Salomon; geometry hath one note; Arithmetick a note and a halfe; Phylosophy with the arts and sciences therein contained, hath 4 species; Theologi and Astronomy, with the sciences in them contained hath 4 notes, But they are great and dangerous; not great in the pronounciation, but have great Efficacy: Musick hath one note, and Phisick one Note, But they are all to be published, and rehearsed in their appointed dayes; But know that in every day wherein you beholdest the notes of Theology, Phylosophy or any arts contained in them, that thou neither laugh, nor play, nor play, nor sport, because King Salomon when he saw the formes of these notes, having overdrunk himselfe; God was angry with him, and spoke unto him by his angel saying, Because thou hast despised my sacrament, and polluted and derided my holy things; I will take away part of thy Kingdom, and I will shorten the dayes of thy children and the angel added: The Lord hath forbidden thee to enter in into the [illegible] Temple 80 dayes, That thou mayst repent of thy sinn. .

thy sinn. and when Salomon wept and besought mercy of the Lord. The angel answered ... Thy dayes shall be prolonged, nevertheless many evills and Iniquities shall come upon thy Children and they shall be destroyed of the Iniquities that shall come upon them. at the beginning of a note: having seen the generalls, lett the specialls be looked into. The word of Salomon is to seek unto God for his promises, before the Notes of ye three arts.

The first Oration at the begining of the Note

The Light Truth, life way Judge mercy. fortitude & patience, preserve, helpe me: and have mercy upon me. Amen.

This Oration with the preceding ought to be said in the begining of the first note of Grammer.

O Lord holy Father, Almighty, Eternall God in whose sight are all the foundations of all Creatures, and Invisible beings; whose Eyes behold my Imperfections; of the sweetness of whose love the Earth and Heavens are filled, who sawest all things before they were made: in whose Book everyday is found, and all mankind are written therein, behold me thy servant thy day prostrate before thee with my whole heart and soule; by thy holy Spirit confirm me, Blesse me protect all my actions in thee Inspection or aspiration, and Illuminate me with the constancy of thy visitation.

The third Oration; this Oration ought to be said before the second note of the Gramer.

Behold O Lord, mercifull father of all things; Eternall dispenser of all vertues, and consider my operations this day. Thou art the beholder and discerner of all the actions of men and angels: lett the wounderfull grace of thy promise condescend to fullfill this sudden vertue in me, and infuse such Efficacy into me, operating in thy holy and great name; thou who infusest thy praise into ~~the~~ Mouthes of them

them that love thee. Amen.

The Fourth Oration, Let this Oration be rehearsed before the third Grammaticall note.

O Adonay, Creator of all visible Creatures! O most holy Father, who dwelleth Incompassed about with eternall Light, disposing and by thy power governing all things before all beginnings; I most humbly beseech thy Eternity, and thy Incomprehensible goodness may come to perfection into me, by the operation of thy most holy Angels; and be confirmed in my Memory, and establish those thy holy works in me. Amen

A little space after this preceding Oration say the following, the first Oration ought to be said before the first note of Logick.

O holy God great and good, and the Eternall maker of all things, thy attributes not to be expressed, who hast created the heaven and the Earth; the sea and all things in them, and the Bottomless pit, according to thy pleasure; in whose sight are the wordes, and actions of all men: grant unto me, by these sacramentall mysteries of thy holy Angels, the precious knowledge of this art, which I desire by the ministry of thy holy Angels; it being without any Malignant or Malicious Intent. Amen.

pronounce this Oration in the beginning of the first figure of the Logick Art; and after this Oration ~~in the beginning~~ rehearse Intermittently with some Intervals, the Orations written between the first figure.

The six Oration ought to be said before the first note of the Linited Helay.

Most mercyfull Creator, Inspirer, Reformer, and approver of all divine wills, ordainer of all things, mercyfully give Eare unto my prayers.

O accep

Prayer, gloriously Intend into the desire of my heart, that what I humbly desire according to thy promises, Thou wilt mercyfully grant. Amen.

This Oration following, ought to be pronunced before the first Note of the Rhetorical Art.

Omnipotent and mercifull Father, Ordainer and Creator of all Creatures: O most holy Judge, Eternall King of Kings and Lord of Lords who wounderfully condescendest to give wisdome and understanding to thy saints, who Judgest and descernest all Things: I beseech thee to Illuminate my heart this day with the splendor of thy Beauty, that I may understand and know what I desire; and what things are considerable to be known in thy art. Amen.

This Oration with the following Hanazay ought to be pronunced before the first figure of Rhetorick.

And although these Orations be devided into parts, yet it is one and the same: and they are devided only for this cause, that there might be some meane intervals used in the pronuncing of them, and they ought to be pronunced before the other Orations written in the figure.

Hanazay, Sarhasir, Hubi, Sene, Hay, Ginbar; Bonail Selmora, Hyramay, lohat Yzarzamael, Amathomat~~is~~ yabba geyors, Sozomcrat, Anpho, Delmeos, Geroth, Agalos Meihalasiel, Secamay; Saheleton Mechogrisces lerirencrhon.

The Eight Oration, let it be pronounced before the second Note of the Rhetoricall art.

O Great Eternall and wounderfull Lord God, who of thy Eternall councile hast disposed of all vertues, and art ordainer of all goodness; adorne & Beautifie my understanding, and give unto me reason to know and learn the mysteries of thy holy angels: and grant unto me all knowledge and learning Thou hast promised thy servants by the vertue of thy holy Angels. Amen

4 Beholding with thy eternall Conspiratio all powers kingdoms & Judges; administring all manner of Languages to all; and of whose power there is noe end; Restore I beseech thee & increase my memory my harte & understanding to know understand & Judge all things which the devine authoryty commendeth necessary in this arte, perfectly fulfill them in me Amen

Let this Oration following with the precedent be rehearsed before the second note of Rhetorick

This Precedent Oration with the other two following ought to be pronounced (viz.t Vision &c) Azelechias, &c in the begining of the Second Figure of Rhetorick, and before the other Orations, and there ought to be some intervall betwen them

---

Let this Oration following be said before the second not of Rhetoricall Vision. 4 ♂ Azelechias Velozeos, Inoanzama, Samelo, Hoteus, Sagnath, Adonay, Soma, Jezochos, Hicon, Jeromethon, Sadaot. and thou O God propitiously confirm thy promisses in me; as thou hast confirmed them by the same words to King Salomon; send unto me, O Lord thy vertue from heaven, that may Illuminate my mind and understanding ~~the~~ strengthen, oh God, my understanding, renew my soule within me, and wash me with the waters which are above the heavens, pour out thy spirit upon my ~~flesh~~, and fill my Bowells with thy Judgments, with humility and Charity, thou who hast Created the heaven and the Earth, and made man according to thy own Image; pour out the light of thy love into my understanding, that being radicated and established in thy love, and thy mercy, I may love thy name, and know and worship thee, and understand all thy scriptures, and all the mysteries which thou hast declared by thy holy Angels, I may receive and understand in my heart, and ~~use~~ this art to thy honour and glory through thy mighty counsell. Amen

The second Oration ought to be said befor the pronuntiation of the third Note of Rhetorick [illegible] that I [illegible] thy [illegible], and [illegible] in thy [illegible] works, and that thou wilt give unto me wisdome according to thy goodness and thy power which is incomprehensible: Theon, Haltanagon, Haramalon, ~~Zagon~~ Zamoyma, Chamasal, Jeconamril, Harionatar, Jechomagol, Gela Magos Kemolihot, Kamanatar, Harionenatar Hanaces, ~~Ecnichather~~, Veloniobathar, Arorov, Jezabali, By these most holy and glorious profound Misteries, precious offices, vertue and knowledge of God, compleat and perfect my beginnings, and reform my beginnings, Zembar, Henoranat grenatajl, Samzatam Jecornazay: Oh thou great fountaine of all goodness, knowledge, and vertue, give unto thy servant power to eschew all Evill, and cleave unto goodnesse and knowledge, and to follow the same, with an holy Intention, that with my whole heart I may understand & learn thy Laws and decrees, especially these holy Mysteries, wherein that I may profit, I beseech Thee. Amen.

12 Twelve, This Oration ought to be said before the 9th Rhetoricall note.

O most reverend allmighty Lord ruling all Creatures, angels & archangels & all Celestiall Terrestiall and Infernall Creatures, of whose greatness cometh all plenty, who hast made Man after thy own Image; grant unto me the knowledge of this art, and strengthen all sciences in me. Amen

13 Thirtinth Pronounce this before the first figure of Arithmetick

O God who Numberest, weighest, and measurest all things, given the day his Order and called the sun by his name: grant the knowledge of this art unto my understanding, that I may love thee and acknowledge the gifft of thy goodness. Amen.

14 Fourteenth ~~Fifteen~~ Say this before the semi Note of Arithmetick,

O God the Operator of all things, from whom proceeds every good and perfect gifft sow the seeds of thy word in my heart that I may understand the excellent wisdome mysteries of this art, Amen

Fifteen Say this before the second figure of Arithmetick

O God the perfect Judge of all good works, who makest known thy saving goodness amongst all Nations, open my Eyes and my heart with the Beams of thy Mercy, that I may understand and perceive in this thy heavenly Mysteries. Amen

Sixteen Say this Oration before the second Note of Geometry

O God the giver of all wisdome and knowledge to them that are without sin, Instructor & master of all Spirituall Learning by thy Angels and Archangels, by Thrones, Potestas, Principates and powers, by Cherubim and Seraphim, and by the 24 Elders, By the 4 animals, and all the host of heaven, I adore, Invocate, worship, and glorifie thy Name, and exalt thee most terrible and most mercifull, I do humbly beseech thee this day to Illuminate and fill my heart with the grace of thy holy spirit, thou who art three in one Amen.

Seventeen Say this Oration before the 2d note of Theology.

I adore thee O King of kings, my light, my substance, my life, my king, and my God, my Memory and my strength, who in a moment gavest sundry tongues, and threwest down a mighty Tower, and gavest by thy holy spirit the knowledge of Tongues to thy Apostles, infusing thy knowledg into them in a Moment, giving them the understanding of all Languages; Inspire my heart, and power the dew of thy grace and holy spirit into me, that I may understand the exposition of Tongues and Languages. Amen

Three Chapters to be ~~said~~ ~~published~~ published before any of the Notes.

What wee have spoken of the three first Chapters, are generally and especially to be pronounced, so that you say them, and the Orations in the days appointed, and work by the note as it is demonstrated to you, these Orations ought to be said allways before Noon, every day of the Month; and before the Notes say the proper Orations: and in all reading, observe the precepts commanded.

How the proper Notes are to be inspected

If you would Learne anything of any one art, Look into the proper Notes thereof in the same time, enough is said already of the three Liberall arts.

What dayes are to be observed in the inspection of the Notes of the ~~four~~ four Arts

In the four other arts, only the four first dayes are to be observed; the Phylolosophicall Notes, with all signes contained therein, the 7 and 17 dayes of the Moon are to be inspected, 7 times a day, with there severall Orations, the Notes is to be looked into with fear, silence and trembling. Of the Notes of the Liberall arts is spoken already; but only know this, that when you would use them, live chast and soberly, for the Notes hath in it selfe 24 Angles, is fully and perfectly to be pronunced, as you have heard: But when you look into them, repeat all the Theologicall Orations and the rest in their due time.

Of the inspection of generall Notes

Say the generall Notes 10 times a day, when you have Occasion to use any common arts, having the Books of those arts before you, using some intervall or space of time between them, as you have been taught already.

How the three first Chapters are to be pronounced before Orations

To have perfection herein, know that in generall pronunciation of Orations, the Notes of the three heads are to be regarded, whether the Orations be pronounced or not.

How the eight [illegible] of theology inspect [illegible] special [illegible] Orations.

There is also something else to be said of the four generall notes, if you would have the perfect knowledge of them, make the first Oration of Theology, before you say the Oration of the other notes, these are sufficiently declared, that you may understand and know them, and so the particular Orations be pronounced before the severall Notes of every art, and kept, as is determined &c.

These are the augmentations of the Orations which belong to all arts Liberall and exceptive, except Mechanick, and are especially ascribed to the Notes of Theology, and they are thus to be pronounced, that whensoever you would look into any one Note of any art, and would profit therein, say these Orations following.

Gromamas

1 Gromamos, Hazalat, Gzityne, Heremechel, Gremomechel Zamay, Zaton Ziamy Nayzaton, Hayzemogon, Jecomantha, Jarapha Phalezeton, Sacramphal, Sagamazaim, Secranale, Sacramathan; Jezennalaton Hacheriatos Jetelemathon, Zamaoay, Zamachay, Jeguthero Jeurlagon, Jarunos, Megalon Vera Cruhic, Crarihuc, Amen.

Let this Oration with the following be pronounced before the first Note of Philosophy.

O Lord God, holy Father, almighty and Incomprehensible hear my prayers, thou that art Invisible, Immortall and Intelligible, whose face the angels and archangels, and all the powers of heaven, doe so much desire to see whose Majesty I desire eternally to adore, and honour the only and God for ever and ever Amen.

2. Say this before the second Note of Philosophy:

O Lord God, holy and almighty father, hear my prayers this day, and incline thy Ears to my Orations, Gezomelion Samach, Semath Gemon, Gezagam Gezatrhin, Zhamath, Zeze Hator Sezeator Samay Sammanday Gergel, Jesel, Gazieth, Hel, Gazayethyhel, Amen.

Say this following with the former

O God Eternall, the way, the truth, and the life, give thy light and the flower of thy holy spirit into my mind and understanding, and grant that the gift of thy grace may shine forth in my heart, and into my soul, now and for ever. Amen.

Pronounce the Orations following before the third Note of Philosophy; Lemogethom, Hegemothom Hazachay, Hazatha, Azamachar, Azacham Cohathay, Geomothay, Logomothay, Zathana, Lachanma, Legomezon, Legornozon, Lembdemachon, Zegomaday, Hathanayos, Hatamam, Helesymam Vegedaton.

Vadeyabar Lamnanath, Lamadai, Gomongchar, Gemecher, Ellemay Gecromal Gecrohahi, Colemanos, Colomaythos. Amen

Say this following with the precedent Oration.

O God the life of all visible Creatures, eternall Brightness, and vertue of all things; who art the Originall of all piety, who knowest all things before they were; who Judgest all things, and discernest all things by thy unspeakable knowledge: glorifie thy holy and unspeakable Name this day in my heart; and strengthen my Intellectuall understanding; Increase my Memory, and confirm my Eloquence make my tongue ready, quick and perfect in thy sciences and scriptures, that by thy power given unto me, and thy wisdome taught in my heart, I may praise thee, and know and understand thy holy name for ever, world without End Amen.

Say this Oration following before the fourth note of Phylosophy

O King of kings, the giver and dispenser of Infinite Majesty and of Infinit Mercy; the founder of all foundations, Lay the foundation of all thy vertues in me remove all follishness from my heart, that my senses may be established in the love of thy Charity, & my spirit informed by thee, according to the renovation and Inovation of thy will, who livest and reignest God throughout all worlds of worlds, Amen

How these Orations are to be said every day before the generall Notes and the Notes of the Liberall Arts.

These 5 orations are necessary for Liberall arts, but these five doe appertaine to Theology which are to be said every day before the generall Notes, or the Notes of the Liberall arts; But of dictating, versifying, singing or Musick, or any of these sciences, first teach him these orations, that thou wouldest teach, how he should read them, but if it be a child of meane understanding, read them before him, and lett him say after thee word for word; but if he be of a good understanding lett him read them 7 times a day for 7 days: or if it be a generall Note, pronounce these Orations, and the vertue thereof shall profit you very much, and you shall find therein great vertue.

Salomon, saith of these Orations, let no man presume to

to make use of them unless for the proper Office they are instituted for.

O Father Incomprehensible; from whom proceeds every thing that is good, whose greatness is Incomprehensible; hear this day my prayers, wch I make in thy sight, and grant to me the Joy of thy saving health, that I may teach unto the wicked the ways and paths of thy sciences; and convert the Rebellious and Incredulous unto thee; that whatsoever I commemorate and repeate in my heart and Mouth, may take root and foundation in me, that I may be made powerfull and efficatious in thy works, Amen

Say this Oration before the 6 Note of Phylosophy.

Gezemothon, Oromathion, Hayatha, Aygyay, Lethahziel, Lechozliel. Gezohay, Gerhonay, Samasatel, Samasathiel, Gessiamo, Hatil, Segomasay, Azomathon, Helomathon, Gerochor, Hejazay, Samin Heliel, Sanihelyel, Siloth, Silerech, Garamathal, Gesemathal, Gecoromay, Gecorenay, Samyel, Samihael, Hesemyhel, Sedolamax, Secothamay, Samya, Rabiathos, Avinosch, Annas. Amen.

Then say this following:

O Eternall King, O God, the Judge and discerner of all things knower of all good sciences, Instruct me this day for thy holy Name sake, and by these holy sacraments and purifying understanding, that thy knowledge May enter into my inward parts, as water flowing from heaven, and as oyl into my bones; by thee O God, saviour of all things, who art the fountaine of goodness, and originall of piety, Instruct me this day in those sciences which I desire; thou who art one God for ever Amen.

O God Father Incomprehensible from whom proceedeth all good, the greatness of whose mercy is fathomless, hear my prayers, which I make this day before thee, and render unto me the Joy of thy salvation, that I may teach the unjust the knowledge of thy ways, and convert the unbelieving & Rebellious unto thee and may have power to perform thy works Amen

The Oration which is the End of the Orations belonging to the ineffable Note, the last of theology having 24 Angels.

O God of all piety, author and foundation of all things, the Eternall health and

Redemption

Redemption of thy people; Inspirer and great giver of all grace, sciences and arts, from whose gift it cometh: Inspire into me thy servant and Increase of those sciences who hath granted life to me miserable sinner, defend my soule, and deliver my heart from the wicked cogitations of this world; extinguish and quench in me the flames of all lust & fornication, that I may the more attentively delight in thy sciences & arts, & give unto me the desire of my heart, that I being confirmed and exalted in thy glorie may love thee: & Increase in me the power of thy holy spirit, by thy salvation and reward of the faithfull, to the salvation of my soule and Body Amen

Then say this following:

O God most mighty father, from whome proceedeth all good, the greatness of whose mercy is incomprehensible, hear my prayers, which I make in thy sight.

Special precepts of the Notes of Theology cheefly of the 1. 2 and 3

These 4 Orations are an augmentation of the rest and ought to be said before all the Notes of Theology, but especially before the ineffable note; these are the precepts to make thee sufficient which we command thee to observe by the authority of Salomon: dilligently Inquire them out, and doe as we have proposed, and perfectly pronounce the Orations, and look into the Notes of the other arts.

How Salomon received that ineffable Note from the Angel

Because thou desirest to know the mysteries of the Notes, take this of the ineffable: Now, the operation whereof is given in the angels by the figures of swordes, Birds, trees, flowers, Candles and serpents; for Salomon received this from the Lord in the night of pacification. Ingraven in a Book of Gold; and heard this from the Lord: doubt not. neither be affraid, for this Sacrament is greater then all the rest. and the Lord Joyned it unto him.

when thou lookest into this note, and readest the Orations thereof, observe the precepts before, and dilligently look into them, and beware that thou prudently conceal and keep whatsoever thou readest in this note of God, and whatsoever shall be revealed to thee in the vision, and when the Angel of the Lord appeareth ~~to thee~~ keep and conceale the words and writings he revealeth to thee, and

and observe them to practise and operate in them, observing all things with a great reverence; and pronounce them at the appointed dayes and hours as before is directed, and afterwards say, Sapienter dic illo; Age & caste vivas.

But if thou doest anything uncertaine, there is danger; as thou wilt have experience from the other notes and the Orations of them; but consider wch is most wounderfull in these Orations; for these words are ineffable names, and are spiritually to be pronounced before the ineffable ~~note~~ Note, Hosel Iesel, Anchiator ~~Abator~~ Aratol, Hasiatol, gemor, ges~~meor~~ amcor, these are the Orations which ought to be pronounced after the inspection of all arts, and after the Note of Theology.

This is the fullfilling of the whole work: but what is necessary for an experiment of the work, we have more plainly declared before, for in the beginning of the knowledge of all arts, there is given allmost the perfect doctrine of Operation, I say allmost, because some flourishing Institutions hereof remaine; wherefore this is the first in beginning.

How the precepts are to be Observed in the operation of all Arts.

Observe the 4 D in every operation of Theology. Exhibit that operation with Efficacy every 4 D. quartam Lunam, & dilligently look into the Books & writings of those arts, if thou doubt of any of the Chapters, they are to be pronounced, as it taught of the superior Chapters; But know this that these holy words of Orations, we appoint to be said, before ye bedd of the sick, for an experiment of life or death; & this thou maist doe often, if thou wilt Operate nothing else in the whole Body of art: and know this, that if thou hast not the Books in thy hands, or the faculty of looking into them is not given to thee: the Effect of this work will not be the less therefore: but the Orations are twice to be pronounced, where they were to be but once: and as to the knowledge or vision, and the other vertues which these holy orations have, thou maist prove and try them, when and how thou wilt.

These precepts are Especially to be observed.

But when thou wouldest operate in Theology, observe only those dayes which are appointed, But all times are convenient for those Notes and operations, for which there is a competent time given, But in the pronunciation of the three Liberall arts, or in the Inspection of their notes, perhaps thou mightest pretermit some day appointed, if thou observe the rest; or if thou transgresse two dayes, leave not of the work, for it looseth not its effect for this. For the moon is more to be observed in the greater numbers, then the dayes or hours for.

for salomon

For Salomon saith if thou miss a day or two, fear not; but operate on the Generall Chapters.

This is enough to say of them; but by no meanes forgett any of the words wch are to be said in ye beginning of ye reading to attaine to arts; for there is great vertue in them. & Thou maist frequently use the holy words of the visions; But if thou wouldst operate in the whole Body of Physicall art, The first Chapters are first to be repeated, as before are defined. and in Theology, Thou must operate only by thy selfe & often repeate the Orations & looke into ye notes of Theology: this produceth great effects. it is necessary that you have the note of the 24 angles always in memory, and faithfully keep those things which the angel revealeth to thee in the Vision.

Here endeth the Notary arte; as alsoe the Clavicula Salomonis according to the written exemplar, which once came to my hand but examining the Ars notoria which is printed I found in that printed exemplar some Additions or augmentations, compleated by magister Apolonius a successor of Salomon in that sublime & secret studdy; as he stileth himselfe parte of them being placed before & parte behinde; the above written notory arte, which said Additions I thought fitt to sett downe here allsoe (out by themselves) & soe to conclude all in one Booke as followeth — —

Here followeth the Additionall Parte of the
as it stands in the beginning of the printed Exemplar: vizt

O Apollonius, Master of arts, duely called, to whome the nature of Liberall arts hath been granted, am Intended to treate of the knowledge of Liberall arts, & of the knowledge of Astronomy and with what experiments & documents, a compendious & competent knowledge of arts may be attained unto; & how the highest & lowest mysteries of Nature may be competently divided, & fitted, & applied to ye Natures of times, & what proper dayes & houres are to be elected, for the deeds & actions of Men, to be begunn & ended, what qualifications a man ought to have, for to attaine the Efficacy of this art & how he ought to dispose of ye actions of his life; & to behold & study ye Course of ye Moon. In ye first place therefore, we shall declare certaine precepts of ye spirituall sciences; That all things wch wee Intend to speake of, may be attained to in order. wounder not therefore, at what you shall hear and see in this subsequent Treatise, and that you shall an Example of such Inestimable Learning. Som things which follow which wee will deliver to thee as Essayes of wounderfull Effects, & have extracted them out of the most antient Books of ye Hebrewes; wth which thou seest them (although they are forgotten & worn out of any human Language) never the lesse esteem them as Miracles. for I doe truly admire the great power and Efficacy of words in the works of Nature.

There is so great vertue, power & Efficacy in certaine Names and words of God, that when you read those very words, it shall immediately encrease and helpe your Eloquence, so that ye shall be made Eloquent of speech by them, & at length attaine to ye Effects of ye powerfull sacred Names of God but from whence ye power thereof doth proceed, shall be fully demonstrated to you, in the following Chapters of prayers: and those which follow next to our hand, ~~wee~~ shall lay open.

An Explanation of the Notory Art

This art is devided into two parts, the first containing generall Rules, ye second speciall Rules; wee come first to ye speciall Rules, That is first to a threefold, & then to a fourfold division; & in ye third place, wee come to speake of Theology, wth sciences thou shalt attaine to by the operation of operation of operation of these Orations, if thou pronounce them as they are written. Therefore there are certaine Notes of the Notory art, wch are manifest to us, the vertue whereof humane reason cannot comprehend; the first note hath his signification taken from the Hebrew wch though the expression thereof be comprehended in a very few words nevertheless in ye expression of ye mysteries, they do not loose their vertue: that may be called their vertue; wch doe happen & proceed from their pronunciation, wch ought to be generally admired at.

The First Precept

Hely Scemath, Amazar, Hemel, Sathuston, hhel Tamazam, &c. which Salomon entituled His first Revelation; & that to be without any interpretation; it being a science of so transcendent a purity, that it hath its originall out of ye depth & profundity of ye Hebrew Chaldean and Grecian Languages, & therefor it cannot possible by any meanes be explicated fully, in the poor thread bear scenes of our Language, & of what Nature ye Efficacy of ye afforesaid words are, Salomon him selfe doth describe in his Eleventh Book Helisoe, of ye mighty glorie of the Creator, But Apollonious the friend and successour of Salomon, wch some fewe others, to whome that science hath been manifested, have explained the same and defined it to be most holy, devine deep, and profound mysteries; and not to be disclosed, nor pronounced, without great faith and reverence.

Before anyone beginneth to read or pronounce any Orations of this art, to bring them to Effect, lett him alwayes first reverently and devoutly rehearse this prayer in ye beginning ~~ning~~ If anyone will search ye Scripture, or would understand or Eloquently pronounce any part of the scripture: lett him pronounce ye words of ye before written figure, to wit. Hely Scemathan in the morning betimes of that day, wherein thou wilt beginne any work. And in the name of the Lord our God lett him dilligently pronounce ~~Scripture~~ proposed, With thy prayer Theos Megale, wch is mystically distorted and miraculously and properly framed out of the Hebrew greek and Chaldean tongues, & it extendeth it selfe briefly into every Language in ye beginning whether they are dela[illegible] ~~[illegible]~~ The second part of ye Oration of ye second Chapter is taken out of ye Hebrew, greek & Chaldee, of ye exposition thereof ought to be pronounced first wch is an Oration in Latine or in our Language. The third Oratation of ye three Chapters, allwayes in ye beginning of every faculty, is first to be rehearsed. The Oration is: Theos Megale, in te ymas

ymas Eurel, &c. The exposition is: O God the light of the world &c. as before in the Notory art of Salomon is sett down

Of the Triumphall figures how sparingly they are to be pronounced, and honestly and devoutly spoken.

There are also certaine figures or Orations wch Salomon in Caldea calleth Hely; that is: Triumphall Orations of the Liberall arts, & sudden excellent Efficacies of vertues, as they are ye Introduction to ye Notory art: wherefore Salomon made a speciall beginning of them, that they are to be pronounced at certaine determinate times of the Moon, & not to be undertaken without consideration of ye End. whosoever will pronounce these wordes, lett him do it in a determinate appointed time, & sett aside all other occasions, & he shall profit in all sciences in one Month; and attaine to them, in an extraordinary wounderfull manner.

The Expositions of the Lunations of the Notory Art.

These are ye expositions of ye Lunations & Introduction of ye notory art to wit in ye 4th & ye 8th day of ye Moon, & in the 12, 16, 2[illegible] 28 & 30th they ought to be put in operation; from whence Salomon saith, that to those times wee give ye expositions times of ye Moon, of ye fourth day of the Moon, wch are written by ye four angels, & in ye fourth day of ye moon is manifested to us, & are four times repeated & explained by ye Angel, the Messenger of these Orations, and are also revealed and delivered to us that require them from the Angel, four times of ye year, to shew ye Eloquence & fullness of ye four Languages, Greek Hebrew Chaldee and Latine, and God hath determined the power of the faculties of humane understanding, to the four parts of the Earth, and also the four vertues of humanities understanding, Memory, Eloquence, and the faculty of Ruling those Three, and these things are to be used as we have before spoken.

How the precedent Oration is the beginning & foundation of the whole Art

This is ye first figure of ye Notory art wch is manifestly placed [illegible] notes and this is angellicall wisdome, understood of few in astronomy, But in ye glasse of Astrology it is called the Ring of Phylosophy, & in ye Notory art it is written, to be ye foundation of ye whole science; But it is to be rehearsed four times a day. beginning in ye morning once morning once

Morning one about the Third hour one, one in ye ninth hour, and one in the evening.

The precedent Oration ought to be spoken secretly, and lett him that speak it be alone & pronounce it wth a low voice, so that he scarcely heareth himselfe. & this the foundation thereof, That if necessity urge one to doe any great works, he shall say it twice in ye morning, & about ye ninth hour twice; & lett him fast the first day wherein he rehearseth it, and lett him live chastly & devoutly, & this is ye Oration which he shall say:

This is the Oration of the four tongues, Chaldee Greek, Hebrew and Latine evidently expounded, wch is called, The Splendour or Speculum of wisdom.

In all holy Lunations, these Orations ought to be read one in ye morning, one about the third hour, one about the ninth hour, and one in ye evening.

The Oration.

Assay lemath, Assay, lemeth Azzabue.

The second part of the precedent Oration which is to be said onely once Azzaylemath, lemath, Azacgessenio.

The third part of the precedent Oration, wch is to be spoken together with the other Lemath, Sebanche, Elithy, Aygezo.

This Oration hath no exposition in the Latine

This is a holy prayer, without danger of any sinn, wch Salomon saith is inexplicable by humane sence, & he addeth & saith That the expleration thereof is more prolixious then can be considered of, or apprehended by man; excepting all those secrets, wch is not lawfull neither is it given to man to utter: therefore he leaveth this Oration without any exposition because no man could attaine to the perfection thereof: and it was left so spirituall, because the angel that declared it to Salomon, laid an inexpressible prohibition upon it saying. see that thou doe not presume to give to any other, nor to expound any thing out of this Oration, neither thou thy selfe nor any one by thee, nor any one after thee: for it is a holy & sacramentall mysterie that by the proferring ye words thereof God heareth thy prayer, & increaseth thy memory, understanding, Eloquence, & establish them all them all them all in thee. — Lett it be read in appointed times of the Lunations, as in the fourth day of the Moon, the Eight and Twelfth, as it is written & commanded; say that oration very diligently four times in those dayes; verily beleeving, that thereby thy study shall suddenly be increased and made clear, without any ambiguity, beyond the apprehension of humane Reason.

Of the Efficacy of that Oration which is inexplicable to humane sence.

This is that only wch Salomon calleth The happines of wit; and Appollonius termeth it, The sight of the soule, and The speculum of wisdom. The vertue & efficacy whereof is so great That it is understood or apprehended by very few or none, Therefore having essayed some petitions, signs & precepts, wee give them as an Entrance to ye things whereof wee Intend to speak of wch they are part, that wee have spoken of before, nevertheless before wee come to speak of them, some things are necessary to be declared, whereby wee may more clearly & plainly sett forth our Intended description, for as we have said before; there are certaine exceptions of the Notory art, some whereof are dark and obscure; and others plaine and Manifest. For the Notory art hath a Booke in Astronomy whereof it is the beginning and Mistress, and the vertue of it is such that all arts are taught and derived from her, and wee are further to know that the Notory art doth in a wonderfull manner containe & comprehend within it selfe all arts and the knowledge of all Learning therefore it is called the Notory art because in certaine briefe Notes it teacheth and comprehendeth the knowledge of all arts, for so Salomon also saith in this Treatise Lemegeton, that is in his Treatise of spirituall & secret Experiments.

Here He sheweth, in what manner those notes differ in Art, & the reason thereof, for a Note is a certaine knowledge by the Oration and figure before set downe.

But of the Orations & figures mention shall be made in their due place; and how ye Notes are called in the notory art Now he maketh mention of that Oration wch is called The Queene of Tongues; for amongst these Orations there is one more Excellent then ye rest wch Salomon would therefore have called The Queen of Tongues because it taketh

away, as it were with certaine sweet covering the Impediments of ye tongue, & giveth it a marvelous faculty of Eloquence. wherefore before we proceed further, take a little stay of that Oration: for this is an Oration wch in the scriptures we are taught to have allwayes in our Mouthes; But it is taken out of ye Chaldean Language, wch although it be short, is of a wounderfull vertue, that when thou read that scripture with the oration before mentioned, you cannot keep silent those things, which the tongue and understanding suggest, & administer to thee.

The Oration wch followeth, Is a certaine Invocation of the angels of God and it provoketh Eloquence, and ought to be said in the beginning of the scriptures, and in the beginning of the Month.

The Oration

Lameth, Lignach, Simach, Belmay, Azzailement, Gisigon, Lothamasim, Ozetogomaglial, Zeziphier, Josanum, Solatac, Bozifama, Defarciamar, Zemait, Lemaio, Pheralon, Anuc, Philosophi, Gregoon, Letos, Anum, Anum, Anum.

How this oration is to be said in the beginning of every Month Chastly and with a pure Minde.

In the beginning of the scriptures [illegible] as we taught in the precedent Oration ought to be spoken most secretly, and nothing ought to be retained, which thy minde and understanding suggests and prompts to thee in the reading thereof. Then also follow certaine words, which are as a prologue thereof, which ought always to be begun in the beginning of the Month, and also in the other days; I would also have this, that it is also to be pronounced wisely and with the greatest reverence, and that fasting, before you have taken either Meat or drink.

Here followeth the Prayer wee speake of before, to obtaine good Memory most mighty

O most mighty God, Invisible God, Theos Patir Heminas, by thy archangels, Eliphamasay, Gelonucoa, Gebeche Banai, Gerabcai, Elomnit, and by thy glorious angels, whose names are so consecrated, that they cannot be uttered by us; wch are these Do. Hel. X. P. A. Li. O. F: &c which cannot be comprehended by humane sense.

Here following is the Prologue of the precedent Oration, which provoketh & procureth Memory, & is continued with the precedent note.

This oration ought to be said next to ye precedent oration, to wit Lameth, & with this, I beseech thee today, O Theos, to be said alwayes as one continued Oration. If it be for ye Memory lett it be said in the Morning; if for any other effect in ye Evening, and thus lett it be said in ye hour of ye Evening & in ye Morning, & being thus pronounced with ye precedent Oration, it encreaseth the Memory, & helpeth ye Imperfections of ye Tongue.

Here beginneth the Prologue of this Oration.

I beseech thee o my Lord to Illuminate ye light of my Conscience wth ye splendour of thy light, Illustrate and confirme my understanding wth the sweet odour of thy spirit, adorn my soule, that hearing I may hear, & wt I hear I may retaine in my Memory, O Lord reform my heart, restore my senses, and strengthen them qualifie my Memory with thy giftts, mercyfully open the dullness of my senses O most mercifull God, temper the frame of my tongue, by thy most glorious & unspeakable name; Thou who art the fountaine of all goodness, the originall & spring of piety have patience with me give a good Memory unto me, and bestow upon me what I pray of thee in this holy oration. O Thou who doest not forthwith Judge a sinner, but mercifully waitest expecting his repentance, (I though unworthy) beseech thee to take away the guilt of my sinns, & wash away my wickedness & offences, & grant me these my petitions by the vertue of thy holy angels Thou who art one God in trinity Amen.

Here he sheweth some other vertue of the precedent Oration.

If thou desire of any great person, what it may be, or if thou wouldst be [illegible] of any danger present or to come; or if thou wouldst be certified of any one that is absent, say this say this oration three times in the Evening with great reverance and devotion, and thou shall have and see that which thou desirest.

Here followeth an Oration of great vertue, to attaine the knowledge of the Phisicall Art, having also many other virtues & Efficacy.

If you would have the perfect knowledge of any disease; wherein the same tend to death or life: if the sick party live languishing, stand before him and say this Oration three times with great reverance

The oration of the Phisicall art

Jhezus fili Dominus Incomprehensibilis, Ancor, Anacor, Anylos, Zohorna, Theodonos helyotes Phagor, horizane, Corichito, Anasac, Helse, Tonope, Phagora.

An other Part of the same Oration

Eliminator, Candones helose Tephagain, Secedum, Thaones Behelos Belhoros, Hocho Phagan, Corphandonos Humana natus & vos Eloytus Phugora, Be present ye holy angels Advertise and teach me, whether such a one shall recover or dye of this Infirmity.

This being done then aske the sick person: friend how dost thou feel thy selfe, if he answereth thee, I feel my selfe at good ease, I begin to mend, or the like: then Judge without doubt the sick person shall recover. But if he answereth, I am very grievous ill, or worse and worse; then doubtlesse conclude he will dye on the Morrow: But if he answereth I know not how my state and condition is, whether better or worse; Then you may know likewise, that he either dye, or his desease will change and alter for the worse. if it be a Child, that is not of years capable to make an answare, or that the sick Languisheth so grieviously, that he knoweth not who, or will not answare, say this oration three times; and what you find first revealed in your mind, that Judge to come to pass of him.

~~If this be~~ furthermore if anyone dissemble, and would hide or cover his Infirmity, say the same Oration, and the angelicall vertues shall suggest the truth to thee.

If the deseased persons be far of, when you hear his name: say likewise this oration oration for him, and your minde shall reveale to you, whether he shall live or die.

If you touch the pulse of any one that is sick, saying this Oration, the Effect of his Infirmity shall be revealed to you.

Or if you touch the pulse of any woman with Child, saying the same Oration, it shall be revealed, whether shee shall bring forth a ~~Male~~ or Female.

But know that this miracle proceedeth not from your own Nature, But from the nature and vertue of the holy angels, it being a part of their office, wonderfully to reveale these things to you. If you dout of the virginity of any one say this Oration in your Minde and it shall be revealed to you whether she be a virgin or corrupt.

Here followith the efficacious Preface of an Oration, shewing what vertue & efficacy you may thereby prove every day.

Of this oration Salomon saith: that by it a new knowledge of Phisick is to be revealed from God, upon which he hath laid this command, and calleth it the miraculous & efficatious foundation of the Phisicall ~~art or science wherein there is contained rather~~ sience; and that it containeth in it the quantity and quality of the whole Phisicall art and sience; wherein there in contained, rather a Miraculous and Efficatious, then fearfull or terrable a miracle, which as often soever as you read the same regard not the paucity of words, but praise the vertue of so great a mistery

It is to be noted and considered that every note of every art hath his proper Oration, and that the notes of one art profit not to the knowledge of another art and we are to know that all figures have their proper Orations.

A certaine speciall precept.

This is necessary for us, and will expresly declare in this place knowing so compendious volumes of great proixious volumes of writtings in sufficient compendious Treatises, which that it may be easily done ~~wee~~ we are diligently to enquire out the way of attaining it out of the three most ancient Books, which were composed by Solomon. The first & chiefe thing to be understood therein is. That the Oration before the Second Chapter is to be used Long before before every speech, the beginning whereof is Assay: and the words of the Oration are to be said in a competent space of time: but the subsequent part of ye Oration is then chiefly to be said, when you desire the knowledge of ye volumes of writings, and looking into ye notes thereof. The same Oration is also to be said when you would clearly and plainly understand and expound any ~~[illegible]~~ science or great mistery that is on a sudden proposed to you wth you never heard of before; say also the same Oration at such time when any thing of great consequence is importuned of you, which at present you have not the faculty of expounding. This is a wonderfull Oration of which we have spoken. the first part whereof is expounded in the volume of the Magnitude of the quality of art.

The oration

Lamed, Rogum, Ragia, Ragium, Ragiomal, Agaled, Eradioch, Anchovionos, Lochen, Saza, ya, Manichel, Mamacuo, Lephoa, Bozaco, Cogemal, Salayel, Ytsunanu, Azaroch, Beyistar, Amak.

To the operation of the Magnitude of art. this oration continueth in ye second place a generall treatise of the first note of all Scripture: part of ye Exposition ... whereof wee have fully explained in ye Magnitude of ye quality of ye same art. But ye reader hath hardly heard of ye admirable mysteries of ye sacramentall intellects of ye same, lett him know this for a certaine evidence not of the great knowledge of ye Oration aforesaid, but that ye beginning of them is expounded in Latine or English.

The beginning of the oration—

O Eternall and [illegible] perfect memory [illegible] wisdom [illegible] power! lett thy right hand encompass my heart, and ye holy angels of thy Eternall councill compleat & fill up my conscience wth thy memory, and ye odour of thy oyntments lett ye sweetness of thy grace strengthen and fortifie my understanding, through ye pure splendour ... brightness of thy face and all thy holy heavenly vertues, wisdom whereby [illegible] thou hast made all things, understanding by which thou hast reformed all things [illegible] whereby thou hast restored lost mankind, and raised him after his fall to heaven learning, whereby thou wert pleased to teach teach Ada

teach Adam ye knowledge of every science Informe, replenish, instruct, restore correct & refine me, that I may be made new in the understanding thy precepts, and in receiving the ~~[illegible]~~ sciences which are profitable for my soule and body, and for all faithfull believers in thy name, which is blessed for ever world without End.

here is also a particular Exposition of ye foregoing Oration, wch hath left unexpounded to be read by every one that is learned in this art, and know that no humane power nor faculty in Man is sufficient to find out ye exposition thereof

This Oration is also called by Salomon. The gemme, or Crown of ye Lord for he saith it helpeth against danger of fire or of wild Beasts of ye Earth being said wth a believing faith for it is affirmed to have been reported from one of ye four Angels, to whome was given power to hurt the Earth, the sea and the trees There is an example of this Oration in the Booke called The flower of Heavenly Learning. for herein Salomon glorifieth God, because by this he inspired into him ye knowledge of Theology and dignified him with the divine Mysteries of his omnipotent power & greatness, which Salomon beholding in his night sacrafice, bestowed upon him by the Lord his God, he conveniently gathered the greater Mysteries to gather in this Notory art. Where holy & worthy & wonderfull Mysteries. These things and mysteries of Theology. the erring gentills have not all lost. which ~~calleth~~ Salomon calleth the signe of ye holy Mysteries of God, revealed by his angel before and that which is contained in them is ye fullness of our dignity and humane salvation.

The first of these Orations is which we call spirituall, the Virtue whereof teacheth Divinity, & preserveth the memory thereof.

The first art [illegible] Orations also that have a great [illegible] [illegible] salvation the first whereof is spirituall and teacheth divinity, it also [illegible] ye memory thereof, Therefore Salomon commandeth it to be called ye signe of ye grace of God ~~for~~ for as Ecclesiasticus saith This is the spirituall grace of God, that hath given me the knowledge to treat of all Plants from the Cedar of

Libanon

Libanon to the Hyssop that groweth on the wall

The Election of Tyme in what Lunation these Orations ought to be said.

The first Oration ought to be said once in the first Lunation, in ye the third three times, in ye sixth six times, in ye ninth nine times in the twelfth twelf times in ye seaventeenth seaventeen times; and in ye Eighteenth as many times; in the twenty six as many in ye twenty Ninth as many, and so many in the thirty Ninth; for this oration is of great vertue and Efficacy, that in ye very day, thou shalt say ye same, as if it it were determined by ye father, it shall encrease thy knowledge in ye science of divinity.

But if otherwise that thou art Ignorant, and hath been seen by thy companions thy Superiours or Inferiours, though unto others thou shalt seeme to have knowledge entred into the study of divinity, and the Lectures by the space of some Monthes, casting of doubt from thee, of them who shall see thee, to know such things, & in that day wherein ~~thou~~ thou wouldest say it, live chastly, and say it in ye morning.

Salomon testifieth, that an angel delivered ye following Oration, in Thunder who standeth alwayes in ye presence of ye Lord, to whome he is not dreadfull The Mysterie hereof is holy and of great Efficacy, neither ought this oration to be said above once; because it moveth ye heavenly spirits to performe any great work.

Of this Oration he saith, that so great is ye Mystery thereof that it moveth the Celestial spirits to performe any great work wch the divine power permitteth it also giveth ye vertue of its mysterie, that it healeth ye tongue and Body of him that speaketh it, with so great inspiration as if some new, and great mystery were suddenly revealed to his understanding.

Here followeth the beginning of this Oration Wherein is so great vertue and Effecacy as wee have said it being said with great devotion Achacham. yhel Chelychem Agzyracor, gegor, &c.a

This is the beginning of the Oration the parts whereof are four, But there is something to be said of the beginning by it selfe; and of the four parts severally; and then between the beginning and these Orations which are four wee shall make this competent division.

For this is that which is to be spoken of the beginning severally, and this Oration is to be divided into four parts; and the first part thereof is to be said, that is ye beginning, before any other part of the Oration is to be compleated. These greek names following are to be pronounced. This is the division of these Orations, Helma, Helma Hemna, &c. Oh God the Father God the Sonn God the holy ~~Ghost~~ spirit, confirm this Oration, and my understanding and Memory, to receive, understand, and retaine ye knowledge of all good scriptures, and give me perseverance of Mind therein,

This is the beginning of that Oration which as we have said before ought to be said according to ye prolations and constitutions thereof; and ought to be repeated because of the forgetfullness of our Memory, and according to ye exercise of our wit & according to the sanctity of our Life; there being contained in it so great a Mystery and such Efficacious vertue.

There followeth another subtile Oration, wherein is contained a sacramentall Mystery and wherein every perfect science is wounderfully compleated: for hereby God would have us to know, what things are Celestiall, and what are terrene: and what heavenly things the Celestialls perceive, and what Earthly things the terrene because the Lord hath said Mine Eyes have seen the Imperfect, and in the Book every day shall be formed and written, and human in them &c. so it is in the precepts of God, for we are not able to know all things, how the sun hath the same course as at first, that our order may be confirmed: for all writing whatsoever, which is not from God, is not to be read, for God himselfe would have all things be divided: and this is how these are to be used before the second part, which containeth so glorious and excellent conserations of Orations and defineth the consecrated part to have power in the heavens, and in nowise can be defined by humane Tongues.

This is the beginning of the second part of that Oration spoken of before which is of so great vertue:

Ageziss. Shei ~~[illegible]~~ miros Shonnsos &c.

Caltis ye

This is ye second part of ye precedent Oration, of which some singular thing is to be spoken whereof if thou sayest this Oration, commemorating ye first part thereof, say ye oration following, and thou shalt perceive the precepts which are therein

O God of all things, who art my God who in the beginning hast created all things out of Nothing, and hast reformed things by the holy spirit, compleat and restore my conscience, and heal my understanding, that I may glorifie thee in all my works thoughts & words, and after thou hast said this Oration, Make a little respight the space of half an hour, and then say the third part of the oration wch followeth:

Megal, legal, Chariotos &c having said this third part of the Oration then Meditate with thy selfe about ye Scriptures thou desirest to know, and then say this oration, Oh Thou that art the true light, and way of all Creatures, oh Just God, vivifie me, and confirm my understanding, and restore my knowledge, and conscience unto me; as thou didst unto King Salomon, Amen.

Commemorating ye parts according to that wch is laid down, add ye Oration following, ye other Orations being said, say the fourth part of the Oration which is this.

Amasiel Danyi. hayi. &c

Then the Orations being commemorated as is directed add also the following Oration.

I speak these things in thy presence o Lord, before whose face all things are naked and open, That I being washed from ye Errour of Infidelity, Thy allquickening Spirit may assist me, and take away all Incredulity from me

How the Latine Orations are not Expounded by the words of Orations Observe therefore to know that ye whole Oration is not expounded, being ye words thereof are of so great subtility, adorned with ye Hebrew & Chaldean Tongue, with the subtile & wonderfull Elocution of God, that ye office of the free Exposition thereof cannot possibly be transferred upon me, The Latine words which are subjoyned to the parts of the Oration afforesaid, are such words, as have been Translated out of the Chaldean Tongue for they

for they for they are not the whole Oration; But as certaine heads of every Oration pertaining thereunto.

Here he speaketh of the Efficacy of all these.

For this Oration is of such a Mystery, as King Salomon himselfe witnesseth that a servant of his house having found this Book by chance, and being to much overcome with wine, in ye company of a woman, he presumptuously read it; but before he had finished a part thereof, he was striken dumb, blind, and deaf, and his Memory taken from him: she continued to the day of his death: and in ye hour of his death, he spoke and said that ye four angels wch he had offended in presumptuous reading so sacred a Mystery, were ye daily keepers & afflicters of his Memory, another of his speech a third of his sight and the fourth of his hearing.

By wch testimony this Oration is so much commended by the same King Salomon and great is ye Mystery thereof: wee do greatly require and charge every one that he doth it not presumptuously wherefore lett this Oration be said according as is directed.

In this Chapter he sheweth the Efficacy of the subsequent Oration, it being speciall for to obtaine Eloquence

This holy Oration wch followeth, is a certaine speciall oration, to obtaine Eloquence whereas ~~[illegible]~~ all others have vertue and Efficacy in other things, this containeth this certaine speciall Mystery in it selfe: and whereas one of the generalls is shewing in it selfe, certaine generall precepts, common to all arts, for so God instituted ye souls in Bodys saying This I give unto you, that ye may keep and observe the Law of the Lord. and these are they that stand in ye presence of ye Lord always, and see their saviour face to face night and day. So of this Oration I say, This is ye most precious Mysticall and Revelative Oration, containing such mysteryes in ~~it~~ wth ye mind, conscience and tongue needeth. This is such a Mystery, that a man shall keep it according to his will who foreseeth all things in his sight, that are made, for ye Mystery of this Oration is glorious and sacramentall: let no man presume to say any of this Oration after too much drinking or Luxury, nor fasting without great reverence and discretion, whence Salomon saith let no man presume to read any thing of this Oration but in certaine determinate appointed times, unless he make mention of this Oration before some great president for some weighty ~~[illegible]~~ business, for wth this Oration is of wonderfull excellent vertue ye goodness of this Oration, and ye attaining to ye Effects thereof, is read in that Chapter wherein it is said follow me & I will make you fishers of men, which he saideth as he said and did we know that it is not of our power, that this Oration is of so great a vertue & such a Mystery as some times also ye Lord said to his disciples, this wee are not able to know for this Oration is such a Mystery that it containeth in it the great Name of God, wch many have lyed, in saying they knew it, Jesus himselfe performed many Miracles in ye Temple by it; But many have lyed about what he did, and have hidd and absconded ye truth thereof, so that none have declared ye same before it came to pass: but wee suppose have spoken something about or concerning it.

In this Chapter he setteth down the Time and manner how this Oration is to be pronounced.

For this Oration is one of ye generalls & ye first of particulars containing both in it selfe, having a speciall vertue and faculty, to gaine Eloquence in it selfe: therefore it is necessary to be understood what time, ordination, & wch dayes it is to be said and ~~published~~ published. —. it may always be rehearsed in every 14 Lunary as above said but ye ordination of ye time for every day, wherein it is to be said is especially in ye Morning betimes, before a man is defiled, & then all Orations are the fittest to be said and this Oration must be then pronounced totally to gather without any division; and although there are divisions therein, the Oration is not divided in it selfe, but only the divine and glorious Names are written severally, and are divided in to parts, according ~~to~~ ye terminations of every great and glorious Name; and it is to be said to gather as a most Excellent Name; But not as one word, because of ye fragility of our Nature; Neither is it needfull to know ye Elements of sillables posited in this Oration, they are not to be known, neither lett any one presumtiously speak them, neither lett him doe any thing by way of temptation concerning this Oration, wch ought not to be done: Etmot Serek Hemech Zaba. &c.

No man that is impedited or corrupted with any Crime, ought to presume to say this Oration.

This is a thing agreed and amongst ye wise men of this world, that those things wee have said before, be pronounced wth great reverence and Industery. It may be said every day wherein thou art not hindered by some criminall sinn. & in that day wherein thou art Impedited by some criminall sin, thou mayst remember it in thy heart, and if thou doest desire to be made Eloquent, repeat it three times, and if any evill thing troubleth thee, or thou art encumbered and Involved into any great Buisnesse

great Businesse, repeat this Oration once, & Eloquence shall be added to thee as much as is needfull, and if thou repeat it over thrice, great Eloquence shall be given to thee; So great a Sacrament is this Oration.

The third thing to be considered in this Oration is, This Oration ought to be pronounced, that confession of ye heart and Mouth ought to proceed it; lett it be pronounced ~~in~~ in ye Morning early, and after that Oration say ye Latine oration following.

This is a Prologue or Exposition of the precedent Oration, Which ought to be said to gather

Oh omnipotent and Eternall God, and mercifull Father, blessed before all worlds, who art a God Eternall, Incomprehensible, & unchangable, & hath granted this blessed gift of salvation unto us; according to ye Omnipotency of thy Majesty hast granted unto us the Faculty of speaking, and learning wch thou hast denyed to all other animals; and hast disposed of all things, by thy Infalible providence: thou art God, whose Nature is Eternall, and consubstantiall, exalted above ye heavens; in whome ye whole deity corporally dwelleth: I implore thy Majesty, and glorify thy omnipotency, with an Intensive Imploration, adoring the Majesty & vertue, power and Magnificence of thy Eternity, I beseech thee O my God, to grant me the Inestimable wisdom of ye life of thy holy angels. Oh God ye holy Spirit Incomprehensible; in whose presence stand ye holy quire of angels; I pray and beseech thee, by thy holy and glorious Name, and by the light of thy angels, and the heavenly principalities, to give thy grace unto me, to be present with me, and give unto me power to persevere in the Memory of thy wisdom, who livest and reignest eternally one Eternall God, through all worlds of worlds in whose sight are all Celestiall vertues, Now and allways, and every where; Amen..

This Oration being thus finished there must of necessity some mystery be added, so that you are to be silent a while after the Lattine Orations is ended, and after a little taciturnity, that is a little space of silence, begin to say this Oration following Semet, Lamen &c.

This saith Salomon, is the Oration of Orations and a speciall Experiment whereby all things, whether generalls or particulars, are known fully, Efficaciously & perfectly and are kept in ye Memory, But when thou hast by this Oration attained the Eloquence thou desirest, be sparing thereof, and doe not rashly declare those things, wch thy Conscience suggesteth & administreth to thee; for this is the end of all generall precepts, which are given to

given to obtaine Memory, Eloquence, and understanding, all those things wch were before delivered, of generall precepts, are given as signes how the faculty of attaining to the understanding of the generall precepts may be hadd, which also Salomon calleth spiritualls. and those singular arts, have singular vertues & powers,

---

Here followeth the additionall part of the Notory Art. as it stands in the Latin part of the printed Exemplar

The Benediction of the Place

Blesse O Lord this place, that there may be in it holy sanctity, chastity, meeknesse, victory, holinesse, humility, goodnesse, plenty, obediance of ye law, to ye Father Son & holy Ghost, hear O Lord, holy Father; almighty Eternall God; and send thy holy angel Michael, who may protect, keep, preserve, and visit me, dwelling in this tabernacle, by him who liveth &c.

wherein you would operate, have respect to ye Lunations, they are to be chosen in those Monthes when the ☉ ruleth in ♊ and ♍. ♈. ♌, ♎. ♉. in the Months you may begine.

In the Name of the Lord, beginneth this most holy art, wch ye most high God administred to Salomon by his angel upon the altar, that thereby suddenly in a short space of time he was established in ye knowledge of all sciences, and know that in these Orations are contained all sciences, Lawfull and unlawfull,

First if you pronounce ye Orations of Memory, Eloquence, and understanding, & ye stability thereof, they will be mightily Encreased, in so much that you will hardly keep silence; for by a word all things were Created, and by the vertue of that word all Created beings stand, and every sacrament, and that word is God. Therefore ~~have no~~ lett the Operator be constant in his faith, & considerately believe, that hee shall obtaine such knowledge and wisdome, in ye pronouncing ~~these~~ Orations, for with God nothing is impossible therefore lett the operator an proceed in his work, with faith, hope and constant desire, firmly believing, because we can obtaine nothing but by faith; therefore have no doubt in this operation, whereof there ~~is~~ three species whereby the art may be obtained

The first species is Oration, and reason of a Godly mind Not by attemp attempting a voy of deprecation, but by reading and repeating the same in ye inward parts

The second species is fasting and praying, for the praying man, God heareth.

The third species is Chastity he that would operate in that art, lett him be clean and chast by the space of Nine dayes at least; and before you begin it is necessary that you know the time of the ☽ for in the prime of the it is proper to operate in this art. and when you begin so sacred an art, have a care to abstaine from all mortall sins. at least while you are proceeding in this work untill it be finished & compleated: and when you begin to operate say this verse following;

Lift up the light of thy countenance upon me, O Lord my God, and forsake Not me thy servant N, that trusteth in thee.

Then say three times Pater Noster &c: and assert that thou wilt never commit willfull perjury But allways persevere in faith and hope: this being done with bended knees in the place wherein thou wilt operat say.

+ Our help is in the Name of ye Lord, who hath made heaven and Earth. and I will enter into the Invocation of the most high, unto him who enlightneth & purifieth my soule and conscience wch dwelleth under the help of the most high, and continueth under ye protection of ye God of heaven: O Lord open and unfold ye doubts of my heart, and change me into a new man, by thy love: Be thou O Lord unto me tower of faith, ye hope of my life, and perfect Charity, to declare thy wonders. Lett us pray: then say the Oration following:

O God my God, who from ye beginning first created all things out of nothing, and reformest all things by thy spirit, restore my conscience, and healing understanding, that I may glorifie Thee in all my thoughts, words and deeds, through him who liveth and reigneth with thee for ever Amen.

Now in ye Name of Christ, on ye first day of ye Month when thou wouldst acquire Memory, Eloquence, and understanding, and stability thereof with a perfect good and contrite heart. and sorrow for thy sins committed thou maist begin to pronounce these orations following, which appertaine to ye obtaining of Memory and all sciences and which were composed, and delivered by the angel to Salomon from ye hand of God.

The first and last oration of this art is Alpha & Omega, O God omnipotent &c.

To perform a [illegible]

This is to follow ye third oration of ye crown in ye beginning of ye Notory art.

I confess, O Theos hazamagiel gezuzan, Sazaman, Sathaman. getormantas, Salathiel, nesomel, megal, vuighama, Jazamir, Zeyhaman, hamamal, amna, nisza, deleth, hazamaloth, may pamazathoran, hanasuelnia, sacromomem, gegonoman, Zaramacham, Cades, bachet girtassoman, gysiton palaphatos kalathiel, Osachynam machay. Amen

This is a true and approved Experiment, to understand all arts and secrets of ye world, to find out and digg up minerals and treasure. this was revealed by ye heavenly angel in this Notory art. for this art doth also declare things to come, and rendereth the sence capable of all arts in a short time, by the diverse use thereof.

We are to speak also of ye time and place. first therefore all these precepts are to be observed and kept, and ye Operation ought to be clean, chast, repentant of his sins, and earnestly desire to cease from sinning as much as may be, and so lett him proceed and every work shall be investigated into him by the divine Ministery.

when thou wilt operate in the New Moon, kneeling say this verse. Lift up the light of thy countenance upon us oh God. and forsake us not, oh Lord our God.

Then say three times the Pater Noster and afterwards lett him vow unto God that he will never commit wilfull perjury, but always persist in faith. this being done; at night say with bended knees before thy Bed,

Our help is in the name of the Lord &c and the ye Psalm who so dwelleth under ye shadow of ye ~~[illegible]~~ wings of ye most high, to ye End, and the Lords prayer and the prayer following:

Theos Pater vehemens, God of angels, I pray and Invocate thee by thy most holy angels Eliphamasay gelomiros, Gedo bonay saranana, Elomnia. and by all thy holy Names, by us not to be pronounced, which are these. de. el. x pn Kht li g ÿy not to be spoken or comprehended by humane sense, I beseech thee cleanse my conscience with ye splendour of thy Name, Illustrate & confirm my understanding with ye sweet saviour of thy holy spirit. O Lord adorne my soule &.

♀ The Processe ffolloweth.

When thou wilt operate concerning any difficult precept or question with bended knees before thy Bed, make confession unto god the Father: and having made thy confession — Say this Oration.—

Send O lord thy wisdome to assist me, that it may be with me and labour with me and that I may allways know what is acceptable before thee. and that unto me N — may be manifested the truth of this question or Art

This being done. Thrice in a day following, when thou risest give thanks to god Allmighty: Saying glory and honour, and Benediction be unto him, that sitteth on ye Throne, and that liveth for ever and ever Amen:

with bended knees and stretched out Arms and hands:

But if thou desirest to understand any Book, aske of some that hath knowledge thereof in what that Book treateth of: This being done. open the Booke and read in it and Operate as at first three times. and allwayes when thou goest to sleep write Alpha, and Omega, and afterwards sleep on thy right side, putting the palme of thy hand under thy Ear, and thou shalt see in a dream, all things thou desirest and thou shalt hear the voice of one Informing, and Instructing thee in that Booke and read therein. and thou shalt presently understand the same as if thou hadst studied in it a long time, and allways Remember to give thanks to god, as aforesaid:

afterwards on the first day say this oration: —

Oh ffather maker of all creatures (by thy unspeakable power) which hast made all things, [illegible] up [illegible] and [illegible], and [illegible] me from all [illegible] of Soul and Body Amen.

after reading say.

O Christ son of the living god who art the splendour and figure of light with whome there is no alteration nor shadow of change. thou word of god most high, the wisdome of the Father, open unto me thy unworthy servant N. — the veins of thy saving spirit, that I may swiftly understand, retain in memory and declare all thy wonders of wisdome, which proceedeth out of the mouth of the most high, powerfully reaching from end to end, and sweetly disposing of all things in the world and teach me thy way of prudence and wisdome.

O Lord which [illegible] thou hast given unto thy unworthy servant N. the same spirit and that I may allways rejoyce in thy consolation

Other Precepts:

Having finished these orations and given alms, when thou entrest thy chamber devoutly kneel down, before thy Bedd saying the 51 Psalm: have mercy upon me O god according to thy multitude of thy mercys &c. and the 31st Psalm in thee o lord have I trusted &c. Then rise up and goe to the wall and stretch forth thy hands having two nailes fixed, upon which thou mayst stay up thy hands: and say this prayer following with great Devotion: ~ ~ ~ ~ ~ ~

O god who for us miserable Sinners: didst undergoe the painefull death upon the Crosse: To whom alsoe Abraham offered up his son Isaac. I thy unworthy servant a sinner perplexed with many Evils, doe this day offer up and sacrifice ~~[illegible]~~ unto thee my Soul and Body: That thou mayst infuse into me thy divine wisdome and Inspire me with the Spirit of Prophecy wherewith thou didst inspire the holy ~~Spirit~~ prophets: ~ ~ ~ ~ ~ ~ ~ ~ ~ ~ ~ ~ ~ afterwards say this Psalm 17th O lord encline thine Ears unto my words &c ~ ~ and add the 23: The lord is my shepard and nothing shall I want. He shall set me down in green pastures his servant N. He shall lead me up the waters of refreshment, he converteth my soul and leadeth me N. upon the paths of his rightousness: for his holy name. Let my Evening Prayer ascend up unto thee o lord and lett thy mercy descend upon me thy unworthy servant N. protect save, Bless, and sanctifie me that I may have a shield against all the wicked darts of my enemys ~ Defend and [illegible] by the precious blood of thy just one wherewith thou hast redeemed me [illegible] and [illegible] great god whose wisdome hath laid the foundation of the heaven and formed the earth and placed the sea in its bounds and by the goodness [illegible] hast made all [illegible] and hast formed man out of the dust of the earth according to his own Image [illegible] likewise who gavest to Salomon the son of King David inspeakable wisdome [illegible] given to thy prophets the Spirit of prophecy and inspired the philosophers [illegible] perfect [illegible] knowledge [illegible] inspired the Apostles with [illegible] [illegible] and [illegible] the tongues who exalteth his Elect from Eternity and [illegible] them multiply O lord god thy mercy upon me thy unworthy servant N. by giving me a [illegible] heart [illegible] understanding adorned with vertue and knowledge [illegible] firm and sound memory that I may accomplish and retaine whatsoever [illegible]. Then [illegible] the greatness of thy wonderfull name: lift up O lord my god the light of thy countenance upon me that hope in thee; and [illegible] teach me O lord god of vertues, and shew me thy face and I shall be safe. Then add the 25 Psalm unto thee O lord doe I lift up up my Soul oh my god, in thee doe I trust; excepting that verse confundantur &c. having fullfilled these Things upon the wall: descend unto thy Bedd writting in thy Right hand, Alpha and Omega. Then goe to Bedd and sleep on thy Right side holding thy hand under thy right Ear. and thou shalt see the greatness of god as thou hast desired. and in the morning on thy knees before thy Bedd give thanks unto god for those Things he hath revealed to thee: I give Thanks unto thee o great and wonderfull god who hast given salvation and knowledge of Arts unto me thy unworthy servant N. Confirm this O god which thou hast wrought in me in preserving me: I give thanks unto thee O powerfull Lord god who createst me miserable sinner out of nothing when I was not, and when I was utterly lost: not redeemed, but by the precious blood of thy son our lord Jesus Christ: and when I was Ignorant thou hast given unto me learning and knowledge: grant unto me thy unworthy servant N. O lord Jezus Christ. that through thy knowledge I may be allways constant in thy holy service Amen ~ ~

These Operations being devoutly compleated: give thanks dayly with these last orations But when thou wouldest read Study, or dispute, Say, Remember thy word unto thy servant O lord, in which thou hast given me hope: This is my comfort in humility: Then add these Orations. Remember me O lord of lords put good words and speech into my mouth that I may be heard Efficaciously and powerfully to the praise glory and honour of thy glorious name which is Alpha and Omega, blessed for ever world without end Amen.

Then likewise say these orations following [illegible] and unconquerable wisdome [illegible] with the Spirit of wisdome and understanding and [illegible] my heart [illegible] and my tongue as an arrow [illegible] wisdome [illegible] the hearts of the [illegible] understand that [illegible] they speak Ezechiam &c ~ ~ ~ ~ ~ ~ ~ ~ ~ ~ ~ ~ ~

The manner of consecrating the figure of [illegible]

[illegible] consecrate with great faith hope and charity and [illegible] dedicated to be kept and used in operation as followeth on the [illegible] day of the new moon having [illegible] the new moon put the figure under ~~[illegible]~~ thy Right Ear and so consequently every other night and fourteen [illegible] day [illegible] the morning saying the Psalmes Qui habitat in [illegible] and [illegible] and this oration three dayes [illegible] first time of the day: then say the 9th Psalm [illegible] thrice and the oration Theos Patir Holes ~ ~ ~ ~ ~ ~ ~ ~ ~ ~ ~ ~ ~

In the third houre of the day say the 104 Psalm. Benedict anima mea Dominum The lords prayer Thrice and the oration Theos Patyr.

In the sixth houre say the 22 part of the 119 Psalm: Appropinquet deprecatio mea in conspectum tuo Domine secundum eloquium tuum grant unto my memory and hear my voice according to great mercy and according unto thy word. grant Eloquence and my lips shall show forth thy mercy when thou thou shall teach me thy glory: Gloria Patria &c say the lords prayer nine times and the oration Theos Patry.

In the ninth houre say the first part of the 119 Psalm: Beati immaculati in via. The lords prayer 12 Times and Theos Patry.

In the Evening say the 67 Psalm Deus misereatur nostri, The Lord prayer 15 Times and Theos Patyr as many times:

The last hour say the 22 Psalm: Deus Deus meus respice in me &c and the 70 Psalme Deus in adjutorium meum intende, and Te Deum laudamus. The Lords prayer once and Theos Patyr. Then say the oration following with:

O god who hast divided all things in number, weight and measure in houres nights and days who countest the number of the stars: give unto me constancy and virtue That in the true knowledge of this art N. I may love thee who knowest the gifts of thy goodness. who livest and reignest &c

Four Days the figure of memory ought to be considered with these orations.

O [illegible] of the creatures of the [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] lay [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] and [illegible] [illegible] ornaments called in latin Ecclesiasticum, which signify a Rood in which the priests used to sleep in the Temple to receive divine oracles, and in a clean place suffer [illegible] also with frankincense and [illegible] on the night with a light kindled, but so that no man may see thee and before ye Bedd upon thy knees say this oration with great Devotion

O most [illegible] [illegible] Face. ~~[illegible]~~ [illegible] put the figure with [illegible] about your head and sleep in the Bedd with clean linnen [illegible] and doubt not but you shall [illegible] whatsoever you desire. for this hath been proved by many, to whom such Celestiall secrets of the heavenly kingdome are granted of men

♂ O Lord adorne my soule that I may understand & perfectly remember what I heare, reforme my hearte & restore my heart & restore my sence, O Lord God and heale my Bowels open my mouth most mercyfull God, & frame & temper my tounge to the praise & glory of thy name, by thy glorious & unspeake name, O Lord who arte the fountaine of all goodness & — originall of all piety, have patience with mee & give unto mee a true understanding to know whatsoever is fitting for me & retaine the same in memory, thou who doest not presently judge a siner, but mercifully expectest Repentance, I beseeke the though unworthy to wash a way the filth of my sinss & wickednes & grant me my petitions to the praise & glory of thy holy name who liveth & Reigneth one God in perfect trinity world without end Amen

Some other presepts to be observed in this worke fast the day following with Bread & water & give almes If itt be the Lords day then give double almes be cleane in body & minde, bathe thy selfe & putt on cleane clothes — —

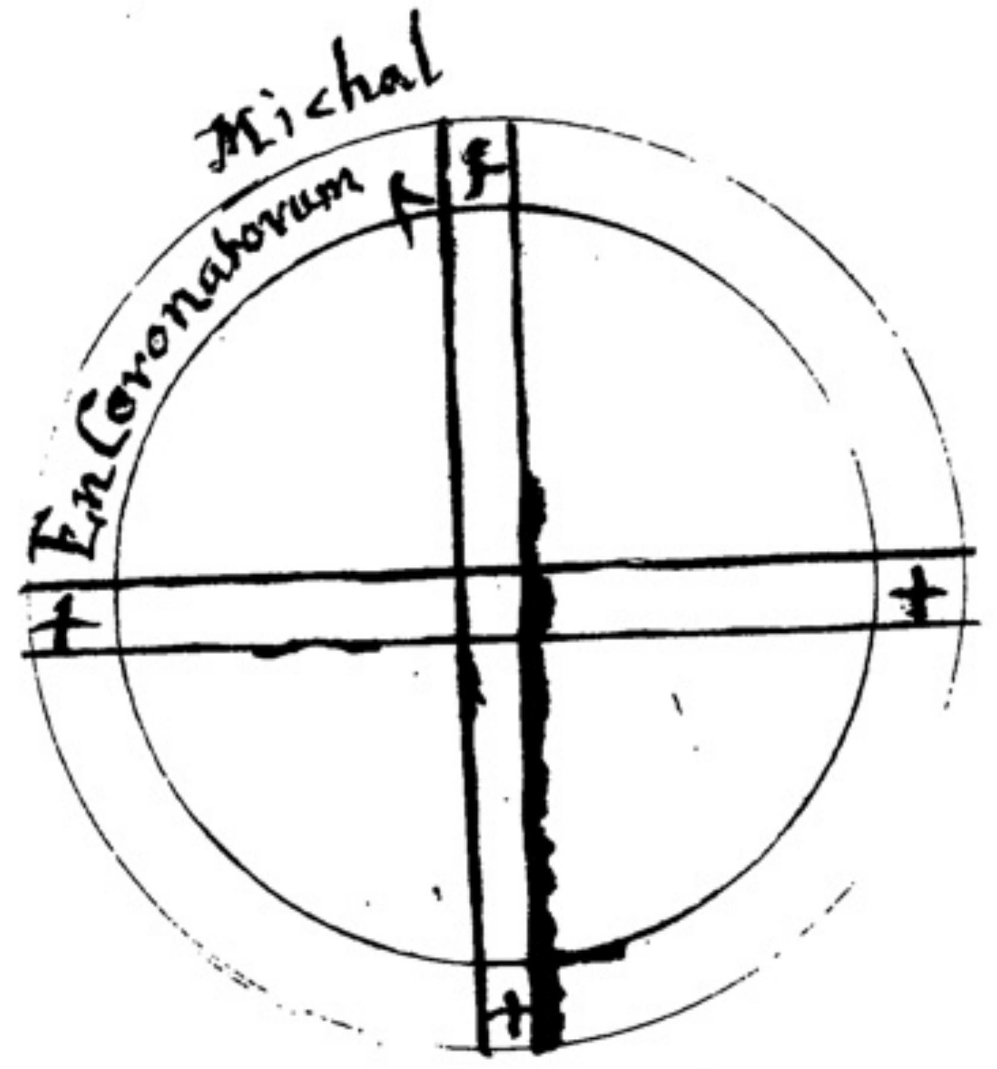
The Process ♀



The oration following ought to be said as you stand up: —

O great god holy Father, most holy Sanctifier of all Saints. Three and one most high Kinge of Kings. most powerfull god allmighty. most gracious and most wise desposer, moderator and governour of all Creatures, visible and Invisible: O mighty god whose Terrible and most mighty majesty is to be feared, whose omnipotency the heaven, the Earth the Sea hell and all things that therein doe admire, reverence, tremble at, and obey: —

O most powerfull, most mighty and most invincible Lord god of Sabbeth: O god incom prehensible, the wonderfull maker of all things, The teacher of all learning, arts and sciences. who wonderfully [illegible] the humble and meek, O god that art wisdome and knowledge [illegible] all the [illegible] of wisdome [illegible] who art ever presently to infuse wisdome, knowledge and learning into my mind. whose eyes beholdeth all things [illegible] who [illegible] through whom [illegible] [illegible] who alone [illegible] and ruleth the Bottomless pit, whose word [illegible] throughout the universall world. I confess my selfe this day before thy holy and glorious majesty and before the company of all heavenly vertues and potentates praising thy glorious majesty [illegible] thy great name which is a name wonderfull and above every name. Blessing thee O Lord my god I also [illegible] Thee most high most omnipotent Lord who alone art [illegible]. Thou great and [illegible] god Adonay, wonderfull dispensator of all graces, of all dignities and of all goodness, giver of all things to whomsoever thou wilt: mercifully, abundantly, and [illegible]: Send down upon me me this day the gift of the grace of thy holy Spirit and now O most mercifull god who hast created Adam the first man, according to thy Image and likeness; fortify the Temple of my Body and let thy holy Spirit descend, and dwell in my heart, that I may shine forth the wonderfull Beams of thy glory as thou hast been pleased wonderfully to operate in thy faithfull servants So O god most wonderfull King, and Eternall glory, send forth from thy seat of thy glorious majesty; a seavenfold Blessing of thy grace: The Spirit of wisdome and understanding The Spirit of Fortitude and councill; The Spirit of Knowledge and godliness: The Spirit of Fear, and love of thee: to understand thy wonderfull holy and secret mysteries; which thou art pleased to reveal, and which are fitting for thine to know: that I may comprehend the depth goodness and inestimable ~~g~~ sweetness of thy most immence mercy. piety and divinity: and now o most mercyfull Lord who didst breath in the first man the breath of life, be pleased this day to infuse into my heart a true perfect piercing powerfull and right understanding in all things; a quick and piercing grace of thy holy Spirit, and of the multitude of thy blessings, which thou bountifully bestowed on me grant that I may despise all other things and glorify thee alone. The god of all things the onely true and perfect god: That I may for ever glorify, praise, adore, bless and magnifie thee: The King of Kings, and Lord of Lords; and allways set forth thy praise mercy and Omnipotency: That thy praise may be allways in my mouth, and my soul may be inflamed with glory for ever before thee. O thou who art god omnipotent: King of all Kings. The greatest peace and perfectest wisdome: ineffable [illegible] sweetness and delight, the unexpressible joy of all good the desire of all the blessed. Their life comfort and glorious end: who was from Eternity and is and will be the vertue invincible. without pain or passion: Splendor and glory unquenchable: benediction. honour, praise and venerable glory before all worlds since and for ever [illegible] times without end Amen . . . .

The following Oration hath power to expell all ~~Lust~~

O Lord, holy Father omnipotent Eternall god, of [illegible] venerable majesty and immense goodness; O most mercifull Jesus Christ, repairer and restorer of mankinde O holy Ghost comforter, and love of the faithfull who holdest all the Earth in thy in thy fingers: and weighest all the mountaines and hills in the world: who doest wonders past searching out: whose power there is nothing can resist: whose ways are past finding out: defend my soul and deliver my heart from the wicked cogitations of this World: Extinguish and repress in me by thy power, all the sparks of lust and fornication That I may more intentively love thee and thy works and that the vertue of thy holy Spirit may be increased in me among the saving gifts of thy faithfull, to the comfort and salvation of my heart, soul, and Body. O thou most great and most holy god maker Redeemer and restorer of Mankind: I am thy servant the son of thy handmaid and the works of thy hands: O thou most mercifull god and Redeemer I cry & sigh before the sight of thy great majesty, beseeching thee with my whole heart to respect me a miserable sinner, and receive me to thy great mercy: give me eloquence learning and knowledge, that those that shall hear my words; they may be mellifluous in their hearts: That seeing and hearing thy wisdome: the proud may be made humble and hear and understand my words with great humility and consider the greatness and goodness of thy Blessings, who livest and reignest now and ever Amen. . . . .

Note that if you desire to know any thing that you are Ignorant of especialy of any Science, read this Oration: I confess my selfe to thee this day O god the father of heaven and Earth. Three times, and in the end express for what you desired to be heard afterwards in the evening when you goe to bedd say the oration Theos [illegible] and ye Psalm Qui habitat with the versicle Emitte spiritum and goe to sleep and take the figure for this purpose and put it under the right ear, and [illegible] the sword and [illegible] hand of thy right thou shalt see thy desires, and know without doubt that which thou desirest to find out and write in thy right hand Alpha and Omega with the sign of the Crosse and put that hand under thy right ear and fast the day before, only once eating such meat as is used on fasting days . . . .

This Booke is the hand writing of one Mr Arthur Gauntlet, who professed Phisick, & lived about Grais Inn Lane.

thou wilt beginne to worke, Thou shalt make Invo=cation for them thou wilt calle.

make cleane thy Hands and feete before the sight of the signes And Characters of Salomon.

make cleane thy hands and face and pare thy nailes both of Hands and feete.

bathe thy selfe in a bath of Laurell and other sweete herbs.

thy selfe with cleane Clothes.

abstaine from all carnall lusts. 3. dayes before.

calle and name the Spirit that thou wouldest have every day for the . 3. dayes before.

Spirit N. I require thee by the vertue of God almightie that thou appeare thy selfe unto the time and place appoynted by me calling upon thee.

must be done in the morning when the Sonne is up And in the Evening before the Sonne goe downe.

.6. speciall things to be observed in this worke whereof if you neg=lect but one it is doubtfull you shall not obtaine your purpose.

Master must have a great faith And doubt not in his worke for he that doubteth to obtaine his petition prayeth with his Mouth, Not with his hart must be secret And bewray not the secrets of his Arte but to his fellows And to them of his counsell must be strong minded Severe and not fearfull.

must be cleane in conscience penitent for his Sinns never willing to returne to them againe So far forth as God shall give him grace.

must know the reigning of the Planetts And the times meete to worke.

must lack none of his instruments He must speake all things plainly and distinctly He must make his Circle in a cleane Ayre And One time.

observing theis .6. Rules by Gods grace shall not misse but obtaine his purpose.

helpe is in the lord And in his holy name. O lord heere our prayers. The Lord is with us. [illegible]. So be it.

The booke of Arbatel of [illegible] The first Tome called [illegible]

[illegible] of visible and invisible things who revealeth misteries out of his treasuries and his secrets to those that call uppon him, And fatherly and out of his clemencie doth inlarge them unto us withought measure Lett him graunt unto us by his only begotten Some our lord Jesus Christ the spirits his ministers the revealers of secretts that we may wright the booke of Arbatel of the cheifest secrets which is lawfull for man to knowe and to use without offence to God. Amen. /

The first septen[illegible]
[illegible]

[illegible] would know secrets let him know how to keepe secrets secretly, and to reveale revealed things. To seale sealed things And not to give holy things to Dogs. Nor to cast Pearles before Swine. Observe this law and the eyes of thy minde shalbe opened to understand secrets And thou shalt heare devinely revealed what soever thy minde hath desired. Thou shalt have also the Angells of God to promp thee. And the spirits following misteries in nature as much as any humain minde can desire. /

[illegible] 2:

[illegible] s call uppon the name of the lord for without caling uppon God by his only begotten Some thou canst receive nothing either to thinke of or to doe. use the spirits given to thee as ministers and servants without rashnes and presumption with due reverence towars the lord of Spirits as the imbassadors of God. And that thou passe the remainder of thy life peacefully unto the honour of God And the proffit of thy Neighbour. /

[illegible] 3:

[illegible] fe and thy learning. Avoid the frendship of a multitude. Be coveteous of time. Be benificent to all. use thy gifts. watch in thy vocation. Lett the word of God never depart from thy mouth. /

[illegible] 4:

[illegible] that admonish thee well. Flee all procrastination. Accustome thy selfe unto constancie and gravitie in thy words and deeds. Resist the temptacions of the Tempter by the word of God. Fly worldly things. seeke heavenly. Respect not thine owne wisdome. but in all things have an eye unto God according to the Scriptures. when we know not what we should doe. O God we lift up our eyes unto thee and expect thy helpe. for where humaine safegard is wanting to us, there the helpe of God is present according as Philo saith. /

[illegible] 5:

Love the Lord thy God withall thy harte withall thy forces and thy neighbour as thy selfe And the lord shall kepe thee as the apple of his eye and shall deliver thee from all evell and replenish thee with his good and thy soule shall desire nothing which shall not in time be given to it aswell for the health of body as minde. /

[illegible] 6:

[illegible] soever thou shalt learne repeate often and print it in thie minde And thou mayest learne much. not many things. Because the humaine minde cannot containe all things unles it be hee who is devinely regenerat. To him nothing is so harde or so many double which he cannot unfolde. /

[illegible] 7:

[illegible] in the day of tribulation and I will heare thee and thou ſhalt honour me ſaith the lord. But now all ignorance is a trouble of the minde. Call therfore uppon the lord against thy ignorance and he will heare thee. And remember that thou givest the honour to God. And ſay with the Pſalmist. Not unto us O lord not unto us but to thy name give the glory /

The Second [illegible]: [illegible]

[illegible] That God giveth names to things or perſons and alſo diſtributeth with thos names the ſame forces and certaine offices to them out of his treaſuries. So the Characters and names of the constellacions have no force by reaſon of figure or pronountiation but by reaſon of vertue or office which God or nature hath ordained to ſuch a name or character For there is no vertue or force either in Heaven or in Earth or in Hell which decendeth not from God to give who not favoring and permitting nothing which he hath can be turned in to act. /

[illegible]:

The [illegible] that is in God. Next that which is in the Spiritual creatures. Then that which is tho Corporall. Fourthly that in nature and things [illegible] The Apoſtat Spirits follow theſe and are reſerved to the Judgment of the last day Sixtly the miniſters of the princes in Hell. and obaying God. Seventhly the Pigmeis doe not poſſes the lowest place And thoſe which dwell in the Ellements and Ellementary things. It is convenient that all the differences of the wiſdome of the Creator and the Creature ſhould be knowne and deſerned. That what we ought ~~to take for~~ our owne uſe of every thing might remaine ſure to us. And how we ſhould know that to be done indeede. For every Creature is made for the proffitable end of mans nature and for his ſervis as holy Scripture testifies And as reaſons and experience proves /

[illegible]: 10:

[illegible] Creator of Heaven and Earth And of all things viſible and inviſible Propounds him ſelfe plainly unto us in his word: And as a Father that tenderly loveth his Sons teacheth us what is proffitable. And what not. what to be avoided. what to be imbraced. And alſo allureth us to obedience with his cheife propoſed benifits Corporall and Eternall. And hindereth purpoſed pains from them which are commodions for us. Therfore doe thou reade and practiſe his word being converſant therin night and day That thou maist be happy and bleſſed for evermore. Doe this and thou ſhalt live as the ſacred writt hath taught. /

[illegible]:

[illegible] is Pithagoricall Therfor heare we place the grounde of all wiſdome after the revealed wiſdome of God in Sacred writ And unto the conſidering the purpoſe in nature.

[illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible] in the day of tribulation and I will heare thee and thou ſhalt honour me ſaith the lord. But now all ignorance is a trouble of the minde. Call therfore uppon the lord against thy ignorance and he will heare thee. And remember that thou giuest the honour to God. And ſay with the Pſalmist. [illegible] is Pithagoricall Therfor heare we place the grounde of all wiſdome after the reuealed wiſdome of God in Sacred writ And unto the conſiddering the purpoſe in nature.

[illegible]

Aphorism : :

[illegible] saith the Spirit to Peeter after the vision: Goe downe and doubt not for I haue sent them After this manner all Disciplines haue bene deliuered. Euen by the holy Angells of God. As it appeareth by the monuments of the Egiptians. And these after were depraued by mens opinions And the impulse of euell Spirits who sow Tares in the Children of distrust. It is manifest out of St Paul and Hermes Trismagist. And ther is no other reason of restoring arts then of the doctrine of the holy Spirits of God. for true faith commeth by hearing. But because thou maiest be certaine of the truth and maiest not doubt whether the Spirit that speaketh with thee pronounce true or falce. Lett it depend on thy faith in God that thou maiest say with Paul. I know whom I beleeue. If that a litle Sparrow may not light on the ground without the will of the father which is in Heauen. How much more O thou of litle faith will God not suffer thee to be deceiued If thou dependest on God and sticket to him only.

[illegible]

[illegible] and all things that liue liue in him and it is true [illegible] who is giuen to all that they be what they be And only with his vocall word by his Sonne hath brought forth all things that are out of nothing as they are He caleth all the Starres And all the Host of Heauen by their names. Therfor to whom God shall reueall the names of his Creatures he shall know their true forces. And the natures of things. The order and possesie of the whole Creature visible and inuisible. It remaineth also that he receiue power from God to bring forth forces in nature And the vniversall creature same hid from the ablenes into the act from darknes into light. Therfore thy whole scope ought to be this. That thou keepe the names of the Spirits. That is their offices and powers And that they may be subiected and addicted to thee in office and ministrie Euen as Raphiel was giuen to Tobias that he might heale his Father deliuer the Sonne from dangers And bring forth his wife unto him.

So Michael—

So Michael the fortitude of God gouerned the people of God. Gabriel the messenger of God was sent to Daniell. Marie. Zachary John Baptists father. And he is also giuen to thee if thou desire it who may teach thee what things thy minde hath longed after in the nature of things. vse thou his ministri with feare and trembling of thy Creator of thy redemer and sanctifier To wit of the father The Sonne. And the Holy Ghost. And doe not ouerslipp any occasion of learning And of watching in thy vocation. And thou shalt desire nothing of nessesary things

Aphorism : [illegible]

[illegible] for euer by him which Created thee. Call thou uppon thy lord God And serue him only. This shalt thou doe if thou considder with thy selfe unto what end thou wast Created And what thou owest to God. what to thy Neighbour. God requireth this of thee That thou honour his Sonne And that thou keepe the word of the Sonne in thy hart. And if thou shalt honour him Thou hast done the will of thy Father which is in Heauen Thou owest also duty of humanity toward thy neighbour And that thou maist bring all that come to thee to the honoring of the Sonne. This is the law and the prophets In temporall things thou oughtest to call uppon God as thy father That he would giue the all things nessesary for this life But thou oughtest to helpe thy Neighbour with Gods gifts whether they are spirituall goods or Corporall/

[illegible]

[illegible] builder and Creator of Heauen and Earth And of all things visible and inuisible I thine vnworthy Seruant Being commaunded by thee. Doe call uppon thee by thine only begotten Sonne our lord and Sauiour Jesus Christ That thou wilt giue unto me thine holy Spirit who may leade me into thy truth And unto all thy goodnes Amen

[illegible] with a true desire the Arts of this life And to know perfectly our necessaries which are ouerwhelmed with such darknes and blurred with such infinite opinions of men. That I may see. I cannot follow mine owne strength nor theirs If thou teachest me not: Giue me one—one of thy Spirits which may teach me those things which thou wouldest have vs learne and know unto thy praise and honour and profit of our neighbour. Give me also A docible and Capable hart That what thou shalt teach me I may perceive easily and lay them vp in my minde that they may be brought forth as out of thy deepe Treasures unto all necessarie vses and give me grace that I may vse such thy gifts humblie with feare and trembling Through our lord Jesus Christ with thy holy Spirit. Amen. /

the Olimpicall Spirits which inhabit in the firmament and in the Stares of the firmament And ther office is to deserne destinies and fatal chaunces And to administer according as God hath pleased and permitted them: For no Spirit neither the badd nor the good destinie which sitteth in the helping place of the highest can hurt. But every of the Olimpicall Spirits teacheth or effecteth what his Starre portends to whom it is adicted. Notwithstanding without Gods graunt The power deducteth nothing into act. For it is only God which giveth them the abillety and effect: of all things they obay God the Creator above the heavens the Sublunary heavens and infernalls Therfore obay thou this God being Captaine. what thou undertakest undertake and all happines and good wishes be alotted to the end of thy indeavours: For as much as the history of the whole world testifies and dayly experience shewes. There is peace to the Godly: No peace to the wicked saith the lord. /

[illegible] :

There are seuen Governours or Olimpicall differences of Offices with which seven God would have this universall frame of the world to be administred. But their visible Starrs are as followeth.

Aratron: Bethor : Phaleg : Och : Hagith:

in the whole univerce : 186 : Provinces the which are administered by : 7 : Governours. All which are plainly exprest in Astronomy But in this place how their Princes and Potestats are brought to conference is to be expressed. . Aratron appeareth on the first hower of the Sabaoth and giveth answers from his provinces and provincialls most truly. And likewise so doe the rest in order on their dayes and howers. . Also every one goeth before other. 490. yeares. The beginning of the single Anomoly was. 60 . yeares before the birth of our Saviour and the Bethor began to administer and ended in the yeare of our lord. 430. whos sucessor was Phaleg. who ended in the yeare of our lord God. 920. Next Och who ended in the yeare of our lord. 1410. from which time Hagith reigneth till the yeare. 1900.

And what things they are which they doe with their owne Liberall will ::

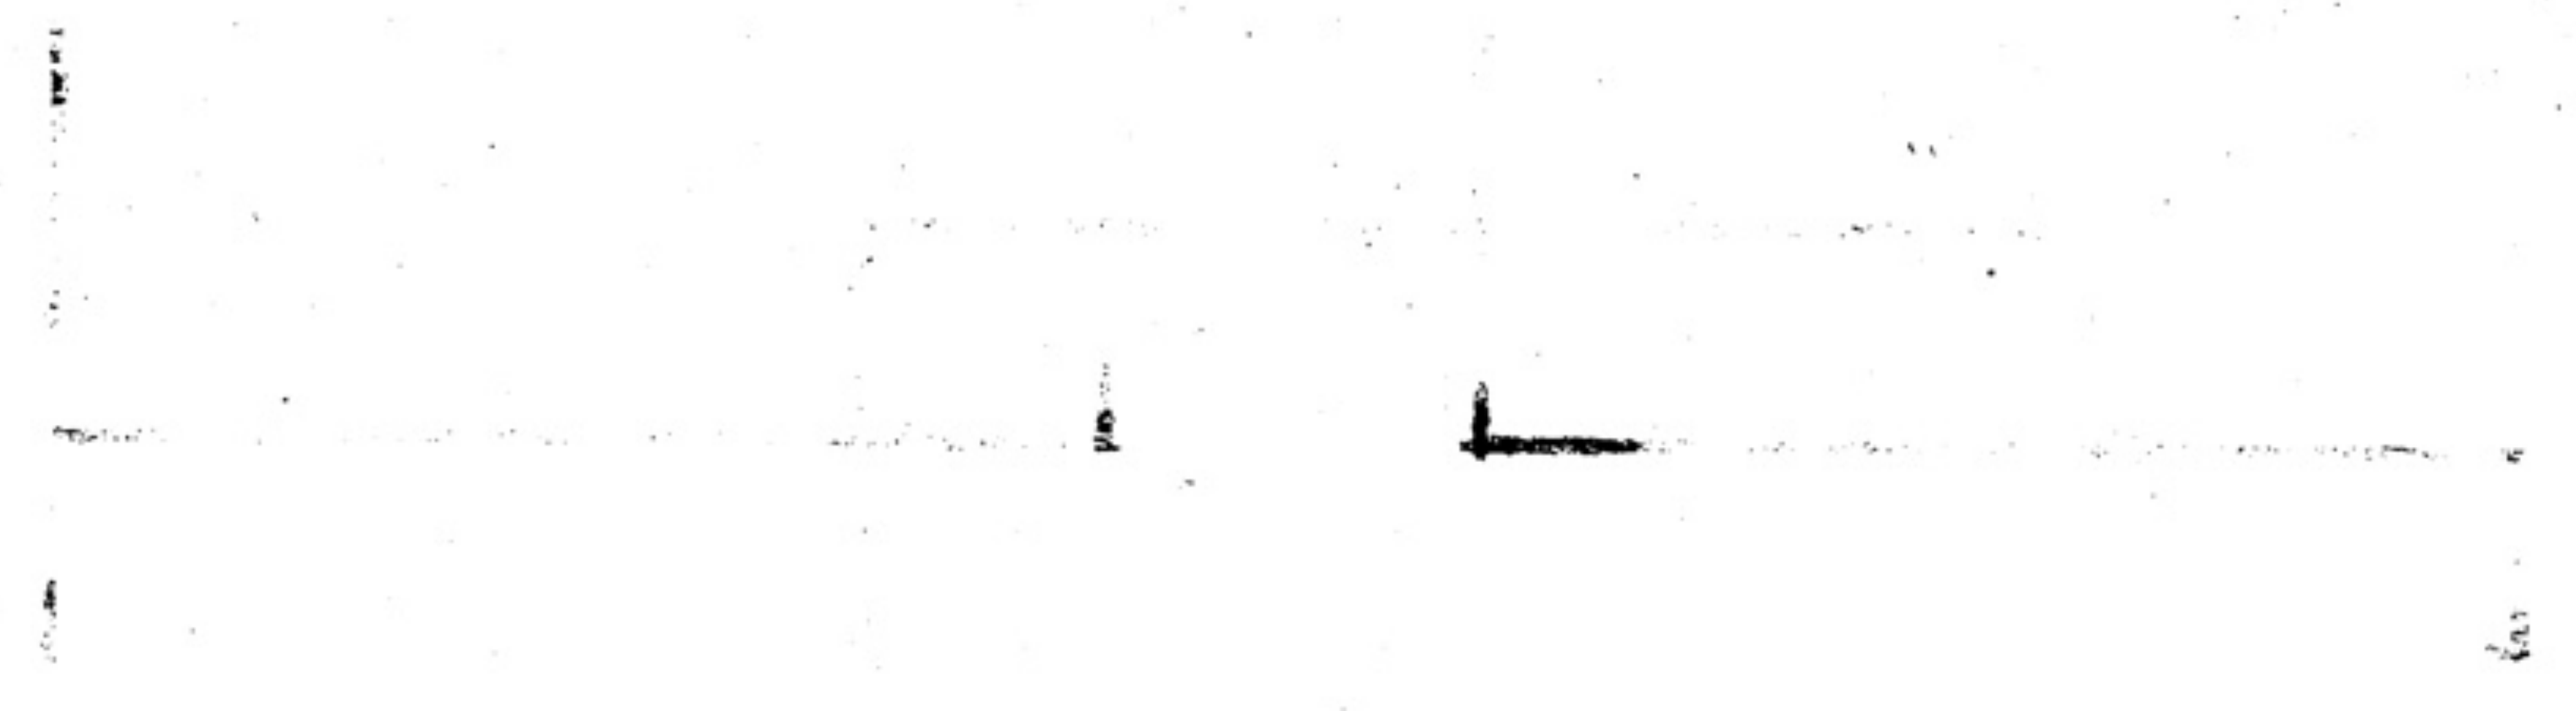
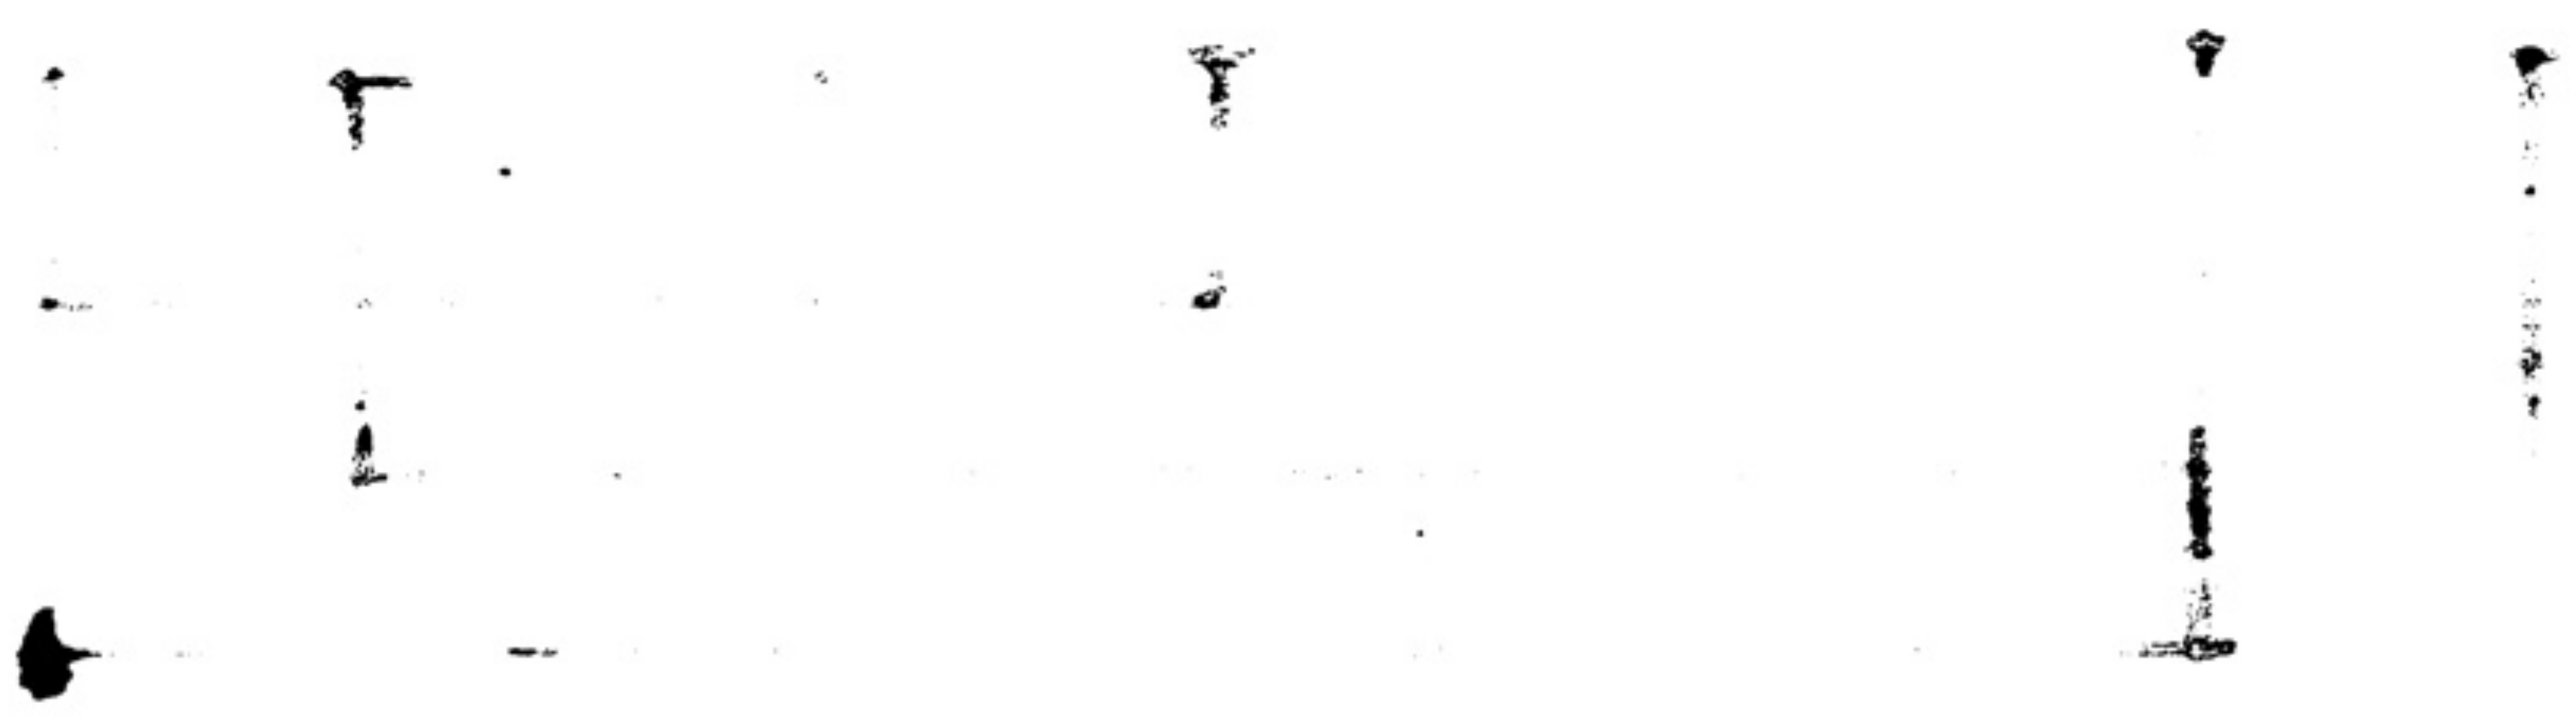
The Character of [illegible]:



[illegible] or [illegible] hath in his power which he maketh naturally that is in the ſame manner and for diſpoſed ſubiect All thoſe things which in Aſtronomie are aſcribed to Saturns forces. what he will he can turne into a Stone in a moment as a creature or plant retaining the ſame obiects of Sight He conuerteth Treaſure into coles and againe coles into Treaſurs. He giueth familiars with a definite power. He teacheth the arts of Alchimy. Magick and naturall Philoſophy. He bringeth the Pigmeis being men of low ſtature and yong hayrie men that are like beaſts into the perfect forme of men. He maketh a thing inuiſible. He maketh an vnfrutefull thing frutefull and giueth long life. He hath vnder him. 49. Kings. 42. Princes. 35. nobles 28. Dukes. 21. ſeruants ſtanding before him. 14. familiars. 7. meſſengers. He commaundeth. 36000. legions now a legion is. 490./



[illegible] gouerneth thoſe things which are aſcribed vnto Jupiter. He cometh quickly being caled. who is dignified with his Character he is carried to great Honour. He obiects treaſurs. He maketh the Aery Spirits to agree agree

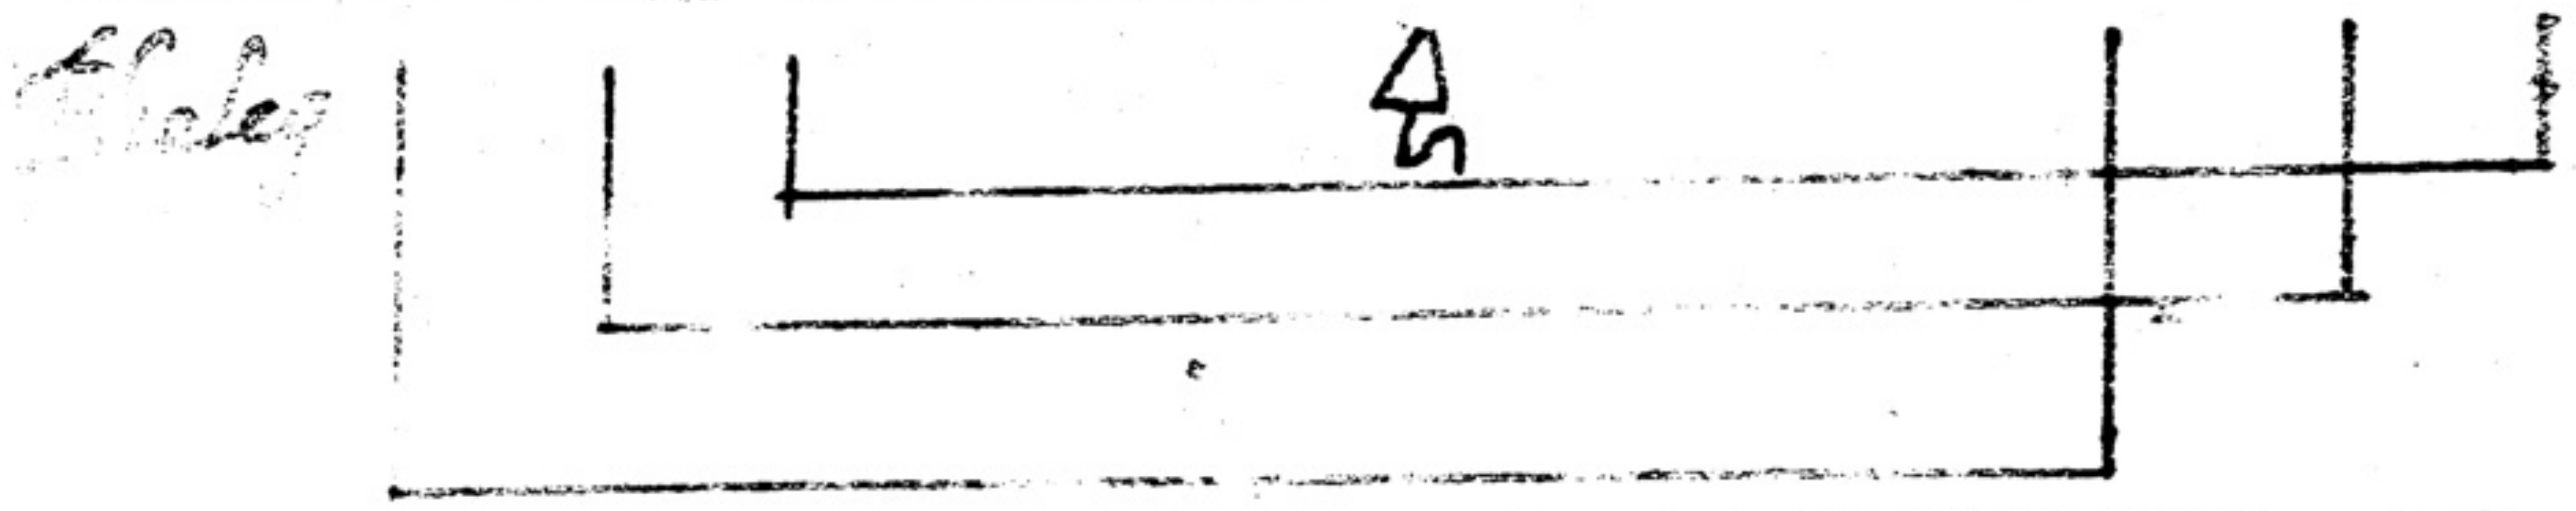
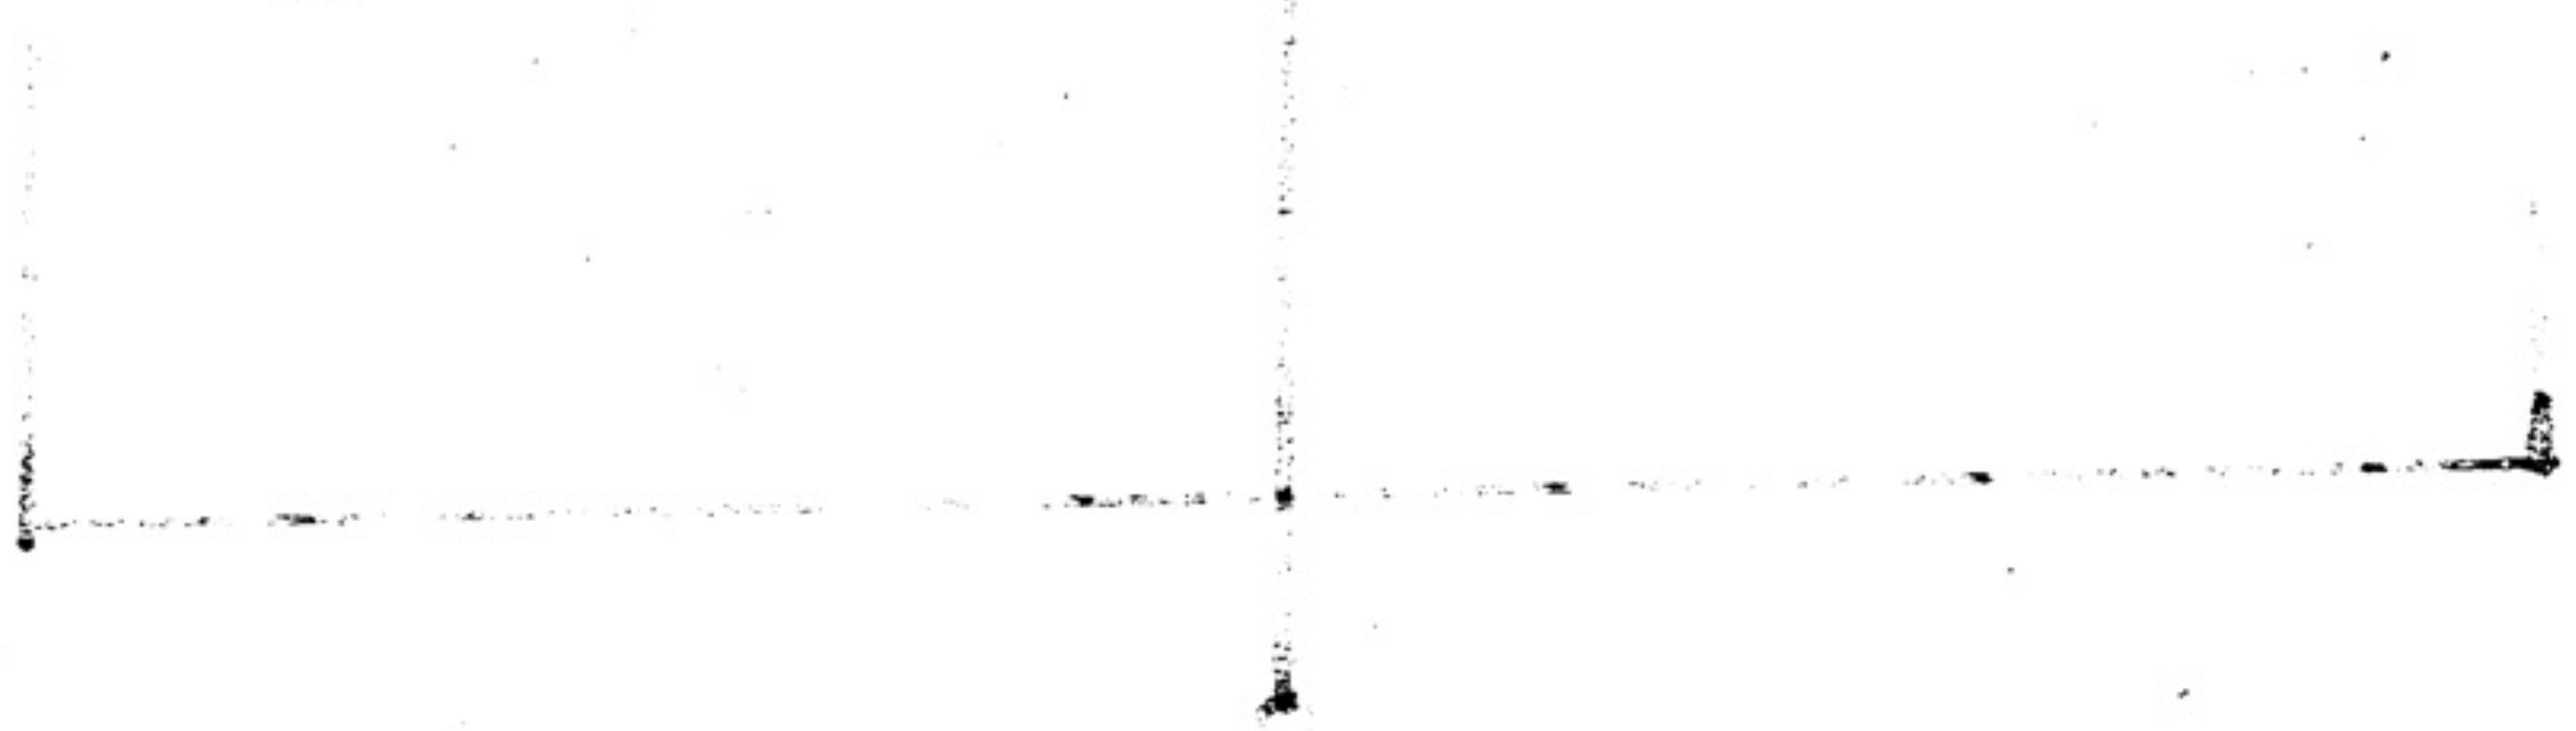
agree who giue trew anſwers. He tranſporteth from one place to another many things. He giueth precious ſtones and wonderfull medicines in their effects. Alſo He giueth familiars in the firmament. He is able to prolong life. 700. yeares if God will. He hath vnder him. 42. Kings. 35. Princes. 28. Dukes. 21. Counſellers. 14. ſeruants. 7. Meſſengers. 29000. legions. of Spirits.

The Character of Phaleg:



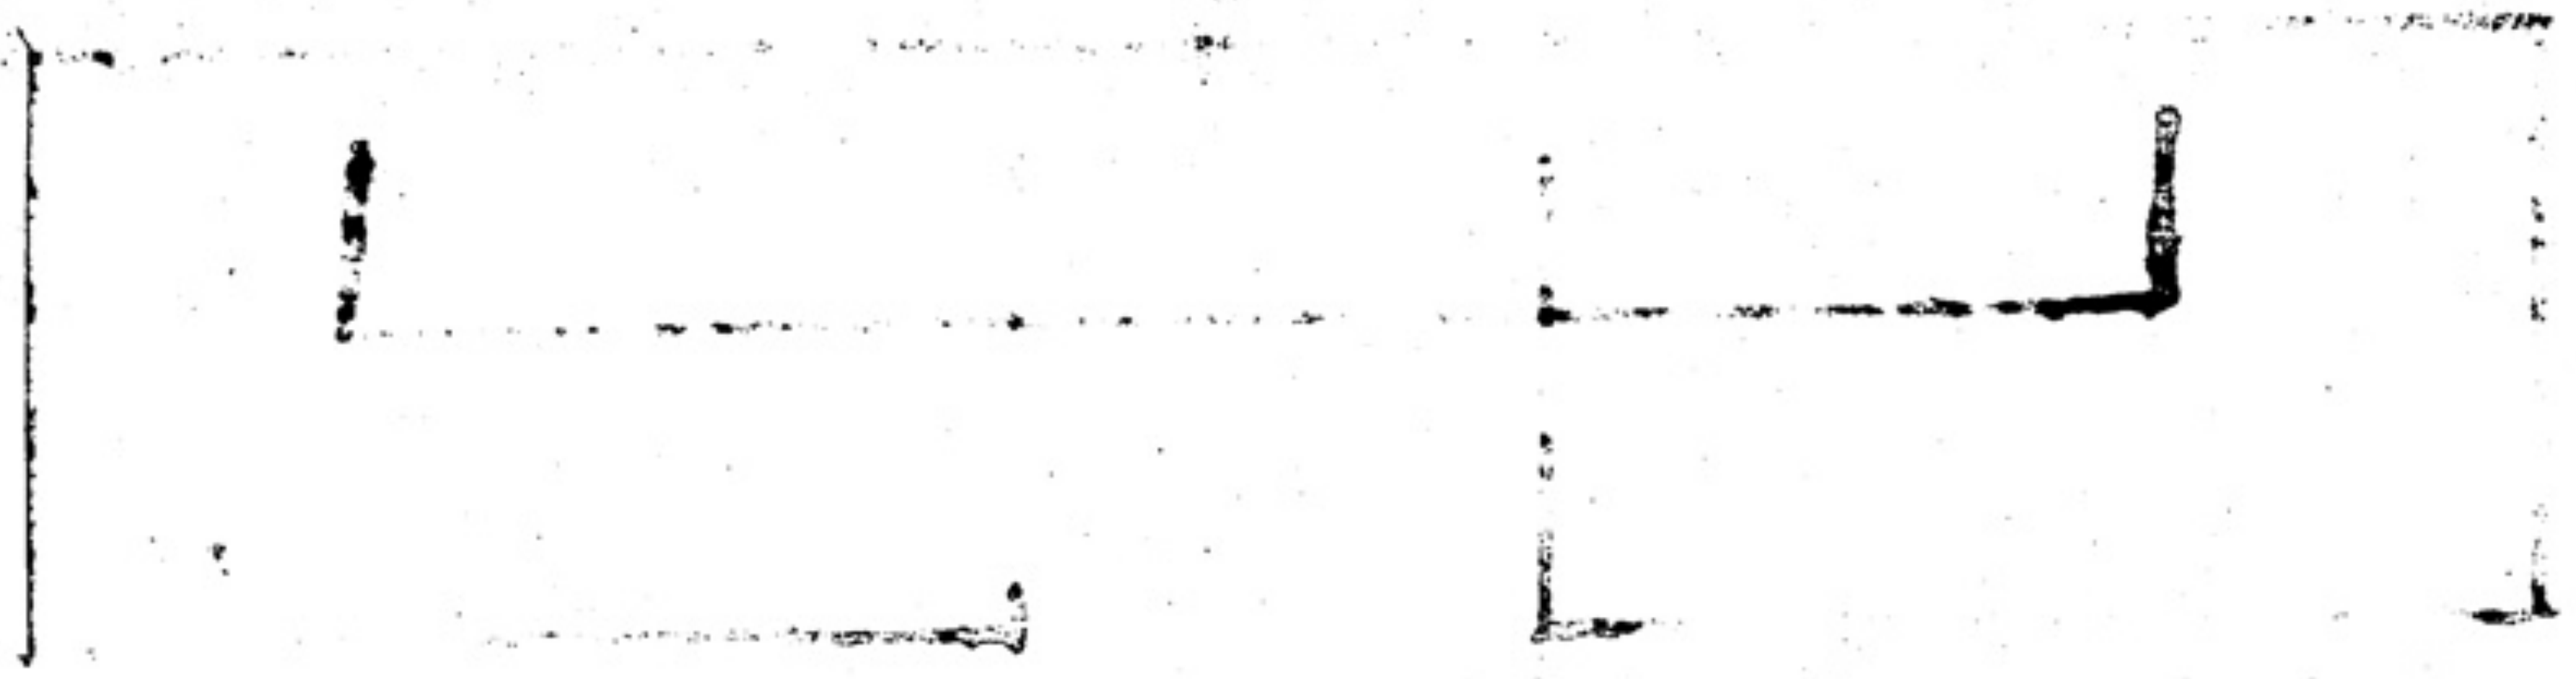
Phaleg is attributed to Mars He is the prince of peace To whome whoſe Character is giuen he exalteth to high dignities in the warrs

The Character of Och:



Och gouerneth the Sunn. He giueth. 600. yeares with firme health. he inlargeth greate wiſdome. He giueth most excellent Spirits. He teacheth perfect Phiſick. He turneth all things into most pure Golde and pretious ſtones. He giueth Gold and a purſe flowing with Gold. To whome he giueth his character he maketh him to be worſhiped of the Kings of the worlde. He hath vnder him. 36536. legion of Spirits. only he adminiſtereth to all things. All his Spirits ſerue him by hundreds

The Character of [illegible]:



[illegible] governeth Venus whome he will he maketh most faire dignifying him with his Character and adorning him with all cumlynes. He turnes Copper in a moment into Golde And contrarily Gold into Copper He giveth Spirits who faithfully serve those they are addicted unto. He hath. 4000 legions of Spirits is governour of the mercurialls. His Spirits amount unto ·100000· of legions. He giveth familiar Spirits easily. He teacheth all arts. And whom he honoureth with his character he maketh to be able to turne quicksilver in a moment into the Philossophers Stone.

The Character of Ophiel:

The Character of Phul:co:

Phul governeth the Moone He changeth all metalls into Silver in a moment. He healeth the Dropsey. He giveth watrie Spirits and them which serve man in corporall and visible forme. He maketh one to live. 300. yeares. / 17

Most generall precepts of this Secret: :

1 Every Governour worketh with his Spirits one way naturaly to wit in the same manner. Otherwise of his free will. If he be not hindered of God.

2 Secondly he is able to doe all things which he doth naturally in long time in a fore disposed matter. Also he is able to doe all things suddainly in a matter not before disposed of. So Och the prince of the Sunne in long time prepareth Gold in the mountains. In less time by Chimicall art. Magically in a moment.

3 The true and divine Magitian may use all the creatures of God. And the office of the Governours of the world was a beck. Therfor the Governours of the world obay them and being called they come and follow their commaunds. Notwithstanding God is the author. As the Sun stood still for Josuah They send indeed their Spirits to meane Magitians who obay them only some determinat busines But they heare not false Magitions but obiect them being deluded by Devills and they cast them into divers perrills God permitting As Jeremie testefies of the Jewes in his eight chapter.

4 In all the Elements there are. 7. Governours with their hosts who are moved by equall motion with the firmament And allwaies the inferiors depend of the superiors. As it is taught in Philosophie.

5 Man is ordained a Magitian from the woombe of his mother that would be a true Magition. Others that have taken uppon them this office are unhappie. To this agreeth that which John Baptist saieth No man can receive any thing to him selfe unlesse it be given him from above.

6 Every character is given from his Spirit Therefore reason he hath his effecacie in this busines in which it is given in a prefined time but—

But we must uſe him the hower and day of the planet in which it is giuen.

7 God liueth and thy ſoule liueth Keepe thy couenaunt with him wch thou hast with the Spirit the reuealer in God That all things may be done which the Spirit promiſeth thee. /

Aphoriſm :18:

[illegible] of the Olimpicall Spirits are deliuered by ſome men but ſuch only in efecacie which are made knowne to euery one by the reuealer the viſible or inuiſible Spirit And theſe names are deliuered to euery one as they are predestinated thereunto. Therfore they are ſaid to be Conſtellated and ſeldome they haue power beyond ·40· yeares. Therfore it is the ſafest way for yong Arts men that without names they worke by the only office of the Spirits And if they be foreordained unto this Magike the rest of the Arts required offer themſelues of their owne accorde. Only pray for constant faith and God will apoynt all things in fitt time. /

Aphoriſm :19:

[illegible] offer them ſelues to men of their owne accord in forme of Spirits And their offices to them that are inuited By how much the more thou dost deſire them they wilbe preſent. But wh[illegible] wicked Spirits doe comes from the enuie of the Diuell and how they haue alured thoſe men unto themſelues as being ſinners unto due puniſhment. Therfore whoſoeuer deſireth to be familiarly conuerſant with the Spirits let him keepe him ſelfe from all enormous ſins and pray dilligently for the custodie of the highest and lett him breake through the ſnares of the Diuel and his impediments and hinderances. For he himſelfe ſhalbe Apoynted and comaunded of God to ſerue a true Magician. /

Aphoriſm :20:

A[illegible] to him that beleaueth and is willinge All things are impoſſibe to the unbeleeuer and unwilling. Ther is nothing hindereth hindereth more then the wauering minde lightnes unconstancie fatillety Drunkennes Lusts Diſobedience to Gods word. It behoueth a Magitian therfore to be a man Godly honest Constant in words and deedes with a firme faith toward God Prudent And Coueteous of nothing but wiſdome and those things which concerne deuinitie.

ſible God is ſpread abroade into the whole vniuerſall Creation.

The Prince of the Eaſterne ſecrets ſits in the midle and hath one: very ſide .3. Peares or nobles the which peares haue vnder ech of them .4. And the Prince himſelfe retaines .4.

After this manner the reſt of the quadrangle of Secrets haue their princes and peares which haue their .4. Secret apeece.

But the Study of all wiſdome is in the Eaſt.

The weſt is for force and ſtrength.

The South for Culture and Huſbandry.

The North for a Rigged and hard life.

Therfore the cheife ſecrets are to be cummended to the Eaſt. The meane for the South. The leſſer Secrets to the weſt and North.

The vſe of the Seale of Secrets is this. That thou mayeſt know from whence Spirits or Angells are brought who teacheth their Secrets deliuered them of God. And they haue their names defined frō their offices and virtues euen as God hath diſtributed to euery of them his gift. One hath the power of the Sword deliueredhim Another of the Peſtilence. Another hath power gi= uen him to afflict people with famin and ſcarcitie As he is ordai: ned of God. Others are ouerthrowers of Citties. As thoſe .2. who were ſent to diſtroy Sodame and Gomorah and the neighbo= ring places about As holy Scripturs teſtify. Some as watchers ouer kingdomes. Others keepers of priuat mens perſons. So that-euery man may eaſily forme to himſelfe their names in his owne mother tonge Therfore he that will. Lett him deſire an Angel of Phiſick. Or a Philoſophicall Angell. Or a Mathematicall Angell. Or an Angell of Ciuell Law. Or an Angell of naturall or ſupernaturall wiſdome. Or whatſoeuer elce he bee.

And—

And let him aſke ſeriouſly with great feruency with faith and conſtancy And without doubt what he deſireth He ſhall receiue of God the Father of all Spirits.

This faith goeth beyond all Seales and ſubiects them to the will of Man.

To this faith belongeth the Characteriſticall caling out of Angells which depends alſo only of the deuine reue= lation. But without faith beforeſpoken all things lye in obſcurety and darknes.

But if any one will aſke them in faith and memory and ſimply as from God the Creator. to the Creature to whom ſuch virtue or Spirituall eſſence is giuen. He may vſe-them without offence to God.

But lett him take heede that he falle not into Idollatry and ſnares of the Diuell who holdeth forth his poyſonous-baits and doth eaſily deceiue the vnwary. And he himſelfe is not taken but only by the finger of God And brought to ſerue man. But not without temptacions and tribulati= ons as he hath commanndement that he ſhould bruiſe the heele of Chriſt or of the womans ſeade. Therfor we ought with feare and trembling to be conuerſant in diuine miſteries and with great reuerence towards God. And to be conuerſantwith the ſpirituall eſſences with grauity and iuſtice. And take heede to thy ſelfe of all lightnes. Pride. Coueteouſnes vanity. Envy. and vngodlynes. For ſuch a one muſt he be that handleth ſuch diuine miſteries. vnleſſe he will mi=

Aphorisme: 28:

Because all good is from God alone good of whome those things we would desire. It behoves us in Spirit and truth and with a single hart to pray for them. The Conclusion of the Secret of secrets is this. That every one would be stirred upp to pray for that he desireth And he shall not have a deniall. Lett no man despise his owne prayers. For of whome God is desired he can give and inlarge And he will inlarge. we must acknoledg the author of whome we aske humbly our desiers. But he will not have us to cast Holy things unto Dogs. He will not have his treasurs to be contemned or despised. of us. Therfore doe thou most diligently reade and reade againe the first Septen of Secretts And institute and direct thy life and all thy thoughts unto those precepts And all things shalbe given thee in the Lord whom thou trustest.

The fift Septene: Aphorisme: 29:

That we may in order proceede in our studdy of Magick to generall precepts. we come now unto the perticular explication of the premisses.

Spirits are the ministers of Gods word And of the Church and her members. And they are either serving the creature in corporall things. Partly to the health of the body and minde partly unto distruction. And ther is no good nor evell done without a sure and determinate order and Government. He that desireth a good ende lett him follow it. He that desireth an ill end let him also follow it: And that very quickly of the divine punnishment and of the turning away from the devine will.

That we may in order proceede in our studdy of Magick to generall precepts. we come now unto the perticular explication of the premisses.

Spirits are the ministers of Gods word And of the Church and her members. And they are either serving the creature in corporall things. Partly to the health of the body and minde partly unto distruction. And ther is no good nor euell done without a sure and determinate order and Gouerment. He that desireth a good ende lett him follow it. He that desireth an ill end. Let him also follow it: And that very quickly of the diuine punnishment and of the turning away from the deuine will.

Euen as euery one conferrs his owne ſcopes with the word of God And as he were at the touchſtone to iudg betweene good and bad. And lett him know what is to be auoyded. what to be deſired. Euen as he hath appointed and defined with him ſelfe Lett him follow it earneſtly not with procraſtination and poſting of from day to day If thou meaneſt to hitt the ordayned marke. /

Aphoriſme: 30:

Who ſo deſireth riches the glory of this life. Magiſtracie. Honours Dignities. Kingdomes. and that Magically: lett them follow the Euery one for his fate and induſtry and Magicall Science. As the Meleſine hiſtory teſtifies. And of that Magician who appoynted that no Italion by no meanes ſhould obtaine the euerlaſting Kingdome of Naples. And he effected that he that did reigne in his age ſhould be troubled from his ſeate. Such is the power of the watchfull and vigilent Angells of the Kingdoms of the world. /

Aphoriſme: 31:

Call out the Prince of the Kingdome and deſire the right of him And aſke what thou wilt and it ſhalbe, as long as that Prince againe Shall nott be abſolute from obedience by the ſucceding Magician Then the Kingdome of Neaples may be reſtored againe to the Italions. If any Magician would call him out who hath inſtituted this order and appoynted him unto the recanting his deede. Alſo he may reſtore the loſt Cleinodie by Magicall treaſure The Booke the Gemm and the Magicall Horne the which being had One may eaſely if he will inſtitute himſelfe Monarck of the world. But that Jew choſe to liue among the Gods untill the latter iudgment day before he would chuſe the tranſitory goods of this worlde. But that mans harte is blinded that underſtandeth ſtandeth nothing concerning the God of Heauen and Earth or thinketh more But inioyeth the delightes of immortall things unto his eternall diſtruction.. And he ſhall be caled out more eaſily then the Genius of Plotine in the Temple of Iſide. /

Aphoriſme: 32:

Likewiſe the learned Romans out of the bookes of the Sibbills after the ſame manner inſtituted themſelues lords of the worlde. as hiſtorie teſtifies. But leſſer Magicians are giuen to the Peere of the Prince of the Kingdome. Therfore whoſo deſireth a leſſ office or dignitie lett him call out the Princes Peere And it ſhalbe done to his deſire. /

Aphoriſme: 33:

Who ſo deſireth onely ſuch dignities as riches. Lett him call out the Prince of Riches or one of his nobles And it ſhalbe done to his deſire. In that kinde wherin he would wax rich. Either with Terreſtiall goods. Or with Merchandies. Or with the gifts of Princes. Or with the Mettallicall Studie. Or with the Chimicall. So that he may after this manner be made rich and obtaine his deſires. /

Aphoriſme: 34:

Euery calling out of a ſpirit is of one kinde and forme and this hath bin lately a common reaſon with the Sibbills. and cheife Preiſts. At this time it is loſt thorow ignorance and ungodlynes in the whole worlde. That which remaineth is depraued with Superſticious and infinite lyes. /

Aphoriſme: 35:

The humain mind is the only effectrix of wonderfull workes ſo that ſhe will ioyne herſelfe to what Spirit ſhe will. Being conioynd ſhe produceth what ſhee will. Therfore we must proceede in Magick warily least Mearmaids and other Monſters deceive us — who likewiſe deſire the Society of the humane minde. Therfore allwaies lie thou hid under the wings of the Highest least thou offer thy ſelfe to be devowred by the roring lyon. For whoſoever deſireth wordly things doth eſcape very hardly the ſnares of Sathan

The Sixt Septeme: Aphoriſme: 36:

Take care that you mingle not together Experiments with Experiments. But lett it be ſingle and onely one experiment. For God and nature hath ordained all things unto a ſure and deſtinated end. As for example. They who cure with Simple Herbs and roots of all men they cure most happily. After this manner the cheifest Influences or virtues actually lie hidd in the conſtellacions names and Characters, in Stone and the like which are in place of a miracle. Like the very words themſelves being pronounced preſently they make both viſible and inviſible creatures to obey as well thoſe of this our world As thoſe in the waters. Aire. under the Earth. and Olimpicall. the ſupercelestiall. infernall. And laſtly Thoſe in the divine world alſo.

we ought to ſtudie eſpecially Simplenes and the knowledg of ſuch ſimples as are delivered us of God. Other wiſe by no other reaſon or experience can things be laid hold on. /

Aphoriſme: 37:

Every thing hath his place allotted it decently. . Order. Reaſon. Manner. which eaſily rendreth all learning of the Creatures as well viſible as inviſible. /

That ſome are Creatures of light. Others of darknes. Thoſe that are of darknes are ſubiect to vanity becauſe they have throwne them ſelves downe headlong into darknes. By reaſon of rebellion. Their Kingdome partly is very faire In caducall and tranſitory things. Becaus it cannot conſist without ſome virtue. And without ſum cheife gifts of God. Partly their kingdome is very fowle and horrible to be ſpoken. That it aboundeth with all vice and ſins. with Idollatry. Contempt of God. Blaſphemies of the true God and his works. with the worſhipping of Divells. Diſobedience towars Magiſtrats. with Sedicions. It is full of Murthers. Thefts. Tiranies. Adulteries. unlawfull luſts. rapins. Lies. periuries. And with deſire of Reigning in this mixture the Kingdome of darknes Conſists But the Creatures of light. Commaund as the members of Christ with eternall truth and grace of God. And they are lords of this world. Alſo they govern the lords of darknes. Betweene theſe and thoſe there is an everlaſting warr According as God hath ordained this ſtrife unto the laſt Judgment day. /

[illegible]

[illegible] In the first devision therof. The one ſort is of God which he giveth to the creatures of light. The other is like unto it But it is the gift of the creaturs of darknes. And this magick is two fold. The one tending to a good end. As when the prince of darknes endevours to doe well to the creature. God helping forward The other to a bad end. As when God permitteth ſuch to be deceived Magically unto the puniſhing the bad and unto their hurt. Or elce commaundeth ſuch to be thruſt into perdicion. / devision of Magick is that one ſort perfiteth his works by viſible inſtrewments through viſible things. The other ſort is.

which perfecteth his worke in Inuiſible Inſtruments through Inuiſible things. Another Magick worketh with commixt things as well manners as Inſtruments and effects./

[illegible] is. Some Magicke is performed by inuocation of God alone. And this is partly prophetticall and Philoſophicall. Partly like that Theophraſtus uſed. Another is that which worketh thorow ignorance of the true God with the princes of the Spirits. Such is the worke of the Mercurialls.

[illegible] That ſome exerciſeth his Magick from the highest God by good Angells decending in the place of God. Such was Balams magick. Other Magicians exorciſeth with the Peeres of the euell Spirits. And ſuch were they who wrought with the leſſer Gods of the nations./

[illegible] That ſomme men work openly with the ſpirits face to face which is giuen but to very few. Others worke by dreames or other ſignes. As they of ould tim wrought by Auguries and Hoſts./

[illegible] That ſome worke by immortall Creatures. Others by mortall as the Nimphs. Satirs. Pigmeyes. And the like of other ellements./

[illegible] That the Spirits ſerue ſome of their owne accord without Art. And ſome they will ſcarce ſerue being caled out by art./

[illegible] of Magick That is the most excellent which which dependeth only of God. The next to that. That which the ſpirits ſerue in of their owne accord. The third that which is proper to Chriſtians which dependeth of the power of Chriſt which he hath in Heauen and in Earth./

Aphoriſ[illegible]:39:

[illegible] That we may learne the Art of Magick./

[illegible] That we may day and night meditate how one ſhould aſcend to the true knowledg of God. As well by the reuealed word from—

from the beginninge As by the ſcale of Creation and Creatures and by the wonderfull effects which viſible and inuiſible Creatures of God doe ſhew./

2. [illegible] it is required that a man decend into himſelfe and that he ſtudy eſpecially to know himſelfe. what mortall thing he hath in himſelfe and what immortall And what is the property of every part. what the diuerſity.

3. [illegible] that he learne by his immortall part to worſhip loue and feare the Eternall God And to adore him in ſpirit and truth. And to doe thos things with his mortall part which he knoweth to be gratfull to god and proffitable to his neighbour./

[illegible] and firſt precept of Magik to which whoſoeuer ſhall prepare himſelfe, unto true Magick or diuine wiſdome to the coueting and following of the ſame that he may bee counted worthy the knowledg thereof. whome the Angellicall creatures ſhall obay not only obſcurely but alſo manifeſtly and face to face./

Seing that euery one is caled from the wombe of his mother that he ſhould be occupied in a certaine kind of life, Therfore it is requiſite that euery one ſhould throughly know whether he be borne unto Magick or no And unto what kind of Magick. which euery one ſhall perceiue which readeth theſe things and iudgeth them eaſy and by experience ſhall find in himſelfe good ſucceſſe. For ſuch and ſo great gift are not giuen but to the poore in ſpirit & humble./

he muſt note whether he can perceiue the Spirits aſſiſting him manifeſtly in the greateſt buſineſſes that are to be undertaken. Becauſe if he ſhall find them to be ſuch aſſiſtants. It is manifeſt he is made a Magician by the ordinance of God, that is, ſuch a perſon which uſeth the miniſtry of the ſpirits unto the effecting of excellent things. But heare he may ſinne. either by negligence or by ignorance. or by contempt. or alſo by to much ſuperſticion Alſo he may ſinne by unthankfullnes towards God wherby many excellent men haue drawne uppon themſelues deſtruction. and he—

And he may ſinne by raſhnes and ſtubbornes. And laſtly he may ſinne when the gifts of God are not had in that honour and eſteeme as is required and as they ought to be. ×

Sixthly. A Magician hath neede of faith and ſilence that no ſecret eſpecially maybe made manifeſt which the ſpirit revealeth to him as Daniel was commannded to keepe ſecret ſecrets. For ſome things are ſealed that is not brought forth into publick. So neither was it lawfull for Paul to utter thoſe things he ſaw in revelacion. No man would beleeve how much is placed in this one only precept.

Seventhly. very great rightiouſnes is required in a Magician to come, that is, that he ſhould not undertake any thing that is either ungodly. iniquous or uniust. yea that he admit not any ſuch thing into his minde. And by the help of God he ſhalbe defended from all evell. /

Aphorisme: 40:

[illegible] ſhall perceive ſome incorporall agent about himſelfe either by ſome outward ſence or inward Then lett him govern himſelfe according to theſe :7: rules following that he may purſue after his magicall end. /

[illegible] That he know that ſuch a ſpirit is ordained him of God. And that he think himſelfe to have him to be a vewer of all his actions and thoughts Therfore lett him direct all his whole life unto the preſcribed order ſett forth in the word of God. /

[illegible] lett him allwaies pray with David. Take not thy holy ſpirit from me, And confirme me with a principall ſpirit. And leade us not into temptacion but deliver us from all evell. I beſeech thee o heavenly father give not power to the lying ſpirit. As thou gavest to Ahab that he ſhould periſh. But keepe me in thy truth. Amen. /

[illegible] lett him accuſtome him ſelfe unto the proving and trying of the Spirits. As the Scripture exorteth. For of thorns men gather not Grapes. Lett us try all things and holde faſt that which is good and laudable. And lett us avoid that which is repugnant to Gods will. /

Fourthly, lett us be very farr from ſuperſticions. That is ment to be Superſtition in this place. To attribute the dutie to things in which ther is no divine thing. Alſo it is a chuſing of the will to worſhip God otherwiſe then he hath commannded. Such are all your Ceremonies of Satanicall Magick. who Impudently would be worſhipped as God. / 4

Fifthly. the worſhipping of Idoles is to be avoided which with their owne proper macion bindeth the divine power to Idols or other things where they are not placed of the Creator. In the order of nature. Many ſuch things the evell magicians effect. / 5

Sixthly. the crafty deceipts of the divell is to be avoided whereby he will immitate the power of the creation and Creator that he might bring forth things with a word. Things which are not as though they were. which is only incommunicable of the omnipotent God and the creature. /

Seventhly. we muſt ſtick to the gifts of God and his holy ſpirit That we may know theſe things and worſhip God with all our hart and with all our forces. /

Aphorisme: 41:

[illegible] to the :9: laſt Aphoriſmes of this Tome wherin wee will conclude the whole Iſagogicall Magick Gods mercie helping us forward. /

Therfore it is to be obſerved before all things what we underſtand by a Magician in this worke. /

[illegible] to be a magician to whome by the grace of God the manifeſt ſpirituall eſſence ſerve unto the knowledg of the whole univerſall. And in theſe contents — contents of natures whether they be viſible or inuiſible This diſ= cription of a magitian is evident and is vniverſall· /

The evill or cacomagician is he whom by Gods permiſion the evill Spirits ſerue vnto temporall and eternall hurt bewitching men and turning them from God· Such a one was Simon Magoſe mention of whome there is made in the acts of the Apostles and in Clement whom S. Peter commaunded to be put into the Earth ſeing he would commaund himſelfe to be lifted upp into the Aire as a God by wicked Spirits·

All those are to be referred into this order who are noted in the Lawes of the 12. tables· And their evell deeds are allſo noted But we will marke the ſubdeviſions and kinds of either Magick in this Tome following· It ſhalbe ſufficient in this place that we have made diſtinction and difference of Good Science and badd· Seeing that the first man deſired poſſeſſion of them both to his hurt· As Moſes and Hermes ſhew /

Aphoriſme: 42:

We must know in the ſecond place that a Magitian is a perſon predestinated unto this kind of worke from the wombe of his mother. Neither hath any one aſſumed any thing to himſelfe of ſuch things unleſſ he hath bin caled to this worke devinely unto a good end from Grace· —unto an ill end that the Scripture might be fulfilled· Offences must come but woe to that man by whom they come· Furthermore as we have warned before lett us live in this world with feare and trembling /

Notwithstanding we denie not ſome kinds of both Magicks to be followed by ſome with Study and dilligence if he be admitted But unto those cheife kinds he ſhall never aſpier unto· yea if he deſire those things he wilbe violated in body and ſoule without doubt Such are they who are tanſferred by Cacomagicall comagicall

Cacomagicall works unto the Mountaine of Horeb· Or are ſwallowed upp with Some Solitudes to whome many evells happen even to boddies and minds· Or at length are deprived of their mind·· As ſuch things happen to many by uſe· when as they are left of God· And delivered to Sathan· /

The Seventh Septene: Aphoriſm: 43:

God and his works remaine in that ſtate wherin he would have them for he would we ſhould uſe them with his liberty unto the obedience of his commaundements· He hath proposed· to them that obay his rewards· But to them that diſobay his deſerued punniſhments· /

[illegible] they have knowne the Spirits by free will through prid and contempt of the Sonne of God· And they are reſerued to the day of wrath· There is a very greate power left to them in the creation But notwithſtanding it is limmited And allwaies they are compeld by the bridle of God to keepe their bounds But a magician of God which ſounds the wiſdome of God or the informed of God by the hand of God is brought forth to all eternall good, and meane things, or alſo cheife corporals· /

Great is the power of Sathan by reaſon of mans great ſinns· And therefore great things have bin done by Satanicall magick· yea greater things then any one will beleeve· /

Although they ſubſist in their limits notwithſtanding they are beyond all humaine capaſſety for as much as they aime at the corporall and tranſitory things of this life as many histories of the Ancients testify· And we have dayly examples· For concluſion both kinds of magike differ among them ſelves· This paſſeth over into eternall goods and uſeth temporall things with thanksgiving· That is Solicitous about eternall things but applieth himſelfe wholy to corporall that he may injoy freely all his lusts and delights unto the contempt of God And of his wrath /

Aphoriſme: 44:

The paſſing out the commune life of men unto the Magicall life is nothing elce but ſleeping from the ſame life unto the ſame life watching for what things happen in common life to ignorant and unſkilfull men. They happn much more to the learned and willing. /
The Magician underſtandeth when his minde thinketh of himſelfe when it deliberateth, reaſoneth, conſtitutes, and defines ſome thing to be done. He obſerues when his thoughts wander from the aſſiſting ſeperated eſſence. And proveth by what order that aſſiſtant eſſence is ſeperated. /
But a man unſkilfull in Magick is carried as a beaſt is with affections upp and downe. And knoweth not by the word of God to overthrow the councells of his enimies And to forekeepe himſelfe from the ſnares of the Tempter. /

Aphoriſme: 45:

The cheife precept of Magick is to know what every one ought to receive unto his uſe from the aſſiſting Spirit. And what to refuſe. For the Pſalmist ſaith. wherewithall ſhall a yong man clenſe his way. By ruling himſelfe according to thy word. To keepe therfore the word of God least the evill one ſhould catch it from thy heart is the cheife precept of wiſdome. It is lawfull to receive and admit thoſe ſuggestions which are not against the glory of God and love toward the neighbour. without demaunding from what ſpiritt ſuch a ſuggestion came. yet we must take heede that we buſie not our ſelves to much about unneſſeſary things according to Chriſts admonition. Martha Martha thou art ſolliſitous about many things but Mary hath choſen the better part which ſhall not be taken from hir. Be we ruled alwaies by the ſaying of Christ. First ſeeke the kingdome of God and the righteouſnes therof and the rest ſhall be cast unto you. The rest. That is all things fitting for this litle world of ours. Foode and Raiment and neſſeſary arts for our life. /

Aphoriſme: 46:

Nothing ſo becommeth a Man as conſtancy in words and deeds And when the like reioyceth with the like. No men are more happy then ſuch Becauſe the holy Angells are converſant about ſuch men. And have them in their custody. But on the other ſide men are turned away to nothing even as Chaffe is turned with the wind. And for them we have choſen this. 46. Aphoriſme. For as every one hath carried himſelfe even ſo he hath alured to himſelfe the Spirits of his nature and condition But one exhorteth very truly that no man would goe beyond his caling herein. least he ſhould allure ſome maligne Spirit unto himſelfe from the uttermost parts of the world by whome he might be deceived and drawne unto his finall hurt. This precept is very manifest. For Midas when he would convert all things into Gold. Drew unto himſelfe ſuch a Spirit that he might be excellent in his doing but he was deceived by him and he died by famiſhment and hunger. Had not God in mercie corrected his fooliſhnes. The like happened in our time to a yong woman about Frankfurt at Odera. So that ſhe ſnatched mony from every thing and devoured it. O then would to God men would way with them ſelves this precept and not take Midas his history and the like for fables. Then ſurely they would be more diligent in moderating their affections and thoughts and not bee vexed continually with the Spirits of the Goulden mountains of utopie. Lastly lett us obſerve dilligently that we cast out ſuch preſumptions out of our minds by the word of God even while we are fraſh and have not made a custome of the word divine to pleaſe our idle empty minde. /

Aphoriſme: 47:

Whoſoever is faithfully converſant in his vocation he ſhall have the Spirits his conſtant [illegible] fellowes of his Study who will ſupply ſupply all ſucces to him. For if he haue alſo any knowledg in magik they count it not greiuous to ſhew themſelues to him and to talke familiarly with him, and in diuers of the ſame miniſteries wherto they are addicted in good things to the good vnto ſaluation. In bad things to the bad vnto all euill and hurt. Examples of Hiſtoris are not wanting in the whole world that ſuch things hau happened therin. Theodolius is an example among good men before the victory of Arbogast. Among the bad Brute before he was ſlaine wheras he was followed be Ceaſars genius or Spirit and was puniſhed that he might be ſo ſarued as he had done to the father of that cuntry and his owne father. /

Aphoriſme: 48:

[illegible] is the reuelation of that kind of Spirits of what ſort the magick is. ſo the nine Muſes of Heſiod calls for. 9. kinds of Magick as he manifeſtly teſtifies of himſelfe in his Theogonia Uliſſes his genius caled Homer in Pligiogagia the ſpirits Hermet concerning the hier things of the minde. God himſelfe caled Moſes out of the Buſh. Thus the three Magicians who came ſeeking Chriſt at Hieruſalem were doubtles caled vnto this vocation, the Angell of the lord being their guide And Daniell was caled by the Angell of the lord. It is not thus that any one ſhould glory. For it is not of him that willeth nor of him that runneth. But either of God that ſheweth mercy. Or of ſome other ſpirituall fate. from hence all Magick ſpringeth whether it be good or badd after this manner Tages the firſt teacher of the Romans magick ſprang out of the Earth. Diana of the Epheſians ſheweth as it were from Heauen hir worſhip. And ſo Apollo and the vniuerſall religion of the Gentiles was receiued from the ſame Spirits nether are they Mans inuentions as the Saduces hold. /

Aphoriſme: 49: and [illegible] of aboue by vs. for as much as there is one God from whome is deriued all good: And againe ſeeing ther is but one ſinne to wit Diſobediens to Gods will and Commaundements from whence proceeds all euill. So the feare of the Lord is the begining of wiſdome and is all the profite of Magick. For obedience to the will of God followes the feare of God the preſence of God and his holy ſpirit And the Miniſteries of the Holy Angells follow this his will and all good things out of the neuer drawne dry treſuries of God. / the vnprofitable and damned Magick ſpringeth from Sathan when we lee[illegible] the feare of God from our harts and ſuffer him to reigne among vs. There preſently the prince of this world the God of this age hath appointed ſuch a one of ~~the~~ his kingdome that hee might find ſuch a one proffitable for his kingdome. Thus he taketh the Godleſ Magician euen as a ſilly fly is taken in the Cobwebb of A Spider. And ſo Sathan deceiueth them hunting them into his netts of deſires vntill he bring them into the matter of eternall fire he eleuats and carrieth them vpp on high that they might haue the greater falle Bring about gentle reader thy eyes and minde vnto the holy hiſtorys and alſo to the profane and gather all things of the Magitians acording to the double Science or knowledg of good and euill. which things that they may be the better diſcerned we haue hereafter placed the diuiſion and ſubdeuiſion of Magick or Science in which whoſoeuer will He may contemplate. what is to be followed. what to be auoyded. And according as euery one ſhall labour in that competencie and ferme life that is giuen him. /./.

Reade this parte of the first Chapter of the [illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible] was the word And the word was with God and that word was God.
The same was in the beginning with God.
All things were made by it And without it was made nothing that was made.
In it was life And the life was the light of men.
And the light shined in the darknes And the darknes comprehended it not.
There was a man sent from God whose name was John.
The same came for a witnes to bare witnes of the light That all men through him might beleeve.
He was not that light but was sent to bare witnes of the light.
That was the true light which lighteth every man that commeth into the world.
He was in the world And the world was made by him And the world knew him not.
He came vnto his owne And his owne received him not.
But as many as received him To them he gave power to be the sonnes of God even to them that beleeved in his name. which are borne not of blood Nor of the will of the flesh Nor of the will of man but of God.
And the word was made flesh and dwelt among vs And we saw the glory therof. As the glory of the only begotten sonne of God Father Full of Grace and truth.

[illegible] all Honour. Glory. Praise. Power. Might Maiesty. Dominion. Rule. And Authoritie. world without end. Amen.

Then reade the 91 Psalme:

1. Who so dwelleth under the defence of the most high shall abide under the shaddow of the Almighty.

2. I will say unto the lord Thou art my hope and my strongehold. My God In him will I trust.

3. For He shall deliver thee from the snare of the Hunter and from the noysome Pestilence.

4. He shall defend thee under his wings And thou shalt be safe under his fethers His faithfulnes and truth shalbe thy Sheild & Buckler.

5. Thou shalt not be afraide for any terror by Night Nor for the arrow that flyeth by day.

6. For the Pestilence that walketh in the darknes Nor for the siknes that destroyeth in the noone day.

7. A thousand shall fall before thee and tem Thousand at thy right hand. But they shall not come nigh thee.

8. yea with thine eies shalt thou behold an see the reward of the ungodly

9. For thou lord art my hope. Thou hast sett thine House of defence very high.

10. There shalt no evell happen unto thee Neither shall any Plaugue come nigh thy dwelling.

For he shall give his Angells charg over thee to keepe thee in all thy wayes.

They shall beare thee in their hands. That thou hurt not thy foote against a Stone.

Thou shalt goe uppon the Lyon and Adder. The yong Lyon and the Dragon shalt thou tread under thy feete.

Because he hath sett his Love uppon me Therfore shall I deliver him I shall sett him upp because he hath knowne my Name.

He shall call uppon me And I will heare him. yea I am with him in trouble. I will deliver him and bring him to Honour.

with long life will I satiffy him. And shew him my salvation.

Glory be to The Father. And to the Sonne. And to the Holy Ghost. As it was in the beginning is now and ever shalbe world without end. Amen.

Prayers of Benediction:

Heare o thou Shepherd of Israel Thou that leddest Joſeph like a Sheepe Shew thy ſelfe alſo Thou that ſittest uppon the Cherubims.

Before Ephraem Beniamin and Manaſſes ſtirre up thy ſtrength and come and helpe us.

Turne us againe O God Shew the light of thy countinance and we ſhalbe whole.

O lord God of hoſts how long wilt thou be angery with thy people that prayeth.

Thou feedest them with the bread of teares and givest them plentiouſnes of teares to drinke.

Thou hast made us a very ſtrife unto our neighbours and our enimies laugh us to ſcorne.

Turne us againe thou God of Hosts, ſhew the light of thy countinance and we ſhalbe whole.

Thou hast brought a vine out of Egipt Thou hast cast out the heathen and planted it.

Thou madest roome for it and when it had taken roote it filled the land.

The hills were covered with the ſhaddow of it and the bowes thereof were like the goodly Ceader trees.

She ſtretched out hir braunches unto the Sea And hir bowes unto the river.

why hast thou then broken downe hir hedg that all they that goe by pluck of hir Grapes.

The wilde Bore of the wood doth roote it up and the wilde beasts of the field devour it.

Turne the againe thou God of Hosts looke downe from Heaven beholde and viſit this vine.

And the place of the viniard that thy right hand hath planted and the braunches that thou madest ſo strong for thy ſelfe.

It is—

[illegible] was ſent from God unto a Cittie in Galile named Nazaret
To a virgin affienced to a man whoſe name was Joſeph of the houſe of David. And the virgins name was Marie.
8. And the Angell went in unto hir and ſaid Haile thou that art freely beloved the lord is with thee Bleſſed art thou amongst women And when ſhee ſaw him ſhe was troubled at his ſaying and thought what manner of ſalutation that ſhould bee.
o. Then the Angell ſaid unto hir feare not Mary for thou haſt found favour with God.
For loe thou ſhalt conceive in thy wombe and beare a Sonne.
And ſhalt call his name. Jeſus He ſhalbe great And ſhalbe caled the Sonne of the most high And the lord God ſhall give unto him the throne of his father David And he ſhall reigne over the houſe of Jacob for ever and of his kingdome ſhalbe none end Then ſaid Mary unto the Angell how ſhall this be ſeeing J know not man.
And the Angell anſwered and ſaid unto hir The Holy Ghost ſhall come uppon the and the power of the most high ſhall over ſhaddow thee Therfore alſo that holy thinge which ſhalbe borne of the ſhalbe caled the Sonne of God.
Then Mary ſaide Behold the handmaid of the lord Be it unto me according to thy word.
My ſoule doth magnifie the lord and my ſpirit hath reioyced in God my ſaviour.
For he hath regarded the lowlines of his Handmaiden.
For behold from henceforth all Generations ſhall call me bleſſed For he that is mighty hath magnified me And holy is his name.

And his mercy is on them that feare him throughout all Generacions.
He hath ſhewed ſtrength with his arme He hath ſcattred the proude in the Jmagination of their Hearts.
He hath put downe the mighty from their ſeate and hath exalted the humble and meeke.
He hath filled the hungery with good things And the rich he hath ſent empty away.
He remembring his mercy hath holpen his ſervant Jſraell as hee promiſed to our forefathers Abraham and his ſeede for ever.

[illegible] The Father. And to the Sonne. And to the Holie Ghost.

Ps.103: Psalme.

O my ſoule and all that is within me Praiſe his holy name.
Praiſe the lord O my ſoule and forgett not his benifites. which forgiveth all thy ſinns And healeth all thine infirmities. which ſaveth thy life from diſtruction and crowneth thee with mercy and loving kindnes. which ſatiſfieth thy mouth with good things making thee yong and and luſty as an Egle.
The lord executeth righteouſnes and Judgment for all them that are opreſſed with wrong.
He ſhewed his waies unto Moſes his works unt the Children of Jſraell.
The lord is full of compaſſion and mercy long ſuffering and of great goodnes
He will not allwais be chiding Neither keepeth he his anger for ever He hath not dealt with us after our ſinns Nor rewarded us accor= ding to our wickednes.
For looke how high the Heaven is in comparriſon of the Earth So great is his mercy alſo toward them that feare him. looke how wide alſo the East is from the west So farre hath he ſett our ſinns from us. yea looke as a father pittieth his owne Children Even ſo is the lord mercifull mercifull to them that feare him.

For he knoweth wherof we be made He remembreth that we are but Dust The dayes of man are but as Graſſe for he flouriſheth as a flower of the filde
For as ſoone as the winde goeth ouer it It is gone The place ther=

But the mercifull goodnes of the lord endureth for euer and euer vp= pon them that feare him And his righteouſnes vppon childrens Children Euer vppon ſuch as keepe his couenant And thinke vppon his commaundements to doe them.
The lord hath prepared his ſeate in Heauen And his Kingdome rulethouer all.
O praiſe the lord ye Angells of his ye that excell in ſtrength ye that fulfill his commaundements And harken vnto the voice of his word.
O praiſe the lord all ye his Hosts ye ſeruants of his that doe his pleaſure O ſpeake good of the lord all ye works of his in all places of his do=

Holy Holy Holy lord God of Sabaoth.
Heauen and Earth are full of the maiesty of thy glory.
The Glorious company of the Apostles praiſe thee.
The goodly fellowſhip of the Prophets praiſe thee.

The noble Armie of Martyres Praiſe thee.
The holy Church throughout all the world doth knowledg thee.
The father of an infinite Maiesty.
The Honorable true and only Sonne.
Allſo the Holy Ghost the Comfortor.
Thou art the King of Glory O Christ Thou art the euerlasting Sonne of the father. when thou tookest vppon thee to deliuer man Thou diddest not abhor the virgins wombe. when thou haddest ouercome the ſharpnes of death Thou diddest, open the Kingdome of Heauen to all beleeuers.
Thou ſittest on the right hand of God In the Glory of the father. we beleeue that thou ſhalt come to be our Judg. we therefore pray thee helpe thy ſeruants whom thou hast redeemed with thy pretious bloud.
make them to be numbered with thy ſaints in glory euerlasting O lord ſaue thy People And bleſſe thine Heritage.
Gouerne them and lift them vp for euer.
Day by day we magnify thee And we worſhip thy name euer world without end. vouchſafe O lord to keepe vs this day without Sinne O lord haue mercy vppon vs Haue mercy vppon vs.
O lord lett thy mercy light vppon vs as our trust is in thee.
O lord in thee haue we trusted lett vs neuer be confounde./

1 Have mercy uppon me O God after thy great goodnes According unto the multitude of thy mercies do away mine offences.

2 waſh me throughly from my wickednes and clenſe me from my ſinne.

3 For I knowledg my faults and my ſinn is ever before me.

4 Against thee only have I ſinned and done this evill in thy ſight That thou mightest be iustified in thy ſaying And cleare when thou art iudgd.

5 Behold I was ſhapen in wickednes and in ſinne hath my mother conceived me.

6 But loe thou requirest truth in the inward parts And ſhalt make me to understand wiſdome ſecretly.

7 Thou ſhalt purge me with Hyſope and I ſhalbe cleane Thou ſhalt waſh me and I ſhalbe whiter then Snow.

8 Thou ſhalt make me heare of ioy and gladnes That the bones which thou hast broken may reioyce.

9 Turne thy face from my Sinns and put out all my miſdeeds 10 Make me a cleane heart O God and reneue a right Spirit within me.

11 Cast me not away from thy preſence And take not thy holy ſpirit from me

12 O give me the comfort of thy helpe again and ſtabliſh me with thy free ſpirit 13 Then ſhall I teach thy waies unto the wicked And ſinners ſhalbe converted unto thee.

14 Deliver me from blood guiltines O God thou that art the God of my health And my tonge ſhall ſing of thy righteouſnes.

Deliver-

Thou ſhalt open my lipps O lord and my mouth ſhall ſhew thy praiſe.

For thou deſierest no ſacrifice elce would I give it thee but thou delightest not in burnt offerings.

The ſacrifice of God is a troubled ſpirit a broken and a contrite heart O God ſhalt thou not refuſe

O be favorable and gratious unto Sion Build thou the wales of Hierusa.

Then ſhalt thou be pleaſed with the ſacrifice of righteouſnes with the burnt offerings and oblations Then ſhall they offer yong Bullockes upon thine alter. Glory be to the Father &c

God is our hope and ſtrength a very preſent helpe in trouble.

Therfore will not we feare though the Earth be moved And though the hills be carried into the mids of the Sea.

Though the waters therof Rage and ſwell and though the mountains ſhake at the tempest of the ſame.

The rivers of the flood therof ſhall make glad the cittie of God The holy place of the tabernacle of the most highest.

God is in the middest of her Therfore ſhall he not be removed God ſhall helpe hir and that right early.

The heathen make much adoe and the kingdomes are moved But God hath ſhewed his voice and the Earth ſhall melte away.

The lord of Hostes is with us The God of Jacob is our reffuge.

O come heither and behold the works of the lord what destruction he hath brought uppon the Earth.

He maketh warres to ceaſe in all the worlde he breaketh the bow and knappeth the ſpeare in ſunder and burneth the Charreots in the fire.

Be ſtill then and know that I am God I wilbe exalted among the heathen and I will be exalted in the Earth.

The lord of of Hosts is with us The God of Jacob is our refuge. Glory be &c
